TALK TO YOURSELF.

Why are there so many "don't feel well" moments? What is the cause of these aches and pains? Can I banish them?

When you don't feel well your stomach is not well. That is when the ills of the body commence, and they will never end until the stomach is made right. When the stomach is wrong the whole body is liable to go wrong—Poisonous formations are thrown into the circulation in too great a quantity for the other organs to resist—Nerve tissue poisoned—Sleepless, excitable, nervous, heart irregular, headache, kidneys overtaxed, backache, kidney pains, liver clogged, constipation and bowel trouble. You can end these afflictions by helping the stomach with ANTI-PILL. It is just what a deranged stomach needs. You can prove for yourself by addressing Wilson-Fyle Co., Niagara Falls, Ont., for a free trial bottle. Regular size 50 cents (a months treatment).

37TH DOMINION DAY

Sir Fred Bordan Reviews 3,000 Troops at Ottawa.

MUCH RAIN, SUNNY PATCHES

Thirteen Years Since There Was a Similar Wet Day—Bad Weather Extended All Over Ontario and Maritime Provinces—How the People Enjoyed Themselves—Brilliant Gathering in Old London.

Ottawa, July 2.—Three thousand troops were reviewed on Parliament Hill yesterday by Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia. The occasion was the 37th anniversary of confederation. As the clock on the House of Commons tower struck the noon hour the troops presented arms and an artillery salute was fired by the 2nd Field Battery. As the rifles went to the present massed bands played a few bars of the National Anthem. Afterwards at the call of the Brigadier, Lieut.-Colonel Hodgins, D.O.C., the soldiers doffed their helmets and caps and gave three hearty cheers.

The parade on Parliament Hill was an extremely pretty picture. The uniforms of scarlet and the blue black stood out vividly on the brilliant green of Parliament Square, and behind the troops were massed thousands of spectators. The weather was fine until shortly before the march past at 12.30. Then a thunderstorm broke over the capital and soldiers and spectators were drenched to the skin. Notwithstanding the pouring rain the troops conducted themselves gallantly. Their martial bearing was greatly admired, especially that of the 59th Regiment of Glengarry. Two companies of the National Guards from New York and Vermont were in line, and were given an ovation.

Rain at Many Points.

While the weather yesterday was a decided disappointment to those who had relied on outdoor engagements for their pleasure, the day might have been much worse, the rainfall only amounting to .26 of an inch, and an hour in the afternoon.

One has to go back 13 years for a similar day. Then it rained in the morning, but ceased at 9.10 a.m., and there was a little more at noon, and again in the evening. In the previous year, 1890, an inch of rain fell as the result of a violent thunderstorm between 6.30 and 7 in the morning, with thunder at intervals during the day and a little rain in the evening.

There was bad weather all over the Province yesterday and it extended to the Maritime Provinces, though there were local patches of sunshine and fair skies. There was no rain at Parry Sound, and the fall was very slight in Northern Ontario. Kingston had none and Quebec was fair, but Ottawa had a thunderstorm. Beautiful weather prevailed in Manitoba and the Northwest.

Processions and Sports.

Quebec contented itself with a salute of 21 guns from the King's bastion at noon. Renfrew had Lord Dundonald and a day of Scottish enthusiasm. An old-time calithumpian parade amused Petrolea and a monster trade procession was a satisfactory offset. Lord Aylmer reviewed the troops at Kingston after a ten mile march, and a camp fire gave rest and enjoyment at night. Woodbridge had sports, and Whitby welcomed over 4,000 of her old boys and girls in the beginning of a four days' celebration. Toronto indulged in a very fine open air horse parade.

IN OLD LONDON.

Brilliant Gathering at Hotel Cecil on Dominion's Birthday.

London, July 2.—(C. A. P.)—The dinner held in celebration of Dominion Day at the Hotel Cecil was a brilliant affair. The big chamber, one of the handsomest in Europe, blazed with light and resounded with cheers the whole evening. Lord Strathcona presided, and among the notables present were the Dukes of Argyle and Marlborough, Lord Brassey, Lord Kelvin, Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. Premier G. H. Murray of Nova Scotia, Sir Henri Taschereau, Attorney-General of Manitoba, Sir Harry Allan, Hon. Mr. Freeman, the Archdeacon of London, Rev. Dr. Milligan, Rev. Dr. Warden, Rev. M. Scrimger, Dr. Herridge, Prof. Osborne (Winnipeg), Geo. Anderson, Dr. Russell. Messrs. Yule and Wigmore, members of the Canadian bowlers, A. Baker, Sir T. Barlow, J. E. Colmer, Wal. Griffith, Capt. Eaton, Justices Grantham and Forbes, Rev. Alfred Gandier, C. Hanson, Canadian Agent General Howard, General Laurie, A. Lang, D. McMaster, C. F. Just, Hon. Mr. Lemieux, J. K. Macdonald, Sir A. Mackenzie, Rev. J. Mackay (Montreal), E. H. Newcomb, Sir Gilbert Parker, Parkin T. Skinner, Hon. J. W. Taverner, Hon. Mr. Turner, T. W. Watkins, Sir Fred Young were present as guests.

Sir Wilfrid's Message.

Lord Strathcona proposed a toast to the fourteen delegates who are attending the conference of the alliance of Reformed Churches at Liverpool. Lord Lyttelton should have replied to the toast of the Dominion, but was prevented by Parliamentary duties. Earl Aberdeen and the Archbishop of Canterbury were detained by the coronation debate. A hurricane of applause greeted a message from Sir Wilfrid Laurier: "Please convey to guests assembled to celebrate the 37th birthday of the Dominion greeting from your fellow-countrymen across the sea. Canadians heartily join with their fellow-subjects to testify to Canada's prosperous, happy and loyal state."

Cheering was renewed when messages were read from the Toronto Board of Trade and National Club, Toronto.

Dawson City cabled Sir Charles Tupper congratulations to the fathers of Confederation from Canada's golden north. Sir Henri Taschereau gracefully proposed the toast to the King.

That old copybook maxim finds its most forceful application in the waste of vitality, which is called "burning the candle at both ends." A woman is often tempted beyond her strength by domestic or social demands. Some day she awakens from this waste of strength to the woeful want of it. She has become weak, nervous and miserable.

For weak, nervous, run-down women, there is no better tonic and nervine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It restores the appetite, quiets the nerves and gives refreshing sleep. It cures local diseases peculiar to women by which undermine the general health. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I doubt you have forgotten me but after you read my letter you will remember me," writes Mrs. Annie E. Moring, of 128 9th Avenue, S. W., Roanoke, Va. "In the year 1897, I wrote to you for advice, which you gave me free of charge. When I wrote to you I was a wreck; I could not walk straight for pains in my abdomen; could not sit down, lie down, or get any ease at all. I had what was called the best doctor here, but did not get any better until I went through a course of your medicine. I took eight bottles each of 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and ten bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' I tell you the medicine made a cure of me."

GLASGOW'S GAS PLANT.

City Operates It and Has Greatly Reduced the Price.

Glasgow purchased the private gas plants in 1869 and has made profit on the investment every year since then. This great industry now has a capital account exceeding $10,000,000, and the gross profits of last year passed the million dollar mark for the first time in the history of the enterprise. When the original purchase was made it was arranged that the owners should receive in perpetuity annuities and stock valued at more than $2,000,000. The city later adopted the policy of purchasing at a premium these annuities, and last year wiped out more than one-third of the amount. Under private management gas cost consumers from $1.25 to $1.50 a thousand feet, but this has been reduced steadily, until the rates now stand at 48 cents for motive power and 54 cents for lighting. It is expected that this will be cut to 50 cents this year.

When the plant is fully paid for, which will not be many years at the present rate of profits, the citizens of Glasgow will not pay more than 30 cents for gas.

A Promenade With a Tiger.

Among those remembered by the King in his distribution of coronation honors was Sir Edward Bradford, chief commissioner of police for the city of London, who was made a baronet. Sir Edward has held his present position for ten years and has at all times displayed an unfailing tact and a broad capacity for dealing with the complicated situations which are so frequently presented for his consideration. The chief commissioner has but one arm. He lost the other in a hunting accident when he was a good deal younger than he is now. He was shooting in India and came to close quarters with a tiger. He fired at the animal, but the bullet only inflicted a slight wound. The tiger sprang upon him and fastened its teeth in his left arm just above the elbow. Sir Edward had presence of mind sufficient to realise that it would be fatal to struggle and in spite of the great pain actually walked a few steps beside his captor in the direction of the animal's lair. He was fortunately prevented from continuing this most unusual promenade by a companion, who shot the tiger, but the bitten arm was so badly mangled that it had to be amputated at the shoulder. One of the notable sights at the diamond jubilee of the late Queen Victoria was Sir Edward's management of his huge black horse in front of St. Paul's at the conclusion of the special service. The animal was somewhat restive, but the maimed commissioner controlled him while he mounted by holding the bridle reins between his teeth. In this fashion he is said habitually to have handled his horse during his long experience as a pig-sticker in India.

The Manner of Nelson's Death.

In a letter to The British Medical Journal, W. B. R. Prideaux sends an interesting contribution to the life, or, rather, to the death, of Nelson. Dr. Beatty, who was the surgeon of the Victory, communicated a full medical history of the case to The Medical and Physical Journal, accompanying his account with drawings of the fatal bullet and of the pieces of coat and epaulet carried away by it. From this narrative, which is by no means prolix, we take the following extract:

"He lived about two hours. . . . In the course of an hour his pulse became indistinct, and was gradually lost in the arm; his extremities and forehead became soon afterwards cold. He retained his wonted energy of mind and exercise of his faculties until the latest moment of his existence; and when victory, as signal as decisive, was announced to him, he expressed his pious acknowledgments thereof and heart-felt satisfaction at the glorious event in the most emphatic language; he then delivered his last orders with his usual precision, and in a few minutes afterwards expired without a struggle."

Dr. Beatty wore the bullet, which he extracted from the wound, until the day of his own death, and bequeathed it to William IV. It remained for many years afterwards in the royal armory at Windsor Castle.

NERVOUS HEADACHE

Is One of the First Symptoms to Warn You of Prostration and Paralysis—Its Cause and the Only Way of Bringing About a Permanent Cure—Statements of Cured Ones.

That headache should be one of the first and most noticeable symptoms of nervous exhaustion is readily understood by a study of the accompanying illustration.

All the nerve force which is required to control and regulate the various organs and members of the body is created in the nerve centres of the brain.

For this purpose an enormous quantity of pure, rich blood is necessary. Just as soon as the blood becomes thin, weak and watery, as it usually does in the spring, the brain is deprived of the nourishment required and there is waste and decay of the nerve cells.

One of the first results is headache and sleeplessness, brain fag and feelings of fatigue and discouragement. If the wasting process is not checked indigestion, weak action of the heart and other symptoms of nervous prostration and paralysis soon follow.

Headache powders and quick cures cannot possibly afford more than temporary relief, and the result is most disastrous to the nervous system.

By its extraordinary blood-building power and nerve-restoring qualities Dr. Chase's Nerve Food brings about thorough and lasting cure by positively removing the cause.

There is no excuse for anyone to suffer from repeated attacks of headache and constantly run the risk of paralysis or some dreadful form of nervous disease when this great food cure is at hand—a certain and natural cure.

Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont., writes:—"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a splendid medicine. I was troubled for a long time with headaches, which would come on about once a week with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. I tried headache powders and quick cures, which did no good.

"About eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with headache since. It made a thorough and lasting cure."

Mrs. W. H. HILL, Queen Street East, Truro, N.S., states:—"My nervous system was all out of order. I could not sleep and had severe attacks of nervous headaches. Some time ago I began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that I found this preparation a wonderful strengthener. My nervous system has been toned up under this treatment. I can rest and sleep well and my head does not give me the slightest trouble."

Mrs. S. J. Scheeley, 12 Arthur Ave., St. Thomas, Ont., states—"I was troubled a great deal with nervousness, severe headaches and sleeplessness, and at times a sort of numb feeling would come over me. I was in constant fear of paralysis, as the doctors told me my trouble was exhaustion of the nervous system. I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and soon noticed a great improvement. Now I can say that my nerves are completely restored, I sleep very much better, and that distressing feeling of numbness his disappeared."

Mrs. George Fuller, Lakeland, Man., writes:—"I am very glad to be able to state that I have received great benefit from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It has cured me of nervous headache from which I used to be a great sufferer and I am no longer troubled with twitching of the nerves in the arms and legs that I used to have as soon as I went to bed."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The greatest of restoratives for the blood and nerves. 50 cents a box, six bottles for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his remedies.

☞By noting your increase in weight while using this great food cure you can prove that new flesh and tissue are being added to the body.

Noted Woman of To-day.

A sweet-faced, silver-haired, brown-eyed lady is the famous authoress of "From the Five Rivers," "The Potter's Thumb," and "On the Face of the Waters"—to name, perhaps, Mrs. Annie Steel's greatest successes, says T. P. O'Connor. And if Mrs. Steel is given to the study of serious social problems, she has a vivacity, a love of innocent fun and an all-pervading kindliness that make her especially adored of young people. English by birth, an early marriage to a Bengal civilian took her to India in 1867. From the first Mrs. Steel was deeply interested in native life, and soon began to urge educational reforms upon the Government. At the outset the Government was disposed to look upon Mrs. Steel as a busybody, if not, indeed, a dangerous revolutionary; but before she left India for good, in 1889, she had received the thanks of the Indian Government for her educational and other labors on no fewer than six occasions—a unique record, at least for a lady. Mrs. Steel became Provincial Inspectress of Government and Aided Schools in the Punjab, was for some years a member of the Educational Committee, and, in conjunction with Mr. Lockwood Kipling, did much to foster Indian arts and crafts. All this labor was a labor of love.

Queen's Favorite Teapot.

The Queen of England has a favorite teapot of which she is very fond and which is in frequent use at Sandringham. It is in the shape of a barrel of wine, with a stout old Dutchman sitting astride. His cap serves for a lid, and a gold tap lets out the beverage.

Considerate Papa.

At the end of thirty years Hiram had accumulated a fortune. His wife and daughter were delighted, "for," said they, with becoming modesty, "we now not only have money enough to cut a splurge, but poor, dear papa is too broken down to appear among the best people."—Life.

HEAD SOLID SORE

CURED BY CUTICURA

Skin Fair as a Lily with no Scar to Recall Awful Sore Writes Mother.

"I herewith write out in full the beginning and end of that terrible disease, eczema, which caused my babe untold suffering and myself many sleepless nights.

"My babe was born seemingly a fair, healthy child, but when she was three weeks old a swelling appeared on the back of her head, and in course of time broke. It did not heal but grew worse, and the sore spread from the size of a dime to that of a dollar. I used all kinds of remedies that I could think of, but nothing seemed to help; in fact, it grew worse. Her hair fell out where the sore was, and I feared it would never grow again. It continued until my aged father came on a visit, and when he saw the baby he told me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment right away.

"To please him I did so, and to my surprise by their use the sore began to heal over, the hair grew over it, and to-day she has a nice head of hair, her skin is as fair as a lily, and she has no scar left to recall that awful sore, and it is over eight months and no sign of its returning."

MRS. WM. RYER, Elk River, Minn.

"Cure permanent." So writes Mrs. Ryer, Feb. 25, 1903, six years later:

"Your letter of the 19th inst. received, asking in regard to the cure of my baby some six years ago. Well, the disease has never returned to her head which at that time was a solid sore on top and down the back. Once or twice since then a patch has come on her hand near the wrist, but it finally disappeared after proper treatment with Cuticura."

Cuticura Resolvent, Liquid and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 1 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

NURSES' HOME OPENED AT KINGSTON ASYLUM.

Hon. Mr. Stratton Formally Opened Leahurst.

Ontario Leads in Improved Care for the Insane Afflicted.

The Honourable J. R. and Mrs. Stratton returned to Peterborough on Thursday evening. The Provincial Secretary, who has charge of the public institutions of the Province, formally opened Leahurst, the new Nurses' Home at Rockwood Asylum, Kingston, on Wednesday afternoon. A large company of leading citizens was present at the function. Addresses were delivered by the Superintendent, Mr. E. J. B. Pense, M. P.P., and Dr. J. C. Connell, Dean of Queen's Medical Faculty. At the conclusion of the speeches the graduating nurses were presented with diplomas and medals by Mrs. Stratton.

The establishment of the new Nurses' Home at Leahurst marks a distinct advance step in the modern movement representing saner methods in dealing with the insane. Shortly there will be no more attendants or "keepers" for the insane in the public institutions of this Province. Instead of male and female attendants there will be male and female nurses properly trained in the Training School established in connection with each institution, and the insane will be regarded in the future more as patients than in the past and a more humane method of intelligent treatment will continue to be introduced into the institutions. The new Nurses' Home opened at Kingston is the first of its kind inaugurated in the Province. Ontario is leading the way wherever the humane treatment of insane patients is concerned. The abolition of the restraint methods, the separate hospital idea and the establishment of Nurses' Homes were first introduced on the continent in this Province. The idea of the Nurses' Home is that the devoted women who minister to minds diseased may have seclusion and rest and relief from the severe strain of their arduous work when off duty, thereby better fitting them for the discharge of their duties, which constitute a very severe mental and physical strain, under which the most robust are liable to break down unless suitable opportunities for rest are provided.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

THE CHIEF object of "Generally Speaking" is to voice the wants and complaints of the citizens, including a gossippy treatment of subjects of general local interest.

A CITIZEN has complained to the Examiner of injuries he received through the carelessness or neglect of the authorities to maintain the streets in proper condition. A large number of teams are engaged in teaming earth from the excavation for the Y.W.C.A. building. The earth is largely composed of gravel with a great many large sized stones, and through careless loading or defective wagon boxes, these stones drop off and are scattered over the streets, in every direction till some parts of the streets are more like the bottom of a gravel pit than a street in a civilized town. The town seems to take no steps to prevent this condition of things, either by removing the stones or by seeing that the wagons are properly loaded. One result was that a gentleman riding his bicycle ran against one of these round stones and was pitched headlong, receiving bad bruises and spilling two or three pots of paint he was carrying. He not only suffered bodily pain and money loss but was prevented from finishing work he had promised to do, thus disappointing and discommoding a housekeeper.

NOW THE BICYCLE is a recognized vehicle. It has become a medium of business, and is an immense convenience to hundreds of our citizens. Bicyclists pay taxes and have as much right as the users of vehicles to have good streets. Besides streets dotted with tricky, rolling stones are not only dangerous to bicycles, but also to other pneumatic tired vehicles, and a nuisance to all kinds of vehicles. The town is much to blame for allowing the streets to remain in the condition mentioned.

SPEAKING of bicycles, they have their rights, but other citizens have also their rights. The sidewalks are for the use of pedestrians, and their abuse by bicyclists is a danger and a nuisance to people who walk. According to law, a man has as much right to drive his pneumatic buggy upon the walk as a cyclist to use them for wheeling, and it might be possible for the police to see that the walks are better protected.

WHILE on the subject, it might be well to call attention to the deplorable condition in which the streets are allowed to remain. An excavation is opened, and it is filled in in so slovenly a manner that a heap of earth, rough with stones, is left as an obstruction to traffic. On some streets these mounds remain for a year or so. A clause is inserted in contracts requiring contractors for sewers, etc., to leave the streets as they find them, but this is never done. The contractor gets his pay, and then the people have to pay besides for putting the streets in order. Macadam is roughly grubbed up, and thrown into the bottom of the trench, and instead of a covering of macadam we have a stretch of mud in the middle of a first class street. For goodness sake look after the streets with a little more care.

MEN GROWING TALLER.

Our Ancestors of Mediaeval Times Puny Compared With To-day—Average Height in Many Places.

A walk through the Tower of London will convince any person that the armor-clad knights of mediaeval days were puny men compared with the athlete of to-day.

The experiment of getting into suits of old armor in country houses has often proved that the "legs" are far too short for the average man of the present generation.

A well known anthropologist at the British Museum says that undoubtedly the British race is taller than it was several hundred years ago.

"I think, however, that the mediaeval man was deeper-chested and broader in the shoulders," he said.

"The old armor, if a man of good average height could squeeze into it to-day, would be found loose-fitting in the shoulders and at the chest.

"The tallest men in the world come from Galloway and Perthshire, and Yorkshire's average is a fine one. Even that of Southwest England and South Wales—5 feet 6 inches—is far higher than that of many of the Continental nations.

"The tallest men after the men of Galloway, who have an average of nearly six feet, are the Fulahs of the French Soudan, and the Patagonians are believed to hold a very good average."

In London the average is as low as in South Wales, and the little man frequently asks why he should have to pay the same price for a suit of clothes as a country-bred giant!

This question was answered by a West End tailor. "What we make by the little man we lose on the big man," he said; "for we pay our men extra when they are working on a giant's suit.

"We have been compelled on one or two occasions, however, to charge more when a man is exceptionally tall or stout. One of our customers, who is over six feet high, and is forty-four inches round the waist, takes five and a half double width for a lounge suit. We ask another guinea, and he pays it readily."—London Express.

The Countess of Warwick.

The Countess of Warwick, who recently gave birth to a daughter at Warwick House, London, is one of the best-known figures in society. Her ladyship is distinguished for her practical philanthropy, which has taken forms that, though novel, have been abundantly justified by results. Her hotel at Reading for the training of the daughters of professional men in horticulture, dairy, bee and poultry keeping, has been a conspicuous success. At the Earl's Essex estate the Countess established a science and technical school for boys and girls, whilst she presides over the needlework school and institutions of various educational kinds. At Warwick she established a home for 18 crippled children, admitted free for an unlimited length of time, whilst both at Warwick Castle and at Easton Lodge she has a complete organization for the welfare of the poor and the nursing of the sick. She is an expert horsewoman; she hunts with both the Warwickshire and the Essex hounds; she is an omnivorous reader; and she makes an effort, notwithstanding the time she devotes to outdoor pursuits, to read every new book of importance. Lady Warwick has contributed largely to periodical literature, but as a writer her name will go down to posterity as the author of "Warwick Castle and its Earls," a book well conceived, admirably written and of some historical value. At the beginning of the year her daughter, Lady Marjorie Greville, married Viscount Helmsley, grandson and heir of the Earl of Faversham.

English Ignorance of Indians.

An Indian who has just returned from England expresses surprise at the ignorance he found there. He went to London to take part in a wild western melodrama. He ran across a newspaper man in Philadelphia, and the latter says it was amusing to hear him describe the ignorance regarding his race that exists abroad. "An Englishman," he said, "thinks that a red man can run from 200 to 225 miles a day without effort. He thinks an Apache can overtake a deer. In fact, I read in London a short story describing how in a fifteen mile run an Apache caught a deer, choked it to death and ate its heart raw. The English believe that an Indian is so generous he would give away the clothes on his back. I was accosted by hosts of beggars in London, and they couldn't understand why I didn't hand out a half crown to each of them. They also think an Indian will endure the severest pain without flinching, out of pride. A young English girl stuck a pin in my leg at a restaurant one night and was surprised when I said 'Ouch' and swore."

A Needed Invention.

Progress, which has been marching on three steps at a time in the past few decades, surmounting unsurmountable objects as though they were ant hills, has been baffled in one direction, and inventive genius halts at the door of opportunity, unable to discover the combination by which it can break in.

For years the historical novelists, with a minimum expenditure of gray matter and a maximum of muscular force, have toiled far into the night, regardless of the hot boxes of their typewriters and, notwithstanding this, they have not been able in many instances to turn out more than three complete volumes a week.

What the world is crying for with a wild, agonizing cry is an attachment to the typewriter by which the operator may turn on the electric current, start the works and turn out a historical novel complete and ready for the trade in fifteen minutes. Fame and fortune simply could not resist the inventor of such a machine.

Twenty Odd Fishes.

The Fishmongers' Livery Company of London owns a remarkable painting by Spiridion Roma, which contains portraits of twenty wholesome sea and river fishes, most of which are almost unknown by the general public—viz., weever, dubs, green, grailing or humber, colefish, willis, smeerdabs, ruff, carp, homelings, lumps, allis, conev fish, bass, popes, fireflaws, pouting, grigs, shad and bleaks.

A Bargain.

A woman who does her own shopping "for the house" went into a local drug store to buy soap. It was 8 cents per cake. She looked it over carefully and asked the surprised clerk:

"Do you give three cakes for a quarter?"

After he had recovered from his daze he replied:

"We do not, as a rule, madam, but we will let you have them at that price."

She bore them away in triumph, and not until the shouts of joy from the rest of the house arose as she told of her bargain did the awful fact dawn upon her consciousness.—Minneapolis Journal.

HUNDREDS DROWNED IN THE ATLANTIC.

S. S. NORGE STRUCK ROCKALL

Survivor Says About 700 Must Have Been Drowned—Six Boats Smashed Against the Side of the Vessel and Their Helpless Inmates Were Caught by the Heavy Seas—An Heroic Officer.

London, July 4.—It is reported that over 700 emigrants bound from Copenhagen for New York on the Scandinavian-American Line steamer Norge have been drowned.

Twenty-seven survivors were landed at Grimsby, 15 miles southeast of Hull last night.

The Norge struck on a rock last Tuesday in the North Sea and foundered. There was a heavy sea and most of the boats were smashed. Only two of the boats succeeded in getting away and these were picked up by Grimsby trawlers.

A Survivor's Story.

The steam trawler Salvia put into Grimsby late last night with the 27 rescued Scandinavians aboard. Only one of them could speak English. He said:

"We left Copenhagen, June 22. There were 700 emigrants, Norwegians, Swedes, Danes and Finns, on board. The crew numbered about 80 men.

"All went well until June 28. I lay in my bunk waiting for breakfast. We heard a little bump and then another bump, and then I rushed on deck. Seeing that something had happened, I went below to gather up my belongings.

"Scores were rushing on deck and the hatchway was crowded with emigrants. They were launching boats and rushing into them, but there was no panic.

"There were four or five in the boat into which I got. Luckily, we had the only seaman who escaped, and he was able to navigate our boat.

Boats Capsized.

"We saw two other boats capsize, owing to the heavy sea and because no one could navigate them.

"We made straightaway, and when we last saw the Norge a large number of emigrants were on the deck. Captain Gundel stood on the bridge. Dozens of passengers had jumped into the sea. They wore life belts, but were drowned before our eyes.

"After 24 hours the Salvia bore down and picked us up.

"About 700 must have been drowned."

When last seen the Norge was sinking where she struck on the Islet of Rockall, whose isolated peak rises itself from a deadly Atlantic reef some 290 miles off the west coast of Scotland.

Early in the morning of June 28, the Norge, which was out of her course in heavy weather, ran onto the Rockall reef, which in the distance looks like a ship under full sail. The Norge was quickly backed off, but the heavy seas poured in the rent in the bows.

Six Boats Smashed.

The Norge quickly began to go down by the head. Eight boats were lowered and into these the women and children were hurriedly placed. Six of these boats smashed against the side of the Norge, and their helpless inmates were caught up by the heavy seas.

Two boat loads got safely away from the side of the sinking ship, and many of the emigrants who were left on board, seizing life belts, threw themselves into the sea and were drowned.

Capt. Gundel, so say the survivors, stood on the bridge of the doomed vessel until it could be seen no more.

The Norge foundered suddenly, and some 600 terrified emigrants were thrown into the water and drawn down with the sinking ship. Those who could swim tried to reach the boats, but these were already too full, and their occupants beat off the drowning wretches with oars.

The boats kept together for some hours. Practically all of their occupants were passengers and were not used to handling such craft. The boat occupied by the survivors landed at Grimsby was a life-boat.

The rescue of those on the life-boat took place at 8 o'clock in the morning of June 29, the survivors consisting of twenty men, one of them a seaman, six women and a girl.

An Officer's Heroism.

One of the survivors said that when he got on deck the Norge was half submerged and was rapidly getting lower in the water. Half mad with fright, the survivors all struggled for places in the boats. They fought their way to the big life-boat, and an officer stowed in the six women and the girl and then told the men to get in.

The officer then took charge and got the boat away from the side of the Norge. Seeing that the boat was already overladen, the officer with great heroism jumped into the water and tried to board another boat which was not so full. He failed and was drowned.

In the sea by this time was a mass of struggling men, women and children, gasping and choking from the effects of the water. The boat rowed clear of this seething inferno, and just as she drew away the Norge went down.

WRECK ON THE WABASH.

Twenty People Reported Killed, But There May Be More—Forty Injured—Montreal Man Dead.

St. Louis, July 4.—A special from Litchfield, Ill., says that the Chicago Limited, on the Wabash Railroad, due in St. Louis at 7 p.m., and half an hour late, was wrecked last night inside the city limits.

The train struck an open switch and was overturned and seven cars were burned.

It is believed that twenty persons perished in the second and third coaches, and that forty were injured.

The injured are being cared for in the St. Francis Hospital in this city. A partial list of the dead follows:

St. Pierre V. Bald, Montreal.
L. O. Eschald, Chicago.
Mrs. C. F. Luther, Milwaukee.
Dan H. Davis, Decautar, Ill.
Joseph Barder, North Dakota.
James V. Sanford, engineer, Decaur, Ill.
Samuel V. Smith, fireman, Decatur, Ill.
Mrs. Perkins, Chicago.
I. R. Mills, Decatur, Ill.

The train consisted of seven cars, all heavily loaded with passengers. The three rear cars, a diner and two sleepers, were not derailed. The other four cars were piled up in an indescriminate mass, and with the crushed freight cars took fire.

The engine, after running into the switch, struck a string of freight cars, and with the first three coaches was piled into a heap across the track and caught fire immediately.

The track was reported clear at the last station, and as the train was running about fifty miles an hour the open switch was not noticed.

It is probable that the exact number of the dead will not be known for several days, as the passengers here assert that bodies were cremated in the burning debris.

The following is a list of dead and injured sent to President Joseph Ramsay, jr., of the Wabash Railroad last night:

Dead—I. R. Mills, Decatur, Ill.; H. M. Daltrich, Toledo, Ohio; Jacob P. Berder, Hart River, N. D.; Rev. N. M. Mills, Bridgeton, N. J.; R. A. Daltrich, Chicago; Florence Smith, Chicago; Hugo Peero, Montreal; Miss Hakins, Chicago; Mrs. C. F. Luchere, Milwaukee; J. B. Stanford, engineer, Decatur; Howard Groves, train despatcher, Decatur; unknown boy, about 15 years; Daniel H. Davis, Decatur; T. A. Eschstadt, Chicago; Miss Perkins, Chicago.

A FIREWORKS EXPLOSION.

Caused Panic and Injured Many in Crowded Retail Store.

Worcester, Mass., July 4.—Accidentally stepping on a large torpedo, Albert Childs, a clerk in a store, started a fire Saturday night which caused the explosion of $700 worth of fireworks, cutting off 40 customers and clerks who were in the store from the only exit.

Caught under a freight elevator as it was descending with 25 women on it into the cellar, Manuel Oviginian was taken to an hospital, where his right leg was amputated. Jacob Bedik of New Haven is dangerously ill from inhaling fumes, and 25 women and children received minor injuries.

A CLAIRVOYANT'S MESSAGE.

Letter in Pocket of Hamiltonian Drowned at Soo Predicted Death.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 4.—The body of a man, identified by papers found on him as Joseph H. Edwards, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., was found in the power canal yesterday. It had been in the water for some days.

Edwards, who was employed in one of the mills, had been missing from his boarding house for nearly a week. Among letters found was one from his wife in Hamilton appealing to him to return to the assistance of her and their young child.

The letter also said that the woman had visited a clairvoyant, who had told her that her husband would be dead within eight months. The letter was dated June 10.

—The regular meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening.

THE JUBILEE GLOBE

The jubilee issue of the Globe is a fitting souvenir number of a journal, which has the stood in the very forefront of enterprising and, at the same time, solid and respectable journalism. Apart from the interest attaching to a number intended to signalize the sixtieth year of publication, the issue in question is interesting as a triumph of typography, as the most beautiful, as it is the largest and most complete in all features of any number ever issued in Canada. Though in the years to come, with the improvement in printing and illustrating methods, other journals—the few who will come to their sixtieth anniversary—may issue as creditable numbers, yet up to the present the Globe has set a high standard which few of its contemporaries can hope to attain, not to speak of excelling. The jubilee number of the Globe is characteristic of itself. It has always been enterprising, always clean in method, both typographically and otherwise, and, while we marvel at the beauty, size, completeness, excellent arrangement and general attractiveness of the Globe's festival number, our wonder merges into the inevitable reflection — its guest like the Globe—and we feel that its jubilee edition is only what might be expected on such an occasion.

AN UNINTENDED COMPLIMENT.

Concentration of attack upon a particular Minister is a form of strategy that for some time past, says the Montreal Herald, has been popular with the Conservative party. The persistent attacks upon Hon. J. I. Tarte a few years ago are well remembered. No paper was complete without a fling at the so-called "Master of the Administration," until he fell out with his leader and was dispensed with. Then followed a course of praise as fulsome as the previous abuse had been relentless. Next Hon. A. G. Blair was selected as the victim. He in his turn disgreed with his colleagues on a matter of policy and resigned. Immediately he was ostentatiously congratulated on the floor of the House Mr. R. L. Borden and thailed by the Conservative press as the greatest railway expert the Dominion ever knew—until it became apparent that he intended to remain in agreement with his party on all matters save that which led to his withdrawal from office.

Now a dead set is being made upon the Minister of Agriculture. The onslaught started last session in a determined opposition to Mr. Fisher's estimates, which merely resulted in one or two all-night sessions. Mr. Fisher's unfailing courtesy was mistaken for weakness, and when the Dundonald incident came along the whole Opposition party and press were primed for an onslaught upon the man whom an English paper, looking to his administrative record, has aptly described as "the world's greatest farmer." Then the Opposition were surprised and a little disconcerted to discover that Mr. Fisher, for all his preference for courteous language, was perfectly capable of defending himself against all attacks.

What our Conservative friends really object to is not Mr. Fisher's interest in the militia, but Mr. Fisher's success as Minister of Agriculture. They know perfectly well that no other man in that office has ever so impressed the great farming population with his fitness for the place, has ever given to the greatest of all our wealth-producing industries that intelligent supervision on the part of the general Government necessary to make co-operation in marketing the produce easy and profitable, and on the most extensive scale. The Conservative organizers in the farming districts would gladly spare Mr. Fisher from the Cabinet, or, failing that ,would be delighted to find his prestige diminished, in any degree, or by any means. That the Opposition at Ottawa should continue their dead set upon him, even after Lord Dundonald had made it clear that his attack upon Mr. Fisher was but an incident in his quarrel with the Government, is really a tribute to Mr. Fisher's political standing in every constituency where there are farmers who can judge of the importance and value of his eight years of work. As such, his Liberal friends may even welcome it.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE ST. LOUIS FAIR.

Should We Go to See It? The Answer.

Most of us decided, a year ago, that when the fair at St. Louis came off we were "going". Since that time many a time we considered several things: It would cost a lot of money. It would do just as well to attend "the next" one. Perhaps next year we would have one at home. So on, so on, and so on, until now that the fair is an actuality and people are bound fairwards, we are half afraid of the crowds, half afraid of the expense, and wholly afraid we are not going to "get there".

To one and all, especially women, young, middle-aged and older ones, I would say go—go now, go before the rush begins, for never again will you have such an opportunity of taking a tour of the world and viewing all its wonders, its marvelous inventions and wealth of things garnered in the years and years, as you will have by taking a visit to the St. Louis fair. To come down to facts, let me say that the writer made the trip from Montreal to St. Louis, taking in Detroit and Chicago en route, spending a whole day in the latter and half a day (in the former, on the sum of sixty dollars. True, I might have spent six hundred, for you have your choice of railway line, of hotel expenses (from two dollars a day to twenty) and one can spend without end, as one has the desire, as well as the ducats. To the ordinary business woman, the teacher, the stenographer, the nurse, the housekeeper and the office woman, I would say, go prepared to sacrifice some ideals in the way of accommodation; hire a room either in the W.C.T.U., or the C. E. societies, which may be done by sending a letter ahead, and you will be made most comfortable for a very small sum. You can get your meals on the fair grounds for from fifteen cents to any sum upwards, and seeing the exhibits is, mainly, free. True, there are special side-shows, which charge an admittance fee, but in every case the sum is very small and quite within the reach of the working woman. It is the working woman that should go to see the big fair. For her this aggregation of a world's best has been gathered together, no one else will take so keen an enjoyment out of the trip. For the average working woman, a tour of the world is an impossibility, she has not the time—the temerity to "go abroad," but at the fair all things from all lands are brought to her door, and for her the showing of the world's wealth is within her reach.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has placed within the cash reach of every Canadian man and woman this wondrous thing, the fair of 1904. There is keen competition between lines; but if you want to save time, and see the beauties of our neighbouring Republic as it lies along the border line, then take this route which places within your reach such cities as Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, London, Woodstock, Windsor, Detroit, Montpelier, Logansport, LaFayette, Danville, Decatur, Springfield and St. Louis, with a trip Chicago on the return journey.

You can do the fair in six days; you can spend a month there and still see something new. It is an education—a liberal education to go there, and I will tell you why;—

Thirty million flowering plants are there shown. The Palace of Electricity, Palace of Mines, Transportation Building, Manufactures, Varied Industries, Machinery and Agriculture, Administration Building, States Buildings, with the many and varied Exhibits of nations, all speak louder than tongue or pen can ever do of what the world has done and is still doing. The young college lad, and the college girl, has here an object lesson in the lessons they have been taught by the book. Here you see and touch, and understand what they mean. Statuary represents all that mythology and that Christian history can tell in countless pages. There they pass before you in a panoramic line; and there is nothing from the "Creation" to the "Hereafter" which does not show in living truth all that time does for the world we live in.

For the student of ancient history there are the Olympic Games; a revival of the famous contests of strength of Greece of long ago. You are in Athens for the hour, and here you see the type perfect of manhood grand. Historic firearms, from the primitive bludgeon of the savage, the "blow-guns" from which stones were fired, down to the latest invention in our rapid-firing guns. This collection is valued at $50,000 alone. Historic buildings, as Daniel Webster's home, Old Constitution House, Bobby Burns' Cottage, Washington's Headquarters, an old mission house of Santa Barbara, and many others which lend to the student enough of realism to fix or her mind the things which the class room could never express as does this actual seeing of an actual thing. The Palace of Education is magnificent. Here the exhibit in manual training is beyond praise. It lends to labour a dignity you never before observed. The Palace of Electricity contains vast power and machinery which is most interesting to the mechanical mind. Engines of all kinds, of all countries, both decorative and commercial. In this one building alone the marvels of the age exist. Festival Hall contains every known musical instrument, and here quite free and open to all visitors, you see and learn everything in symphony, and for a fee of 25 cents you are entitled to hear the greatest Choral Symphony Society, while two famous European conductors lead in orchestral work, one from Vienna (a most unpronounceable name) and another from the same place. The greatest organist in the world, Guilmant of Paris, may be heard playing the greatest organ in the world, which the world may hear and see for an admission of ten cents. During September the Garde Republican will be heard, also the British Grenadiers Band of England.

Airships (contests coming later) are to be seen. The great dirigible balloons, and Santos Dumont in his famed air ship will tour the fair grounds in August. In this case some one will win the grand prize of one thousand dollars for the swiftest air messenger. Do you not want to see this race in mid-air?

Amusement section is found in the Pike. The Pike is a sort of Garden of Laughter; Within its walled enclosure (open to the public) you find cowboys shooting. In Irish village you also Enter Blarney Castle, where I can assure you you can yet the best meal on the grounds. You enter Seville and see the beautiful signoritas in various attitudes of abandon; you may hunt in the Ozark mountains, go through mysterious Asia, and there ride the camel of the desert or see the Nautch Girls dancing their weird dances. In the Moorish Palace you find Eastern customs, while Japan with its Geisha Girls, serve tea such as the palate never before tasted. The glass weaving the scene here is wonderful. Ancient Rome, Baby Incubators, with an address by specialists on the subject, with the midgets, all in full view in their glass houses, and such tiny sets as they are, a Siberian Railroad, Deep Sea Divers, Cairo, Jose Houses and Constantinople, Esquimaux and Laps in their snow houses, Magic Whirlpool, Cliff Dwellers, in caves, realistic as if we looked on a scene of the yesterday, Naval Exhibit, introducing a sea fight, Old Days Down South, the Galveston Flood, with all its attendant horrors of sight and sound, the Boer War, with General Cronje leading on his poor forlorn hope, and the battle field, just as it was on that dreadful day. Jerusalem the Golden, an exhibition of wireless telegraphy, the tall towers having elevators, which take the curious minded to the tip-top where the magic touch of a finger flashes thought across a world.

Do you not want to see these wonderderful things?

The Philippine camp with its bush houses is another sight worth seeing. Here you are brought face to face with the natural resources of the islands of the Archipelago. It is one of the best things shown within the grounds. You find there a Philippine church, market and theatre, everything in full swing, just as it goes on in the gentle Pacific. One thousand souls comprise this village. Ceylon and China with Holland, Siam, Nicaragua, Mexico and Cuba with Japan and India are here shown in active reproduction. The exhibits of each country is beyond description only in Ceylon you may sip your tea while you admire the artistic works of that wonderful little isle of the sea. The carvings in ivory alone are worth a ransom.

Canada holds its own in the St. Louis Exposition. I never was so proud of being a Canadian as when I stood within our own pavillion and felt above me the breath of the world caught in the folds of the Union Jack. Canada holds her own against the world, and one is forcibly reminded of the couplet:—

"Says the Ant to the Elephant, WHO are you shovin'?" when looking on dear little Canada's brave showing against all the array of States, foreign governments and powers there. Little Cock-a-doodle-doo's like this are heard all around the Canadian pavillion:—

"Canada can supply the world with pulp for thousands of years."

"One province in Canada produces over half as much maple sugar and syrup as is produced in the world."

"Young man, if you are open for engagement, Miss Canada will accept you and will furnish you a free home of 160 acres."

"The discovery of the immense wheat-growing area of Canada is second only in importance to America."

Now don't you want to go to St. Louis and see these things for yourself?

If you go down to St. Louis, go early. I would say this to the man or woman of limited means. To those with plenty of cash I say nothing but go. During July and August is the holiday time of the working man and woman; that is the time to "do" the fair. The crowd of sightseers generally won't begin to flow into the State of Missouri until the very hot weather is past. Then prices will go up with the demand for accommodation.

At present you can obtain rooms in any of the leading hotels for from two dollars a day up. Meals are served both American and European plan. For fifty cents you get an excellent breakfast, a very good lunch for the same and a splendid four-course dinner for seventy-five cents. No one can complain at this fact can they?

Down in the city board is to be had for less, but if you are in the city it means you must pay entrance (50 cents) each time you go to the grounds. Being within the grounds is best. It saves time and fatigue. The Christian Endeavour Society have a hotel there and the rates are quite cheap. On the grounds you can get anything you require from ice water to quail-on-toast. Any and all the booths serve food a-la-carte. This is best from an economic point of view, and one I advise the sight seer to adopt.

Take with you nothing but a valise which you may carry yourself; if you put on airs and cart a trunk around with you you may pay through the nose for the privilege. Every waiter in and out of the grounds lives on tips. Take only shirt waists, plenty of them, lots of collars and handkerchiefs, and two changes of linen. Wear stout shoes to walk about in and provide yourself with waterproof and umbrella. Do not affect style in hat or gown. Wear a tweed skirt, a weather-proof hat and take pencil and note book with you.

Write in advance to any one of the hosteleries I have named. Select your home for the days, weeks or longer and write in time to secure quarters ahead. Take the Canadian Pacific and Wabash Railway if you would desire speed with excellence and reasonable rates. The run to St. Louis is made from Montreal (a central point) in about thirty hours. Meals are served a-la-carte on the buffet cars, and your sleeping car is well attended by an obliging porter. The cars drop you off at the very gates of the fair, and you are relieved of the necessity of a long hunt for the grounds.

Go to the great fair of 1904 by all means. Go if you can afford it and go if you think perhaps you can't. It is a liberal education and the parent who does not realize this, and give his boys and girls a chance to see the world is making one of the mistakes of life which may be numbered among the "might have beens."

I have spoken nothing of the Queen's Jubilee Gifts. The Pope's Jubilee Gifts, the United States buildings, forestry, fish and game. I have not touched on horticulture, agriculture, nor have I attempted to describe the magnificent cascades, electric lighted and showing some thing like a glimpse of Heaven at night under the magic of star, sky and flashing flame. I have not attempted to expatiate on the great Lagoons with their thousand eyes of flame; of the grand basins, through which grandolas float in airy grace, nor have I mentioned that wonder of man's imagination, the Floral Clock, which strikes the hours. Of ivory palace and glowing gardens I have made no word of praise; you must see these thousand and one things yourself if you would see them as they are, for no pen, not even that of a genius, can ever tell the wonders of what may be seen within the fair grounds at the St. Louis Exposition.

Say, do you not want to see these wonders for yourself?

Open Verdict Against Incendiary.

Rainy River, July 4.—The verdict at the inquest on the death of little Mary Lillian Reese in the Miller fire on June 18, attributed her demise to suffocation in the fire caused by some person unknown. William Robinson, who had boarded with the Millers and quarreled with them, and whose trunk was the only one saved, was suspected.

Does "Territory" Restrict C.P.R.

Ottawa, July 4.—Saturday the Railway Commission listened to argument on the question that the word "Territory" debars the C.P.R. from constructing branch lines in Ontario, and that its privileges under its charter restricts it to lands in the Dominion. Judgment was reserved.

B. SHORTLY, SIGN OF THE HORSE AT THE DOOR

WASTING THE WOODLANDS

North Michigan Almost Denuded of Once Magnificent Forests.

The pine on northern Michigan is rapidly disappearing. A few more years and the end of the magnificent forests will have been reached. The cut has been going on for the last half century, many fortunes have been won, many thousands of men have been given employment and lumbering has been the main support of a considerable number of thriving cities and towns. There is but little data on which to estimate what the total cut has been—it can be stated, however, that it runs well into the billions of feet.

At first only the choicest white pine trees were taken, but now practically everything goes to the mill, even the standing dry or dead trees having their uses. With the white pine have also gone the Norway pine and hemlock, and now little is left except the hardwoods and the poplar, cherry and a variety of other timber, with low growing trees of little use in manufacture. The swamp cedar, the spruce and the jack pine have been pretty well taken, the spruce and hemlock finding ready market in the manufacture of paper.

An important plant that will be closed down permanently at the close of the coming sawing season will be the big mill of the Marinette Lumber company which has conducted logging operations on the Menominee river for the last quarter of a century. The mill itself will be dismantled and the machinery shipped to Ontario, where, beginning with next year, it will do duty for the Carney Lumber company, an American concern, which recently acquired large tracts of timber in Canada. The Hamilton-Merryman company is another of the large concerns whose end is in sight, its reserves being sufficient to last its two sawmills but two seasons longer.

As illustrative of the change in the character of the timber cut during the cutting season just closed, the pine and hardwood timber banked on the Menominee and its tributaries together measure only about 150,000,000 feet, while in addition there are about 50,000,000 feet of cedar ties, posts and poles piled along the banks of the streams in readiness for the annual drive, now about to start. In past years several hundred million feet of pine alone would be on the banking ground and there would be but little other timber.

Carried Sunday Passengers.

Kingston, July 4.—When the steamer America reached port at 1 o'clock yesterday, after taking the 14th Regiment to Cape Vincent, it was found that landing was debarred, as she had passengers on board and under the Sunday laws could not come into port. The Kingstonians had gone across to camp with the soldiers. The matter was finally arranged and the steamer went into her berth.

AUBURN SUNDAY SCHOOL EXCURSION

To Stony Lake On Friday Was Most Successful.

Although instructions were received about 5.30 on Thursday night to cancel the Auburn Sunday school excursion on Dominion Day, yet, through the energetic efforts of the committee in charge and the proprietors of the boat, arrangements were made whereby the excursion was run on Friday, and it was quite a success, considering the circumstances, about 200 being on board. The committee have nothing but words of praise for the new boat and its crew. The boat when completed, will cost about $10,000, and will be one of the finest excursion boats on the inland waters. Everything is modern, and her appointments are well laid out. The trip of Friday was the boat's first excursion, and everything was carried out without a hitch, and the passengers were all well pleased. The Salvation Army Band was in attendance and furnished some good music which was enjoyed by all.

ANOTHER WEDDING IN ENNISMORE.

Pleasing Event Took Place There on Tuesday.

The prettiest wedding ever celebrated in Ennismore was that of Miss Mary Loretto McAuliffe and Mr. C. A. Costello, when on Thursday morning they were united in the holy bonds of marriage by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, in St. Martin's church.

The bridal party entered the church at nine o'clock, to the strains of a grand wedding march played by Miss Maloney.

The bride was very prettily attired in white silk, trimmed with chiffon, pearls and all over lace, wearing a veil, with orange blossoms, and carrying a bouquet of white roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Katie Murray, looked charming in a dress of white organdy, trimmed with all-over lace, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Joe Costello.

After the wedding ceremony was over, the wedding party were driven to the home of Mr. Leo McAuliffe, father of the bride, where they were greeted by about fifty guests. A beautiful array of presents awaited the bride. Among them was a solid gold locket, set with opals and pearls. The happy couple left on their wedding trip in the evening, and will reside in Peterborough. Miss McAuliffe was one of the most popular young ladies in the vicinity, and will be very greatly missed among a large circle of friends.—Com.

CHURCH WEDDING IN ENNISMORE

Miss Maria Flood Married to Mr. Ambrose Keane

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, on Tuesday morning when Mr. Ambrose Keane, the genial stage driver between Cobourg and Harwood, was united in marriage to Miss Maria Flood, of Ennismore. High mass was celebrated by Father Fitzpatrick. Mr. Frank Carroll of Cobourg acted as groomsman, and Miss Trainer, of Peterborough, was bridesmaid. The bridal party drove to Peterborough, where a wedding breakfast was served. The bride received a large number of handsome remembrances from her many friends. The happy couple will take up their residence in Harwood.

WARSAW.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The celebration of Dominion Day in Warsaw, as in other places, was somewhat marred owing to the unfortunate state of the weather. The strawberry festival and concert given in the town hall by the Ladies' Guild of St. Mark's church, though not the success, from a financial standpoint which it would assuredly would have proven had other conditions prevailed was, nevertheless a most enjoyable event. The excellent programme rendered by the artists present amply repaid those who had the temerity to brave the inclement weather.

Amongst those who added most materially to the evening's enjoyment were the talented Peterborough artists who kindly lent their assistance. Their numbers, which were greeted with hearty and well-merited encores, included several well-rendered vocal solos and duets by Mrs. Seward, the Misses Chasty and Mr. Miller, several connet solos being also executed by the latter in a finished manner. Misses Gumpricht and Chasty acted as accompanists. The numbers of Miss Julia Choate and Rev. Mr. Battersby of Warsaw, were also much enjoyed. The ladies of the Guild are to be complimented most highly upon the success which they achieved despite the unfavourable condition of the weather.

THOUSANDS MASSACRED.

Awful Tale of Turkish Barbarities in Persia—The Armenian Bishops Appeal to the United States.

Washington, July 4.—Secretary of State Hay Saturday received the following cablegram from Persia:

"Ispahan, July 2.—Turkish barbarians massacring thousands of Armenians. We humbly solicit United States Government, in the name of Christianity and humanity, to save innocent lives.

"(Signed) Armenian Bishops in Persia."

Killed As Revolutionists.

London, July 4.—In connection with the cablegram which American Secretary of State Hay received from Ispahan, Persia, July 2, signed by "Armenian Bishops in Persia," The Daily Chronicle this morning prints the following telegram dated Tauris, Persia, June 30:

"It is announced from a perfectly reliable source that in the vicinity of Van, a fortified city of Turkish Armenia, on June 24, Kurds and Turkish regulars attacked Armenian travelers, killing them as revolutionists. This is the beginning of a general massacre in the Province of Van. The people are in terror."

6,000 Slain.

New York, July 4.—Dr. John Arshagouni, president of the Armenian Union of America, said last night:

"Six thousand Armenians were very recently slain by Turkish brutality in the Province of Sassoun alone. At the town of Akhibi their bodies clogged the river. Twenty-nine villages were destroyed.

The Armenian Archbishop, Rev. Dr. Sarajian, of Worcester, Mass., sailed yesterday for Europe, having received a mysterious message to come at once."

BULLET STRUCK HOTELMAN.

Warrant Out For High Constable Tisdale of Oxford Charging Him With Shooting Wm. Swarts.

Woodstock, July 4.—As a result of the shooting of William Swartz, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel at Embro on Friday night, a warrant was sworn out yesterday for the arrest of William Tisdale, high constable of Oxford County, charging him with shooting without proper justification.

Meanwhile Swartz lies in the jail with the bullet lodged in the fleshy part of his thigh. The shooting took place while he was fleeing from Constable Tisdale, who had placed him under arrest. Tisdale had arrested him on the charge of common assault, preferred by his wife, and was standing in the hotel corridor talking when Swarts ducked and fled by a rear door to the back yard. Both Tisdale and the chief followed in close pursuit. The course was though a shed and over a fence, and while alighting on the ground after scaling the fence a shot was fired from a 32-calibre revolver. Who fired the shot will be determined at the investigation which is to follow. The accused charges Tisdale. Chief Zeats says the revolver was discharged while Swartz was making good his escape, but by whom he knows not.

Constable Tisdale says he will make a full and complete statement when the proper time comes. Swarts is not yet out of danger, the doctors say.

Whitby Old Boys' Jubilee.

Whitby, July 4.—Yesterday, the third day of the Ontario County Jubilee, the religious aspect of the celebration was emphasized by the presence of former pastors in the pulpits. In All Saints Rev. Canon Cayley of Toronto, preached, Rev. Dr. German preached in the Methodist Tabernacle, Rev. Dr. Ballantyne in the morning, and Rev. Norman McGillivray of Cornwall, in the evening, preached to the United Presbyterian churches, and in the afternoon a memorial service was held in the spacious grounds of the Ontario Ladies' College.

WEEKLY LETTER TO AGRICULTURISTS

Some Advice on Clover Crops for the Orchard

When and how to Some—Crates for Fattening Chickens

On May 17th, the Dominion Fruit Inspectors met in the orchard at the Central Experimental Farm and discussed cover crops. The subject was introduced by Mr. W. T. Macoun, Horticulturist, who gave his experience with different plants used for this purpose and told what he considered were the principal uses of cover crops. He said that the importance of a covering of the soil in winter was strongly impressed on him after the winter of 1895-96, when many trees were root killed at the Central Experimental Farm. Since that time the subject had received much attention by his department. The main uses of the cover crop are: to hold the snow in winter, and thus protect the roots of the trees; to furnish vegetable matter to plough under in the spring for the purpose of obtaining humus and nitrogen; and to act as a catch crop in the autumn to prevent leaching of plant food made available during the summer. He recommended, as the best general practice for growers, cultivating the soil until near or about the middle of July, when the trees have made most of their growth and do not need so much moisture, and then seeding down to Common or Alsike mammoth red clover, sown broad cast at the rate of 12 lbs per acre or with Hairy Vetch at the rate of 50 to 60 lbs per acre. Sown at that time these plants usually make a good cover by autumn. At the central Experimental Farm Hairy Vetch was sown on June 18th, 1903, in drills 28 inches apart at the rate of 30 lbs. per acre. These received two cultivations and by the end of the first week of August the plant were meeting between the rows. By sowing earlier as in this case a better stand may be obtained and by cultivation moisture is conserved while the plants are getting established. Twenty pounds per acre sown in drills in this way were found quite sufficient to make a good cover. There was practically no injury from mice where cover crops were used, as their depredations were prevented by using either ordinary building paper or wood veneers. No fruit grower should neglect having a cover crop as a fine bearing orchard in bare soil might be destroyed which would have been saved had there been a cover crop. Proof of this was furnished by the great "freeze" in Essex county in 1899. The seed for the cover crop should be sown, if possible, when the ground is moist, as in the summer the seed will germinate quickly if there is moisture. After the seed is sown the land should be rolled as this will bring the moisture to the surface and about the seed and hasten germination. It is important to get growth started in good time as there is sometimes a protracted drought in July and August which prevents germination and spoils the prospect for a good cover crop. In districts where the conservation of moisture is important the cover crop should be turned under as soon as possible in the spring and in some parts plants which are killed by winter are preferred as there is no loss of moisture through them in spring. Leguminous plants are, on the whole, best for cover crops as they take nitrogen from the air, but often oats and rape are used to good advantage.

Crates for Fattening Chickens.

Farmers who intend to try the crate fattening of chickens this season should soon be thinking of building their crates. Those in use at the Illustration Poultry Stations are 6 feet long, 16 inches wide and 20 inches high, inside measurements. Each crate is divided by two tight wooden partitions into three compartments, and each compartment holds four chickens. The frame pieces are two inches wide and seven-eighths inch thick. This frame is covered with slats, placed lengthwise on three sides—bottom, back and top—and up and down in front. The slats for the bottom are seven-eighths inch wide and five-eighths inch thick; the back, top and front slats are the same width, but only three-eighths inch thick. The spaces between the slats in front are two inches wide to enable the chickens to feed from the trough. The bottom slats are put one and one-half inches apart, and the slat nearest the back of the crate is two and a quarter inches from the corner piece. The bottom slats are raised two inches from the bottom of the crate, to prevent the chickens' feet from being bruised when the crate is placed on the ground. The top slats are two inches apart and the back slats one and one-half inches. The top slats are cut above each partition, and slit strips two inches wide are nailed under them. The three doors so formed are hinged to the rear corner piece.

The crates are placed on stands 16 inches from the ground. The droppings from the chickens are received on sand or other absorbent material. A light "V" trough, two and one-half inches inside, is placed in front of each crate, and is carried on two brackets, nailed to the ends of the crate. The bottom of the trough is four inches above the floor, and the upper inside edge is two inches from the crate.

Daring Burglary Near Kingston.

Kingston, July 4.—Burglars entered the store and dwelling of J. R. Smith of Westbrooke on Thursday night and stole $785. The entry was made by a cellar window to the store, where the cash drawer was taken. The men then entered the postoffice and took the money there. Proceeding upstairs they entered the room where Smith was sleeping. One of them crawled quietly to the foot of the bed and deliberately searched Smith's clothes, from which he took a roll of bills and some change.

Dangerous Fun.

Windsor, July 4.—Detective Skirving of the Pere Marquette Railway, says the 17-year-old son of a prominent Windsor man, in company with a Blenheim lad, stretched a piece of wire cable across the tracks near Chatham, which nearly ditched a passenger train. The boys claimed they wanted only to have some fun with the sectionmen.

AN ACCIDENT ON HUNTER STREET.

Dickson Company's Team Causes Some Excitement.

A runaway, which for a time, looked rather serious, occurred Saturday afternoon on Hunter street. A team of horses attached to a heavy wagon, was standing outside the Dickson Company's office in the Oriental block. The driver came out of the office and started to turn the team around. They turned too short, however, and the wagon upset, throwing the driver out, and as the wagon turned it struck a light buggy, belonging to Mr. B. Morrow, which was standing outside Mr. J. Lynch's drug store. The horse was knocked over on the pavement, and both front wheels of the buggy destroyed. The horse was not injured to any extent, and the team was stopped on Water street and brought back, without having inflicted any further injury Mr. Morrow's horse had a narrow escape, as the heavy wagon almost fell upon it.

14th Field Battery's Successful Camp at Cobourg—Accident to Sergt.-Major Scollie.

The 14th Field Battery, which has been in camp at Cobourg for twelve days, broke camp on Saturday, and the Peterborough section arrived home on Saturday night. The camp this year was a very successful one, the totals trength teing 118, as compared with slightly more than half that number last year. The Peterborough section, numbering this year about 30, was in command of Captain Ackerman. Lt. Colonel MacNachton, of Cobourg, was in command of the Battery.

On Friday, while the Battery was firing a salute, Sergt.-Major Scollie of Peterborough, met with an accident, which will lay him up for a month at least. He was directing the firing when he was kicked in the knee by Sergt. Guerin's horse. No bones were broken, but the caulk on the horse's shoe struck the knee at the joint, and the result was that the knee was severely injured. He was taken back to camp, and on Saturday removed to a friend's house in Cobourl. He will remain there until he has recovered sufficiently to be brought home. The accident cast somewhat of a gloom over the camp, as Mr. Scollie was one of the most popular men in the Battery.

Another accident occurred on Saturday, and was the result of an heroic endeavour on the part of Med. Corp. George Rickerby, to save the life of a lady and her child even at the risk of his own. Mr. Rickerby had been asked by Capt. Cairns of Bethany, to ride his horse from camp as it was being broken up on Saturday. The horse is a very treacherous one, and can only be controlled with a heavy cowboy bit, whereas on Saturday it was bridled simply with a light bit, and as soon as the corporal mounted, the animal started on a mad gallop through the ranks and up the streets of Cobourg. Probably no serious results would have been experienced had not a lady and her child attempted to cross the street right in the path of the rapidly moving horse. When they reached the centre of the street they apparently became so thoroughly frightened that they could neither retreat nor proceed, and stood motionless in the street. Corp. Rickerby, seeing that escape for them could only be secured by taking a great risk to his own life, decided instantly to take that risk, and being unable to swerve the horse to either side, threw the animal before it could reach those who stood in such great risk of being badly injured, if not killed, and in doing so sustained serious injury himself. As the horse fell the corporal's leg went under the animal, and the result was a serious break at the ankle, and a sprain of the knee.

He was taken to Port Hope on the flyer, and was taken care of in the Queen's Hotel, until the departure of the afternoon train, upon which he was brought home.

The many friends of the brave young man, both in the ranks of the Battery, with the members of which he was very popular, and civilians, will join in wishing him a speedy recovery. This is plainly a case for the gold medal of the Royal Humane Society. Corporal Rickerby's action showed the possession of the double treasure of a sound heart and a level head — quick to feel for another's peril, and prompt to take the right action at the right moment.

REV. DR. CROTHERS' FIRST SERMON

New Pastor at George Street Methodist Church

Makes a very Favourable Impression—His Subject "What the People Expect in a Minister."

Yesterday morning Rev. Dr. Crothers, M.A., who succeeds Rev. J. P. Wilson to the pastorate of the George street Methodist church, preached his first sermon in the capacity of pastor of the church, and those who were fortunate enough to hear the reverend doctor were highly pleased with his exposition of the truth. His subject was, "What the people expect from a minister," and his text, St. John 21, 16: "He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou Me? and he said unto Him, Lord, Thou knowest all things, Thou knowest that I love Thee. Jesus said unto him, Feed My sheep." From this text Dr. Crothers preached a good sermon on the characteristics which the members of a congregation have a right to expect from their preacher. There was, said the preacher, something mysterious in this chapter, and in the manner in which He had appeared to His disciples after His resurrection. If we could speak with one from the realm of spirits we would feel strongly, and in this chapter there is seen something of the awe which the disciples experienced in speaking with Christ. Before His death He had seemed to be one of them; they had asked His advice, and questioned Him about personal matters, but they had seen Him die and laid away in the tomb, and now He had risen again, and they naturally felt strongly.

In the conversation reported in the text there is something especially adapted to preachers, and personal responsibility is laid stress upon. God has had a church ever since he has had a family. The family was instituted and with it the church. At first it was very small. The father was the first head, but later it became more complicated, and the priests and Levites were introduced as the heads of the church. But now the days of the priesthood have passed away. One sacrifice was made needed to be repeated.

The priesthood now consists of the body of believers, and everyone is his or her own priest or priestess. But, while this is the case it is necessary that some should be set apart for the special purpose of instruction in the way of salvation. But these men do not occupy a position one bit higher than the people; they simply stand in a representative capacity. The great work to which these as well as everyone in the world has been called, is the salvation of souls and the building up of believers.

We, in George street, remarked the reverend speaker, are starting under new conditions, and why should we not look for definite results — why should not souls be saved every Sunday, instead of putting it off until the time of a revival?

A pastor is not the performer of ceremonies, nor the pronouncer of discourses.

Considerable discussion is being carried on just now, on the power of the pulpit, and many are asking the question, in connection with it, why men, and particularly young young men do not attend church. He was glad to see that in George street there were a great many young people, and naturally some responsibility was thrown upon the preacher for this condition.

There are some things which the people have a right to expect in a preacher, and one of these is that he shall be a man of clean hands and a pure heart. He must know the way himself, before he can teach it to others.

The second thing they expect is that he will love his work. A man who does not love his work, whatever it may be does not amount to much, and if he does love it he will be a measurable success. No man is fit to be a preacher, who does not take an interest in men and women and children, and the people expect this. The speaker laid emphasis upon the necessity for looking after the young people, if the church was to prosper.

They also expect the minister to be in touch with the age. The difference between young and old men is not that the latter have grey hairs but in the fact that they are not in touch with present day conditions. A man may be old in years, and still be a young man if he keeps his mind fresh. A preacher must also be a searcher of new ideas and methods. Methods which would do 50 years ago would not suit to-day. He wished to be understood in this, however. There is only the old way of Salvation by the Gospel, but there are new ways of presenting it. If John Wesley were alive to-day, he would be abreast of the times. There are questions to be considered to-day that our fathers never thought of.

Then the people expect to find in the minister a man who will sympathize with them in trouble, and who will prove a friend. In many congregations there are some who are worried and troubled, and these should find a friend in the minister.

They expect, too, that he will be a preacher of the Gospel; no new fangled theories, but the same old Gospel, though perhaps told in new words. They expect a man who is not afraid to speak out his opinions. There is one thing, however, which they should not expect, and that is perfection or omniscience. Speaking personally, he said that they were now entering into new relations as pastor and people, and he wished to be considered as a citizen of Peterborough, and interested in everything pertaining to the welfare of the town, both socially, municipally, and politically, because, said he, when I became a minister, I did not cease being a man. Any ability that he might possess was at their service, and he asked their prayers. He closed by saying that in no place had he been met with more kindness than in Peterborough, which he characterized as the most progressive town in the province.

It is no exaggeration to state that Dr. Crothers created a very favourable impression in both services yesterday, and he has already won a place in the hearts of his congregation.

JAPS SMASH AGAIN

Sink Russian Guardship and Destroyer at Port Arthur.

DESPERATE TORPEDO ATTACK

Loss to the Japs Was Small—The Vladivostock Squadron Again Eluded Admiral Kamimura in the Darkness—Japs Chased Fleet But Did Not Get Near Enough to Launch Torpedoes—Russian Claims.

Tokio, July 4.—A belated report from Admiral Togo records a desperate and successful torpedo attack at the entrance of Port Arthur last Monday night, June 27, in which a Russian guardship and a Russian torpedo boat destroyer were sunk.

The guardship is described as having two masts and three funnels. She was either a battleship or a cruiser and she was torpedoed and destroyed. The torpedo boat destroyer was struck and then blew up and sank.

Admiral Togo reports the loss of one officer and 18 killed and one officer and two men wounded. He makes no mention of damage to his fleet.

The 12th torpedo fleet, under the command of Commander Yamada, delivered the attack. The Japanese vessels were revealed by the Russian searchlights and the shore forts opened a heavy fusillade on them. The Russian guardship was surrounded and attacked by the Japanese, who saw this vessel sink amid huge volumes of water thrown up by heavy explosions. Following this the Russian torpedo boat destroyer at once attacked the Japanese vessels, which responded to the onslaught. A Russian destroyer while within the area lit up by the searchlights was seen to explode, rise, fall back into the water sideways and sink.

KAMIMURA ELUDED AGAIN.

Japs Chased Vladivostock Squadron But It Extinguished Lights and Vanished.

Tokio, July 4.—The Vladivostock squadron eluded Vice-Admiral Kamimura's squadron eastward of the Island of Tsu Friday night in the darkness. A drizzling rain and fog favored the Russian vessels.

The two squadrons met early in the evening, the Russians being north of Iki Island, and the Japanese south of Tsu Island. They were then ten miles apart. The Russians bolted to the northwest, when they were discovered by Vice-Admiral Kamimura. The latter chased them at full speed.

The Japanese torpedo boats steamed ahead and entered within the range of the Russian guns. The Russian vessels vigorously shelled the Japanese torpedo boats. This firing explains the cannonading heard on Tsu Island and gave rise to the belief that a general engagement was in progress.

Vice-Admiral Kamimura gained on the Russian ships and was only five miles in the rear, when suddenly at 9 p.m. all the Russian vessels extinguished their lights and disappeared in the darkness. At that time the Japanese torpedo boats were pressing the Russians, who had been using their searchlights.

Japs Successful on Land.

Che Foo, July 4.—It has been learned here that a big battle has been fought on land near Port Arthur on June 26 and June 27. The Japanese were successful, and on the morning of the 28th they occupied certain heights within ten miles of Port Arthur. The first Japanese division, which suffered so heavily at the battle of Nanshan Hill, and the eleventh division, fresh from Japan, were engaged. The Japanese losses have not been learned, but the Russians are said to have suffered very heavily.

Refugees who left Port Arthur Saturday, and who have arrived here, declared that wounded Russians were being brought in by the hundreds.

The two divisions which attacked Port Arthur were composed of forty thousand men and an independent artillery corps.

Did Japs Lose 8,000?

St. Petersburg, July 4.—Russian feeling has greatly improved over the reports of Russian success at Dalin and in Major-General Mistchenko's engagement. Japanese losses during the fighting of June 26 and 27 are stated at 8,000 men and in Mistchenko's operations at 500. Prisoners say that the Japanese are running short of provisions, and that for two days they had practically nothing to eat.

Telegrams from Liaoyang agree that the Japanese are withdrawing from the positions recently captured at such enormous cost, and that the Russian troops are assuming the offensive and inflicting further losses.

Credit for the Japanese retreat is ascribed to General Kuropatkin, and the remainder of the campaign, it is believed, will be directly favorable to the Russian arms.

Land Battle Expected.

Che Foo, July 4.—A small Japanese force occupied Kaiping on June 23 and found the Russians had fallen back to Taitcdekiao, where the Japanese expect that a big battle will be fought.

DEATH OF DR. HERZL.

He Was Founder of Movement For Jewish State in Palestine.

Vienna, July 4.—Dr. Theodore Herzl, president of the Zionist Congress, died here yesterday.

Dr. Herzl was born at Buda-Pesth on May 2, 1860, and after obtaining the degree of doctor of laws from the university of that city, traveled extensively throughout Europe and Asia Minor. Between 1885 and 1897 he published a number of comedies and volumes of essays and light sketches, but gradually became attracted to the position of the Jews in Central and Eastern Europe. The development of Anti-Semitism in these countries and the grave issues involved prompted him to become the founder of the Zionist movement, in which he had the warm support of Max Nordau in Paris and Israel Zangwill in England. That organization aimed at the establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine, either in Palestine, if that were possible, or, if not, in Cyprus, but little practical headway has been made.

Experience of Two Nurses

Who Have Had Splendid Opportunities in their Practise of Testing the Merits of

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Miss C. Stanley-Jones, professional masseuse and nurse, 283 Simcoe street, Toronto, Ont., writes: — "In my occupation as a nurse I have come across many cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used with extraordinary results. One case I recall was that of a child of sixteen months who was in a bad way with scaly head. It was a really nasty case, causing the child to suffer very much and to be very troublesome. I persuaded the mother to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and in ten days the child was entirely cured.

"Another case was that of a lady who was greatly troubled with eczema on the face. The doctor was dosing her with medicine, which was doing no good. In this case cure was effected in seven days with only one box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Both of these cures were lasting."

Mrs. H. A. Loynes, nurse, Philipsburg, Que., writes: "I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment a perfect medicine. I have used it myself and as a nurse have recommended it in a good many cases for itching piles. It always gave perfect satisfaction in every case, and once people used it they would not think of being without it in the house."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 12

CANADA'S GOOD MEN

Available For Desirable Positions on the G. T. P. Ry.

THE ALIEN LABOR INQUIRY

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber and Other Prominent Engineers Give Evidence Before Judge Winchester—Chief Government Engineer Says He Recommended Many Qualified Men to the G.T.P. People.

Ottawa, July 4.—The contention of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company that there were no Canadian engineers competent or available for the survey work in western Canada for which Americans are drawing salaries up in the thousands, was exploded in the sitting of Judge Winchester's investigation court on Saturday. H. M. Mowat, K.C., appeared for the Government, and Andrew Haydon watched the proceedings for the Grand Trunk Company.

Collingwood Schreiber, C. M. G., chief engineer of Government railways, was first examined. His engineering experience dated back to 1852. Mr. Stephens had never applied to him to recommend men. There were many perfectly competent for the work, and, he presmued, willing to do it.

Judge Winchester asked if the witness knew of any Canadian engineers capable of filling the position of chief engineer. Mr. Schreiber, in reply, mentioned Newton Ker, city engineer of Ottawa; Hugh Lumsden of Toronto, George Keefer of Victoria, H. A. F. MacLeod and Mr. G. A. Mountain.

"Do you know of any Canadians available and capable for divisional engineers?" was asked.

Mr. Schreiber, from a list handed him, mentioned favorably, H. P. Bell, C. E. Perry, A. Leonard, J. H. Kennedy, J. St. V. Caddy, A. Duffy, J. Brophy, J. Dickey, W. McCarthy and T. Ruel. He had recommended many of these to the Grand Trunk people.

"When was that?" asked the judge.

"In 1902."

The judge enquired if there were Canadians suitable for hydrographical engineering.

Mr. Schreiber replied that engineers who had worked on the Canadian canals were perfectly competent to do the work.

H. A. F. MacLeod gave evidence along the same lines and from a list of members of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers cited names of many qualified for the work.

T. C. Keefer, C. M. G., told the court that he would not anticipate any difficulty in obtaining engineers of Canadian nationality at the rates being paid.

Henry Holgate, C. E., of Montreal, did not think Mr. Stephens could have made any earnest enquiry as to the engineering force available. He had never heard of Mr. Stephens communicating with the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers in regard to ascertaining the names of available engineers.

Doukhobors Are Doing Well.

Prof. James Mavor, of Toronto University, gave an account recently at Winnipeg of the phenomenal progress made by the Doukhobor colonists since his first visit, made to them five years ago. "The leader of the Doukhobors, Peter Verigin," said Prof. Mavor, "is indeed a remarkable man. He has been in the colony just eighteen months, having come in November, 1902. In this short time he has altered the character of the community, has changed their mode of agriculture, gradually introducing modern methods, and has built up an organization out of chaos."

Several thousand acres of land have been broken, and the area under cultivation this year will be greater than that sown last year. Verigin is determined to have first-class horses and cattle. Just now he is negotiating for the purchase of some high-class stock.

In the past year or two the colony has expended $60,000 in the purchase of land, and invested largely in farm machinery. The north and south colonies, comprising the villages to the north and to the south of Fort Pelly, are moving forward to great prosperity.

The Doukhobors near Rosthern, whose settlement was also visited, are more individualistic. They do not hold their land in common, and only to a small extent co-operate with their brethern of the north and south colony.

"If," said Prof. Mavor, "Verigin succeeds in organizing the labor of the large body of men he has to deal with, and in holding them together, there is no doubt that in a few years the Doukhobor lands will be among the most productive in the Northwest. By his wonderful management he has already saved the community at least $40,000.

"He Won't Die

Of consumption" is a remark often made of a fleshy man. The remark expresses the popular recognition of the fact that the sign of consumption is emaciation, loss of flesh. On the other hand, a gain in flesh is a sure sign that wasting diseases are being cured.

Emaciated people with obstinate coughs, bleeding lungs, night-sweats and weakness, have been perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The several steps of the cure were recorded in ounces and pounds of increasing weight. When there is gain in flesh the wasting disease is being surely cured.

Mr. Will H. Whitmire, of Arkton, Rockingham Co., Va., writes: "Our son contracted a deep cold about the first of July, 1899, and had a terrible cough. We called a doctor and he pronounced it irritation of the bronchial tubes, with asthmatic trouble, and he informed me that my son was liable to die at any time. He told me that if we could keep the bronchial tubes open, he might cure him but after treating him several weeks and my son growing worse all the time, I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I had seen several almost miraculous cures brought about by the use of these medicines, and of course I had wonderful faith in them. He used three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' at home and one vial of the 'Pellets,' and was then well enough to go to West Virginia, taking a supply with him. I am just in receipt of a letter from him from which I quote: 'I am well and hardy and getting very fleshy.'"

A Nova Scotian in Newfoundland.

Alfred Bishop Morine, leader of the Opposition in the Newfoundland Legislature, who recently addressed the Canadian Club in Toronto, was born in Port Medway, N. S. He went to Newfoundland in 1882 to edit The St. John's Mercury, and four years later ran for the Legislature, defeating a Cabinet Minister. He has been a member of the House almost continuously ever since, and has, in successive Cabinets, been Colonial Secretary, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Minister of Finance and Customs. On two occasions he was appointed on colonial delegations which appeared before the Imperial Parliament in connection with the French treaties. Mr. Morine was called to the Bar in 1894, after graduating LL.B. at Dalhousie University, and at once became prominent in legal circles. He is known in the island as the "fighting politician," a title earned as the principal figure in a score of historic Parliamentary "scenes." Mr. Morine has a dominating personality. He is a fluent and incisive speaker, a past master in the use of biting sarcasm, and never so happy as when leading a forlorn hope. Holding a permanent retainer from the Reid-Newfoundland Railway, Mr. Morine's political influence in the island at the present time is weak. He has been always an unblushing advocate of the entrance of Newfoundland into the Canadian confederacy.

The Pilot's Authority.

The first thing a sailor will tell you who has been to the Rio Plata, in South America, is about the pilots there.

He does not like them. Most of the river pilots are ignorant negro fishermen, who have been to sea on English ships and therefore know the language. In blue and brass uniforms, backed by government authority, they make themselves almost unbearable at times. But by the law they are in command while the ship is in the river, and they may order even the captain to do their bidding.

A large British bark was being towed up the river one day. The black pilot had been strutting about the deck some time, when he suddenly bawled out:

"Square in dem foreyards!"

Surprised and disgusted, the sailors obeyed.

"Now brace up de mainyards, ye lubbers!" he bawled next.

The captain was angry.

"Pilot," he protested in a choking voice, "what do you mean by bracing about yards with sails furled and a calm day?"

"Dat's all right, cap'n," responded the pilot with a majestic wave of his hand. "I's got ter show my authority in some way. Go 'way; don't say nuffin to me."

The Climber Bittersweet.

The bittersweet manifests a decided preference for the cedar, which it seldom strangles, but twines about in a helpful way. Perhaps it is because the dark, palm-like sprays of the evergreen afford the finest constrast for its glowing orange and scarlet. Nowhere does it seem so well to deserve its common name "waxwork" as when drooping between the shelving foliage of a snow-decked cedar. There it shows that the season of fruition can reveal beauties surpassing the bloom of spring, beauties unmarred by obtrusive utility and free from the persistent and oppressive sense of evanescence.

MY DENTIST.

I know a man who's most polite;
He's kind and full of tact,
But on my spirits like a blight
His smile and presence act.
When I'm compelled to visit him
My mental sky is gray and grim.

He seems most gracious and urbane;
A courteous person he,
But I reluctantly remain
In his suave company;
I don't like his style a bit;
With me the man is not a hit.

His little hammer out he takes
And knocks and knocks and knocks.
And how I hate it, goodness sakes!
I'd not endure such shocks
As he distributes every day
If I were sure of princely pay.

With saw and hammer, drill and file,
He deftly shows his skill
Upon my aching jaws the while
He's chasing up his bill.
And then to meet that bill's demands
My last lone dollar leaves my hands.

Fable of the College Boy Who Came Home.

A young man who had filled up on a College Education clear to the Hat-band and had accumulated all of the Branches, including Latin, Ancient History, Football, the College Yell and the ability to Smoke a Brier Pipe, came Home after it was All Over to show his Old Fogy Parent how to Run the Farm.

Naturally the Neighbors who had kept their own Sons at Home, hopping over Large Triangular Clods and separating the Cows from their Milk, Shook their Heads and said that William's Highfalutin Notions might do to run a Bank, but they they would never be of Much Service in Snatching Success from the Bosom of the Unwilling Earth.

William heeded not their Scoffings. After Kissing his Mother and Shaking hands with the Dog, he said to his Father, who was Admiring his Broad Shoulders: "Father, You have Worked Hard and have Earned a Rest. Tomorrow Morning you remain in Bed. It has been My Custom for Some Time to take an Hour's Exercise before Breakfast. I can just as well take that Exercise Doing the Chores. After that Meal I shall Sally forth to the Field, where, as Added compensation, in Addition to the Joy of Labor, I know I shall Accumulate a Beautiful Tan that will be the Envy of all my Mates. Do not Call me for Dinner, for I have Adopted the Two Meal a Day Plan, and by Adding that Hour to the Working Day I think we will be Able to Discharge the Hired Man after the Rush Season is Over."

Then William went out Into the Kitchen to Blow Smoke wreathes, so that the Hired Man would no Longer feel superior to Him.

William was as Good as his word, and it was not many Months until he had paid off the Mortgage and Purchased another Farm.

HOW LINDSAY TOOK THE DEFEAT

The Post has a Number of things to say of Friday's Game

The Lindsay Post man must have a wonderful pair of eyes. He saw things at the baseball game here on Friday that no one else witnessed, and his report of the game is one continued abuse of Peterborough, and all that pertains to it—baseball team, its manager, the grounds, the spectators, and everything else. The Examiner publishes this stuff, not because it will prove edifying reading, but to show the absolute absurdity of the thing. The game was won on its merits, and as for the treatment accorded the team, it was away ahead of that given any baseball team that has played in Lindsay in years. For verification of this ask the manager of the Varsity nine, who played in that town not many months ago.

The spectators were inclined to give the Lindsay players fair treatment, and did, and it is a pretty poor sport who cannot take a little "jollying" from the rooters.

"The Lindsays met their first defeat in the Midland League yesterday at Peterborough by a score of 7 to 1. Citizens, we may faithfully say, our boys did not put up their best ball playing. They were playing against disadvantages. Did you ever hear of a Lindsay team being treated fair and square by a Peterborough team? In yesterday's game the Lindsay boys received the worst kind of treatment. The grounds were something fierce. The bags were not fastened to the ground, and as a result they were pulled away from the Lindsay players. At one stage of the game, Whiteroft, the unpopular manager, deliberately picked up the bag and carried it three or four feet away from Workman, who was on the base. The scorer, no matter how hard he tried, could not get the line up from the manager of the team. Did our citizens ever know of 'Norm' McGill losing his temper in a ball game. 'No.' Well, he did not yesterday, but was greatly provoked by the mean way in which Lamont and Graham handled Workman on second. The Peterborough players, with the exception of four or five, were always ready for kicking, and at one time, without any reason whatever, Graham rushed out at Workman, and gave him a slight push. Before the game had commenced our boys were received with jeers and curses by the spectators. Peterborough scored their first run on a pass ball, the ball going over the fence, but the runner took four bases on the pass ball. Did you ever hear of the like before? The umpire, P. Duncan, of Cobourg, did not credit our boys with anything, but certainly seemed to be satisfied with the Peterboroughs. When McGill went to catch a ball at first base, Lamont, the runner, caught hold of him by the leg and tripped him while in the act of catching the ball, the ball passing over McGill's head, and [illegible] meant reaching third, but this appeared [illegible] by the umpire. If [illegible] walked out to speak to the umpire he would have a bunch of Peterborough players after him, who would call him all kinds of ungentlemanly names and block his way. Hoodlums kept up a continual [illegible] of uncalled for and certainly indecent language to use in a friendly game of ball. Capt. Cinnamon was hit by a large stone while standing near the stand, by one of the rooters. That's the game as it is in Peterborough. The Lindsay boys could not even walk down the main street without receiving small pebbles on the back—and jeers like "rotten Lindsay," "go home," "hit him on the head," "dirty," "you low-down villains," and a great many other names, which would not look good in print. The Lindsay boys and their supporters say it is the worst and meanest town they ever got into. We would like to see the citizens of Peterborough take an interest in their team and try to cultivate a gentlemanly spirit. When Peterborough played here on the 24th they were treated well. The Lindsay boys took their medicine, and stood the dirt, jeers, stones, etc., as men and never said a word, but quietly left the grounds for the hotel and dressed as quickly as possible and came home as soon as they could get out of the town. Capt. Cinnamon deserves credit for the way in which he handled his players yesterday. He played a true game and received ill treatment in a quiet and good-natured way. The Lindsays made a number of juicy errors, but these can easily be accounted for, as they had all the vigour knocked out of them before the first two innings were over. One thing we noticed was that the Peterborough games do not draw very many ladies, but that is easily explained — they don't behave themselves. The Lindsay boys feel confident that they can trim their opponents on neutral grounds and are prepared to do so, that is if they play Peterborough men and not outsiders. Their pitcher yesterday was Reid, of St. Mary's League, Toronto, which is not playing according to the rules of the League."

After such an elaborate kick the Lindsay baseball team should merge itself into a football club. It should kick some football during a game, as it is sure to kick after a game—if it loses.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR THE COLTS.

Defeated the Albions of Toronto on Dominion Day.

Friday was anything but an ideal day from the cricket standpoint, yet the "Colts" managed to find enough time between showers to win their fourth victory of the season.

The opposing team (the Albions) hailed from Toronto where they have been playing in the Church and Mercantile League and were a decidedly senior aggregation. Two of the players are Toronto policemen, half a dozen learned the game in England, and the balance were men well out of their "teens."

The Colts played (with a couple of exceptions) the same team which had already won so many successes. Weiler was out of town and Hammond played in his stead, while Ackerman and Cameron filled like vacancies.

Winning the toss the Colts went in. Burritt and Main opened and made 11 before the latter was clean bowled by Darkinson. Burritt continued to hit hard and made a very pretty 14 before succumbing to Button. Campbell started well but was bowled for 5. The innings closed for 34, Burritt's 14, Main's 6 and Campbell's 5, being the chief contributions.

Contrary to all expectations the Albions fell far short of the requisite number of runs in their innings. Throwing all science to the winds they went in to "smash" but against such bowling as that of Burritt and Moore these tactics were fatal and 12 represented the sum total of their efforts.

The Albions' second innings was a splendid effort. Sixty-three runs were needed to win the game while a saturated crease rendered the Colts bowling more than ordinarily deadly. Despite these adverse conditions they made 47. A little loose fielding gave promise of better things but splendid bowling on the part of Hammond retired the last five men and practically won the game.

The victory is undoubtedly the cleverest piece of work done by the Colts this year. Throughout the season they have won unstinted praise by their fine work and Friday's victory was a very happy ending for a most successful season.

Slips.

Hall has developed into a fine fielder. His work at "square leg" was sensational.

"Off days" seem unknown to Burritt and Moore. Their bowling is always deadly.

"The finest crease since I left England," was one player's verdict.

Davidson has came along well. Next year should see him a very useful man.

Burritt's 14 was a very pretty effort. The Captain is a hard hitter and a terror to loose bowlers.

BASEBALL.

One of the best games of the season in the Guild League is promised for this evening at the Patterson street grounds, when St. Andrew's and Charlotte street meet for the second time this season. The Charlotte street team will be picked from, Thornton, E. Roddy, Squires, H. Roddy, McWilliams, Jolliffe, Sanderson, Carr, Miller and Regan. Mr. H. R. H. Kenner will referee. St. Andrew's will line up as follows:—Foster, s.s.; Elliott, 1 b.; Patterson, p.; McDonald, 2 b.; Miller, r. f.; Glover, 3 b.; Thornton, c.; McFadden, c. f.; Reid, l. f.

THE ALIEN LABOUR ENQUIRY

Evidence on the Subject by J. M. Shanley, C. E.—Fully as Good as Americans, Said the Witness—Prof. McLeod Also Gives Evidence Before Judge Winchester—Mr. Stephens and Mr. Hays.

Montreal, July 5.—Judge Winchester opened his court here yesterday, J. M. Shanley, C. E., being the first witness. At the enquiry in Montreal J. R. Stephens had stated that he had made application for American engineers only after he had exhausted every effort to obtain Canadian engineers and Mr. Mowat produced this testimony and asked Mr. Shanley what he thought of the experience of certain men whom he named.

The witness was of opinion, first, that Canadian engineers in sufficient numbers could be obtained; second, that the qualifications of the Canadian engineers would compare favorably with those from the United States; and third, that as a member of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers he had never heard that Mr. Stephens had made any application to that society for men.

Mr. Shanley, shown a list of men who had applied for work, recognized many of them as being amply qualified for the position of divisional or district engineer, which is now filled by Mr. Stephens, an American, at a salary of $7,500 per annum. He mentioned the names of the following who would be in his opinion amply qualified for the premier position: Messrs. Massey, Doucet, Mountain, Leonard, Jennings, Lumsden. Mr. Shanley named 18 men who, from his knowledge, would be amply qualified for the position of divisional engineer, which position was worth $4,000 per annum.

The next witness was Prof. McLeod of McGill University, who proved, as both Mr. Mowat and the court averred, an unwilling witness. Prof. McLeod refused to answer most of the questions put to him by Mr. Mowat. He declined to mention the names of any members of the Society of Canadian Civil Engineers, of which he was secretary, as being qualified for any position, whether that of chief, or division, or district engineer. He declined to say how many names on the list of membership might possibly have proper qualifications. He refused again and again to say whether the number out of two thousand members might be one hundred or twenty-five or ten who would possess sufficient qualifications.

He was shown a list of men who had applied to the Grand Trunk, and he said he could not tell whether they were qualified or not. He said this, as Mr. Mowat reminded him, without having looked over the complete list. The professor afterwards admitted that he was an employe of the Grand Trunk.

In the afternoon, Engineer Stephens was called. Witness refused to state if he had been in the Jamieson raid, and he also declined to state why he had left South Africa and his memory failed him entirely when asked about the men to whom he had refused positions in the survey.

C. M. Hays was then asked from what source he had received a list sent to the Government as to the men's nationality, and the general manager replied from Mr. Stephens.

POLICE POWERLESS

Critical State of Affairs at the Sydney Steel Works.

STRIKERS NOW FACE MILITIA

All Entrance Blocked—Not An Employe Allowed to Enter the Works—Strikers Hustle the Officers of the Company —One of Them Held Mob of a Thousand at Bay With Two Revolvers.

Sydney, N.S., July 5.—Fifty local militiamen, under command of Major Crowe of the 17th Field Battery, have taken charge of the steel works here.

The march from the barracks to the works was attended by a number of sensational incidents which passed off without troops having to resort to bloodshed.

One of these was when Gen. Sales Agent Jones of the Steel Company faced a crowd of a thousand strikers with two revolvers and held them at bay until the arrival of the militia.

He and other officials then entered the plant under the protection of the soldiers.

Trouble and even bloodshed is expected to occur to-day when the Steel Company will attempt to bring a large number of workmen into the plant.

The militia will be on hand to protect them, while the strikers are determined to prevent any non-union men from entering, and have made no secret of their intention to oppose the soldiers.

If the assertions of strikers are to be believed there will be a big strike of coal miners within a week.

STORY OF THE SITUATION.

Sydney, July 5.—(G. N. W. Despatch.)—Trouble ensued yesterday in consequence of the Steel Company's attempt to operate its plant, and the whole strike situation assumed an entirely new phase. At 8 o'clock last night the Sydney Field Battery, under the command of Major Crowe and a portion of No. 5 company of the Argyle Highlanders, with Major Gillis and Capt. McNeil commanding, marched through the streets and took up their station at the various entrances to the works. They will be reinforced this morning by the remaining companies of the infantry.

On the way to the works the military were met at the bridge crossing Muggah's Creek to No. 1 gate by about 700 of the strikers. The crowd was augmented by hundreds of people who had assembled there to view what might prove a struggle between men and soldiers. The men were massed at the end of the bridge, but fell apart when the volunteers marched down the street. On passing through the mass the crowd surged after the troops, and Major Crowe gave the command to turn about and meet the men with fixed bayonets. This done, the crowd fell back, but not until those in advance came near falling on the bayonets.

Excitement at Fever Heat.

Excitement was now at fever heat. The strikers were heaving to and fro, cheering the P.W.A., and giving counter cheers in derision of the military. After the latter had passed over the bridge the excitement subsided and the men dispersed, most of them to take up their stations on picket duty in different parts of the city and in the vicinity of the plant. They were closely watching all avenues leading to the works, as well as the entire water-front, to see that no men are smuggled into the premises. The city was quiet last night, but hundreds of strikers are patrolling the streets near the works, and further trouble is anticipated in the morning.

The strikers yesterday got beyond the control of the police in the morning when they began to interfere with employes entering the works. They would permit no one to go in, even J. H. Plummer, president of the company, had to run the gauntlet before he was allowed to pass through. Graham Fraser, director of works, was also intercepted.

Blooming Mill Operating.

C. S. Cameron, comptroller of works, was pushed several hundred yards and placed on board a car and told to go home. One of the strikers was arrested and was in course of being taken to town on a car, when the electric car was at once seized by union men and thrown off the track, the man under arrest rescued and the car replaced on the road. As a result of their efforts to start the plant, the company succeeded in getting the blooming mill partly in operation, and they expect to have it as well as at least the rod and wire mills in partial operation this morning when the redcoats will patrol the entire vicinity of the works and will forbid any assembling on the part of the strikers. The officials of neither side would talk for publication.

—The Globe gloats over the heroism of two young ladies who swam out into the Humber river and then brought to shore a young man, who was not otherwise in the swim. With all due credit to this heroic act, it may be remarked that there are girls who would risk swimming the Niagara for the sake of landing a man.

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness, and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains, and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a red letter day to me when I took the first dose, for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did." —MISS GUILA GANNON, 350 Jones St., Detroit, Mich., Secretary Amateur Art Association. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

When one considers that Miss Gannon's letter is only one of the countless hundreds which we are continually publishing in the newspapers of this country, the great virtue of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine must be admitted by all.

ONTARIO'S BENEFICIARY WORKS ARE PRAISED.

Kingston Whig pays Tribute to the Administration.

The Kingston Whig, referring to the administration of the Provincial Secretary's Department says:—

"The visit of the Hon. J. R. Stratton to Rockwood institution for the insane has brought to the local mind a sense of the activities and usefulness of that stirring representative. No one has met a more strenuous storm of criticism than his aggressiveness has created, but none have yet failed to give him credit for highly capable administration of his department. He is in thorough touch with every one of its branches and has intimate knowledge of details and conditions. The post is not an easy one, because of the great number of patients under care and the many employees requiring oversight as well as an even balance of treatment and reward. This uncommon capacity for control has enabled him to be great service to the province. In every institution there has been a steady advance in conditions—in buildings as well as in improved methods. It was no idle boast to claim for Ontario's beneficiary work a better grade than even those states, which aim at the very best, can present. The improvement has been upon a well-studied plan—on lines of highest modern experience and thought. Ontario's great institutions will bear the impress of Mr. Stratton's ability and earnestness for many long years.

ENNISMORE

(From our own Correspondent.)

The new T.A.S. hall promises to be a very fine building, and will afford ample accommodation for the transaction of all township and parish affairs. Mr. W. E. Argus, as architect, has spared no pains in the preparation of plans, and will oversee the work until completed.

The receipts of the recent picnic amounted to $962.50, being the largest ever received in Ennismore, and Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and his efficient committee desire to publicly thank all those who in any way contributed towards its success.

The ticket contest was decided last week and the following held the winning tickets:—Mr. John Scollard holding ticket 2236, won the scuffler, presented by Mr. Peter Hamilton; ticket No. 134, held by Rev. Father Galvin, won the plough, donated by the Sylvester Company, while ticket No. 136 won the doll, the gift of Miss Annie Simons, the winner being Mrs. Michael Duffy, of Emily. The shooting contest was all decided, and resulted as follows:—1, Mr. P. Costello, 60 points out of a possible 72; 2, Mr. P. F. Flood, 59; 3, Mr. Wm. Henry Crough, 57 points. The contest was a keen one, as the prize presented by Mr. Frank McPherson was a valuable search light.

St. Martin's T.A.S. continues to grow, and now totals over 375 ardent members.

Last Tuesday morning two very pretty weddings took place here, the happy couples being Mr. Alfred Costello and Miss Mary Loretta McAuliffe, and Mr. Ambrose Keane, of Harwood, and Miss Bridget Maria Flood, of Ennismore.

STOLE A RIDE AND WERE FINED.

Two Young Men From Alabama in Court Yesterday Morning.

At the Police Court yesterday morning Henry Lovell and Fred. Watson appeared before the magistrate on a charge of entering a railway car, the property of the C.P.R. Company with intent to be fraudulently carried. Both young men pleaded guilty. A C.P.R. detective gave evidence that he arrested them at Peterborough yesterday morning. The two, with another companion boarded the baggage car at Smith Falls. When the arrest was made the third man made his escape and has not since been captured. The young men had not the appearance of criminals and stated that they were from Alabama and were on their way to Toronto. They became footsore and consequently boarded the train at Smith Falls. The magistrate stated that there was a law to protect the railways in this matter and that it was his duty to enforce the law. He imposed a fine of $25.00 to be paid in 10 days or one month's imprisonment. The young men promised to pay the fine. It was learned afterwards from Watson that his grandfather was a tinker and horse trader in this vicinity many years ago and was a respectable man. His son was murdered in Alabama and the deceased man's son, the young man in court, lost his money in Alabama, and consequently came to Canada, to try his fortune in this country. Both Watson and Lovell were respectably dressed and are evidently not criminals.

WARM WEATHER BAD STOMACHS

Tone up the Stomach with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Neither Heat nor Work will bother you.

The warm summer days give one a disinclination to eat, more especially those who are unable to escape to the mountain or seaside. That's what causes the languid, lazy feeling—that disinclination to do anything except yawn.

Do you know that it is your stomach that is to blame. Watch a man who can eat a good hearty meal, how much better he can stand the heat, and do a day's work as well.

Your stomach needs toning up, and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the greatest stomach tonic ever known. They cure all stomach ills. Isaac Jenkins, 116 Dundas street, Toronto, says:

"I had been troubled for one year with sour stomach and heartburn, and could eat no rich food. I was told Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets would cure me, and had only to use half a box, when I was cured."

A RETRACTION.

In the May number of the Ladies' Home Journal we published, in the article entitled "The 'Patent-Medicine' Curse," an analysis of "Doctor Pierce's Favourite Prescription," in which that preparation was represented as containing among other ingredients, tincture of digitalis, tincture of opium, and alcohol. Immediately upon publication of the number a suit for damages was instituted by The R. V. Pierce Medical Company, of Buffalo, New York, proprietors of the preparation in question, against The Curtis Publishing Company, based upon the claim that none of the three ingredients was contained in the medicine.

Upon the filing of the suit, we, of course, immediately looked into the published analysis. If appears that this particular analysis had been made, if made at all, fully twenty-five years ago. We, thereupon, employed three leading chemists in different cities to make an analysis of the preparation from bottles bought in the open market. These analysis, one and all, now show to us conclusively that not a single one of the ingredients mentioned by us in the analysis quoted—that is, either digitalis, opium or alcohol—was contained in the bottles analyzed. We then—the President of this Company and the writer—personally visited The R. V. Pierce Medical Company, at Buffalo, and were there convinced that the officers of the Company were absolutely truthful in their claim that not one of these injurious ingredients was contained in "Doctor Pierce's Favourite Prescription." Naturally, since the analysis we printed has been proved erroneous, the deductions made in connection with this preparation were unwarranted and unfounded.

Under these circumstances it is now perfectly plain to us that this magazine was unintentionally, but nevertheless absolutely misled in making the original statement, and we hereby, of our own volition, make this unqualified acknowledgment of our mistake to The R. V. Pierce Medical Company and to our readers.

The mistake was honestly made, but it was a mistake.

Conference Not in Vain.

London, July 5.—(C.A.P.)—Seven hundred delegates to the Pan-Presbyterian Conference and their wives were entertained by the local committee at the Walker Art Gallery, Liverpool. The Lord Mayor was present. Rev. Principal Cavan, voicing the thanks of the delegates for the hospitality shown them, said that if the kindly feeling evinced in Liverpool in any sense symbolized the higher spiritual unity he loved to think of, then the Liverpool conference had not been in vain.

B. SHORTLY, SIGN OF THE HORSE AT THE DOOR

LUCK OF HARRY HOBBS.

Pleaded Not Guilty on Being Charged With Bank Theft and Bank Failed to Put Up Evidence.

Woodstock, July 5.—In the police court yesterday forenoon Harry H. Hobbs, the Ingersoll bank teller, who was arrested last week, received his trial on the charge of stealing the sum of $729.34 from the Merchants Bank. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and the prosecution not offering any evidence against him he was discharged.

The prosecution was represented by Thomas Wells, the solicitor for the Merchants Bank, and upon the plea of the accused being received he informed the magistrate that the prosecutor did not propose offering any evidence in support of the charge. "The case is entirely in the hands of your worship," he added.

Crown Attorney Not Satisfied.

Crown Attorney R. N. Ball, who was present in the interests of the Crown, is not at all satisfied with the course adopted in the case by the bank authorities. He considers that such action seriously interferes with the working of the criminal code and he proposes to call the attention of the Attorney-General to the matter.

He understands that friends of the young man have adjusted the difficulty between the accused and the bank, and thus the arrest was merely the means of bringing these friends to his assistance.

Such a procedure does not meet the approval of the Crown Attorney and more may yet be heard of the matter.

The costs of the arrest and of the court were paid by Mr. Wells on behalf of the bank.

In Woman's Favor

Few treatments stand so high in woman's favour as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This is not only because of the extraordinary control which this preparation has over diseases and weakness peculiar to women, but also because of its power as a tissue builder. By weighing yourself while using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you can prove that new flesh and weight is being added to the body.

A FRANK STATEMENT

Presented by Hon. H. R. Emmerson on Intercolonial Finances.

THE EXPENSES INCREASING

Last Year's Deficit Will Be Something Over Half a Million Dollars—Increased Wages and Fuel the Cause—Bills to Amend the Election Act and Representation Act—Third Readings.

Ottawa, July 5.—The financial condition of the Intercolonial was the subject of a frank statement to the House yesterday by Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways, when the estimates for his department came up for consideration. The figures presented showed that for the year ending June 30, 1903, there was a surplus of $127,670. The returns for the first ten months of the last fiscal year, however, show a deficit of $547,772. Mr. Emmerson gave several convincing reasons for the less favorable showing this year, the principal one being an increase in wages of $344,895 over last year. At the same time fuel has increased in price and large sums have been spent in betterments. On the other hand, Mr. Emmerson pointed out that, while determined to pay standard wages, the Government could not from the nature of the railway raise the freight rates, and they had likewise to meet the competition of the shorter C.P.R. line and the navigation on the St. Lawrence and Atlantic waters. Under the circumstances the Minister of Railways drew special attention to the place the Intercolonial holds other than as a commercial enterprise. Subsequently the House voted $192,975 of the Rgilway Department estimates in Committee of Supply.

Railway Committee's Sittings.

A motion by Hon. C. S. Hyman in the afternoon, that the Railway Committee have leave to sit while the House is in session, brought a protest from Mr. David Henderson, who said the committee should meet at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Hyman offered to limit the motion to to-day, and this was finally agreed upon.

Election Act Amendment.

Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick introduced a bill to amend the Dominion elections act, 1900. He explained that it was intended to harmonize the old provision, that the elections in certain sparsely settled constituencies may be held at a later date than in other ridings, with the provisions of the new representation act affecting the boundaries of those constituencies. The new ridings affected are East and West Algoma in Ontario, Gaspe, Chicoutimi and Saguenay, in Quebec, and Yale-Cariboo, Comox, Atlin and Kootnay in British Columbia. The new bill will not go into effect until the end of the present Parliament.

Representation Act Amendment.

Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick also introduced a bill to amend the representation act, 1903. He explained that it was intended to correct several clerical errors which crept into last year's bill. Sections 7 and 8 had been made to apply to all the Provinces, when in reality they should only apply to Quebec. The bill corrected this. Another change was to shift the boundary between Thunder Bay and Algoma in Ontario from 85 degrees to 85 degrees and 20 minutes west to conform with the Ontario statues. The third provision was to make it clear that New Brunswick was to have thirteen representatives, not fourteen. The error had occurred in describing the counties of Victoria and Madawaska, which are entitled to only one member. It was also proposed to complete the schedule by adding the Yukon.

Some private bills were passed through the committee stage and given their third reading.

Mr. Scott's bill respecting the Northern Bank was given its second reading.

Sir William Mulock, replying to Dr. Kendall (Cape Breton), stated that the fair wage resolution of 1900 applied to work under contracts, but not to enterprises aided by bounties.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering

'I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from Chronic Diarrhoea for ten years, and during that times I tried various remedies without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well, and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favour of that wonderful remedy." This medicine is for sale by all druggists.

Though readily cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment, eczema, if neglected, becomes chronic and may last for years.

SINKING OF THE NORGE.

Indescribable Excitement at Copenhagen on Receipt of the News—One Hundred and One Saved.

Copenhagen, July 5.—The news of the disaster to the Danish steamer Norge, off the west coast of Scotland, in which over 700 persons are reported to have lost their lives, created indescribable excitement here. The first message reached here at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Crowds soon gathered about the offices of the line, relatives of those on board frantically seeking for information.

The Norge had no first-class passengers on board and only nine on her second cabin list. All the others were in the steerage.

There were on board 694 steerage passengers. Of these 79 were Danes, 68 Swedes, 296 Norwegians, 15 Finns and 236 Russians.

The Norge carried a crew of 71. She was the oldest Danish trans-Atlantic steamer running.

One Hundred More Saved.

Stornaway, Scotland, July 5.—One hundred and one survivors of the Danish steamer Norge have been landed here. The British steamer Cervona, from Leith, July 1, for Montreal, brought in thirty-two shortly before noon. She picked them up from a boat Sunday evening, westward of the Butt of Lewis. They were in a woeful plight, nearly all of them being naked. One dead child was with the party.

And 69 More on Energie.

Shortly afterwards the German steamer Energie arrived with sixty-nine persons, rescued from the Norge's lifeboat. All were terribly exhausted. The Cervona proceeded on her voyage, but will keep a lookout for other possible survivors of the Danish steamer.

The survivors say that altogether four of the Norge's boats got away. One boat, therefore, is unaccounted for.

London, July 5.—A despatch to Lloyds from Stornaway gives the number of Norge survivors on board the Energie as fifty-nine.

How Scholes Won.

Henley-on-Thames, July 5.—(C.A.P.)—Scholes and Stewart were on level terms for the first minute, then Scholes took a slight lead, but was rowing easy at the quarter mile, and leading by half a length. The time half way was 4.10, then Scholes increased his lead to about a length, and after three quarter distance was some lengths ahead, winning by about five lengths. Kelly viewed the race from the bow of the umpire's boat Rixon beat Ashe dead easy. Time, 9.18.

Wind Raised the Roof.

New Hamburg, July 5.—Between 5 and 6 p. m. yesterday a thunderstorm, accompanied by a severe hurricane, passed over the village, damaging several buildings slightly, besides uprooting twenty or twenty-five large trees. It took the roof completely off the King Edward Hotel, a large, new three-storey brick building, near the Grand Trunk Station. The roof fell upon the sheds and windmill, causing a total wreck and a loss of over $800. It is owned and occupied by Jacob Becker.

Cut His Throat.

Leamington, July 5.—John Veter, a respected farmer residing on the 6th concession, Mersea, committed suicide by cutting his throat yesterday morning. The act was no doubt premeditated, as he attempted to poison himself about a week ago by drinking a quantity of turpentine which was in the house.

Drowned at Mille Roches.

Cornwall, July 5.—Yesterday at Mille Roches, little six-year-old Florence McFarlane, daughter of Wm. McFarlane, while playing along the canal, fell in and was drowned in fourteen feet of water. Her little brothers, who were with her, were unable to rescue her.

PROGRAMME FOR LIFT LOCK OPENING

Approved by the Town Council at Last Night's Meeting.

A LENGTHY SESSION HELD.

Communications re the Ambulance Service—The Appointment of Assessors Causes Some Trouble—The Communications.

The town assessors should have been appointed at last night's meeting of the Council, and a bylaw had been prepared providing for the re-appointment of the four assessors who did the work last year, adding to their duties the assessing of Ward No. 5.

Ald. Adams, when the bylaw was read, moved that the name of W. H. Thompson be added to the names of those appointed as assessors. In doing so he remarked that he thought the Fifth Ward was entitled to representat n on the Board of Assessors. On being put to a vote this amendment was carried, the Mayor strongly opposing it, and before the bylaw had been given its complete reading, he moved that the committee rise, which was carried. The matter will be considered in Committee of the Whole, and will be dealt with in a special meeting of the Council to be called for that purpose.

The ambulance service formed the subject of two letters read in the council. Mr. E. G. Patterson wrote complaining that an unusually long time had elapsed on a certain occasion, after the calling of the ambulance, before it appeared. To this letter Mr. Belleghem replied, explaining the circumstances, and defending his action.

The programme for the opening of the lift lock was submitted to the council, and approved of by that body.

Those present at last night's council meeting were: Mayor Roger, and Aldermen Johnston, Edgcumbe, Morrison, Best, Mason, Scott, Adams, Batton, Clinkscale, McWilliams, and Rush.

The minutes of the last meeting were adopted as read.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were read and dealt with as indicated:

From the Bell Telephone Company asking permission to erect poles on certain streets of the town.—Board of Works.

From T. Q. Quartermaine, and others, asking for a granolithic sidewalk on Mark street, north of Elizabeth street.—Board of Works.

From Rev. Father McColl, and others, asking that the town purchase that plot of ground near the corner of Sherbrooke and Park streets for park purposes. Ald. Morrison, speaking on this communication, said that this matter should be referred to a committee, who would do something about it. This portion of the town required some such ground for the playing of games.—Property Committee.

From F. W. Bates, asking that the driveway into his premises, 655 Stewart street, be repaired. — Board of Works.

From David Oliver, valuating his property, through which George street south is proposed to be extended, at $400.—Received.

From H. S. Woodgate, asking if there is any probability of a sewer main being constructed on Barnardo avenue in the near future. It seems that complaints are lodged from time to time concerning a piece of pasture at Hazel Brae being a nuisance. This ground contains the sewage tank and it is impossible t change existing conditions otherwise than by a complete system of drainage from the Home connecting with a main sewer. —Received.

From N. Halpin, offering the Halpin estate to the town for a street south of Lake street, for $1500, with liberty to remove the house to another part of the property. — Received.

From property owners praying that a granolithic sidewalk be constructed on the south side of Antrim street from George street west to opposite the westerly limit of lot 3, south of Antrim street and west of George street. — Board of Works.

From property owners, asking that a granolithic sidewalk be constructed on the west side of Rubidge street between Dalhousie and Wolfe streets. —Board of Works.

From property owners asking that a pipe sewer be constructed on London street from the intersection of the manhole on Harvey street to a distance of 150 feet east on London street. — Board of Works.

From T. A. S. Hay, saying that the man kept on the streets to remove loose paper and other rubbish, is almost useless so long as the following conditions exist: Some merchants are in the habit of unpacking goods on the sidewalks, and allowing paper to be carried about by the wind. Some of the lanes are used as a dumping ground for rubbish, which is carried out on the streets by the wind. The engineer suggested that wire-baskets be placed at convenient places in which to deposit loose paper, as this nuisance has frequently caused serious flooding by the paper stopping up the gratings on the catch basins. —Board of Works.

From Stewart & O'Connor, saying that they had been instructed by Jas. C. Leary to commence an action against the county of Peterborough for delay in repairing Pigeon Creek Bridge and damages sustained by him in consequence thereof. The bridge is under the joint control of the corporations of Victoria and Peterborough and the Town of Peterborough. Mr. Leary wants this matter taken up by the several counties and a reasonable compensation allowed him.—Legal Committee.

From Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, saying that Mr. Bruce Dorpe, 189 Antrim street, complained that the sidewalk now being constructed opposite his premises will be so high as to seriously injure his property, in which case he will claim compensation.—Received.

From E. G. Patterson, General Superintendent of the C. G. E. Co., dated June 18th, as follows:—

Gentlemen,—I desre on behalf of our employees and the general public, to protest against the manner in which calls for the Dan Spence Memorial Ambulance are attended to. Last night a painful accident happened about ten o'clock and a hurried call was sent by phone for the ambulance. About twenty minutes later the phone was again used to find out where it was, and when it would get here. The answer was given that the ambulance was out on another call. We replied that we should have been told that before, so that we could have secured the other ambulance, and we were told in reply that they had just returned and were on the way down. It was not until half an hour later that the ambulance arrived, and when it did, the driver was questioned, and he informed me that he was not out on another call. Had we not been able to stop the flow of blood, the party injured would probably have bled to death, and it seems too bad that such seemingly poor attention should be paid to calls for the ambulance, more especially from an industrial establishment. Our employees contributed a large portion of the money raised for this ambulance, and they desire to patronize it, and further, they are entitled to expect prompt attention. I am informed that this is not the first time that slow service has been rendered, and it seems to me that some other arrangements should be made so that when calls are sent in for the ambulance, it will be understood that it is needed—and needed badly—and that it is at the immediate call of the public. —Received.

In reply to the above, Mr. D. Belleghem, sent in the following:—

S. R. Armstrong, Esq.:

Dear Sir,—I have before me a copy of a complaint made by one E. G. Patterson, general superintendent of the C. G. E., and ask permission to place in your hands my reply to be laid before the Council at the same time.

Mr. Patterson protests on behalf of the employees of the Electric Co. and the general public, but as we all know just how much interest he takes in the welfare of the general public, it seems to me that this complaint may be dealt with on its merits, without reference to his interest in the general public.

First, then, as to the manner in which calls for the ambulance have been answered. I can show that since the ambulance has been placed in my charge it has been called out just one hundred and thirty times, and there has just been one complaint about delay, and it is this one; and, in addition, instead of complaints being made, both my drivers and myself have been complimented repeatedly by physicians and others for the promptness with which the injured have been removed to the hospitals or homes.

But now as to this particular call. Was there delay? In the first place it was a night call, 9.53 p.m. The drivers had to be called. This took a little time; but during that time my own boys were harnessing the horses, which were ready when the driver arrived, and he at once drove off speedily. Upon arriving at the works the injured man, his hand being bound up, was ready to go to the hospital; but before going he desired to be driven to his home on Romaine street, four or five blocks below the Electric Works, which was done; and upon reaching his dwelling he talked with his wife about five minutes, and then was driven to St. Joseph's Hospital, and the ambulance returned to my place of business, exactly one hour and three minutes from the time the telephone first rang. There cannot have been great delay. The distance covered is between four and five miles, and the speed at which an ambulance can be driven with an injured man inside is not great.

As to stopping the flow of blood, I was not aware, nor do I believe, that it is the custom of physicians to remove patients from the scene of an accident until the flow of blood is under control.

There seems, however, to have been some misunderstanding over the telephone at the time it rang the second time. Both calls were answered by my daughter, and what she did say was that she had called the man, and that he had just arrived, and the ambulance was on its way.

I have endeavoured to give satisfactory service with the ambulance, knowing the importance of promptness, and have no hesitation in saying that the service given has been good service, Mr. Patterson to the contrary, notwithstanding. It is well known in Peterborough that he is given to fault-finding, and his letter bears ample evidence of it. I have given the facts, which I am prepared to prove, and the Council can judge of the merits of this complaint.

—Received.

From T. H. G. Denne, on behalf of his mother, Mrs. Henry Denne, giving notice that the sidewalk constructed on the west side of George street, north of Smith street, is too high and will result in damage to her property. Also giving notice that the walk in question is a concrete and not a granolithic walk as agreed upon between the ratepayers interested and the town.—Received.

From J. W. Gray, petitioning against the proposed extension of sewer between Aylmer and George streets on Sherbrooke street, 80 feet east, from its present eastern terminus.—Board of Works.

From A. F. Miller, secretary of the Toronto General Hospital, informing the Council that patients sent to the hospital by the municipality would be charged 50 cents per day.—Received.

A SUGGESTION TO MERCHANTS

That Places of Business be Closed from one to Four O'clock on Saturday

A citizen suggests that the merchants close their places of business on Saturday, on the occasion of the opening of the Lift Lock, from one o'clock in the afternoon till half past three or four. He argues that the farmers will do their principal shopping in the forenoon, and the town people will have from four till ten in which to do their buying.

The suggestion is all right from a pleasure point of view, but there is the business aspect. The Examiner has endeavoured to enlist the cooperation of the council and the Board of Trade to insure a big crowd of visitors in town on that day for the benefit of the merchants, as well as to make known the town and its advantages. This object will be somewhat defeated if the shops are closed, even for the hours mentioned, for though large numbers will visit the Lift Lock, there will be many that will remain in town. However, if the merchants chose to act upon the above suggestion, that is their own affair. While a holiday is welcomed by many, it puts an end to business for the time being, and visitors to the town won't get a very deep impression of the importance of the town's business if the shops are found closed, on what is everywhere the busiest day of the week.

The Midget in Peterborough

The smallest man in the world, Col. Collins Young, will be at the Henry Company's store in Peterborough, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 7th, 8th and 9th, when there will also be shown a fine collection of presents. The time for the redemption of Snowshoe tags has been extended to January 1st, 1906.

FOOTBALL.

The Y.M.C.A. won from the Old Country Wanderers in a City League game at the Nicholls Oval last evening by a score of 1—0. The game was closely contested especially in the first half when neither team had any material advantage. The winners finished strong and notched the only goal towards the close of game. The game was of a gentlemanly nature, the only man ruled off being Best, who was disciplined for heavy checking. The winners who played only 10 men lined up thus: Goal, McFadden; back, Morgan; halves, Roberts, Cameron, Sayles; forwards, Merrell, J. McDonald, Best, Doughty, Campbell.

The game between the Quakers and the O.C.W. at the Oval to-morrow evening should be a splendid contest. The former team is confident of turning the tables on the Wanderers, while the latter think they can again down their opponents. The following strong team will represent the Quakers: — Goal, Belleghem; backs, Doris, Simpson; half backs, Donaldson, McEwen, P. Fitzgerald; forwards, J. Guerin, Brooks, C. Fitzgerald, Crowley and Snider.

Locust Hill sprung a surprise at Bowmanville on Saturday beating the home by 2-0 in the first game of the finals for the Midland League championship. On the previous day the Locusts beat Deseronto by the same score. The return game will be played in Locust Hill this week, and they should be able to easily hold their lead.

• • • •

The Y.M.C.A. team will perhaps be sorry now that they dropped out of the Midland League. Locust Hill looks like sure winners and the Y. M. C. A. made the best showing of any team against them so far, playing them a tie game here the score being 1-1.

BASEBALL.

The game next Saturday between the Auburns and the T.A.S. will practically decide the championship of the Kawartha League. These teams are leading the League at present and the winner of Saturday's game should win out without further trouble. When these teams met early in the season the T.A.S. won by 5—3, and the Auburns are confident of turning the tables. The game will be called at four o'clock, after the Lift Lock ceremony, and should attract a large crowd. Manager Grady of the T.A.S., has been a very busy man every evening during the past week, and expects to repeat Manager Whitcroft's trick of Friday last by winning out. Whoever wins the game should be a corker.

• • • •

The Peterboroughs go to Cobourg on Saturday, July 6th, the return game being played here on the following Saturday.

• • • •

No games are scheduled in the Midland League between July 1st and July 10th.

• • • •

The rain interfered with the games in the Guild League last evening, after one innings had been played. At the Patterson street grounds St. Andrew's was leading Charlotte street by 1—0, with the latter team at bat in the last half of the second innings. The game will be continued on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The batteries were, for St. Andrew's, Patterson and L. Thornton; for Charlotte street, Roddy and W. Thornton. Umpire, C. G. Graham.

At All Saints' grounds, St. Paul's was leading by 3—0 after one innings had been played, and the Presbyterians were at bat for the second time. The batteries for St. Paul's, Walker and Rosenburg; for All Saints' Adamson and Campbell. Umpire, R. Dobbin.

The Young Quakers had a great game in Port Hope on Dominion Day with the Star Athletics of that town. The Quakerts played a splendid game and batted hard. By a garrison finish in the 11th innings the game was won.

In the field Weller took everything that came his way as did Gillespie, the former having three put-outs by nice catches, and the latter having two in the same manner. The Quakers have improved in batting, McMillan in six times up made as many base hits. There were 26 hits made by the winners, while the Stars only made 12. Swanston and Quinlan did splendid work on the slab. The following is the Quakers' score :—

A RESPECTED RESIDENT PASSES AWAY TO HIS REST

Death of the Late George Westlake of Bridgenorth—Funeral on Wednesday July 6th at 2 P. M.

One by one the early residents are passing away. Mr. George Westlake died at the family residence, Bridgenorth, last night, July 4th, at the advanced age of 80 years. His last illness was of no particularly defined character, his demise being largely due to the infirmities of old age.

The late Mr. Westlake was a native of Launceston, Devonshire, England. In 1855 with his family he came to Canada and settled in the Township of Smith, engaging in farming. He never sought public position, but satisfied himself by a faithful discharge of the duties of his private station, and he had his reward. He amassed a comfortable competence, enjoyed to a high degree the esteem of his neighbours, and lived to see a large family following his example, grow up respected members of the community and established in life and prospering. He continued on the farm till 23 years ago when he decided to enjoy a well earned rest and took residence in Bridgenorth, where he enjoyed the same respect and consideration of his neighbours that he realized in his township home. In religion he was a Methodist and in politics a staunch Liberal. He passed away full of years and the honour that attached to his upright life during his half a century of respected Canadian citizenship.

The late Mr. Westlanke left behind him a widow aged 83 years, and four sons and two daughters. The sons are Messrs. John Westlake, Cavendish; Philip Westlake, on the homestead, Smith; W. G. and P. C. Westlake, Peterborough; Mrs. J. K. Stabler and Mrs. Thos. Tindle, Smith, are the daughters.

The funeral will take place from the late residence, Bridgenorth, to the Little Lake Cemetery, on Wednesday, July 6th at 2 o'clock, p.m.

ONLY TWELVE MILES.

Small Distance Now Separates Russian and Japanese Forces—An Offer to Surrender Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, July 5.—The latest despatches from the seat of war are to the effect that Gen. Kuropatkin is still at Tatchekiao and that the Japanese forces are stationary at Senucheng and along the roads from Siuyen to Haicheng, Tatchekiao and Kaichou, but they are maintaining their advance from Fengwangcheng over the direct main roads to Liaoyang, where the effect of the rains is less appreciable. There are only 12 miles between them.

Is Vladivostock Fleet In?

St. Petersburg, July 5.—The Vladivostock squadron is understood to have returned safe to port.

Offer to Surrender.

Tokio, July 5.—It is reported that Russia has through France offered to surrender Port Arthur to Japan, together with its ships and arms, providing the garrison is freed. A confirmation of the report is impossible and it is generally regarded to be untrue.

Accuses Russians.

Tokio, July 5.—Gen. Oku makes the following charges:

That on June 15 six Japanese scouts were overpowered by Russian troops, who ran bayonets in their mouths, in their heads and cut their breasts open, that on June 27 the Russians captured a Japanese cavalryman, whom they bayoneted and then cut his abdomen open; on May 15 the Russians beheaded a Japanese cavalryman whom they captured.

PATIENT BRITAIN WAITS.

Till Prize Court Passes on the Vessel Allanton.

London, July 5.—In the House of Commons yesterday, Earl Percy, the under Foreign Secretary, announced that the British gunboat Espiegle has been ordered to return to Newchwang and watch over the interests of British subjects.

The Secretary also said that as the owners of the British steamer Allanton, captured by the Russian Vladivostock squadron, were appealing to the supreme prize court at St. Petersburg against the confiscation of the Vladivostock court, the British Government intended to await the decision of that tribunal before approaching the Russian Government on the subject.

Montreal, July 4.—About 350 head of butchers' cattle, 25 milch cows, 60 calves, and 400 sheep and lambs were offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were out in large numbers, but bought sparingly, hoping for more liberal supplies on Wednesday. Prime beeves, partly grass-fed, sold at 5c to 5¼c per lb.; good medium, 4¼c to 4⅝c; ordinary medium, 3⅝c to 4c, and the common stock at from 2⅝c to 3¼c per lb. Some of the milch cows were superior animals, but no sales were reported early in the day. Calves sold at from $2.50 to $15 each, or 3c to 5c per lb. Shipping sheep brought 3¾c to 4c, and the others 3c to 3¼c per lb. Lambs sold at from $2.50 to $4.50 each. Good lots of fat hogs sold at about 5¼c per lb.

Test the Kidneys

Allow urine to stand in a glass for 24 hours, and if at the end of that it is clouded or has left a sediment in the bottom of the vessel you may be sure that your kidneys are diseased. As a means of invigorating the action of the kidneys and making them strong and healthy there is no preparation so prompt and none so thorough as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

REV. DR. JOHN SCRIMGER

NEW PRINCIPAL OF PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE, MONTREAL.

Painful Incident in Connection With His Appointment by the General Assembly—Rev. Prof. John Campbell Resigns—Sketch of the Career of the Late Acting Principal and of the New Incumbent.

Rev. Dr. John Scrimger, the new Principal of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, whose appointment on Saturday, 4th June, 1904, caused rather a painful incident in the General Assembly, when Professor Campbell, the acting Principal, rose and resigned his chair, because of the promotion over him of one who had formally been his pupil, is very well known in Ontario. He was one of Dr. Tassie's boys at Galt, his native place, and after he had been cased into passable condition by the famous disciplinarian and really great head master, he came to Toronto University, from which he graduated as a double medalist.

REV. PRINCIPAL SCRIMGER.

That was in 1869. He was ordained in 1873, after taking a course at Knox. In 1874 he entered on the pastorate of a Montreal charge, and became a lecturer at the Presbyterian College. Since 1882, when he accepted a chair in the college, he has devoted his whole time to teaching. He holds the chair of Hebrew and Greek exegesis. Principal Scrimger is a man of fine presence.

Professor John Campbell is the son of the late James Campbell, an eminent Toronto publisher of the early days. He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1840. After a short business career he entered Toronto University, graduating in 1865, with the Prince of Wales prize and two gold medals. He studied theology at Knox and went to the front in 1866 with the student company that fought at Ridgeway. While a student he joined the late Robert Baldwin in starting the Y.M.C.A. in Toronto. After a short pastorate from 1868 to 1873 in Charles Street Church, now the Westminster, of Toronto, he was appointed to the chair he now holds, or held until Saturday, that of Church history and apologetics. Professor Campbell is one of America's great authorities on ethnology and philology. His work on the Hittites is a classic.

Morgan has this reference to the trial for heresy in which Prof. Campbell figured: "It was in reference to certain statements made in his address on 'The Perfect Book and the Perfect Father' that Professor Campbell was tired for heresy before the

His appeal to the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa, composed largely of his own graduates, was almost unanimously sustained, only three members siding with the Montreal majority. To save the Presbytery from humiliation a finding was adopted which granted the appellant a larger theological liberty than he had claimed.

GIRLS DRESS LIKE MEN.

Pit Brow Workers in Lancashire Collieries Wear Trousers—Their Headgear Also Worthy of Note.

Pit brow girls are among the most remarkable women workers in England. They work as hard as men and dress almost like men. Very few pit brow girls are found in Britain outside Lancashire, and 5,000 of them find employment at the coal mines. Their work lies on the pit brow—at the surface and not below. Once women were employed in the coal seams, but in 1842 in the face of great opposition from colliery owners an act was passed prohibiting women and children from being employed below the surface in coal mines.

The duties of the pit brow lasses consist in dealing with the coal as it comes up the shaft to the pit head. When the cage reaches the top, the girls haul out the wagons, which contain several hundred-weight of coal each, and run them on rails to a tipping machine, which shoots the coal down below to the screen or riddling machine. This is an iron slide several yards long, with holes through which the coal drops at various stages into trucks waiting beneath. It is jerked about by steam power, and the coal moves downward while the girls stationed alongside pick out the rubbish. It is dusty work.

The girls start work at 6 o'clock in the morning and finish at 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon. As may be judged, their work is arduous, and for its performance they receive 50 cents or less a day. Men who do the same work get $1. Taken altogether, the pit brow lasses are a strong, healthy lot, ranging in age from eighteen to twenty-five.

Their dress is distinctive and peculiar. The working costume consists of trousers, clogs and a coat which has at one time been worn by a brother or has come from a rummage stall. When going to and from work, the girls wear petticoats, which they roll up round the waist while engaged on the pit brow. At most pits nowadays the trousers are hidden in front by a short apron, but this is a comparatively recent departure in the way of dress. The headgear is also worthy of note. The hair is closely covered with a handkerchief, on the top of which is a soft bonnet.

To Prove what Anti-Pill, the Great System Treatment will do for you, Every Reader of this paper may have A Sample Bottle sent Free by Mail.

Derangement of the stomach is responsible for much sickness and suffering. Every organ of the body depends upon the stomach for its nutriment and strength—If the stomach is not working right the blood carries to the liver, heart, nerves and kidney tissue imperfect nutrition—They become weak and unable to perform their work—become clogged, diseased, and throw out their distress symptoms. Now you may get stimulative, temporary relief by the taking of a kidney, liver, nerve or heart specific, but the cause remains—The stomach is at fault, and so long as it keeps loading the blood with impurity—waste, so long will the blood transport and deposit disease breeding elements in the weak places—When you feel sick, help the stomach first. A well stomach means a well body. Anti-Pill, the Great System Treatment, is a new discovery that has a marvelous influence in correcting system ailments. Address, Wilson-Fyle Co., Niagara Falls, Ont., for free sample. Regular size, a month's treatment, 50 cents at Druggists.

Fell Under Moving Train.

East Toronto, July 4.—The sad death of William O'Connor at the Emergency Hospital yesterday morning has cast a gloom over the town. O'Connor was employed as a brakesman on the G.T.R., and in this capacity was employed largely on the transfer freight between East Toronto and the city. At 8 o'clock Saturday night, while the transfer freight was backing over the crossing at Bathurst street, O'Connor, while stooping over to pick up his lantern, fell forward across the rails, one car passing over his legs above the knee. The ambulance was summoned and O'Connor taken to the Emergency Hospital, but never rallied from the shock, dying shortly after 2 o'clock. O'Connor was the only support of a widowed mother.

Just Escaped Death.

Toronto, July 4.—Bert Walton, in a new and risky feat of the "leap the gap" order, invented by himself, nearly came to his death on Saturday during one of his trial trips. He was in a convulsion for 25 minutes as a result of the spill, but, though badly shaken up, he thinks he will be able to try it again ere long. The police razed his bicycle slide, but he says he will build a new one when he gets out of the hospital.

Almost a Fatality.

London, July 4.—In stepping off a street car, Rev. Mr Rawlings of the King street Presbyterian Church was knocked down by another coming in the opposite direction. His escape was miraculous, he receiving only a cut on the head and a severe shaking up.

Safeguard the Children

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in the large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr. Frank Riggs, of Franklinville, N.Y., in speaking of this remedy, said: "I have found it expedient to have a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. It has been a family safeguard, and while especially beneficial to children it is equally good in adult cases. I recommend it cheerfully and without reservation." For sale by all druggists.

The Girl at Devil's Tower

By IZOLA L. FORRESTER

Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure

The first time that Campbell saw her she was standing in the doorway of the schoolhouse, ringing a huge, hollow sounding bell, while the children scurried in all directions like a flock of frightened sage hens.

Campbell pulled up Cyclone and watched. There had been no school at Devil's Tower for over a year. The last teacher had been a young fellow from Kansas City. The two Chibouque boys did him up one day when he called Louis "a half breed ignoramus." Louis said he wouldn't be called any name he didn't know the meaning of. The risk was too great. So he did up the teacher, and the key was turned in the schoolhouse door.

Campbell stared at the new schoolma'am admiringly. More than that, when her flock was safe inside he rode leisurely up to the open windows and stared in them—not rudely, but interestedly.

She looked absurdly young perched up behind the rough plank desk. She was fair. A bunch of purple wild flowers was fastened in her hair. Jules Chibouque fired a tattered hat at the row of nails back of the teacher. It fell short of the mark and struck the bunch of purple flowers. Campbell's leg was half out of the saddle when the girl called:

"Jules, you come here."

It was a good, commanding voice. Campbell waited. Jules stalked down to the desk and was ordered to crawl beneath it in disgrace. A knothole offered golden opportunities, and Jules' tongue wagged merrily through it at an appreciative audience.

The little schoolma'am bent forward and gave the offending member a royal slap with an oak ruler. Jules howled in pain, and Campbell rode on rejoicing. Devil's Tower was to know discipline at last.

He found out at the Arrow Head ranch that she was old Colby's niece, and was boarding there. Also that she was nineteen, from Chicago, and her name was Ethel Maude Colby. The Colby did not affect him, but all the way home from the ranch and during the week that followed the name of Ethel rang in his ears like a refrain of half forgotten music.

Every day Campbell rode up the river road and looked in the schoolhouse window just for a glimpse of the pretty blond head. One Saturday night he started wildly for the Arrow Head ranch, and all the way home Cyclone kept pace with the joyous whistling, for he had been introduced to her, and she had blushed, and all the world was full of promise.

After that night Cyclone was ridden at a breakneck speed every afternoon from Campbell's ranch down at Five Forks to the bend in the river road, there to wait patiently and peacefully until a certain figure in a trim gray skirt and white shirt waist rode down the path from the schoolhouse on a black pony and greeted him with sky eyed pleasure.

"Reckon Tom Campbell's shining up to ye, Ethel," old Colby said gravely when the wooing was well advanced.

The girl laughed and bent lower over her books at the kitchen table.

"It isn't anything, Uncle Ben."

The old ranchman glanced at her keenly through the rifts of smoke from his pipe.

"Ain't it? Tom seems to think it is. Got any objections to him?"

Edith laughed and shook her head.

"He's just a cowboy," she said, and looked up to find Tom Campbell's six foot two blocking the kitchen door. There was a look in his frank gray eyes she had never seen there, not of anger or defeat, but simply determination.

The following day, long after the last of the children had gone, the schoolma'am still sat at her desk. It had been raining all day—a wild autumn rain that came in fitful dashes against the window panes, with now and then the heavy crash of thunder. The door opened suddenly with a bang, and Campbell entered, dripping with rain and smiling.

"I was just passing by," he began, as if he had not raced his broncho for the last five miles. "It's a bad storm and getting worse."

"I must go, then." She rose hastily and reached for her hat on the row of nails back of the desk.

He came over and leaned on the desk.

"No, you mustn't. Wait till it lets up a bit." He lifted her pearl handled pen tenderly and curiously, as if it had been a stray feather dropped from an angel's wing. "That's a mighty pretty thing, ain't it?" He met her eyes suddenly. "Say, I want to know if you meant what you said yonder, about my being a no account, rough and tumble cowboy?"

"I didn't say that."

"But you meant it." Her lashes drooped guiltily under his steady gaze. "I don't blame you. I know I'm different from your city breed, but love comes the same to a man whether he's a professor or a cowboy, you know. I'd make you mighty happy, Ethel, if you'd let me." His voice was low and tender. "Seems as if I don't want anything in life but you."

He bent nearer over the narrow, roughly painted desk, his eyes on a level with her own, but she looked away from him out of the little side window. It was splashed and blurred with rain, but she could see the faint outlines of the hills that lay like a barrier between the range country and the outer world. She had always hoped to go back some day, but the spell of the open and the glory of freedom stole over her with the low music of his voice. Somewhere in her heart she caught the echo to his own words and knew the power of their meaning.

"Seems as if I don't want anything in life but you."

A crash of thunder shook the little frame building, and she rose unsteadily.

"Will you please bring Gypsy from the shed for me," she said. "I must go before dark."

He hesitated.

"If you do, I shall go too. The dam up at Caribou run broke at 4 o'clock, and the river's racing like a mountain cascade."

It was nearly two miles to the old log bridge that spanned the river. Campbell did not try to talk. He took her silence and reserve as his answer, but his face looked almost stern in the shadow of his sombrero as he rode beside the black pony. As they neared the log bridge a vivid flash of lightning made both horses rear, and he caught Gypsy's bridle.

"We can't cross the river," he said. "You'll have to turn back."

"I can't," she answered over her shoulder, as the pony shook herself free. "The bridge is safe."

Before he could stop her she had ridden forward on to the frail logs, that shuddered and strained at the shock. There was a sudden rending, crushing sound, and the next instant the logs had parted and swept away on the foaming waters with Gypsy's terrified head and pawing hoofs showing between them.

One cry for help reached Campbell's ears, but that one changed all the world.

"Tom! Tom!" she called, and he headed Cyclone downstream in a race with the swollen, rushing river. As he came abreast of her he raised himself in his stirrups and swung his lariat straight for the pony's head. It fell and drew taut. Cyclone braced for the shock, as he had in many a roundup capture, and in a few seconds the black pony was stumbling up the bank, drenched and half strangled, but with her burden still safe in the saddle.

Campbell lifted the slim, fainting figure down and held her close in his arms, her white face on his shoulder. For one brief instant she seemed all his own, and he bent and kissed the pale, sweet lips that had so nearly drained the cup of death.

"Mine," he whispered beneath his breath. "Mine, just for now."

Her eyes opened, and she smiled up at him.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, and Leucorrhea, that, after over a third of a century's experience in curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

IT STANDS ALONE.—The "Favorite Prescription" stands alone, as the one and only remedy for these distressingly common forms of weakness, possessed of such positively specific curative properties as to warrant its makers in proposing, and binding themselves to forfeit, as we, the undersigned proprietors of that wonderful remedy hereby do, to pay the sum of $500 in legal money of the United States in any case of the above diseases in which after a fair and reasonable trial of our treatment, we fail to cure. No other medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee; no other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its manufacturers in making such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.

Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and turn your back on any unscrupulous dealer who would insult your intelligence by attempting to foist upon you some inferior substitute, under the plea that "it is just as good." Insist on having the article which has a record of a third of a century of cures and which is backed by those willing to forfeit $500 if they cannot cure you.

In cases attended by a leucorrheal drain a solution of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets should be used conjointly with the use of the "Favorite Prescription." They are sold by all druggists, or sent post-paid to any address, on receipt of 25 cents in stamps. Send 50 cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Address WORLD'S DISPENSARY, Buffalo, N. Y.

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Cheap Watch Habit.

"When cheap watches first came out," said a jeweler, "a man who carried one was as chary about showing it as he would be about exhibiting a white 'dickey' front to hide a flannel shirt. Now it's different. A man with a nickel watch will walk right up to a chronometer exhibited in a jeweler's window, pull out his timepiece and regulate it with as much pride and earnestness as though it was a Jurgensen. The fact that other men are looking over his shoulder regulating gold watches does not feaze him.

"A man came in here with a dollar watch to be repaired. 'It will cost you fifty cents,' I said.

"'Oh, go ahead,' he replied. 'I'll save fifty cents anyhow. I've got a gold one at my uncle's. Every little while I drop around to take a look at it and pay the interest. I suppose I'll take it out some day. Meanwhile, I've got mightily attached to this one.'"—New York Press.

Trout Poachers.

A favorite method of trout thieves is to take a sack or bag, weight it with stones and place it, mouth up stream, in the narrowest part of the brook. Then one of the rascals comes down stream, wading, poking under the banks with a stick and scaring the trout, who rush down stream into the sack. This sort of thing, varied now and then by exploding dynamite under the water and gathering the dead or stunned fish, which float, has cleaned out some of our public trout waters. In other words, these thieves have robbed the public and have sold the proceeds of the robbery for their own benefit. The game laws are not nearly stringent enough. Fines never deter such rascals from attempting to reimburse themselves. Imprisonment at hard labor is the only antidote.—Harper's Weekly.

To Repair Ravages of Mice.

The Fruit Division, Ottawa, says that if the tree girdled by mice is only one or two years old, it will be better to replant. If older "bridging" the wound by means of scions of last year's growth may be resorted to. These should be about three inches longer than the width of the girdled section and the ends should be cut to a wedge shape. Then with a sharp, narrow chisel or other similar tool, slanting incisions should be made into the new wood above and below the wound, beginning near the edge of the bark, extending about an inch in length and penetrating but little into the wood. The scions should fit nicely into these incisions and be held in place by their own elasticity. Each end should then be covered with a small piece of grafting wax. Three or four scions will be sufficient for a tree less than six inches in diameter.

If the rough outer bark has been removed all around the tree, but some of the new wood or growing layer still remains fresh, the tree may often be saved by keeping the the new wood moist till growth begins. This can be done by covering the wound with grafting wax or a mixture of clay and cow manure, equal parts. If the wound is low, a heap of earth will often be sufficient.

Sunshine Furnace

DOUBLE FEED-DOORS

Just about the meanest thing a furnace can have is a dinky little door. Ever have one? Hit the edge as often as the hole? One has to be an expert stoker to shovel coal into some furnaces. If you're not an expert you'll get as much on the floor as in the furnace.

The Sunshine furnace is equipped with a good, big door. You can put your shovel in and drop the coal just where it is wanted—no trouble, no taking aim, no missing, no scattering, or annoyance.

Everything about the Sunshine furnace is on the same scale of thoughtfulness.

BLOOD DISEASE CURED.

If you ever contracted any Blood or Private Disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Don't be satisfied with a "patch up" by some family doctor. Our New Method is Guaranteed to Cure or No Pay. No Names Used without Written consent.

Cured When all Else Failed

"Could I live my early life over, this testimonial would not be necessary, though I was no more sinful than thousands of other young men. Early indiscretions, later excesses, exposure to contagious diseases all helped to break down my system. When I commenced to realize my condition I was almost frantic. Doctor after doctor treated me but only gave me relief—not a cure. Hot Springs helped me, but did not cure me. The symptoms always returned. Mercury and Potash drove the poison into my system instead of driving it out. I bless the day your New Method Treatment was recommended to me. I investigated who you were first, and finding you had over 25 years' experience and responsible financially, I gave you my case under a guarantee. You cured me permanently, and in six years there has not been a sore, pain, ulcer or any other symptom of the blood disease."

BY-LAWS.

Ald. Edgecumbe moved the first reading of a bylaw respecting fines and dues retained from the salary of the members of the fire brigade. It provides that all sums retained on account of fines shall be paid over to the treasurer of the brigade to be used for the good of the Brigade. The bylaw was passed.

A bylaw to authorize the construction of a granolithic sidewalk on certain streets in the town was introduced by Ald. Best, and passed.

Ald. McWilliams presented a bylaw to appoint assessors for the town for 1904. The bylaw provides that Wm. Aldridge, Thos. McKee, John Kincaid and Thos. McGrath, be appointed assessors at a salary of $200 per year, and W. H. Thompson at a salary of $90 a year. The addition of the last name to the board of assessors was made on motion of Ald. Adams, seconded by Ald. Scott.

At this stage, before the bylaw had been given its second reading the Mayor moved that the committee rise and report, which was carried.

The Mayor suggested that the matter be allowed to stand for a week until it had been discussed further.

Ald. Batten recalled to the Council the matter of Mr. Ash's sewer, which has been discussed in the council on previous occasions, and Ald. Batten thought the Council should take some action at once. The Council will ask the engineer to report on it and action will then be taken.

Ald. Best moved that the wages of men employed by the town on sidewalks be paid in cash instead of by check. This motion was carried.

The Council then adjourned.

RE RICKERBY ACCIDENT.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—I cannot in justice to the 14th Battery let your article re Corp. Rickerby's accident go unchallenged. With your kind permission I would like to make the public acquainted with the real facts of the case, as your description is very unfair to the officers of the battery. Without going into any unnecessary detail I must say to begin with that our officers never ask a non-commissioned officer or man of the battery to ride a horse if the man states plainly that he is not capable of doing it. The battery establishment calls for three mounted staff sergeants, six gun sergeants and six gun corporals, and among these who are on mounted parade twice a day, we had no accidents. Corp. Rickerby is a medical corporal attached to the hospital and in no case is he mounted during the performance of the usual mounted drill. I was a witness to part of the affair and I made myself thoroughly acquainted with what I did not see myself. When the battery moved off from camp on the route march to Port Hope, Capt. Cairns was left to superintend the return of the camp stores to Kingston. In order not to delay the loading of the horses at Port Hope, Col. McNachtan asked him to have his horse ridden with the battery by a non-commissioned officer. Corp. Rickerby was the man selected, but before Capt. Cairns turned the horse over to him, he enquired very carefully if he was capable of handling the horse, also if he was accustomed to riding. He warned him that the animal was very high spirited and was reluctant about letting him start, although Corp. Rickerby assured him that he could handle the horse. I saw the man galloping past the battery and noticed at once that the horse was beyond all control. The accident happened about two miles from the starting point, but I prefer not commenting on this. I am thoroughly acquainted with the horse and can say positively that he has not been ridden on a Mexican bit during the last four camps. Capt. Cairns does not even find it necessary to use the usual military curb, and the bit in his mouth at the time of the accident, an ordinary Bridoon, was the only one used throughout the entire camp. The animal is a blood horse and while high spirited is not unmanageable to an experienced horseman.

I think, Sir, the above remarks will put a somewhat different light on the accident which to many might seem carelessness on the part of the battery officers.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this opportunity, I beg leave to be,

Your obedient servant,

W. C. ACKERMAN,
Captain and Adjutant,
14th Battery C. F. A.

LIFT LOCK NOTES

No Excursion to Hastings on Saturday —Final Arrangements being made To-day

It has been found that it will be impossible to carry out the arrangements for taking the members of Parliament ,who will be present at the opening of the Lift Lock, to Hastings by boat, as many of the visitors could not spare the time. A meeting of the special committee is being held this afternoon to make final arrangements as to what course will be pursued.

The invitations have been issued for this great event. Only those holding official positions could be invited, owing to the fact that the number of Members of Parliament present will be very large, and the boat accommodation will be limited.

Those just imported are certainly out of the ordinary. The styles and designs that appeal with most force to men predominate.

RUSSIAN FLEET PASSED THROUGH

JAPS OCCUPY MOTIEN PASS.

Another Russian Defeat in Which Kuropatkin Admits Loss of 200, and Inference is That Liaoyang is Seriously Threatened —Japanese Report Triple Repulse of Russians— Stakelberg's Narrow Escape.

Constantinople, July 6.—The Russian volunteer fleet steamers St. Petersburg and Sebastopol passed through the Bosphorus from the Black Sea yesterday morning. The Sebastopol was flying the red cross flag and her hull was painted white. The vessels took on board a quantity of stores and remained in the harbor until last evening.

Japs Occupy Motien Pass.

Tokio, June 6.—Gen. Kuroki has occupied Motien Pass without resistance. The Russians have abandoned Tsinshanqwan, burning the supplies. A detachment of General Kuroki's army has occupied North Fenshun Pass without meeting with resistance. The main army advanced westward and occupied a line extending from Motien Pass to the Shaomotien and Sinkai Passes.

Russians Admit 200 Lost.

St. Petersburg, July 6.—Thirteen companies of Russian troops sent out by Lieut.-General Count Keller in a reconnaissance in force to ascertain the strength of the Japanese column's advance force moving on Liaoyang came into collision with the Japanese between Motien and Fenshun Passes yesterday. Sharp fighting ensued, and the Russians retired before overwhelming numbers after ascertaining the exact strength of the Japanese forces. The Russian losses are officially stated to be two hundred. In case the information obtained by Gen. Keller leads General Kuropatkin to consider that Liaoyang is seriously threatened it is probable that some of the troops will return north from Tatchekiao. Then the Japanese are likely to repeat their attempt to recapture Newchwang.

Kuropatkin Reports Losses.

St. Petersburg, July 6.—The general staff has received a despatch from Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff, the chief of staff of Gen. Kuropatkin, dated July 4, in which occurs the following:

"In the engagement yesterday, our casualties were: Col. Letschitsky, bruised and wounded; Col. Pzapelow, Lieut.-Col. Trakemovsky, Capt. Solieff, Lieuts. Maroff, Latkine, Bobroslavsky and Kozine. Second Captain Paly and several other officers wounded and 200 soldiers killed or wounded. All the wounded were removed."

Russians Three Times Repulsed.

Tokio, July 5.—General Kuroki reports that two battalions of Russians attacked the Japanese outposts at Maotien Pass at dawn on July 4, under cover of a dense fog. The Russians were repulsed, but they returned and charged three times before they were finally driven off. The Japanese pursued them for three miles to the westward of Maotien Pass. The Russians left thirty dead and fifty wounded on the field. The Japanese lost 15 killed and 30 wounded.

Japs Occupy the Pass.

Tokio, July 5.—A detachment of Gen. Kuroki's army has occupied North Fenshun Pass without meeting with resistance.

Baron Near Death.

Tatchekiao, July 6.—Lieut.-General Baron Stakelberg narrowly escaped drowning yesterday, owing to the sudden flooding of the headquarters of the army corps. He was rescued by soldiers.

1,000 ACHINESE SLAIN.

Many Women and Children Slain By Dutch Troops in East Indies.

Amsterdam, July 6.—A despatch from Batavia, capital of the Dutch East Indies, says that the commander of the expedition to North Achin, northern Sumatra, attacked Likat on June 20. The Achinese losses were 432 killed, including 281 women and children, and 54 wounded; 17 prisoners were taken.

The Dutch casualties included the commander, a lieutenant, two sergeants and 13 soldiers wounded.

On June 28 the Dutch troops attacked Tangat Bars when the Achinese losses were 654 killed, including 188 women and 130 children and 49 wounded. Twenty-eight prisoners were taken.

The Dutch losses were a captain, 122 soldiers and six coolies wounded.

A SPECIAL COMMISSION.

Investigation Into Alleged Licenses Irregularities in West Nipissing.

Toronto, July 6.—At a meeting of the Ontario Cabinet yesterday, presided over by Hon. J. M. Gibson, an Order-in-Council was passed issuing a commission to James W. Gordon, Provincial License Inspector, to make inquiries and report "as to certain allegations to the effect that money has been paid or offered to one or more of the license commissioners of the license district of West Nipissing for the purpose of obtaining a license under the liquor license act for one John Bidwood of the Town of Sudbury."

The commission confers on Mr. Gordon the powers authorized by chapter 19 of the revised statutes of Ontario, being an act respecting inquiries concerning public matters, and will enable him to subpoena witnesses and take evidence under oath. The investigation will take place at Sudbury probably next week.

RAILWAY ESTIMATES,

Good Progress Made in the House on Tuesday—Hon. Mr. Emmerson's Skill in Meeting Inquiries.

Ottawa, July 6.—After the lengthy explanation of Intercolonial finances Monday, the estimates for the Government railways were passed with fair rapidity yesterday. Hon. H. R. Emmerson was subjected to a never ceasing bombardment of questions, but he was well primed with his facts, and surprised even his friends with the skill with which he met his many questioners. Most of the inquiries, oddly enough, came from Ontario Conservatives. The votes on capital account for the Intercolonial and Prince Edward Island Railways were all passed with the exception of five items, the day's work in supply amounting to $903,500 on the former and $805,000 on the latter, or $1,708,500 in all.

Mr. R. L. Borden inquired when the report of the Yukon Commission might be expected. He expressed the hope that there was no truth in the newspaper report that, as the Treadgold Commission had been cancelled, the commission would not report.

The House adjourned at 11.45.

Railway Committee Throws Out Main Clauses of Mr. Maclean's Bill.

Ottawa, July 6.—Mr. Maclean's bill to amend the Railway Act met with a cool reception in the Railway Committee yesterday. The Committee voted down in turn the following clauses:

1. To compel the railways of Canada to give reduced passenger rates by the application of the Michigan law to Canada.

2. To bring express companies within the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission.

3. To compel railway companies to admit independent telephones into their stations on the payment of compensation for direct damages incurred in construction, operation and maintenance.

4. To deprive the chairman of the Railway Commission of the power to overrule the other two Commissioners on questions involving points of law.

Railways and Their Employes.

Mr. Lennox's bill providing against agreements between railway companies and their employes being entered into, relieving the former of liability for personal injury, was reported with an amendment providing for the submission of the question of Parliament's jurisdiction to the Supreme Court, and for the bringing of the act into force by proclamation when that question is settled.

The Canada Southern.

One bill respecting the Canada Southern Railway Company, which had stood over for some weeks at Mr. Maclean's request, was reported with some amendments. This bill validates an agreement between the Canada Southern Railway Company and the Pere Marquette Railway Company, whereby the latter secures running rights over the former's line in Canada. Mr. Maclean had previously contended that the opportunity should be utilized by Parliament to compel the company to give a general two-cent rate in Canada, as they do in Michigan.

The bill was amended to make it clear that the Railway Commission will have jurisdiction over the companies affected by the bill, and also so as to protect the rights of the creditors of the Leamington and Chatham companies which are part of the system.

The Committee then adjourned.

DISORDERLY SCENES.

British Government Applies Closure in the Commons.

London, July 6.—The Government Monday night carried through Premier Balfour's closure proposal, under which business will be transacted for the remainder of the session of the House of Commons, by a majority of 80, despite the heated denunciations of members of the Opposition.

Disorderly scenes without precedent took place in the lobbies, which were invaded by the public and by deputations seeking to influence members to vote against the Government. The police, which were reinforced, finally forced the crowd into the open air court-yard adjoining the House.

Confessed to Robbing Mails.

Windsor, July 6.—Postmaster Wigle of Windsor, received complaints that registered letters were disappearing from the Windsor office, and he laid a trap to catch the guilty parties. By a decoy letter, Dugold Moir, who hauls mails from the depot, was caught. Moir made confession, stating he had taken all of the letters missed. Restitution was made and after a trial Moir was let go on suspended sentence.

Sudden Summons.

St. Thomas, July 6.—The death occurred suddenly at his residence, No. 85 Curtis street, Monday, of Fred. Cline. He was sitting in front of the house, when Alex. Wiley, C.P.R. baggageman, who was passing, noticed him fall. Mr. Wiley assisted in carrying him into the house, and Dr. Lipsey was summoned, but before the latter could arrive Mr. Cline had expired.

HALF OUR ILLS ARE CATARRH.

[Letters From Two Prominent Men.]

CONGRESSMAN DUNGAN.

Congressman Irvine Dungan of Jackson, O., elected to the Fifty-second Congress as a Democrat, in a recent letter from Washington, D. C., says:

"I desire to join with my many friends in recommending your invaluable remedy, Peruna, to anyone in need of an invigorating tonic, and whose system is run down by catarrhal troubles. Peruna is a permanent and effective cure for catarrh and I would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to try this remarkable remedy."—Irvine Dungan.

Everybody is subject to catarrh. Peruna cures catarrh, acute or chronic, wherever located.

Hon. Thomas Gahan of Chicago, member of the National Committee of the Democratic party, writes as follows:

"I was afflicted with catarrh for fourteen years and though I tried many remedies and applied to several doctors I was not able to find a cure. I took Peruna for twenty-two weeks and am now entirely cured."—Thomas Gahan.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be glad to give you his valuable advice free.

A STORY OF THE CANADIAN MILITIA.

Sir Frederick Borden's Considerate Treatment of a Political Opponent.

"Events," Ottawa, tells the following interesting little story: — The Minister of Militia for Canada came in contact this week with a large body of the volunteers at the district camp at Ottawa, where over 2,000 men are encamped. He got a great reception. Sir Frederick Borden has now been at the head of the militia force of Canada for a longer period than any other minister since confederation, and as he has made a record in this respect so he has made an undeniable record also as far and away the best Minister of Militia the Dominion has ever possessed. One incident in his official career made it clear that in him the militia of Canada had a head to whom they could appeal with confidence and rely on receiving justice, irrespective of party, race or creed. It is worth telling.

Major Markham was an officer of the 8th Hussars in New Brunswick. Lt.-Col. Domville was the commanding officer. The head of the corps was not only the colonel but also a member of the House of Commons supporting the Government in which Lt.-Col. Borden was Minister of Militia. Major Markham was not only a political opponent of the Minister's but he was an active director of the most prominent of the St. John newspapers opposing the Minister and the Government. He was accused at one of the annual camps of an infringement of regulations in giving permission to light a fire, a bon fire, the last night in camp when the boys were in for a time. Col. Domville was bent on prosecuting him and the case came to Ottawa on appeal to the General Officer Commanding. In that appeal Col. Domville was sustained. Here then was the case of Major Markham, a Conservative, convicted of a petty offence, which took on importance only in the fact that a major had disobeyed orders and infringed regulations and, consequently, set a bad example to the men. The General Officer Commanding had endorsed the action of the Commanding Officer of the regiment. The Minister was a political opponent.

Nevertheless, Major Markham knew that the Minister was a man of the people and no mere jack-in-office.

He appealed.

The Minister reversed the decision of the General, turned down the parliamentary supporter and did justice to Major Markham. He had been in camp himself and knew that it was the uniform practice on the last night to light a bon fire and cut loose a little.

Sir Frederick knows that ours is a voluntary militia and that to apply the strict rules of a regular service would break up a force which, ready to fight when necessary, and to subject itself in the field, is naturally prone to do things in camp and at other times which are born of fellow-citizenship, comradeship and common acquaintance.

Knowing the force the Minister was able to correct the mistakes of the General and this is one of the reasons why the judgment of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is justified when he told parliament that Sir Frederick Borden is the best Minister of Militia Canada ever had.

And that seemed to be the unanimous opinion of officers and men at the camp last Tuesday.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM HAVELOCK.

Interesting Happenings at the Busy Railway Town.

Havelock Rebuilding After the Fire—Some Personal Notice—Sporting Items of Interest.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The brother of Mr. E. R. Powell, who lost his life in the recent fire, came down the next day and took the body to Toronto. Mr. Powell was a married man but had no family.

Now that the citizens have seen what a fire will do when it gets started, it is about time something were done in the line of fire protection, as it is badly needed. If an engine were purchased it would be an easy matter to get water, either through hydrants or syphons from the frog pond, or from the creek that flows through the village, but the frog pond would be the best on account of it being on a higher level. A fire brigade should also be formed; as it is at present a lot of people get in a bunch and hinder each other. If there had been any wind at all the other evening, the whole town would have been wiped out, the fire protection being so poor, and the water supply so bad. The Dineen House had a very close call, owing to Andrews & Wiles being so close, and the house itself was on fire a score of times. If it had not been for hard work another place destroyed would have been added to the score.

Mr. Clarence Cook had a hard fight to save his house, which was very close to the rear of the hotel stables.

Mr. Charles Armstrong is talking of putting up a first class commercial Hotel with good accommodation. It will be a brick or stone structure. This will be a good thing as the two hotels before could not handle the commercial trade.

It is altogether likely that Williams Bros. will build again.

It is not known yet whether Mr. Jas. McKeown will rebuild again or not. He is thinking of going west to start up in business.

Mr. H. T. Andrews will re-build, and says he will have the prettiest store in town.

Mr. Claud Williams is carrying on business as usual, but up over the drug store in the former dental establishment.

Mr. R. E. White is doing business in Larry Boyle's old stand, next to Swain's.

Mr. Neil Donnelly and family have moved into the Presbyterian manse, where they will remain until another house is vacated and ready for them.

Mr. H. T. Andrews is doing business in the old bake shop belonging to William Mathison, opposite Dr. Crawford's office.

It is hoped that the building that will be put up will be of fire proof material, such as brick, stone or cement.

Miss Hattie Dies of Toronto, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Boyce, on Dominion Day.

Mrs. O. Mallett is the guest of Mrs. Thos. Bennett, town.

Mr. D. L. Summerville is back after presiding at examinations in Keene.

A very quiet and pretty wedding took place last Wednesday, when one of our old town boys gave up his latch key. Mr. George Chiles of town, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Maud Denike formerly of town, and sister of A. C. Denike, druggist. The wedding took place at the bride's home in Norham. The bride was charmingly dressed in white organdie, trimmed with Venetian lace and insertion, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Her sister, Miss Edna Denike, acted as bridesmaid; she was also dressed in black. Rev. R. B. Denike of Campbellford, officiated. Mr. Fred Chiles, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The bride and groom left on the 4.30 train, the bride being dressed in a travelling suit of brown, with hat to match. They will visit Woodstock, Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo and other points west. They will reside in Havelock. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only the nearest relatives being present, those from town being Mr. A. C. Denike, Mr. R. Chiles and wife and daughter. The numerous and costly presents that the bride received showed the esteem in which she was held by her friends. And we all wish them happiness and prosperity for a long and prosperous life.

Mr. William Webb is building a fine house of cement moulded into stone shape. It will not only be a very handsome residence but durable.

Mrs. William Webster and two daughters, of town, left on the night train for Vancouver, accompanied by Miss H. Chandler, who goes as far as Winnipeg. Mr. William Webster went as far as Ottawa to see them off.

Mr. J. J. Sullivan of town, spent Sunday at home in Campbellford.

Miss Lilla Campbell of town, left on Thursday last for New York, where she will train for a nurse. Her many friends here wish her every success.

Dr. Crawford left on Saturday for New York City, where he will take a month's vacation.

A large crowd left here for Peterborough on Saturday to see the circus. They all spoke very highly of the performance, which they say they would not have missed if they had to go twice as far.

The Havelock lacrosse team play their return game with Tweed on Friday, July 8th. As this match is an important factor in winning the championship of this district, there should be a large crowd go down to cheer them on their way.

On the first of July the Havelock lacrosse team met defeat at the hands of the Hastings team by the score of 2—1. The local boys feel confident that they can turn the tables when the return game is played, which they expect to be next week. The team representing the Havelock club will be as follows: Patterson, Stibbs, Barlow, Bullard, Easton, Bennett, Lancaster, Matheson, Ford, Banks and Rose.

The Shamrocks of Peterborough, have challenged the Havelock juniors to a match to be played on the Havelock grounds.

CENTRAL CANADA FAIR.

Many Changes and Innovations to make it Excel all Past shows—A few of the Special Attractions that will be put on.

Advance is the motto of Ottawa, and it is also that of the Directors of the Central Canada Fair, held at Ottawa. These Exhibition experts realize that new and interesting features have yearly to be arranged for their show, and from the end of one Fair till the next they have their thinking caps on.

Since last year the grounds have been enlarged. Now they are sixty acres in extent. New buildings have been added, including one for the fat stock show in winter, but which, during fair time, can be used for entertainment purposes in wet weather. The upper story will be the home of the poultry exhibits. Improvements have also been made to all the other buildings and a new judging ring constructed. Moreover, a new main entrance is being arranged, and there are new accommodations for the dog show. These changes are to please the exhibitor and visitor. Other moves to satisfy patrons are increases in the premiums in several of the departments and the arranging of a special programme of special attractions. Altogether there is no doubt that the Central Canada Exhibition of 1904 will excel in every respect the best show yet given in Canada.

The premiums this year include many special prizes, and there have been new classes added in nearly every department. Of the special prizes, thirty-five are the beautiful gold medals, for which the Central Canadian Fair is noted.

With the new accommodation, the dog show will be the best ever held in Ottawa, and as usual all the leading artists will contribute to the art display. The programme of sports includes the best trotting and running races ever announced from the Capital.

The special attractions will be the best that money can secure in Canada. Already several of the leading troupes have been booked. The renowned Kitamura Imperial Japanese troupe of balancers, spinners, contortionists and jugglers, comprising ten people and said to be the greatest specialists in this line in America, have been engaged. The five "Peerless Potters," world-renowned aerial bar performers, and whose casting acts are simply marvellous, is another attraction that will appear at the fair. Johnson, Davenport and Lorella, knock-about acrobats, who have entertained thousands in the best vaudeville houses in the United States and Canada, and Martin und Crouch, grotesque acrobats, will also be there. The five flying Banvards in trapeze work will be seen. A number of other troupes are being communicated with, as the Directors are trying to make the programme a most pleasing one.

Of course there will be a balloon ascension. This number as always looked forward to, and the artists who have pleased thousands of visitors of the fair in previous years, will again be there. These are Professor Ed. R. Hutchison and Miss Retta Danzelle, the Queen of the Clouds, and they give double parachute drops from a very great altitude.

The night spectacular, a feature of the Central Canada Fair, will be the "Battle of Inkerman," in whihc French and English allies defeated the Russians. Several hundred soldiers will assist in its presentation and participate in the march past the grand stand at the close of the piece. The T.W. Hand Co., which has made such a great success of all such spectacles, is the company that will present the spectacular.

The greatest programme of fireworks yet arranged, comprising fifty-six numbers, will be given nightly at the close of the military drama.

The dates of the fair are September 16th to 24th. If you have not yet seen Ottawa's great Exhibition, make the trip this year. Thousands upon thousands would not miss it for a good deal. d&w

There were about 60 went to see the big show at Peterborough last Saturday, some combining business with pleasure. Crowds will also go to next Saturday's event.

Parties interested in the Sugar Beet industry were glad to hear at Peterborough that an arrangement was in contemplation to proceed with the works.

When your Child Suffers

For lack of knowledge of the value of Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for eczema, many a mother has been worn out in the effort to relieve her child of suffering. Eczema, scald head and other forms of itching skin disease are common to children, especially during the teething period. Though readily cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment, eczema, if neglected, becomes chronic and may last for years.

RE-OPENING OF THE HIAWATHA CHURCH

Services Were Held Sunday and Monday and were Successful.

Interesting Meeting on Monday—Hon. J. R. Stratton Delivers an Address—A Pretty Church.

The re-opening of the Methodist church at Hiawatha, which took place on Sunday last was attended with due ceremony and marks an important epoch in the history of the spiritual life of the Indian settlement. The old church which occupied a prominent position overlooking the beautiful and historic Rice lake, for some time past, has been in a condition that was scarcely fit for occupation. Services in fact had been held only occasionally up until the arrival of Rev. George Dunkley, who has entered upon the work with the enthusiasm and energy of a man that might easily surpass that possessed by a much younger man. It must be remembered that Mr. Dunkley is not a young man, not a man even in the prime of life, for he has been labouring for many years in the cause of Christianity, and while it is the hope of all that he may be spared for many years to continue the good work, still it is quite certain that he must soon retire from active work and enjoy a much deserved rest.

The church at Hiawatha to-day is a credit to the settlement and must certainly be a pride to Rev. Mr. Dunkley, and those who assisted him in the renovation of the edifice. It presents an appearance most attractive both inside and out. The interior is finished with metalic sheeting decorated prettily, and painted with much taste. The pews are freshly painted, new lamps have been installed and the altar has been handsomely furnished. The exterior has been newly painted and a splendid iron tower has replaced the old tin-covered tower which had become rusted with the rains of many seasons. Altogether the Indians of the village have a place in which to worship, that would do credit to a village of many times its size. The total cost of the renovation was $467.82 as shown in the financial statement read by Rev. Mr. Dunkley. Towards meeting this the Indian Department gave $275. From bazaars, entertainments, collections and from Monday's tea there was raised the sum of $136.85 leaving a balance still owing of $46.

THE SERVICES.

The services which were held on Sunday were conducted by Rev. Mr. Dunkley and were largely attended. The Sunday opening was followed on Monday by a grand tea and entertainment at which there were present Hon. J. R. Stratton, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rector of St. Luke's, Peterborough, and Rev. Mr. Johnson, chairman of the district of the Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, it may be mentioned has taken a very deep interest in the spiritual welfare of the Indians of Hiawatha and was present as a mark of appreciation of the good work that is being done by Mr. Dunkley. The tea took place in the Town Hall, which is situated across the road from the church. A splendid tea was served by the ladies of the village, who waited on the tables in a most attentive manner. The entertainment was held in the church and commenced shortly after seven o'clock, the chair being occupied by Chief Paudash, of Hiawatha. Rev. Mr. Johnson who was the first speaker expressed his disappointment in being unable to be present for the services on Sunday, and congratulated the Indians of the reserve upon their progressiveness. He paid many complimentary references to Rev. Mr. Dunkley, who was labouring so faithfully in the work of Christianity amongst the Indians.

Rev. Mr. Langfeldt after expressing his pleasure in being present, congratulated the Indians upon the successful accomplishment of the renovation of the church. He paid a warm tribute to Rev. Mr. Dunkley and spoke of the high esteem in which he was held. He eulogized him for his good work and asked the Indians to give him all possible assistance. Touching upon the broader matters pertaining to Canadian citizenship, Rev. Mr. Langfeldt said we need to go outside of Canada in order to fully appreciate the liberties we here enjoy and the richness of the country we possess. We should be satisfied with what the Government is doing for us. As for himself his politics were Peterborough. He had changed a great deal of late in regard to his political opinions. He used to be a red-hot Conservative, but had learned that the best politics are those which benefit us most. As to Hon. Mr. Stratton, who was with them to-day, he believed that no matter what may be said about him by his political opponents, he is a true representative of Peterborough — a representative of Liberals and Conservatives alike. There are many Conservatives who owe a lot to him, and he has always been true to the interests of his constituents, irrespective of party. Our policy should be to stand by the man who will do the most for us, and in this regard Hon. Mr. Stratton was the right man in the right place, and to know him was to appreciate him.

HON. MR. STRATTON.

After being introduced by Chief Paudash, Hon. Mr. Stratton made complimentary reference to the excellence of the entertainment provided, and expressed his pleasure at being present at the re-opening of the church. He thanked Rev. Mr. Langfeldt for his kindly references to him, and humorously suggested that it might be considered a put up job if he were to dwell upon the many good qualities of the previous speaker, which, however, he assured the audience he would like to do.

Hon. Mr. Stratton paid a tribute to Chief Paudash, who was occupying the chair, and said it was a good thing for Canada that the country was at one time occupied by the red men, and that it was also a good thing for Canada that the white men took possession of the country, and brought about its civilization, so that now men of all creeds and nationalities were living happily together. Speaking of the progressive spirit of the Indians of Hiawatha, Mr. Stratton expressed his pleasure at the courage displayed by the Indians in undertaking the complete renovation of the church. The improvements had been well carried out and the church was now a credit to their industry. The speaker then dilated upon the greatness of Canada, its vast expanse of territory, and the wealth of its resources. He spoke particularly upon the wealth of Ontario, the banner province of the Dominion, and alluded to the superior system of government possessed by Canada to that of other countries. Passing reference was made to the relation of politics towards the church, the speaker claiming that one had helped the other. The government of the country looks after the material side, while the ministers of the Gospel look after the spiritual side of the church. Everything was now tending towards unionism. The union of the various religious bodies in Canada was not far off. The union of the Bible Christians and the Methodists years ago was a good thing for both churches, and it would no doubt prove likewise when the union of the Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists became an accomplished fact. He would like to see his friend, Mr. Langfeldt, come into the union and not stay out in the cold. In closing Mr. Stratton spoke eulogistically of Rev. Mr. Dunkley and the good work he was accomplishing amongst the Indians of Hiawatha. He deserved every credit and all possible assistance. He noticed that there was a deficit of only $50, and he took much pleasure in assuring them that this deficit would not last long, a hint that was warmly applauded, and made the subject of a vote of thanks.

Votes of thanks were also tendered to those who assisted in the musical portion of the programme, among whom were Miss V. Whetung, Miss Mabel Harrison, Keene, little Miss Woods, and Miss Minnie Houston, and Messrs. Fred Simpson, McFarlane and Edwards.

Still a Mystery.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 5.—At the inquest into the death of James H. Williams, Hamilton, held last night, the evidence adduced by witnesses and the post-mortem examination still leaves the cause of drowning a mystery. The post-mortem examination shows no signs of violence. Witnesses testified to his having money to the extent of about $20 on his person on the evening of Saturday, June 25, and he has been missing since that date.

Section Man Killed.

Hamilton, July 5.—A section man named Popplewell was instantly killed on the G.T.R. near Burlington yesterday morning. He and a companion named Henry Wilson were putting gravel on the ties. They stepped off one track out of the way of an approaching freight train on to another track in front of a passenger train. Wilson escaped with an injured back and was brought to the city hospital here.

THERE WAS NO FRAY

Militia and Strikers Did Not Come Into Clash at Sydney.

BUT MILITARY RULE THE CITY

Employes Who Attempted to Get to the Works Were Turned Back By the Determined Strikers—Militiamen Did Not Interfere Except to Escourt Officials—Are Biding Their Time.

Sydney, N. S., July 6.—Monday night it was expected that more trouble would ensue yesterday morning at the steel works, but the hundreds of citizens who went there to witness the fray were disappointed. There was no demonstration of violence whatever. Several employes attempted to get into the works, but were turned back. The strikers forcibly removed them. The militiamen made no effort to interfere as far as the laborers were concerned, but did escort officials to the plant under cover of arms. Nothing occurred that tended to bring on a clash between men and militia.

The course the civic authorities intend to pursue is to let matters go on as at present until the military is increased to such a strength as will enable them to cope successfully with the men. The work of recruiting men for the battery and the infantry corps began yesterday morning and last evening, the total number of volunteers in the plant numbering about 100 men.

In connection with this strike there took place last night one of the biggest labor demonstrations ever seen in this province, when some 1,500 members of the P. W. A. lodges throughout the mining districts marched through the streets and held a mass meeting in the Rossiyn Rink. That large building seldom contained a closer packed audience, and the best of order prevailed. Grand Secretary Moffatt was the principal speaker. He outlined the causes leading up to the strike. Several other speakers followed.

Mr. Moffatt announced that at the meeting of the grand sub-council on Saturday it was decided to ask the Government to appoint a royal commission or make arrangements for an unconditional arbitration, and, pending the decision, as the case might be, the men would be willing to go back to work. If the commission or the arbitrators decided against them they would abide by it.

In connection with the strike situation at Sydney there has been no change of any consequence since Monday. The 17th Field Battery and a squad of the 94th Battalion Argyle Highlanders are still guarding the plant, and the city in general is given over to military rule. Major Crowe of the Field Battery, is in command.

Want a Commission Appointed.

Ottawa, July 6.—The Minister of Labor, Sir Wm. Mulock, Monday night received a telegram from Mr. Moffatt, Grand President of the P. W.A., asking that the Government appoint a commission of inquiry between the Dominion Steel Company and their employes. He replied that it was not usual to appoint commissions of inquiry into labor disputes. The better course was unconditional arbitration, and the Government were pressing the company to accept that.

Mayor Asked For Troops.

Ottawa, July 5.—The Mayor of Sydney last night telegraphed the Minister of Militia asking that troops be called out to protect life and property.

Sir Frederick Borden replied that all the Mayor had to do to ensure the necessary military protection was to address his request to the district officer commanding, who would forthwith issue an order mobilizing the militia.

Both Let Out of Jail.

Woodstock, July 5.—The arrest of Constable Tisdale on the warrant sworn out by William Swartz for shooting him without justification was quickly followed by his release on bail. Swartz has also been released on bonds furnished by his friends. His wife will probably withdraw the charge of common assault, which was the origin of the whole trouble.

VERY DISTRESSING ACCIDENT AT NOON.

Six Employees of Richard Hall & Son's Store Injured.

Elevator Went Wrong and Its Occupants Fell Four Flats—Bones Broken but no Fatal Results.

A most distressing accident occurred at noon to-day at Richard Hall & Sons' dry goods store, whereby six of the employees were more or less seriously injured. The unfortunate employees, who were Misses Nora Fitzgerald, cashier; Ida Shera, saleslady; Agnes Delaire, dressmaker; Edith Talbot, dressmaker; Rose Guerin, dressmaker; Ralph Moore, elevator boy, had entered the elevator on the top flat when the cage in some manner broke away from the top of the elevator and dropped to the cellar, four flats below, a distance of over 60 feet.

All were injured to some degree and the cage was badly smashed by the great force of the fall.

The injuries sustained were as follows:—

Miss Fitzgerald—Leg broken.

Miss Talbot—Left thigh bone broken and bone broken in two places below the knee.

Miss Shera—Spine sprained.

Miss Guerin—Badly shaken up.

None of the injuries will result fatally.

Medical aid was summoned at once and Drs. McNulty, Eastwood and Carmichael attended the injured. The two ambulances were quickly at the scene of the accident. Miss Guerin and Miss Shera were taken to their homes on 132 Romaine and 621 Water streets respectively, and the others were conveyed to St. Joseph's and the Nicholls Hospitals. Miss Fitzgerald lives at 10 Argyle street; Miss Delaire at 268 London street; Miss Talbot at 409 Aylmer street, and Mr. Moore at 700 Water street.

The unfortunate accident cast a gloom over the town to-day and the greatest of sympathy is felt for those injured.

LOCAL PUBLIC TO BE THE HOSTS.

The Visitors to the Lift Lock Should Have Preference.

Limited Facilities Necessitates Small Local Invitation List—"In Honour Preferring One Another."

There is some little misconception as to the ceremony in connection with the opening of the Lift Lock in the minds of some local persons, who imagine that the affair is a local one, arranged by the local corporation. For the benefit of these persons, it may be said that the opening is a Government function, arranged by the Government, and the date was fixed by them, and the ceremony, if any, is being arranged by them. They have invited their own guests, and will bring them here on special trains. The party will be a large one and will include several Cabinet Ministers, many Members of Parliament, Senators, Hon. Thos. Shaughnessy, president of the C.P.R., C. M. Hays, general manager of the G.T.R., and a large number of prominent engineers and public men. These will come as the invited guests of the Dominion Government. At the same time the municipal authorities of the town and county thought it would be only a becoming hospitality to recognize the event, and extend some courtesies to these visitors, and treat them also as guests of the community.

With this end in view, and with the consent of the Minister of Railways and Canals, the municipalities have sent their own invitations to every Minister of the Dominion and Ontario Governments, to every Member and Senator of the Dominion Government, and to several of the leaders of the Ontario Opposition, to the presidents and the leading officials of the two Canadian railways, to the Mayors and representatives of the Boards of Trade and press, of Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Winnipeg, and to the Mayors, Reeves and representatives of the Boards of Trade of the municipalities along the route of the canal, as well as leading engineers throughout the Dominion.

This constitutes so large a body that if any consideration is given to their comfort, it will tax the local facilities to the very utmost to accommodate them, both as to catering and boat accommodation.

On this occasion the local public are the hosts, and if they monopolize the limited facilities the invited guests could not be accommodated. If it had been practicable, it would have been advantageous to have mingled a large number of our leading citizens with the visitors, to assist in the entertainment, and to impress upon them the importance of the canal, but as it is impracticable, it was assumed that the hosts would prefer to deny themselves in the public interest, and in the interests of the strangers, and hence the local invitation list has had to be kept within very limited bounds.

GARDEN PARTY WAS A SUCCESS

Enjoyable Affair at Residence of Mr. D. J. Lundy Last Evening

A very successful garden party was held last evening at the residence of Mr. D. J. Lundy, Aylmer street, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of All Saint's church. The lawn was very prettily decorated decorated with Chinese lanterns and flags and presented a very inviting appearance. The booths did a rushing trade throughout the evening, in the line of candies, ice cream, strawberries, etc., and a handsome sum was realized. The 57th Band was present and as usual their music was of a delightful nature. The event was well attended and in every way proved a success.

DELIGHTFUL OUTING TO IDYL WYLD

St. Pauls Sunday School Excursion a great Success

Event was very Largely Attended—The List of Sports and Winners

The annual excursion of St. Paul's Sunday school was held yesterday, and like all its predecessors, it was in every particular an ideal excursion. Idyl Wild was the place selected for the outing, and the general concensus of opinion yesterday seemed to be that the spot is excellently suited for an excursion party, and the beauty of its scenery was at its height. The event was largely attended by members of the school and others interested and the sail down the picturesque Otonabee and beautiful Rice Lake was greatly enjoyed, the day being a perfect one from the excursionists' standpoint.

Idyl Wild was reached about noon, and four hours were spent here in lunching and in games of various descriptions. The children were naturally much interested in the races which were well contested, and suitable prizes were awarded the winning contestants. The committee in charge of the sports, was composed of Rev. J. A. Wilson, Messrs. W. Madill, A. J. Johnston, D. Davidson, T. Anderson and B. Simpson. The programme was as follows:

Prizes for largest families present. — Mr. Douglas Baptie and Mrs. C. Bergoine, equal, each having six of their family present.

A start for home was made about 4.30 o'clock, Peterborough being reached at nine o'clock. The City of Peterborough was the steamer chartered for the occasion. On the return trip the pleasure of the occasion was enhanced by the singing of hymns and songs, among which was a pleasing solo by Master John Markle.

Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. J. A. Wilson, and Mr. W. Madill, superintendent, were on board, assisting in every possible manner in making the affair the great success it was.

THE NEW STEAMER RUNS SATISFACTORILY

"Sovereign" made her first Regular trip Yesterday

The new excursion steamer, "Sovereign," made her first regular trip to Idyl Wild, and river and lake points, on Tuesday, according to her advertised time table. The result was most satisfactory, and Captain Copperthwaite and his assistants, are elated over their staunch new steamer's performance. The new machinery has not got quite down to its smooth bearing yet, and of course a test of her actual speed was not to be be expected — only half pressure being put on most of the time. However the run from the Locks to Jubilee was made within two hours. After running in Harwood she crossed the lake to Idyl Wild, reaching her wharf at 12.30. The return trip from Idyl Wild to the Locks was made in 2.40 time, taking the east channel when entering the river, and arriving at the Peterborough wharf at 7.15 p.m.

The "Sovereign's" fine sailing qualities were pronounted highly satisfactory — being steady, firm and easily controlled. In fact the "Sovereign's" record for the day should silence the statements that have been made in some quarters as to her unsteadiness, which arose out of her first hurried excursion trip, and which was made before she was ballasted.

See The Little Colonel.

Col. Collins Young, the smallest man in the world, will welcome visitors at the Henry Co's store, in Peterborough, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 7th, 8th and 9th. SUCCESSFUL OUTING ON STONY LAKE

George Street Sunday School Excursion was very Enjoyable

An Ideal day for an Ideal Trip—Sports at Sandy Point—Event was well Attended.

One of, if not, the most, successful excursions in the history of the George street Methodist Sunday School was that which was run yesterday to Stony Lake. The day was an ideal one, just cool enough to be pleasant and to keep the mosquitoes away while the sun shone brightly and rendered everything cheerful and bright. The event was enjoyed by over two hundred members of the school with their relatives and friends and a most happy time was spent by all throughout the day.

The excursion party left on the regular morning train for Lakefield where the new steamer "Stony Lake" was in readiness to convey the excursionists about the lake. Those who sailed on this boat for the first time yesterday were greatly delighted with the new steamer and perfect satisfaction was given in every way. A four hours stop was made at Sandy Point where dinner was served and the children amused themselves with boating, bathing and games. A programme of sports was run off for which valuable prizes were presented. The winners were as follows:

Boys, 7 years and under—H Birch, W Jeffries.

Boys, 10 and under—F Hawkins, A Metheral.

Boys' three legged race—H Eyres and J Eyres.

Girls', 7 and under—H Outram, C Eyres.

Girls' 10 and under—J Graham, G Pentland.

Girls' 12 and under—M Mann, E Stevenson.

Girls' 14 and under—E Stevenson, V Stephens.

Young ladies' race—E Miller, L Carlisle.

Consolation, boys—F Hayes.

Consolation, girls—N. Benton.

About 3 o'clock the excursionists again boarded the boat and a two hours' sail about the lake was enjoyed, the boat going as far as Burleigh and Boschink. Juniper Island was reached about 5 o'clock and tea was served. Lakefield was reached about 7.30 o'clock where a special train was waiting to make the trip to Peterborough.

Much of the success of the day was due to the energetic efforts of the committee composed of Messrs. Knapman, Jeffroies, Gally and Kidd. The committee wish to thank the following who contributed towards the prizes for the races: Messrs. E. F. Mason, J. Nugent, A. W. Cressman, H. Shortly, J. Sutcliffe, W. B. Warne, A. E. Micks, S. A. Oke, R McWhinnie and W. G. Higgins. The prizes donated by the above parties were supplemented by others from the committee.

On the steamer, a booth in charge of Misses Lumsden and Butcher, assisted by other young ladies, was liberally patronized and large proceeds were realized.

Rev. Dr. Crothers, the pastor, was on board and took advantage of the opportunity afforded to become acquainted with the members of the school and others on board. Mr. T. W Robinson, Superintendent, met the excursion at Sandy Point and accompanied the party about the lakes.

The excursion was in every way an unqualified success and to all on board the outing was one long to be remembered.

ARMSTRONG CANNOT APPEAL FROM JUDGE

Court of Appeal Decided that he must Take His Sentence.

In the Court of Appeal yesterday in Toronto, William Armstrong applied for right to appeal from the decision of the Judge in finding him guilty of obtaining money under false pretences. The court decided he could not appeal. The Toronto Star says:

"In Rex vs. Armstrong, however, leave to appeal is refused. Armstrong was convicted at Peterborough of misrepresentation and false pretences. In their judgment their Lordships say: 'The evidence disclosed facts sufficient to uphold a finding that the prisoner neither was nor expected to be, in a position, nor was possessed of means derived from others, to engage young men and women, as represented.' Armstrong advertised for young people to go to St. Louis to work during the World's Fair, and received hundreds of letters containing deposits."

Armstrong, therefore, will have to take his sentence.

WAS MARRIED IN YONKERS N.Y.

Mr. J. Earnest Hodgson, Formerly of Peterborough becomes a Benedict.

The Yonkers, N.Y., Stateaman has the following report of a wedding which took place there, and which will be interesting to many Peterborough residents. The groom, Mr. J. Ernest Hodgson, is a former Peterborough man, having been a member of the 57th Band, and leader of the Charlotte street Orchestra, and was well known here:—

A wedding of local interest took place at the Arlington, Inn, on Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Carrie L. Smith, of Springfield, Mass., was united in marriage with J. Ernest Hodgson.

The guests assembled in the large reception hall of the Inn, and at 2.30 the orchestra struck up the wedding march, from Lohengrin, as the bridal party came down the stairs.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white mull, made with a long train and elaborately trimmed with lace, and she carried bride roses. She was preceded by her flower girl, Miss Ruth Clark, of Springfield, Mass., and by Master Donald Clark of Springfield, who carried the ring in the heart of a white rose, and rang a tiny wedding bell as the party advanced down the long hall.

They were met by the groom at the end of the room, and took their places under an arch of green, surmounted by the American and English flags.

Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" was played very softly during the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. William P. Bruce, of the Park Hill Reformed Church. The ring service was used.

At the close of the ceremony, Mendelssohn's wedding march was played, and the wedding party went to the parlour, where they received congratulations.

Refreshments were served in the dining room. The wedding presents were numerous and beautiful, including a dinner set, china, silver, cut-glass, table linen, books, and bric-a-brac.

The guests were from Yonkers, Brooklyn, Springfield and Brantford.

A BOILER EXPLOSION

Two Men Killed Seven Miles From Haliburton.

THE SAWMILL WAS WRECKED

Peters & Cairn's Loss Will Be About $8,000—A Kent Farmer Killed While Loading Hay—John Plumley Drowned at St. Catharines—Two Men Killed in Gravel Pit and One in Landslide.

Haliburton, July 6.—Shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning the large boiler in Peters & Cairns saw mill, located about seven miles from this village, exploded, completely demolishing the mill and instantly killing William Duncan, a young man employed in the mill. William Winn, another employe, only survived a few hours. Several others were more or less injured by falling timbers and scalding steam. The machinery loss to Messrs. Peters & Cairns will be very considerable. The mill and machinery, which would be valued at about $8,000, is a complete wreck. The season's cut of lumber, shingles, etc., is also lost.

Kent Farmer Killed.

Chatham, July 6.—While loading hay Monday afternoon John Vickery Shaw, a farmer, living a few miles from here, met with almost instant death. He was standing near the rear of the load, receiving the hay from his son-in-law, Isaac Andrew, who was pitching, when the horses suddenly stepped ahead and he fell backward to the ground. He lived only a few minutes. Coroner Wiley of Dresden did not find a bone broken, and ascribed death to heart failure from shock, Mr. Shaw having been in poor health for some time. A wife, three daughters and two sons survive him. Both of the latter are doctors, and one is practicing in Clare, Mich.

Drowned at St. Catharines.

St. Catharines, July 6.—John Plumley, a boy of 16 or 17 years of age, employed in the annealing room of the McKinnon Dash and Metal Works Co., lost his life by drowning between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday. After having eaten his dinner he went down to the canal at a point where the Port Dalhousie extension of the Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto Railway crosses the canal, and with a number of companions went in swimming. The young man could swim but very little, and his companions were endeavoring to teach him the art. He jumped in and his companions were ready to assist him, but he never rose to the surface. His body, up to 5 p.m., had not been recovered. Deceased came here from Napanee about three years ago and lived with his parents.

Crushed in Gravel Pit.

Welland, July 6.—Edward Harmon, who resided at St. John's, and Richard Vaughan, a farmer, living nearby, were Monday killed by a cave-in in a gravel pit. They were engaged in excavating and the bank caved in on them. E. Fulsome was injured and one horse killed. Mr. Harmon leaves a widow and one child. Mr. Vaughan, a widow, but no family.

W. H. Maddick's Death.

Hamilton, July 6.—Yesterday afternoon, at the west end gravel pit, 100 tons of earth fell 50 feet, killing W. H. Maddick, a 19-year-old son of Thos. Maddick, 428 North John street, wounding Ned Connors, 21 Melbourne street, and burying three horses. Maddick, who is a harnessmaker, was drawing gravel for a cement walk. He had just backed a one-horse wagon into the pit when the landslide occurred. A big chunk of gravel struck him, but he was not buried. He lived only a few minutes after the accident. Connor's arm was painfully injured. Just before the mishap five other men and a child were standing in the pit. The men were invited out to take a glass of beer and they had not left ten minutes before the earth came rolling down. It has been the custom to place a blast in the bank at nights, for the earth does not usually start to fall until some time after the explosion takes place. In spite of the protests of the men a blast was set off at noon yesterday. An inquest was opened on the body of young Maddick last evening.

Hit By G.T.R. Express.

Guelph, July 6.—G.T.R. express No. 4, from the west, due in Guelph at 6 a.m., struck and nearly killed William Forbes, a young Grand Trunk brakeman, at New Hamburg, yesterday morning. He was sitting on the side of the track, apparently unaware of the approach of the train. When struck, he was thrown some distance. His head was badly cut and his body bruised. He was removed to Berlin Hospital, where it is thought he will recover.

Baby in Carriage Hurt.

Port Arthur, July 6.—A peculiar accident took place here yesterday when the infant child of George Heard had a jaw broken and received other injuries. The child was in a baby carriage in charge of a girl. The carriage was left alone for a minute and the wind catching it swept it into a trench being dug for waterworks. The baby was badly injured.

Two Persons Stunned.

Galt, July 6.—Monday's weather card brought us one of the heaviest rainfalls, and, without doubt, the most severe electric storm of the year. The most serious accident was reported at John Taylor's, sr., Sprague's road, where the barn was shattered, two valuable horses killed and a horse and one or two persons stunned. J. W. Taylor, manager of the Bell Telephone Company, is wearing a troubled expression. The storm burned out about 35 telephones.

Wouldn't Take a Dare.

St. Louis, Mo., July 6.—Because he would not take a dare, George M. Lorenz, 21 years old dived from the centre span of Eads Bridge yesterday and was drowned. The wind straightened his body as he neared the water and he struck on his stomach. Efforts made to save him by friends in a launch were futile.

Three Girls Burn to Death.

Raleigh, N. C., July 6.—Three girls, ranging from 4 to 12 years, were burned to death yesterday at Carleigh Cotton Mills, near this city. They were the daughters of John T. Cole, a boss engineer. The father, mother and two children escaped, one of the latter, a boy, being terribly burned. The father made frantic but ineffectual attempts to rescue his children.

Total Dead Is 20.

Litchfield, Ill., July 6.—S. E. Shappard, cashier of the Hughes Bank ut Humes, Ill., injured in the Wabash wreck Sunday night, died yesterday, and several more of the wounded lying at the St. Frances Hospital cannot live. This makes the total dead twenty.

AT ATLANTIC'S MERCY.

Another Boat Load of Norge Survivors Picked Up.

Aberdeen, Scotland, July 6.—Another boat load containing seventeen survivors of the ill-fated Danish steamer Norge, which foundered off Rockall Reef, 290 miles from the Scottish mainland, on June 28, were landed at Aberdeen last night by the steam trawler Largo Bay. Six hundred and twenty-seven souls are still missing. The contingent now being cared for at Aberdeen consists of 160 passengers, the third mate of the Norge, the quartermaster, a steward, a lamp trimmer and one of the crew.

They drifted at the mercy of the Atlantic for six days. When both water and food were gone and when the occupants were almost too exhausted even to hope, the trawler hove in sight. This was on July 4, and when the boat was about thirty miles off St. Kilda. Those rescued had eked out an existence on two biscuits per day.

The third mate states that three other boats started with that rescued by the Largo Bay.

For these boats the British gunboat Leda, the Government fishing cutter Jackal, a steamer chartered by the Danish Consul at Glasgow, and several other vessels are diligently searching.

Subscription Opened.

Copenhagen, July 6.—A subscription in behalf of the relatives of the victims and of the rescued passengers of the Danish steamer Norge, which foundered Tuesday, June 28, off Rockall Reef, northwest of Scotland, with the loss of 646 lives, was opened here yesterday morning. Condolences are pouring in from the royal family and people in America and elsewhere.

Neuralgia of the Heart

An Ailment Which Terrifies its Victims—Indicated by Pains About the Heart and Quick, Loud Breathing—Cured by

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is quite natural to be alarmed when the heart becomes affected, but there is no reason to despair of being cured.

The great majority of heart derangements are due to exhaustion of the nerves and a watery condition of the blood. By overcoming these causes of trouble with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the heart will be restored to health and its action again become normal.

Mr. James G. Clark, Fosterville, York County, N.B., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from what the doctors said was neuralgia of the heart. The pain started in the back of the neck and worked down into the region of the heart. Though I had taken a lot of medicine of one kind and another, I could not get anything to help me until I used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

"When I began this treatment I could not rest in bed, except by sitting upright, on account of the dreadful pains about the heart and the quick, loud beating. The change which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has made in my condition is wonderful. It has entirely overcome these symptoms and in making me strong and well. If this statement will help to relieve the suffering of others, you are at liberty to use it."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

Where the Love Vine Grows

By... INA WRIGHT-HANSON

Copyright, 1903, by Ina Wright-Hanson

"I believe in some signs," said Phyllis, speaking for the first time during the conversation. We turned to her inquiringly.

"Which ones?" asked Aunt Myra.

Phyllis held up her embroidery frame (I suppose that's what it was) and looked critically at her work. She pulled the linen a little; she frowned a little. Phyllis is charming when she smiles, and just then I discovered that she is delightful when she frowns—that is, when she does not frown at me.

"I have done that stitch very well," she remarked complacently. "I will show my work to Juanita, daughter of Juan." And she left the veranda.

"That child!" scolded Aunt Myra. "Instead of sitting quietly here in the shade, she must toil through the heat to learn drawn work of that old Mexican. She has forgotten her sunshade too."

"I will take it to her," I said, running down the steps. It behooved me to be helpful to Aunt Myra, for it was only after much cajolery that she had taken me as a summer boarder on her ranch, bordering on the desert and bounded on three sides by foothills.

Halfway to the cabin of Juanita are a log and a sycamore tree. We sat down.

"Is there anything more beautiful than this dear old desert, with its sage bush and cacti?" Phyllis began. "Look! See that dear, cunning, little lizard! Oh, he has lost his tail!"

"He will grow another," I answered cheerfully. "Yes; there is something more beautiful than the desert. You are."

"How amusing your comparisons are!" bantered Phyllis, turning her brown eyes sideways on me. "That's like your saying that you admire that Japanese death urn more than the Indian bowl when I asked you if you were interested in Indian pottery."

"Well, you can't deny that it was far handsomer," I persisted.

"Of course," impatiently. "But there is no comparison. It's like comparing a piano and a cook stove."

"Say, Phyllis, what signs do you believe in? You forgot to tell us."

"In the love vine."

I bated to show my ignorance after her rather severe criticism on my comparisons, so I folded my hands and waited. In a moment she continued:

"You know if you put a little scrap of love vine on a bush and you name it for somebody you care for and it lives, why, it's a sign that he loves you, and if it doesn't live he doesn't love you."

"Ah!" I breathed responsively.

"I tried it once. Teddy and I each got a piece"—

"Who's Teddy?" I growled.

"Oh, a man! We each got a piece and put them on a nice green bush. We named them each other's names, and if they grew we were to marry."

A pause while I dug my heel savagely into the sand.

"Well, why don't you ask if they grew?"

"Of course they grew," I muttered.

"They did not grow," she said firmly, "and so I did not marry Teddy. He was very handsome," she sighed.

"I AM GLAD I FOUND YOU OUT," SHE SAID WITHERINGLY.

"I wish I were," I remarked tentatively.

"You do well enough as you are. It isn't always the handsomest men that are the best. I remember that what I admired most about Teddy was that he could wiggle his ears and move his scalp."

A suspicion came to me. "How long ago was that?" I asked sternly.

"Oh, I don't know! It was the summer I was ten."

Another pause while I meditated and stole glances at Phyllis. How lovely she was—brown hair, inclined to curl; brown eyes, with a little glint of gold in them; brown skin, with a tinge of healthy red; small, slender, captivating!

"Phyllis," I said suddenly, "I have been wanting to ask you for a long time. I—I—what's the use of putting me off? I—I"—

She rose hastily. "I had nearly forgotten Juanita, daughter of Juan. I"—

"Hang the daughter of Juan!" I exclaimed. "I want an answer. You don't need a lifetime to consider. Phyllis, dear, don't you know what I am trying to say? Can't you help a fellow out a little?" I halted and wiped my perspiring brow.

"I think you are trying to ask me if I won't try the sign of the love vine with you," she answered sweetly. "Why, of course I will."

So, a trifle sulkily, I went across the hot, white sand, and Phyllis went with me, picking her way daintily over the rocks, avoiding the cactus plants, which, though engaging enough to call forth rare adjectives from Phyllis, were not desirable at close quarters. Here luxuriantly grew the dodder, a parasite, clinging and golden; a thief and a murderer of the plant on which it feeds. We each tore off a piece and went back to the sycamore.

"We will put it right here on this bush," she said. "You see there is none for yards around, so we can't make any mistake. We won't come here for a week, and then we will come together and see if it has lived."

"And if it has?"

"If it has," she said shyly, and if Phyllis is charming when she smiles and delightful when she frowns she is altogether irresistible when she is shy—"if it has, why, we love each other truly, and—and"—

"And we will marry!" I cried, trying to catch her in my arms, but she ran swiftly toward the cabin of the daughter of Juan, calling back over her shoulder:

"But it may not live, you know."

"Today we visit the sycamore," I whispered to Phyllis when the week had gone.

"At 4 o'clock," she whispered back. "It's too warm now."

As though the heat had ever before mattered to the little witch. She had disappeared, and my book was dull. It was only 3. I might as well take a walk till she was ready. Strangely, I soon found myself at the sycamore tree, looking around for our love vine. It had not lived!

I looked across the gleaming white sand and up into the cloudless sky. It had to be done, of course. I took off my coat and sighed. Then out into the relentless sunshine I walked, out where luxuriantly grew the dodder, clinging and golden, a thief and a murderer—yes, and a liar, too, but I would soon remedy that.

In a few moments every bush near the sycamore was resplendent with love vine, looking as though it had grown there for years. As I picked up a telltale thread from the road and straightened up to admire my handiwork I nearly fell flat upon it. Under the sycamore tree stood Phyllis, a covered basket upon her arm and a cold, cold look on her lovely face!

"I am glad I found you out," she said witheringly, sitting down upon the extreme end of the log, "before it was forever too late."

I sat down on the other extreme end.

"Phyllis," I said solemnly, "have you not yet learned that a man would commit any crime for a beautiful woman! And surely what I did is not so bad as murder, or—or—arson, is it?"

"Not quite so bad, perhaps," she sighed.

I moved nearer. She set the basket between us. As I scowled at it I saw hanging from it a yellow thread. I pulled at it stealthily. It was dodder! That creation of willow was full of dodder!

Then I set the basket deliberately upon the ground and took Phyllis into my arms.

"There may have been extenuating circumstances," she murmured.

The man who said figures won't lie probably never critically inspected the human form divine as turned out by a fashionable tailor.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

ONE STEP MORE

Will be fatal to the sleep-walker. Will he draw back or will he take the final, fatal step? A great many people are in peril like the sleep-walker. They are diseased. The disease is progressing day by day. The time comes when one more step away from health is fatal. The man who has suffered from indigestion or gastric trouble goes some night to a dinner and returns home to find he has taken that last step from health which can never be taken back.

To neglect the cure of indigestion or some other form of stomach trouble is dangerous. It is also inexcusable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It purifies the blood, stimulates the liver, cures biliousness, and eliminates bilious poisons from the system.

"The praise I would like to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes Jas B. Ambrose, Esq., of 1205½ Mifflin St., Huntingdon, Pa. "I was taken with what our physicians said was indigestion. I doctored with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote you, and you advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped—being cured. I have no symptoms of gastric trouble or indigestion now."

If you ask your dealer for "Golden Medical Discovery" because you have confidence in its cures, do not allow yourself to be switched off to a medicine claimed to be "just as good," but which you did not ask for and of which you know nothing.

You can get the People's Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, paper covers, free by sending 21 one-cent stamps, to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Plant Forms Seen in Coal.

The substance of coal has been so compressed that the forms of the plants composing it cannot usually be seen, but when a piece of it is made so thin that it will transmit light and is then subjected to a powerful microscope vegetable structure may readily be distinguished. Immediately under every separate seam of coal there is a stratum of what is known as fire clay. This stratum is always present and contains in great abundance the fossil impressions of roots and stems and twigs, showing that it was once the soil from which vegetation grew luxuriantly.

It is common also to find fossil trees stems lying mashed flat between the layers of black slate which form the roofs of coal mines as well as the impressions of the leaves, nuts and seeds which fell from these trees while they were living. In some beds of cannel coal whole trees have been found, with roots, branches, leaves and seeds complete and all converted into the same quality of coal as that by which they were surrounded.

LETTER RE LIFT LOCK

Peterborough, 6th July, 1904.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—Perhaps in view of the uncertainty which has hitherto prevailed, it might be well to state formally that Saturday, 9th inst., at 2 p. m., is the hour fixed for the opening of the lift lock here, the function is a public one, and all are welcome to be present.

It would be well that the citizens make this as widely known as possible.

The town and county councils have thought it befitting to invite the official party from Ottawa with a number of other prominent guests from Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, and Winnipeg, to go by G.T.R. train and partake of lunch at lock No. 5 at Nassau immediately after arrival of noon trains; the party to be taken from thence through the Canal by steamer to the lift lock for the opening and afterwards for a short trip down the river, to return in time for tea at the Oriental Hotel at 7 o'clock, prior to the departure of the official train from the C.P.R. station at 8 p. m.

As this party is expected to be a large one, and the facilities for catering and transport are limited, the local invitation list has unfortunately had to be greatly restricted.

The presence of so many distinguished visitors in a body, and the occasion which brings them here will undoubtedly bring the town into very great prominence for the time being, and affords a unique opportunity for extending the favourable impression in which Peterborough is already held throughout Canada, of which our hospitable and enterprising citizens will, I am sure, not fail to avail themselves.

Yours truly,
G. M. ROGER,
Mayor.

SKIN HUMOURS BLOOD HUMOURS

Speedily, Permanently and Economically Cured by Cuticura

WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS

Complete External and Internal Treatment For One Price

In the treatment of torturing, disfiguring, itching, scaly, crusted, pimply, blotchy and scrofulous humours of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills have been wonderfully successful. Even the most obstinate of constitutional humours, such as bad blood, scrofula, inherited and contagious humours, with loss of hair, glandular swellings, ulcerous patches in the throat and mouth, sore eyes, copper-coloured blotches, as well as boils, carbuncles, scurvy, scies, ulcers and sores arising from an impure condition of the blood, yield to the Cuticura Treatment, when all other remedies fail.

And greater still, if possible, is the wonderful record of cures of torturing, disfiguring humours among infants and children. The suffering which Cuticura Remedies have alleviated among the young, and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents, have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless curatives for the skin and blood. Infantile and birth humours, milk crust, scalled head, eczema, rashes and every form of itching, scaly, pimply skin and scalp humours, with loss of hair, of infancy and childhood, are speedily, permanently and economically cured when all other remedies suitable for children and even the best physicians, fail.

Cuticura Resolvent, Liquid and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

WAS A VICTIM OF THE DON.

Mr. John J. Long, of Collingwood, Drowned in Toronto.

MISSED SINCE EARLY MONDAY

Body of the Shipowner was Found Wednesday—Identified by a Telegram—His Wide Business Interests—Sincere Grief Felt Throughout Collingwood—Mr. Long had Been Leader in Development.

Toronto, July 7.—Yesterday morning, at 11 o'clock, Charles Allen, 634 East Gerrard street, and David Stewart, 8 Trefann street, saw a body floating in the Don, near the Winchester street bridge. It was removed to the morgue by the police, and subsequently identified as that of John Joseph Long of Collingwood.

When the body was searched by the police in the morgue there was little found. A bunch of keys, a string of Roman Catholic beads, four car tickets and this telegram:

Toronto, June 22.

To John J. Long, care of Long Bros., Collingwood:

Mr. McCarthy telegraphs from St. Catharines, Edwards cannot reach Collingwood before Friday.

H.S. Osler.

Led to Identification.

This is the only paper found on the deceased that led to his identification.

Mr. Long arrived in the city on Saturday and went to the residence of his brother, Thomas, 536 Jarvis street. He attended church service in the morning, as was his habit. In the evening it was noticed he was not feeling well. He retired at 10 o'clock. At 3 o'clock in the morning Charles Long, his nephew, says he passed the deceased's room and noticed the door was closed. He was missed in the morning when the maid rapped on the door of his room.

Had Been in Poor Health.

The deceased had been in poor health for the past two years. As his brother told a friend, "he was a physical and mental wreck," supposed to have been caused by overwork and mind worry. He took a trip to Europe for several weeks, accompanied by his niece. He returned about a month ago. He was subject to spells of absent-mindedness, which came on him when least expected. He would appear to be all right, and, without a moment's notice, would lapse into a fit of forgetfulness.

It is supposed that he left the house of his brother early Monday morning, and not knowing where he was going, wandered down to the Don and fell into the river accidentally. That is Chief Coroner Johnstone's theory, who has investigated the case and decided an inquest is not necessary.

The body, after identification, was removed by Millard, the undertaker. It will be taken to Collingwood this morning at 8.45 on the Grand Trunk, in a special car; thence, to the family homestead. The funeral will take place on Friday. Those who will accompany the remains are: Mr. Thomas Long (brother) and wife; Charles Long (nephew), and wife, and Thomas P. Long, another nephew.

Mr. Long's Career.

The name of Mr. John J. Long is one of the best-known in the northern part of the Province. A member of the Collingwood firm, of which his brother, Mr. Thomas Long, is the senior partner, he has been identified for many years with the successful and extensive business operations of that concern. He has also been prominent in all Collingwood interests, and at one time was president of the Board of Trade there. He was a director of the Bank of Toronto, Confederation Life Company, Northern Navigation Company, vice-president Anglo-American Insurance Company, and the Collingwood Meat Company, president Collingwood Shipyard Company.

Mourned By Collingwood.

Collingwood, July 7.—When the telephone message came to Collingwood announcing the death of John J. Long it created consternation through the town. The tidings were everywhere received with the deepest regrets. It is the severest blow Collingwood has ever had, was the general comment expressed by all classes in the community. For John J. Long is given credit by all as having done more for the town in its growth than any other man or thing. His wonderful ability for business and work, however, is also held responsible for his unfortunate demise.

PROMINENT FARMER KILLED.

Kicked By aHorse and Crushed By a Wagon.

Shoal Lake, Man., July 7.—A sad fatality occurred here yesterday afternoon. John Templeton, a prominent farmer, and one of the pioneer settlers of the district, was driving a load of lumber out of town. His team took fright near the railway station and ran away. Templeton slipped in front of the load and was kicked by one of the horses. The wheels of the wagon passed over his chest, causing instant death. Mr. Templeton was a highly respected resident about 60 years of age, and unmarried. He was one of the Canadian farm delegates to England a year ago.

A Sturdy Canadian.

Toronto, July 7.—John Templeton was born in Newcastle, Durham County, and went west about thirty years ago. He leaves relatives in his native town. He was a man of exceptional talents, and a sturdy type of Canadian.

Drowned at London.

London, July 7.—George Delmont, a young man, aged 25 years, met death by drowning in the Thames River here last evening. In company with two other men, he went in swimming at the Adelaide street north bridge. He got beyond his depth, and, not being a swimmer, quickly sank. His companions made a heroic effort to save him, and in doing so, Henderson, one of them, nearly lost his life also. The body of Delmont was recovered some time afterwards. Deceased was a teamster engaged by W Henderson, and came to this city only a short time ago from Dorchester, Ont.

Killed in Runaway.

Napanee, July 7.—While Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Price were driving through the Village of Newburgh yesterday the horse became frightened and ran away, killing Mrs. Price and breaking two of Mr Price's ribs, besides seriously injuring him internally. Mr. Price lives a few miles back of Newburgh, and is a brother of Judge Price of Kingston.

THE ELEVATOR FELL.

Six Working Girls at Peterboro Dropped With It—Three Hurt.

Peterboro, July 7.—At noon yesterday, when six of the working girls belonging to the dry goods establishment of Richard Hall & Sons took the elevator at the fourth storey, the cable suddenly parted and the lift fell to the basement, a distance of about 60 feet Nora Fitzgerald suffered a broken arm and leg; Ida Sheran, severe injuries to the spine; Josephine Delaire, leg broken. The elevator boy had an arm broken. The injured were conveyed to the hospital, and it is not supposed that any are fatally hurt.

Struck By Trolley.

London, Ont., July 7.—Two small children, while playing on Dundas street last evening, ran in front of a Belt Line car, not noticing its approach. The conductor was unable to stop his car in time, as the girls sprang so suddenly in front. They were both struck by the full force of the car. When picked up the little girls were unconscious, and both are suffering from concussion of the brain. The unfortunate children are Lena McCullough and Edna Hardinger. Their recovery at present is doubtful.

Found at Port Rowan.

Detroit, July 7.—S. E. Mason of Port Rowan, Ont., has notified the Detroit police of the finding of the body of a man on the beach at that place. The remains, which had been in the water a long time, were those of a man 50 or 60 years of age, clean shaven and with short, gray hair. He was dressed in black sheviot, with gray overcoat; had $18.50 in cash in his pocket, a Waltbury watch and a pawn ticket, issued by Frank Forester, 16 East Seneca street, Buffalo, May 14. The ticket was for a diamond stud which had been pawned for $25.

Killed in Detroit.

Detroit, July 7.—Joshua Bobier of North Oxford, was struck by a Wolley car at Detroit about 10 o'clock Monday morning, receiving injuries that caused his death a few hours later.

Two Killed.

Cripple Creek, Col., July 7.—A Short Line passenger car from a train west-bound from Colorado Springs to Cripple Creek jumped the track Tuesday night near Cameron, eight miles from Cripple Creek, and was overturned. Dr. H. S. Torrance and T. P. Airheart, both well known citizens of Cripple Creek, were killed. Fifteen passengers were injured.

One Killed in Wreck.

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 7.—One man was killed and four seriously injured and fourteen freight cars were burned in a Chicago & Northwestern freight wreck at Woodbine, Ia., on Tuesday. Claude Dean of Dunlap, Ia., was killed.

PREMIER HOWLED DOWN.

First Time a British Premier Was Refused Hearing in the House.

London, July 7.—In the House of Commons last night the Government succeeded in carrying through the first part of its closure program on the Licensing Bill, but Premier Balfour was denied a hearing, his frequent attempts to speak being drowned by loud cries of "Gagah!" Finally Mr. Balfour, after hopelessly facing the tumult, sat down. This is said to be the first time in a modern British Parliament when the Premier was refused a hearing on the floor of the House of Commons.

No Dissolution This Year.

London, July 7.—At a dinner given by Unionist members of the House of Commons last night, Premier Balfour announced that under no circumstances would there be a dissolution of Parliament this year, unless he should fail to secure the support of his colleagues.

VICTORY FOR TASCHEREAU.

Solution of Complaint Will Be Satisfactory to Canadians.

London, July 7.—(C. A. P.)—Sir Henri Elzear Taschereau, speaking to the Canadian Press Agency Tuesday evening, said: "I have succeeded in obtaining a solution of the complaint made by the Canadian bar with regard to certain delays required by the present rules of the Privy Council. The solution will prove most satisfactory to Canadians. After the present session the objectionable posting methods will be abolished. It will make in some cases a saving of six months." Sir Henri Taschereau said the abolition of English solicitors had not been raised and they had rights which had been respected.

Allowed to Go.

St. Thomas, July 5.—Mrs. Blanche Smith pleaded guilty to forgery yesterday morning in the police court, but was released on suspended sentence.

Reduce Ocean Fares.

Montreal, July 6.—The Allan Line announce a reduction in the minimum first-class rate to $60 on the Tunisian and Bavarian, and $65 on the Ionian and Parisian. This is a retaliation against the American steamship reduction and C.P.R. lines will follow the lead of the Allans.

The Mullah Again.

London, July 7.—The Daily Mail's correspondent, under date of July 6, says that the Mullah's forces have attacked the Somali's, killing 50, levying on the natives friendly to the British and looting about 1,000 sheep and 50 cattle. They then retired, pursued by pioneers, who shot down 20 of the Mullah's men. The Daily Mail's correspondent at Berbert (the capital of Somaliland) maintains that the whole of the Somaliland campaign has been fruitless, the Mullah retaining full control of his particular region.

GOLDWIN SMITH'S VIEWS.

In his better moments that eminent publicist and constitutionalist, Dr. Goldwin Smith, writes in the most instructive manner. For example, in this week's Sun, he says:

"Nobody questions either the professional eminence of Lord Dundonald or the zeal for the public service which has inspired his proposals, and led to his outburst of public feeling at Montreal. On the other hand, nobody who knows the common rules of office can doubt that in his speech at Montreal, he broke those rules, and warranted the Government in his dismissal. His merits will no doubt be recognized by the British Government, on his return to England. There will be nothing in this disparaging to the Government of Canada. But it would be a great mistake to tender to him here public ovations, which would imply that we were regardless of the rights and dignity of our Government. This is an affair of official principle, which, if party has any regard for the public service, it ought to let alone. The present, however, is only the last and most scandalous of a number of collisions which were the inevitable result of the intrusion of an external and irresponsible authority into the responsible government of this country. The remedy plainly is the unification of the office, and the consignment of the military administration wholly to a Minister who is responsible to the Canadian people."

THE CONSERVATIVES AND THE MILITIA EXPENDITURES.

The chief plank in the Conservative platform just now seems to be Lord Dundonald and the militia expenditures of the Government.

That there is no cause for his Lordship's charge of "crass indifference" which he so glibly makes against the Liberal Government the Expositor has already shown from the public accounts. The per capita expenditure on the militia was 32 cents from 1867 to 1871; 27 cents from 1871 to 1881; 32 cents from 18811 to 1891; 41 cents from 1891 to 1901, including four years of Liberal administration; and from 1901 to 1904, 55 cents.

The increase was one of the counts in the case put forward against the government—the official broadside issued last year by the Opposition at Ottawa, and distributed by hundreds of thousands, over the franks of the members—there is on page 8 a severe arraingument of the lavish expenditures of the Liberal Government. This carried a scare heading in these words:

THE WAY THE PEOPLE'S MONEY IS BEING SPENT.
SEE HOW THE LIBERAL GOVERNMENT HAS PILED UP THE EXPENDITURE AND INCREASED THE TAXES—PROOFS OF GROSS INCOMPETENCY AND EXTRAVAGANCE.

Beneath were arranged the items of expenditure which were held to justify the indictment, and among them we find this:

Militia...	$2,050,979
1896.
Militia...	$1,136,714
Increase...	$ 924,265

Or 81 per cent. increase

Thus the modest increases of the Liberal Government that seemed to Lord Dundonald to bespeak utter indifference to the interests of the militia were regarded by the Conservatives as instances of gross extravagance warranting condemnation.

No Minister of Militia in recent years has done so much for the improvement of the militia as Sir Frederick Borden. His interest and earnestness have been generally recognized by the members of the force and if Lord Dundonald has not discerned as much he must be very short-sighted. As for the Conservative critics of the Government, the less they say about "crass indifference" the better.—Brantford Expositor.

GREATEST IN THE WORLD.

The New York Tribune is greatly impressed by the crop reports of the Canadian Northwest, and in the following glowing words tells its readers what this great country will yet do. It says:—

"Canada's wheat crop this year promises to exceed that of 1903 by about 30,000,000 bushels. This is a big increase, and, with no abatement likely in succeeding years, it is easy to be seen what a formidable wheat-producing and exporting competitor the great Canadian Northwest has become and is becoming. It could now, if need were, feed the mother country all by itself, leaving the United States out of the question, though it is not likely to be drawn on to that exclusive extent. But the territory stands for one of the greatest grain-producing in the whole story of the world, old or new, its edges hardly scratched yet, and it will have its share in determining the course of empire and development as the years and centuries go on, till its background of production is old as Egypt's and its horn of abundance filled and emptied with an equally continuing regularity."

"THE GLORIOUS FOURTH."

On Monday "the glorious fourth" was celebrated in the United States with the customary fervor, but it is to be hoped without the usual list of fatalities and casualties. The following table of results of the 4th in 1903 has been published by The Philadelphia Record:—

Died of lockjaw, caused by injuries...	406
Died of other injuries	60
Totally blinded	10
Number who lost one eye	75
Arms and legs lost	54
Number who lost fingers	174
Total casualties in the U. S...4,349
Number injured who recovered...3,983

In view of such a showing, it is not surprising that an organized movement was attempted in Chicago this year to secure a "sane fourth." Unfortunately the effort was not successful.

PETERBOROUGH MAN ATTAINS PROMINENCE.

Mr. J. K. King Formerly of This Town in Chicago Provision House.

The "Packer" contains the following, which will prove interesting to many Peterboroughians. The Mr. J. H. King referred to was one time a Peterborough resident:—

Chicago, June 25.—To shippers who have never visited one of the largest butter cellars, the butter cellar of Earl Bros. would be a revelation these days. Tuesday morning The Packer man dropped into this mammoth butter receptacle, and while it was yet early in the morning's business, between 300 and 400 tubs had been moved out and yet the cellar was stacked so full of butter that there was hardly space to move around. A visit later in the day out of curiosity showed the major portion of the receipts moved out, but the next morning it filled up again just the same.

Pressed for a truthful report of what they were doing, J. H. King, who is in charge of the butter department, admitted that the receipts of Earl Bros. had increased this season a great deal larger relatively than the general increase usual at this time. Last week the receipts were about 500 tubs more than those of the preceeding week and the boys thought that the receipts of preceding week had reached the limit. Mr. King stated that this was all creamery butter in 60 lbs. tubs, and had nothing to do with dairy, packing stocks, etc., of which they are large receivers.

King is probably the youngest man on the street to-day, who holds a position of so much importance as his, and he is entitled to much credit for his capable and result-getting management. He has received practically all his training in this house, gradually working up to his present position. He is personally acquainted with all the buyers on the street, and has a large acquaintance with shippers and outside buyers, so that his knowledge in this respect is a valuable one. Not only does he look after the correspondence and soliciting but the placing of nearly all the jobbing lines is referred to him.

Earl Bros. is a good house and ranks high in its line. Shippers and buyers alike can vouch for this, judging from the vast increase in their butter business during the past year.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE

To Relatives of two Late Members of the Orange Lodge.

The following letters of condolence have recently been forwarded by the Orangemen of Peterborough to the relatives of their late Brother Wm. F. Elliott, and to W. Bro. John A. McWilliams, P.C.M., who has sustained the loss of his son, George:—

Peterborough, July 4th, 1904.

To W. Brother John A. McWilliams, and Family, Peterborough, Ont.

We, the officers and members of Diamond Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 80, Peterborough, at this, our first available opportunity since the sad event, tender to you our profound sorrow and sympathy in the great loss you have suffered by the painful dispensation which has removed from your hearth your beloved son, George, while yet in the prime of life. The virtues which he possessed were such as to endear him not only to you, but to every member of the community who had the honour of knowing him.

No doubt you will miss him, but will have the comforting assurance of knowing that, guided by the hand of an All-wise Providence, you will meet him in the home prepared for all those who during this life have faithfully served their God.

We know that human sympathy affords but little comfort in such a sad bereavement, but we commend you to a kind and loving Saviour, whose grace will sustain in every trial.

Signed on behalf of the lodge,

R. B. McGILL,
Worthy Master.
W. H. G. ARMSTRONG,

We know that our earthly loss will be his Heavenly gain. We miss him from our gatherings, as he will be missed from your family circle. He was an honoured member of our Loyal Order and respected by all who knew him, and we know that the day is not far distant when we shall meet him again and the family circle will be complete forever. We see now, as through a glass, darkly; but at that great day we shall see him with our Maker face to face.

We trust you will be strengthened and upheld by this thought and leaning on the arm of our Almighty and Supreme Grand Master, Jesus Christ, you will be comforted.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from Chronic Diarrhoea for ten years, and during that times I tried various remedies without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well, and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favour of that wonderful remedy." This medicine is for sale by all druggists.

MEMORIES OF OXFORD

Mr. E. J. Kylie, B.A., of Lindsay, a clever young man, who has recently returned from Oxford, where he has been pursuing his studies, gave a most interesting address on "Memories of Oxford." Mr. Kylie is a nephew of Mr. John Kylie, of Peterborough. The Examiner publishes the Lindsay Post's report of the address as follows:—

I would have you come with me in imagination to a hill overlooking the valley of the River Thames where it winds under the Cumner hills, and watching thence the wash of mist over "the sweet city with its dreaming spires," recall something of the story of Oxford and its University. It was in no mean place, but in a town commanding the ford of the oxen over the Thames, hallowed by the shrine of the Saxon saint, Erideswyde, and fortified before and after the Conquest, that seven hundred years ago clerks and scholars attended school. Probably, however, it was not before the reign of Henry II., who began the continuous constitutional history of England that a company of Paris scholars organized the University which was to enter most fully and most continuously into the life of the nation. Supported by the King and the Church, the University obtained exemption from the ordinary courts, the right of trial in its own, market rights and regulations as to the rent and tenure of lodging houses. The University, indeed, was nothing more than a guild or trades-union of masters who possessed the privilege of ecclesiastical independence and their own rules for admission and graduation. The crowd of students, rich and poor, who mingled in this democracy of learning was stirred by every crisis in church and state. Henry III. provoked by their opposition, swore that he would hang them all. The friars put forward in Oxford the ablest exponents of mediaeval thought.

The vigorous life of the University must have been in a large part due to the early formation of colleges. In 1263 John of Balliol, a powerful northern baron, in atonement for an affront to a neighbouring bishop, hired a house in the suburbs of Oxford, near the church of Saint Mary Magdalen, and made it a hostel for the reception of sixteen poor scholars, to each of whom he gave an allowance of eight pence a day. Though Dervorguilla, his wife, gave statutes to her scholars in 1284, Walter de Merton had anticipated her by ten years in establishing a college which the right of governing itself, recruiting its own members, holding property and using a common seal. Hence the college, originally a hostel to bring together scholars hitherto scattered through the city, was developing into a corporation aiming at the pursuit of some branch of learning, and was on its way to its final form of a society of students united by the possession of privileges and endowments, and having a common life and discipline. The free admission of all into the University was checked as a result of this development, and after 1432 no student could live in Oxford except under a principal who was at least a Master of Arts. Order was certainly improved, wealthy colleges were founded, and though Wycliff was Master of Balliol and influential in Oxford, the church retained its control. The new learning aroused the enthusiasm of the University. Its scholars eagerly bought manuscripts from Italy, and the fame of Linacre, Grocyn and Colet was sufficient to attract Erasmus to Oxford. Indeed, the conservative spirit of the famous scholar was in sympathy with that of the University that produced the last great mediaeval churchman, Wolsey, and moved slowly toward change. Cranmer, Latimer and Ridley were sacrificed to the old institutions in "a ditch over against Balliol College." But finally, the University went, as it always did with the nation. Elizabeth listened a whole afternoon to doctors disputing in Latin in Saint Mary's church, and answered them in the same tongue. It had many prominent Puritan divines before Archbishop Laud restored its discipline and its loyalty, and prepared Oxford to receive its king.

Charles I. lived in Christ Church during most of the war, using its grand hall for his councils, while his wife held her court in Merton and damaged it greatly. The colleges suffered under the Puritan regime and again gave their allegiance to the restored government of the Stuarts. If the later seventeenth century brought poverty and ruin, the eighteenth century found apathy and idleness dominant in the University. Not, indeed, that it was ever without some elements of life; it gave birth to the Methodist movement, and produced such men as Samuel Johnston, Adam Smith and Sir William Hamilton. Yet Shelley's friend, Hogg, could say of the University, at the opening of the 19th century, "Oxford is a seat in which learning sits very comfortably, well thrown back, as in an easy chair, and sleeps so soundly that neither you, nor I, nor anyone else, can wake her." But, learning awakened at the stir of the Oxford movement, and the voice of the 19th century. Keeping in touch with the best of her traditions, the University followed the hand that beckoned to her out of the future. So that the city upon which we in imagination look down has attracted scholars from every land.

Mr. Kylie then asked his audience to enter with him some of the leading colleges, such as Magdalen, Christ Church and New College. He spoke of some of their most beautiful buildings and mentioned many distinguished graduates. He excused the detailed account on the ground that he wished his audience to feel the spirit of place in Oxford, and to recognize the grandness of its traditions. Nowhere is the continuity between present and past better preserved. One should yield to the influences which were borne in on every hand, and be filled with reverence before entering Balliol College, which has kept most closely in touch with the life of the 19th century and best adapted old ideals and methods to modern needs. The college buildings are for the most part modern, though the old hall and library remain between front and back quadrangles, carrying their five centuries nobly. Around the new hall hang the portraits of John of Balliol, Devorguilla, his wife, and Wyclif; they are in the midst of a larger modern company—Robert Browning, an honorary fellow, Cardinal Manning and Archbishops Tait and Temple, who represented phases of the religious thought of the last century; and such prominent public men as Speaker Peel and Sir Robert Morier; portraits of Lord Curzon and Lord Milner and other prominent statesmen will some day occupy the same wall. The success of the college in the modern world has been in great part due to him whose calm scholarly face is distinguished in the group—the late Master Jowett.

In Woman's Favor

Few treatments stand so high in woman's favour as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This is not only because of the extraordinary control which this preparation has over diseases and weakness peculiar to women, but also because of its power as a tissue builder. By weighing yourself while using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you can prove that new flesh and weight is being added to the body.

Allowed to Go.

Woodstock, July 7.—Fred. Bennett Boynton, the young Englishman, arrested for forging a cheque for $3.95 on the Hamilton Oak Tanning Co., was allowed to go on suspended sentence by Police Magistrate Ball yesterday. He stated that he had no recollection of committing the forgery, and blamed his trouble upon drink, which had ruined his life. Boynton is a man of good family, and a graduate of McGill University, but unable to resist the craving appetite for liquor.

Mr. Hoyle Again Nominated.

Beaverton, July 7.—The Liberal-Conservatives of North Ontario met in convention here yesterday for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the Local House. President Charles Kelley of Uxbridge presided. The convention would hear of only one name, that of W. H. Hoyle, the present member, and he received the unanimous nomination. In accepting, Mr. Hoyle spoke briefly on his work in the House during the present Parliament.

A BIG FIGHT IS ON

Wounded Being Brought From Field 25 Miles From Liaoyang.

TWO JAP TORPEDOES SUNK

Another Jap Boat Crippled in a Daringly Rash Exploit—Entered Port Arthur Harbor, But Russian Shore Guns Riddled Them Before They Could Launch a Torpedo—Bloody Bayonet Contest.

London, July 7.—The Liaoyang correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, in a despatch dated July 7, 1 a.m., says: A battle is proceeding 25 miles from here. Numbers of wounded are being brought in from the mountains. Evidently the engagement is a severe one. It is believed that the Japanese are continuing their advance with the object of cutting off Mukden.

Jops Met Disaster.

St. Petersburg, July 7.—A few nights ago Admiral Togo attempted to repeat the Japanese exploit with torpedo boats at Wei-Hai-Wei, during the China-Japanese war, by sending torpedo-boat destroyers into the harbor of Port Arthur for the purpose of sinking ships at their anchorage, but the attempt ended in disaster.

Four torpedo-boat destroyers succeeded in creeping into the harbor which was not protected by booms, but only one escaped, two were sunk by the shore batteries, and one was crippled. The reckless bravery of the Japanese in going to almost certain destruction excites nothing but admiration here.

The channel at Port Arthur is so tortuous and strewn with wrecks without, that evidently it was regarded as unnecessary to use a boom. On account of the difficulty of getting into the harbor the feat is considered in naval circles to be fully as daring as that of the Japanese at Wei-Hai-Wei, where Japanese torpedo boats, in a storm, and covered with ice, were jumped over the booms protecting that harbor, and destroyed Chinese warships.

Russian Squadron in Port.

So far as known, the Japanese torpedo-boat destroyers did not even succeed in launching torpedoes. Another lot of naval reserves, numbering 2,000, will be called out shortly. The admiralty has no confirmation of the report from Liaoyang of an engagement between the Vladivostock squadron and Japanese warships off Gensen. There is good reason to believe that the Russian squadron is safe back in port.

It was announced from Tokio on July 3 that a belated report from Admiral Togo recorded a desperate and successful torpedo attack at the entrance of Port Arthur during the night of June 27, in which a Russian guardship and a Russian torpedo-boat destroyer were sunk.

Hand to Hand Fight.

Tokio, July 7.—Supplemental despatches indicate that the fight at Motienlien Pass on July 4 was a desperate hand-to-hand fight affair.

A majority of the Japanese injured were wounded by bayonets. The Russians surrounded the outposts of the Japanese, who fought until relief came.

Bloody Contest.

Gen. Kuroki's headquarters in the field, via Fusan, July 6.—On July 4 two battalions of Russians attempted to break through the Japanese outposts at the northern entrance to Motien Pass. Before daylight they surrounded an outpost of forty men at the foot of a hill and charged the trench above. A bloody encounter with bayonets, lasting a quarter of an hour, ensued. The Russians attacked the trench three times, but were driven up the valley by a Japanese reinforcement, leaving many dead and wounded. An observer saw fifty lying in front of the trench.

British Steamer Held.

Vladivostock, July 7.—The British steamer Cheltenham was brought in here July 2, and is now awaiting trial by the prize court.

BLANK SHOTS WERE FIRED.

But Russian Volunteer Fleet Steamer Gets Through Bosphorus.

Constantinople, July 7.—The Russian volunteer fleet steamer St. Petersburg, which passed through the Bosphorus from the Black Sea yesterday morning, in company with the Sevastopol, the latter flying the Red Cross, and with her hull painted white, was stopped in the Bosphorus by blank shots from the Turkish forts, fired without previous warning. The incident threatened to cause friction, but after a delay of several hours, explanation were exchanged between the Russian embassy and the porte. The vessel was then allowed to proceed, Vladivostock being her declared destination.

Safeguard the Children

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in the large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr. Frank Riggs, of Franklinville, N.Y., in speaking of this remedy, said: "I have found it expedient to have a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. It has been a family safeguard, and while especially beneficial to children it is equally good in adult cases. I recommend it cheerfully and without reservation." For sale by all druggists.

DECORATE THE TOWN FOR SATURDAY.

Visitors Should be Impressed with the Importance of the Event.

Of all the important days in the history of Peterborough, Saturday, July 9th, from a commercial standpoint will eclipse them all. On that day the Hydraulic Lift Lock, the only one in America, will be opened with due ceremony, and the town will contain a greater number of public men than have ever been here before at one time.

This will be Peterborough's opportunity to distinguish itself, and the citizens should not lose sight of the opportunity thus presented. The visitors will all be men of influence, and the citizens should take advantage of their visit to impress upon them the fact that this town is a live place, and that the citizens fully appreciate the importance of the Trent Canal.

This may be done by the citizens turning out at the public function in full force, and by decorating the town, in honour of their visit. An opportunity such as now presents itself may never occur again, and the present one should not be lost sight of.

Make the town look its prettiest on Saturday, and impress the visitors with the progressiveness of its citizens.

EXCELLENT LIFT LOCK PHOTOGRAPHS

A Collection of Views Made by the Roy Studio.

Everything is Lift Lock these days, and the great event which will take place on Saturday is evidently impressing its importance upon the citizens. The Roy Studio showcases are attracting a great deal of attention to-day, the attraction, outside of the artistic work displayed, is the magnificent collection of Lift Lock views contained in the east window. This is probably the best set of views of the Lock yet published, and it is certainly the newest, the pictures only having been taken a few days ago. Among the many visitors in town, as well as the residents, these excellent views should have a large sale.

There will be several speeches, including an address of welcome to the new pastor. Refreshments will be served and a most enjoyable social gathering is anticipated. A hearty invitation is extended to all members of the congregation to attend and take advantage of the opportunity afforded all to meet Rev. Dr. Crothers and family. The evening's proceedings will open at 8 o'clock.

Happy and joyous, in the best of spirits and looking forward to the realization of the pleasure of two weeks fine outing, which has been anticipated for many weeks past, the Y.M.C.A. boys left this morning for Sandy Point where the annual boys camp is to be held. The prospects for this year's camp could not be better, and in fact the best camp yet held in connection with the Association is expected this year. There will be more than thirty in camp this year, a larger number than for many years previously. The camp will be well officered and all arrangements have been completed to provide for the comfort and pleasure of all concerned. Mr. G. H. Williamson, general secretary, and Mr. T. H. Hutchinson, assistant physical director, of the local association accompanied the boys and Mr. S. S. Aplin, ex-physical director, now of Pembroke, will also take in the camp, which will be of two weeks duration.

The Examiner will from time to time publish letters from the camp scribe which will be of interest to the friends and relatives of the campers.

THE INJURED ARE RECOVERING NICELY

Victims of the Elevator Accident are Doing Well.

It will be a pleasure to all to learn that those who were injured in the accident at Richard Hall & Son's store yesterday, are recovering, and that no serious results are expected to follow. Mr. Richard Hall visited both hospitals to-day, and found that all the patients are doing well, in fact better than was expected, and that there are no serious complications.

FINGERS CRUSHED IN A FURNACE.

Slight Accident at Cressman's Store This Morning.

This morning while fixing the furnace in Cressman's store, H. Roseborough, a lad 17 years of age, had the first two fingers on his right hand crushed, the first one slightly and the second one more severely. A casting on the furnace fell on his hand, inflicting the injury. He is a son of George Roseborough, and boards at 240 Simcoe street.

SOUVENIR EXAMINER.

On Saturday, July 9th, the Examiner will issue a special illustrated souvenir edition, in connection with the opening of the hydraulic lift lock, which takes place on that day. The edition will be printed on calandered paper, and will be profusely illustrated from the newest photographs taken of the lock, some of them made especially for the Examiner, and used only in this edition.

It will be without doubt the most complete description of the lift lock published, and in addition to the illustrations, the history of the canal, from the time of its Imperial connection to the present time, the commercial advantages of the waterway, the best and most intelligible description of the lock yet published, will form important features.

This will be one of the best souvenirs of the opening of the lock that it will be possible to obtain, and everyone should procure a copy. Every regular subscriber will receive one, with their paper on Saturday, and extra copies may be purchased for 5 cents. Leave your orders in early as only one edition will be published, and on account of the expense of publishing only a limited number of copies will be printed, and after the 5,000 copies have been disposed of it will be impossible to procure more.

COMING REGATTA ON CHEMONG LAKE

THE DRINKING FOUNTAIN.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—I would like through the columns of your paper to enter a protest against what I consider discriminating treatment. As everyone knows, the water fountain at the City Hall corner is cooled with ice, and is intended to be used by passers-by, and not to be carried away. On Sunday morning I happened to be passing that corner and saw an Italian approaching the fountain carrying a large pail on each arm. Knowing that this water was not to be carried away, I watched this person and saw that instead of taking the water from the fountain not supplied by ice, he filled his pails from that intended for drinking purposes. That he was allowed to do this would not have been thought so strong had I not remembered that a short time ago, a respected citizen attempted to fill a small pitcher from this fountain, and he was prevented from doing so by the officials, who remarked emphatically that no water was to be drawn from this fountain except what could be drank from the cups attached. That an Italian was allowed to do what a respected citizen was denied is to me an injustice, which is unwarranted.

JUSTICIA.

DOG JUMPED FROM UPPER WINDOW

Peculiar Incident on George Street This Morning.

The circus has come and gone, but anyone who was walking along George street this morning in the vicinity of Robert Fair's store, about eleven o'clock, would have been led to to believe that a portion of the circus had returned. The canine portion is referred to. Diavolo may loop-the-loop, but this morning's act was more of the "flip-the-flap" variety, when a dog, a spaniel of medium size, was seen to leap from an upper window of the store, and alighting upon the canvas awning beneath, bounded and turned 'steen somersaults, and proceeded on its way to the pavement below, just missing the cranium of a passer by. The pup struck on its side, but apparently broke no bones.

It seems that a lady was doing some purchasing in the millinery department of Fair's store, and her dog accompanied her. Unnoticed by the dog, she left the store, and the animal after a search about the department, noticed his mistress on the opposite side of the street. The shortest route to where she was located was through the open window, and the dog consequently took this rather unusual course. How the animal escaped being killed is a miracle, but the dog seemed to be no worse for its flight through the atmosphere.

ST. LUKES OUTING VERY SUCCESSFUL

Excursion to Jubilee Point was Well Attended.

Afternoon was Fine and Sports were Enjoyed—An Accident.

Yesterday morning was anything but an ideal one for an excursion, or outing of any description, but the heavy rain which was descending had apparently no terrors for the 250 people who had decided to take in the annual excursion of St. Luke's Sunday school to Jubilee Point, and very few stayed at home because of the shower. It was raining heavily when the City of Peterborough left the C.P.R. wharf about 8.30 o'clock, but the hope expressed by the excursionists that the weather then would be gracious and provide a fine afternoon, was pleasantly realized, and when Jubilee was reached, about noon, the gentle rain had ceased to descend, the clouds broke, the sun shone, and the afternoon was a beautiful one.

After dinner had been served, a splendid programme of sports was run off. The first event was an exhibition game of baseball between All Saints' and St. Luke's teams, resulting in a victory for the former by a score of 8—3.

The following is the list of prize winners in the races:—

Infant class — Jas. Colquhon, Herbert Bysoh.

Girls, 5 to 6 years — Olive Wyatt, Ruth Sager.

Boys, 6 to 8 — Harold Adams, Arthur Lipsett, Fred Long, Percy Neil.

Girls, 6 to 8 — Lizzie Manaice, Greta Pakenham, Eliza Graham.

Boys, 8 to 10 — Fred Long, William McLean.

Girls, 8 to 10 — Fannie Long, Byril Graham.

Boys, 10 to 12 years—George Colquhon, Fred Long.

Girls, 10 to 12 years—Retta Gaskins, Vera Mongraw.

Boys, 12 to 14 years—Cecil Clithroe, George Colquhon.

Girls, 12 to 14 years—Clara Adams, Lizzie Scott.

Lady teachers' race—Miss Lulu Scott, Miss Mary McWha.

Boot race, boys—Joe Graham, Willie McLean.

Boot race, girls—Clara Adams, Hazel Gray.

Prizes were distributed to the successful contestants at the close of the races.

A start for home was made at 5 o'clock, the wharf being reached about 8 o'clock, all having enjoyed the outing most heartily.

The committee in charge of the excursion and to whom is due much credit for its success was composed of Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adams and Mrs. Sawyer.

The Church of England Sunday School from Hastings ran an excursion to the same point yesterday per steamer Rainbow and joined with St. Luke's.

An accident which, according to Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, who was on board, might have proved very serious, was narrowly averted on the return trip and only prompt action on the part of the captain of the boat prevented many being injured. The party whose duty it is to turn Hale's bridge was behind time in making the swing and as there is a bend in the river a short distance from the bridge, the captain did not notice that the bridge was closed until there was not sufficient time to stop the boat. In order to prevent crashing into the bridge, the captain steered into one of the piers which was struck with considerable force, causing great alarm to those on board, some of whom were slightly injured. Much credit is due the captain for the way the boat was handled under the difficult circumstances.

PROMISES A REPORT

The Premier's Statement re the Treadgold Concessions.

INTERCOLONIAL EMPLOYES

Allegation That They Take Part in the Elections—Practice in Old Days—Discharged If They Were Not Active Enough—Mr. Emmerson States His Position—Preference For Liberals.

Ottawa, July 7.—At the opening of the House yesterday morning Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave a further statement of the position of affairs so far as the Treadgold concession was concerned. The concessionaires, he said, having asked to be relieved, their request was granted. Judge Britton then thought it was unnecessary that he should make a report of his investigation. This view had been confirmed by the Secretary of State, Hon. R. W. Scott, without consulting his colleagues, but when the matter came before Council it was decided that a report should be made, and it had since been ordered.

"When may we expect the report?" asked Mr. R. L. Borden.

"Judge Britton has been communicated with and we may expect some information to-morrow," replied the Premier.

Canada Preference.

Mr. R. L. Borden asked if it was the intention of the Government to introduce legislation founded on the resolution moved by Mr. Logan and passed some days ago, declaring that the preferential tariff should only apply to goods imported through Canadian ports.

"I will call the attention of the Government to the question," replied Sir William Mulock, the senior member of the Government present at the moment.

"I thought the hon. gentleman was the Government," replied the Opposition leader, smiling.

A Letter in the Times.

Mr. E. F. Clarke called attention of the Government to a letter in The London Times of June 18 by Mr. W. T. R. Preston, Immigration Commissioner, dealing with the Dundonald case, and taking the ground that there were no politics in the Canadian militia. Mr. Clarke declared the letter to be ex parte, inaccurate and therefore misleading. He objected to a servant of the Canadian people taking such ground, and asked if the Government had any policy on the question, whether they approved or disapproved his action.

Hon. Clifford Sifton said he was not aware until yesterday of the existence of the letter. He had given orders to have it looked up and brought to him, but he had not, neither had his colleagues, had an opportunity of examining it yet. The subject was one to which they must give consideration, but at the present time he was not prepared to give any opinion on it. As soon as the Government had given it consideration they would give the House the information.

Officials in Elections.

The House went into Committee of Supply at 11.45, taking up the vote of $7,000,000 for railway estimates chargeable to revenue. Mr. A. C. Bell (Pictou) complained of a number of Government railway officials who took part in the recent bye-election in Guysboro', the names he gave being as follows: Alphonse T. Leblanc, N. Pushie, G. W. Peeples, Harry A. Peeples, John MacDonald, Lewis MacGuire, Wm. MacGuire, Alex. Reeves, John P. Meagher, Chas. Caittonden, John M. Grant. Some instructions must have been given to those men by someone in authority. The Government laid down the principle that officials must not take part in politics, beyond voting, and he asked that a commission be appointed to investigate the matter. He added the name of John A. Kirk, Warden of the Dorchester Penitentiary, who had spent the day in the riding.

Mr. Sinclair, member for Guysboro', pressed for a definite charge regarding Mr. Kirk, pointing out that that was his native riding, Mr. Bell, however, would go no further.

Mr. Emmerson's Position.

In reply to qestions by Mr. Ingram, Mr. Emmerson said if any Government employe went into an election and showed himself to be a violent partisan that would not be correct. The mere fact of a man voting was all right, but if he acted as an agent for the candidate that would be a partisan act. Under the old Government Intercolonial employes of the opposite party were sent away on polling day in such a way that they could not vote. Now all were given a chance to vote if they wanted to do so.

Hon. John Haggart, former Minister of Railways, sprang to his feet and denied that he had ever authorized any such action, and if any of the officials did so it was without any hint or instructions from him. He laughed at the idea of purity under the present Government.

After Mr. R. L. Borden had repeated the request for an investigation, Mr. Emmerson pointed out that a list of the Intercolonial employes going out of Moncton was prepared for the election of 1896, and the Liberals and Conservatives marked, and those who were Liberals were sent out and those of the other party were allowed to stay at home and vote. Mr. Emmerson laid it down that the Minister should be surrounded with men who were in sympathy with him. The whole system should be managed by men who at least were not disposed to obstruct the proper management of the Intercolonial. He had known personally of despatchers who had delayed trains, and boasted of it afterwards, with a view to showing that the management was a failure. If he found traitors he would strike them right off.

Dr. Sproule resumed the debate concerning railway officials in elections in the afternoon, and he was followed by Mr. Ingram and other Conservatives, all of them taking similar ground to Mr. Bell. The tables were, however, turned by Mr. J. H. Sinclair, who proved himself a worthy successor of Mr. D. C. Fraser by the vigor and energy with which he repelled the charges against the Liberals by the Opposition press of improper practices at the election in Guysboro', N.S. He read affidavits to show that the Conservatives had spent $27,000 in the election and that a prominent agent of the party had lamented the fact that the money had not got into the right hands to produce the desired results. He also adduced proof that electors admitted having been bribed by mysterious strangers who were working for the Conservative candidate.

Big Item Passed.

After Hon. Mr. Emmerson had laid down the principle that fitness and qualification must always be the first essentials in the selection of employes, Mr. Jabel Robinson urged the committee to get back to the business of the day and pass the estimates. The advice of the member for West Elgin was accepted and the committee, after a discussion of the circumstances attending several accidents on the Intercolonial Railway, passed the item of $6,500,000, and the House adjourned at midnight.

W. C. Collieries Company Bill.

Considerable time was occupied this evening in discussing the bill respecting the West Canadian Collieries Company, and in the end, on Hon. Mr. Hyman's motion, the bill, although reported by the Private Bills Committee, was referred to the Railway Committee to give consideration to the provisions giving authority to build railway and telegraph lines.

BRITAIN'S DISAVOWAL.

Exchange of Views Between England and U.S. re Occupancy.

London, July 7.—The Associated Press learns from a high British source that exchanges of views are taking place between America and Great Britain, with respect to Thibet.

It is understood that the British Government frankly disavowed any ulterior purpose regarding Thibetan territory, reiterating that it has no intention to permanently occupy Thibet, and that Great Britain's motives are those already proclaimed to the whole world. In view of this declaration the British Government announced that Brigadier-General Macdonald's expedition is expected to retire so soon as the purposes for which it was organized have been achieved.

Captured the Jong.

Guangtse, Thibet, July 7.—A British storming party, consisting of Gurkhas and Fusiliers, captured the Jong yesterday afternoon. The British casualties were not great.

SERIOUS FRICTION.

French and British Ships Arrive at St. John's, Newfoundland.

St. John's, Nfld., July 7.—The cruiser Lavoisier, flagship of the French squadron, arrived here yesterday. Her commander conferred with Vice-Admiral Sir Archibald Douglass on the flagship Ariadne of the British squadron regarding the revival of serious friction along the French shore, owing to misunderstandings between French and Newfoundland fishermen respecting their altered status under the new French shore treaty which has not yet been ratified. The authorities of both countries regard the situation as very serious.

Scholes Beats Favorite.

Henley-on-Thames, July 7.—(C.A.P.)—The main attraction on the regatta program yesterday was the meeting between L. F. Scholes, of the Don Rowing Club, Toronto, and F. S. Kelly, Oxonian in the semi-final for the Diamond Sculls, in which the Canadian sculler defeated Kelly, the holder of the trophy, by four lengths. Time 9 minutes, 11 seconds.

Kelly shortly after the quarter-distance was passed rowed over into Scholes' water and kept there for a short distance. Scholes spurted and made Kelly get over to his own water. Then, when Scholes commenced to overhaul Kelly, the latter spurted, but it was no good and the failure to do so broke his heart, and from the half-distance on he was beaten and so completely done out that he had to be assisted out of his boat.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER

Were Great Suffering From Kidney Disease and Pains in the Back—Now Unite in Praise of

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Those who are best acquainted with the merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills do not wonder at their immense popularity as a family medicine.

In thousands of cases they have cured where physicians and ordinary medicines have failed. This is the test by which they have been proven.

Miss Kate Doyle, lot 1, postoffice, P. E. I., states:—"About three years ago my father was seized with a severe form of kidney disease, which caused him much suffering, as well as anxiety lest the ailment should become chronic or prove fatal. We immediately obtained Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and he began at once to improve under this treatment, the symptoms gradually disappearing, until he became quite well again. Since then we always keep these pills in the house for use in the case of sickness of this kind.

"For some time I suffered from pains in the small of the back and accompanying ills, and though I was treated by a doctor at considerable expense, I could obtain no lasting benefit until I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which seemed to be exactly suited to my ailment. Father and I are greatly pleased with the excellent medicine and wish to recommend it to others."

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

The road will then be leased by the Canadian Northern. I am told that although an Order-in-Council will be adopted, the measure will not be submitted to the House this session."

POISONED.

Rank Poison is Created when Food does not digest, and that is when Sickness Commences.

If the man or woman who does not feel right, will at once look to putting the stomach right they will strike the right key—Every ache and every pain is a cry of poison, too much of which has been made in the process of converting food into nutriment. It may be the backache or sideache of the kidneys telling they are overtaxed and cannot filter the poison—It may be weight, pain or distress in the stomach that tells of fermentation and decomposition instead of digestion—It may be headache, dull, depressed, which tells poison has reached the fluid which surrounds the brain cells. The first cause is the same—lack of gastric juice to properly digest. ANTI-PILL, the Great System Treatment, is a new discovery which so acts on the mucous membrane of the stomach, a natural supply of gastric juice is assured. To prove the wonderful action of ANTI-PILL, you may have a free trial bottle by addressing Wilson-Fyle Co., Niagara Falls, Ont.

THE EARLIEST COMEDY.

It Was Played at Athens by the First Traveling Actors.

The first recorded comedy was played at Athens, B. C. 578, when Susarion and Dolon, the earliest traveling actors, performed a comedy of Susarion's composition on a movable stage mounted upon four wheels. The new form of play was so successful that the actors were rewarded by the grateful populace with a cask of wine and a basket of figs.

Susarion belonged to Megaris, a state of ancient Greece, whose inhabitants were celebrated for their coarse humor, and who, in their villages during the evenings, were wont to hold what they called a comus; really a revel, in which impromptu acting, coupled with buffoonery, played a considerable part. From this word we have our comedy.

In England the old miracle plays degenerated very early into what but for their religious associations were mere farces, but the first purely English comedy was one by Udall, an assistant master at Eton, and subsequently head master of Westminster school. It was entitled "Ralph Roister-Doister" and seems to have been performed in London about 1551, being published in 1566, ten years after its author's death.

STRANGE RAT TRAPS.

The Way Ostrich Eggs Are Utilised In Coptic Churches.

Ostrich eggs are regarded by the Copts as the natural emblem of watchfulness, and practical effect is given to this idea among these people by the very curious use to which they put them in their public buildings, particularly in those devoted to the celebration of divine worship. Whoever enters a Coptic church cannot fail to notice the numerous ostrich eggs which hang above and around him.

The explanation is simple. The churches are much infested by rats, and these animals, as experience has shown, have been in the habit of crawling down the cords by which the lamps are suspended, for the purpose of getting at the oil and drinking it. To hinder these four footed thieves the cord belonging to each lamp is passed through the shell of an ostrich egg, which is thus fixed at a moderate distance above the lamp. The smooth polished surface of the shell offers an impassable barrier to the wily and adventurous rodents, so that they invariably slide off and tumble to the ground if they attempt a passage.

TRUE BLUE.

First Used as a Political Term by Scotch Presbyterians.

Blue is an emblem of fidelity, and in Britain for several centuries it has been so esteemed. Coventry was formerly famous for a blue dye that would neither change its color nor wash out, and thence the epithets "Coventry blue" and "true blue" were figuratively used to signify persons who would not change their party or principles on any consideration.

"True blue" is said to have been first used as a political term by the Presbyterians of Scotland against the Episcopalian church. Butler, in "Hudibras," speaking of his hero, says:

For he was of that stubborn crew,
Hight Presbyterian true blue.

Fox, we are told, wore in the house of commons a blue frock coat, and the expression "a true blue Whig" was in common use in his time, though, as one writer puts it, "blue must not be set down as emblematic of fidelity because this color was formerly adopted by the Whigs."—London Telegraph.

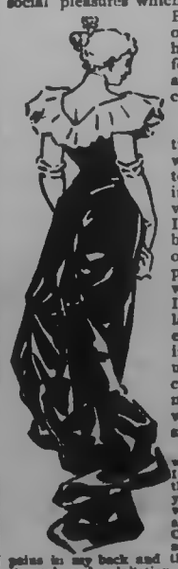
The Price of Pleasure.

It is hard for a lovely woman to forego the pleasures of the life which she was created to enjoy and adorn. She may have to be busy all day in office or in store, yet she cannot deny herself the social pleasures which are offered her.



But the fatigue is often too great for her, and she suffers from headache and backache as a consequence of over-exertion.

Women who are tired and worn out will find a perfect tonic and nervine in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures headache, backache and the other aches and pains to which women are subject. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I am so pleased with your instructions, I hardly know what thanks to give you for your kind favors," writes Mrs Milo Bryant, of Lota, Thomas Co., Ga. "I suffered so much with great pains in my back and the lower part of my stomach and palpitation of the heart, that at times I could hardly lie down. Could hardly get up in the morning but after using three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, I am like a new woman."

Sick women, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

THE SWEETEST ECHO.

It Answers a Call at a Tomb at Agra, In Hindustan.

One of the finest echoes of which we have record is mentioned by Barthius, in his notes on the Thebais of Statius. This was on the banks of the Naha, between Coblenz and Bingen, where an original sound was repeated seventeen times.

At Milan is an echo which reiterates the report of a pistol from fifty to sixty times. In a cave of the Pantheon it is said that the guide, by flapping his coat, makes a noise equal to the report of a twelve pounder. Pliny speaks of a cave in Dalmatia where a stone tossed in would raise a perfect storm.

The sweetest echo in all the world answers a call at the side of the tomb of Nur-Mahal dud Jehanhgir, at Agra. The guide raises the cry, "Great is God, and Mohammed is his prophet—Allah! Allah!" At first three distinct musical notes are heard in the echo, which reverberate round the dome and ascend until they reach the smaller dome, where they reunite and escape from the temple as one tone.

A Feeble Imitator.

Albert Vandam, a French writer, gives this description of one of the leading republicans of Gambetta's time: "Bizoin had a tendency to imitate the great Napoleon. He who had joined Lamartine in his vigorous protest against the removal of Napoleon's ashes from St. Helena to Paris struck Napoleonesque attitudes at the camp of Conlie when reviewing the troops or the undisciplined, woebegone masses, standing knee deep in mud, who were supposed to represent troops. He trudged up and down the lines with his hands behind him, then came to a sudden stop and, nodding his head, whispered (he had no voice), 'Soldiers, I am pleased with you.'"

A Stanley Story.

Stanley used to relate the following funny story: One day while he was conversing with a friendly tribe during his travels one of the chiefs present inquired how many wives he possessed. Upon Stanley replying that he had none, all those present stood up like one man and unanimously exclaimed, "What a splendid liar!" They intensely admired the apparent calmness with which he had, as they thought, tried to pass off on them a wondrous traveler's tale.

Unique Advertising.

Some of the Japanese tradesmen in the smaller towns of Nippon have a curious way of advertising their business. On their right forearms they tattoo figures—the shoemaker a shoe, the woodcutter an ax, the butcher a cleaver. Underneath these emblems are such inscriptions as, "I do my work modestly and cheaply," or "I am as good at my trade as most of my fellows." When they are hunting work they bare their arms and walk about the streets.

The Greatest Sorrow.

Burt—I have no doubt you are sorry about your uncle's death, notwithstanding it brought you into a lot of money. West—Yes; he was doing a good business, you know, and if he had lived a year or two longer he might have left me a good deal more.

Only on the Outside.

"Why, Ethel, you don't mean to tell me you want to marry that baldheaded Professor Wiseman?"

"It is true he is bald," said Ethel, "but think how many young men of today are bald on the inside of their heads."

To please, one must make up his mind to be taught many things which he already knows, by people who do not know them.

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through early abuse or later excesses. Chas. Anderson was one of the victims, but was rescued in time. He says: "I learned an evil habit. A change soon came over me. I could feel it; my friends noticed it. I became nervous, despondent, gloomy, had no ambition, easily tired, evil forebodings, poor circulation, pimples on face, back weak, dreams and drains at night, tired and weak mornings, burning sensation. To make matters worse, I became reckless and contracted a blood disease. I tried many doctors and medical firms—all failed till Drs. Kennedy & Kergan took my case. HOW SCHOLES WON THE DIAMOND SCULLS.

Young Canadian Defeated Cloutter To-day by One and One Quarter Lengths.

Special G. N. W. Despatches to the Examiner.

Henley, July 7th. — Lou Scholes of the Don Rowing Club, Toronto, beat A. H. Cloutte, of the London Rowing Club, in the final heat for the Diamond Sculls to-day by one and one-quarter lengths, in the record time of 8.25 1-5. Third Trinity defeated the Winnipegs in the final heat for the Steward's Cup.

The Third Trinitys' time was 7 minutes and 30 seconds, equal to Leander's record of 1898. The Winnipegs steered badly in the early part of the race.

Lou Scholes comes of a family of champions. His father was not only a champion boxer, but a foot runner, oarsman and holder of many snowshoe records. Jack, his brother, won the feather and light-weight boxing championships of Canada and the United States some years ago, and then went over to England and carried everything before him. Scholes is only 24 years of age and has been rowing for five years. He won the Don junior championship the first year, and was only beaten by inches by Fraser for the Junior Canadian championship. With H. Marsh he won the double sculls for the Dons on the Bay. The following year he won the Intermediate Single Championship at Philadelphia. Since then Scholes has made rapid improvement. He visited Henley two years ago ,but lost to Titus, whom he had previously beaten in the Harlem regatta. Last year he won the Association Singles at Worcester, and also the Canadian championship. With Frank Smith as his partner, he captured both the Canadian and national doubles championship.

EXAMINER TROPHY ON EXHIBITION

At Frost Jewellry Store—Emblematic of Guild League Championship.

The silver trophy which will be presented to the winners of the Guild Baseball League is on exhibition in Frost's jewellery store window, where it is being generally admired by passers-by. The trophy which is one of unique design, stands 26 inches high and is mounted upon a handsome base of black mahogany. On the top is the figure of a batesman and above the base supporting the large silver bowl are two miniature baseball bats crossed. At the centre is inscribed the words, "Examiner Trophy, presented to the Guild Baseball League by Hon. J. R. Stratton, 1904." The trophy is well worth winning and the remaining games in the league will be contested with great determination by the teams still in the running of which there are five. The Guild League is the only league in existence in Peterborough at the present time and much interest is centred in the games which have been and are certain to be in future very closely contested, as the teams are all evenly matched and the final games for the Examiner Trophy will provide some fine exhibitions of ball. The Guild League has already proved a great success and with such a handsome trophy to be won each year, the existence of the league is certain to be a long one. The trophy has to be won on three consecutive years by any one team to become the permanent possession of that club.

FOOTBALL.

In a City League game last evening the Quakers won from the Wanderers in handy fashion, by a score of 3—0. The Quakers had the better of the argument throughout, and their win was a well deserved one. At half time the score was 1—0. For the winners Donaldson and Simpson were the shining stars, both doing great work on the defence. The game was only a fair exhibition of football.

Quakers — Goal, Belleghem; backs, Simpson and McKeown; half backs, Donaldson, P. Fitzgerald, M. Guerin; forwards, Snider, C. Fitzgerald, Crowley, J. Guerin, Brooks. Geo. Morgan made a satisfactory referee.

• • • •

In the City League the final game will be played next Monday between the Quakers and Y.M.C.A. Each team has lost one game and a victory for either means the championship. Dr. Morgan President of the Midland League will referee.

• • • •

The standing of the teams in the City League is as follows:—

	Won.	Lost.
Y.M.C.A.	2	1
Quakers	2	1
Wanderers	1	3

ROWING.

Lou Scholes, of the Toronto Rowing Club, won a great victory at Henley, Eng., yesterday, defeating F. S. Kelly, Ozonian in the semi-finals for the Diamond Sculls. Kelly won the event last year but was beaten by four lengths by the speedy Canadian.

BASEBALL.

In the Guild League this evening the games between St. Paul's and All Saint's; St. Andrew's and Charlotte street which were begun on Monday night will be continued and concluded if possible. St. Paul's lead by 4—0 and St. Andrew's lead by 1—0 each having had an extra innings. The players are asked to be at their respective grounds before 7 o'clock, so that the games may commence sharp at 7.

• • • •

Saturday's ball game between the T.A.S. and Auburn is attracting much interest in baseball circles. The former have won everything in the Kawartha League, so far this year, while the Auburns have lost one one game to the T.A.S. by a close margin. Both teams will be very strong for Saturday's game.

• • • •

The glorious uncertainty of baseball was manifested again yesterday when Toronto, after taking five out of seven games from Buffalo, the leaders, was easily defeated by the tail-enders, Rochester.

• • • •

To-night the All Saints and St. Paul's teams will finish the game started on Monday night. The St. Paul's team will be:—Rosenburg, c; Watt, p; Stacey, 1 b.; Laing, 2b.; Wightman, 3 b.; Boyd, s.s.; Walker, l. f.; Ferguson, c. f.; Walkey, r. f.

MANITOULIN CAN DO HER PART

Showing the Good Work Dodd's Kidney Pills are Doing

Mrs. Thomas Rumley one of the Many who Found Health in the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Silver Water, Manitoulin Island, July 6.—(Special.)—Every part of Canada seems to be testifying to the good work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing and there is no reason why Manitoulin Island should not do her part. Many a man and woman here blesses them for aches relieved and health restored. Take for instance the case of Mrs. Thomas Rumley. She says:—

"I doctored for years and did not seem to get any better. It seemed to be my kidneys that was the trouble so I thought I would try Dodd's Kidney Pills and they helped me very much.

"I cannot say how many I have taken for my house is never without them and whenever I don't feel right I take a few. My husband also takes them once in a while. I find them a splendid medicine to have handy."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest family medicine of the age. They can be taken by young or old with perfect safety. They cure all kidney ailments and nine-tenths of the sickness of the present day springs from bad kidneys.

FIREMAN KILLED, TOUCHED LIVE WIRE

Percy Smith, of Palmerston, put His Hand on Live Wire.

STAGGERED BACK AND DIED.

Young Railway Fireman in Employ of G. T. R. Meets Tragic Death in the Queen Street Subway, Toronto—Was Watching the Crowds on the Street When the Accident Occurred.

Toronto, June 8.—While leaning over the guard rail at the north side of the Queen street subway last night at 11 o'clock, Percy Smith of Wiarton, a young fireman on a Grand Trunk west-bound extra freight, touched a live wire and was killed.

His engine, No. 518, was hauling an extra freight from Palmerston to York. Engineer Best and Conductor Bender were in charge of the train and they arrived in York yesterday morning. They were returning to Palmerston last night and registered at North Parkdale Station at 10.20. Their orders there were to sidetrack for an east-bound regular freight and in the meantime they were taking on water. Smith and his engineer had left the engine and were standing on the west side of the track, looking down into the subway at the passers-by.

At this point, on the north side of the subway, there is an arc lamp and the wires pass within a few feet of the little iron guard rail that runs along the side of the subway masonry. The wires are insulated and they run diagonally over the rail. Smith placed his hand on the wire and staggered back with a cry.

Best ran to his assistance, but Smith brushed him aside. "I'm all right, I'm all right," he said, but immediately his limbs began to twitch convulsively, and Best made him lie down. A cup of water was given him, but he spit it out. Meanwhile a messenger had been sent to summon Dr. Harris. When the latter arrived Smith was alive, but the doctor had scarcely finished a hurried examination when the unfortunate man expired.

The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of A. M. Craig & Co., and an examination showed only one wound, on the right thumb. It was a slight burn, such as might have been caused by a match.

Smith had only been on the road as fireman for about a month, and this being his first trip with Driver Best, the latter knew little about him. He was about 24 years of age, and lived in Wiarton.

The remains will be conveyed to Wiarton as soon as the young man's relatives can be communicated with.

Fatal Railway Crossing.

Brockville, July 8.—George Miller, a G.T.R. trackman, living near Mallorytown, was struck and killed yesterday morning by the G.T.R. local passenger train from Belleville, which reaches here at 10 a. m. He was driving across the track near his home. The horse was killed and the rig demolished. Miller was thrown some distance, alighting head first on a pile of rails, and died soon after being picked up. He was 26 years of age, and leaves a widow and child.

Three Northwest Drownings.

Winnipeg, Man., July 8.—Bryce Urquhart, aged 7, while playing on a raft, fell off and was drowned in the Red River yesterday morning.

A C. P. R. sectionman named Thomson was enjoying a swim in the River at Plum Coulee when he was seized with cramps and was drowned. The body is being sent to St. John, N.B., the home of the deceased.

Edmonton, N.W.T., July 8.—While bathing in the Saskatchewan Wednesday afternoon, James Elliott, 18 years old, was carried off his feet by the swift current and drowned.

LIFT LOCK FIELD STAFF BANQUETTED AT LONGS.

Mr. W. J. Francis C. E. Elegantly Entertains His Co-workers.

Last night Long's Banquet Parlours were the delightful place of a charming occasion. Mr. W. J. Francis, C.E., Engineer of the Hydraulic Lift Lock, with a thoughtfulness and consideration which comes as prominently and naturally into play in his social relations with his co-workers as in his official relations to them, entertained the Field Staff, connected for the past six or seven years with Lift Lock construction.

The guests present included, of course, the genial host himself, who presided at the head of the table; Mr. R. B. Rogers, B.A.Sc., M. Inst., C.E., Eng.; Mr. D. A. Murphy, B.A.Sc., Mechanical Engineer of the Dominion Bridge Company; Mr. John Rankin, C.E., B.A.Sc., Government Inspector of Superstructure; Mr. E. W. Nicholls, Supt. of Erection of Dominion Bridge Company; Mr. Alex. Richardson, Inspector of Masonry; Mr. John Hayes, foreman for contractors for substructure; R. Ritchie (Peterborough Canoe Company) foreman in charge of carpentry work; Mr. H. W. Gillespie, Lockmaster on behalf of the Bridge Company, and representatives of the Examiner and Review.

The banquet was in Long's best mode, excellent in both composition and service. There were no formal menu cards but each guest found at his plate on taking his seat a card bearing his name and a beautiful photograph of the completed Lift Lock, and with the coffee came a neat case containing three "Marguerite" (daisy) cigars, the outside of the case bearing not only the name of the guest for whom it was intended, but also, to further emphasize the personal character of the souvenir, a clever pen and ink sketch of some portion of the Lift Lock with a good natured humourous legend referring to personal characteristics or favourite expressions of the receiver of the case. These were passed round the table in exchange and the roars of laughter the hits created showed how accurately Mr. Francis had gauged the amiable peculiarities of his associates. Mr. Francis made an admirable host, in all respects. He seemed to forget nobody or nothing; and if he applied, as subsequent proceedings showed he did do, the same thoughtfulness, thoroughness, watchfulness and minute attention to details to the discharge of his official duties, as he did to his duties as host, he will not be to blame if the Lift Lock is not as complete and satisfactory a success as was the banquet itself—"which nobody can deny."

At the conclusion of the feast an informal little toast list afforded opportunity for some neat little speeches from the gentlemen present. Those representing the different interests associated with the work all vied with each other in emphasising the harmony and competive zeal for securing good results which animated all connected with the works. Mr. Francis, from his necessarily intimate relation to all branches of the enterprise, came in for much praise for his almost omnipresent interest in every detail of construction, and altogether their speeches showed that there had been amongst the field staff—a generous rivalry to see that the best constructive character should be given to the Lift Lock in every detail necessary to make it the successful engineering and construction triumph it is. It is to be noted that the entire enterprise is thoroughly Canadian. All of the field staff with a single exception are Canadian born, and all British born; all the material entering into the composition of the Lift Lock, with trifling exceptions, is Canadian and what is not Canadian is, with a single minor exception, British.

The occasion was a delightful one, and it originates the difficult question, as to whether Mr. Francis derived more pleasure from dispensing, than his guests did in receiving, his graceful hospitality.

THE SUICIDE OF RICHARD STEELE.

Mind Unbalanced by Sickness He Took His Life Yesterday.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Keene, July 7.—A shocking suicide occurred on the 2nd concession of Otonabee, when Richard Steele deliberately took his life. The unfortunate man has been living with his brother, Joe, since his return from Montana last winter. He was in poor health and his mind was unbalanced, and early last March he attempted to end his life by poison, but medical assistance was timely called and he recovered. He appeared to become quite sane and repented of his rash act, but his health did not improve. Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock he went to the field and enquired of his brother if there was any work for him to do. He was told that he had better rest that day, but immediately returned to the house; went upstairs to the bed-room; took the shot gun, and while, they suppose, sitting on the bed, discharged the contents into his neck. When found he was lying across the bed. He did almost immediately. He was about 40 years of age, well-to-do, and unmarried.

Miss Hapgood tells how she was cured of Fallopian and Ovarian Inflammation—and escaped an awful operation by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for four years with what the doctors called Salpingitis (inflammation of the fallopian tubes) and ovaritis, which are most distressing and painful ailments, affecting all the surrounding parts, undermining the constitution, and sapping the life forces. If you had seen me a year ago, before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and had noticed the sunken eyes, sallow complexion, and general emaciated condition, and compared that person with me as I am today, robust, hearty and well, you would not wonder that I feel thankful to you and your wonderful medicine, which restored me to new life and health in five months, and saved me from an awful operation."—MISS IRENE HAPGOOD, 1022 Sandwich St., Windsor, Ont.

Ovaritis or inflammation of the ovaries or fallopian tubes which adjoin the ovaries may result from sudden stopping of the monthly flow, from inflammation of the womb, and many other causes. The slightest indication of trouble with the ovaries, indicated by dull throbbing pain in the side, accompanied by heat and shooting pains, should claim your instant attention. It will not cure itself, and a hospital operation, with all its terrors, may easily result from neglect.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words.

"Before I wrote to you telling how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady and spent lots of money in medicine besides, but it all failed to do me any good. My menses did not appear in that time, and I suffered much pain. I would daily have fainting spells, headache, backache and bearing down pain, and was so weak that it was hard for me to do my work.

"I used your medicine and treatment as directed, and after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, menses appeared, my womb troubles left me, and I have been regular ever since. I used fourteen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier together, and am now restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you, I would have been in my grave.

"I will always recommend your wonderful remedies, and hope that these few lines may lead others who suffer as I did to try your remedies."—MRS. T. C. WILLADSEN, R. R. No. 1, Manning, Iowa.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over diseases of women.

Women should remember that they are privileged to consult Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., about their illness, entirely free.

FRIDAY, JULY 8, 1904.

A DANGER TO FREE INSTITUTIONS.

The confession of one of the St. Louis "boodlers" has revived public interest in one of the greatest schemes of systematic corruption ever disclosed, says the Toronto Globe. It has been made by a man already convicted on one charge and still to be tried on several others. He became a member of the House of Delegates in 1897, and at once became a member of a combine of that body, which was an organization composed of nineteen Delegates, for the purpose of selling legislation. The first bill that came up after he had become a member was the Suburban Loop bill. The combine got $20,000 for their votes on that bill; on the Union avenue bill they got $18,000; on the Central Traction bill they got $75,000; on the Third street line bill $15,000; on the lighting bill $47,500, and on the suburban bill they were to get $75,000, which is now in the safe deposit box in the Lincoln Trust Company, having been placed there with the agreement that it should be turned over to the members when the bill had been passed. While these are some of the largest bribes secured, there were innumerable others ranging from $10,000 for switching bills to a few hundred dollars for some minor privilege. The bribe prices were fixed in meetings of the combine. In the confession he makes the positive statement that there is hardly a corporation in the City of St. Louis of $250,000 and over in capitalization that has not either been held up for bribe money or bought official action from the combine in the House of Delegates.

Such revelations as these betray an alarming condition in public affairs. That such things are common or even frequent is not at all probable, but under existing conditions they are at all times possible. The chief source of corruption seems to have been the granting of franchises, and that is certainly the greatest danger to municipal politics. We have not yet reached a condition of homogeneous political development and public spirit in which electors can be depended on to select men capable of discharging the great trust involved in the leasing of public franchises. The ability of the people to operate public services by elected representatives has been frequently discussed and seriously questioned; but the ability of the people to lease public franchises is even more doubt, although it has not been so frequently questioned. Leasing certainly involves far more temptations than municipal operation, and the elected representativves are beset by much stronger temptations and much more crafty schemes. Under municipal operations there is certain to be a few unnecessary employees maintained. This obvious waste, though insignificant, is apt to fill some people with alarm and dismay, while the infinitely greater losses involved in the leasing of franchises, are ignored. Recent experiences in Toronto have shown that the existence of a franchise-holding corporation is a perpetual source of municipal corruption. St. Louis has witnessed the culmination of schemes which we were fortunately able to checkmate. The danger of such corporations can scarcely be over-estimated. That they can be installed by men elected for a year, and with no political or public responsibility, shows the existence of dangerous possibilities in our municipal system.

INFORMATION ON MEAT AND BUTCHERING

Much valuable information regarding the butchering and keeping of meat is given in Farmers' Bulletin, No. 183, of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, entitled 'Meat on the Farm." The many illustrations enable anyone to follow closely the directions for killing and cutting up cattle, sheep and swine. The general advice given is worthy of close attention by all farmers who do not depend on the butcher for their meat supply.

Selection of Animals. — The author of the Bulletin points out that in the selection of animals for meat, health should be given first consideration. No matter how fat an animal may be, or how good its form, if it is not in perfect health, the best quality of meat cannot be obtained. If suffering from fever, or any serious derangement of the system, the flesh will not be wholesome food. Flesh of animals that have recovered from the ravages of disease before slaughter, is not very likely to cure well, and is not likely to keep after curing. Bruises, broken limbs, or like accidents, all have the same effect on the meat as ill-health, and unless the animal can be killed and dressed immediately after such accident, it is not best to use the meat for food. A rise of two degrees or more in the animal's temperature at or just previous to slaughtering, is almost sure to result in stringy, gluey meat, and to create a tendency to sour in curing.

Condition — First class meat cannot be obtained from animals that are poor in flesh. A reasonable amount of flesh must be present to give juiciness and flavour to the flesh, and the fatter an animal is, within reasonable limits, the better will be the meat. The presence of large amounts of fat is not essential, however, to wholesome meat, and it is far more important that an animal should be in good health than that it be extremely fat. It is not wise to kill an animal that is losing flesh, as the muscle fibres are shrinking in volume and contain correspondingly less water. As a consequence the meat is tougher and dryer. When an animal is gaining in flesh the opposite condition obtains, and a better quality of meat is the result. Also a better product will be obtained from an animal in only medium flesh but gaining rapidly than from a very fat animal that is at a standstill or losing in flesh.

Breeding and Quality. — Quality in meat is largely dependent on the health and condition of the animals slaughtered, and yet the very best quality of meat is rarely, if ever, obtained from poorly bred stock. The desired "marbling" or admixture of fat and lean is never of the best in scrub stock, nor do the over fed show ring animals furnish the ideal in quality of meat. There seems to be a connection between a smooth, even and deeply fleshed animal, and nicely marbled meat, that is not easily explained. Fine bones, soft luxuriant hair and mellow flesh are always desirable in an animal to be used for meat, as they are indications of small waste and good quality of meat.

Age for Killing. — Age affects the flavour and texture of the meat to quite an extent. It is a well known fact that meat from an old animal is more likely to be tough than that from young ones. The flesh from very young animals lacks flavour and is watery. An old animal properly fattened and in good health would be preferred to a younger one in poor condition. Cattle are fit for beef at eighteen to twenty months, if properly fed, though meat from such animals lacks in flavour. The best beef will be obtained from animals from twenty to forty months old. A calf should not be used for veal under six weeks of age, and is at its best when about ten weeks old and raised on the cow. Hogs may be used at any age after six weeks but the most profitable age at which to slaughter is eight to twelve months. Sheep may be used when two to three months old and at any time thereafter. They will be at their best previous to reaching two years of age, usually at eight to twelve months.

Preparation of Animals for Slaughter.—An animal intended for slaughter should be kept off feed from twenty-four to thirty-six hours, otherwise it is impossible to thoroughly drain out the veins when the animal is bled, and a reddish coloured unattractive carcass will be the result. Water should be given freely up to the time of slaughter, as it keeps the temperature normal and helps to wash the effete matter out of the system, resulting in a nicely coloured carcass.

The care of animals previous to slaughter has a considerable effect on the keeping qualities of the meat. In no instance should an animal be killed immediately after a long drive or after a rapid run about the pasture. The flesh of an animal that has been overheated is usually of a pale colour and very often develops a sour or putrid odor within three or four days after being dressed. Bruises cause blood to settle in that portion of the body affected, presenting an uninviting appearance, and often cause the loss of a considerable portion of the carcass. Therefore, a thirty-six hour fast, plenty of water, careful handling, and rest before slaughter are all important in securing meat in the best condition for use.

Government Raised Wages.

Ottawa, July 8.—Wages in the Printing Bureau were readjusted yesterday. Printers, who were receiving $13.50, will now get $14.50. Linotype operators will get $16.65, instead of $16.50. Pressmen will receive $16—an advance of $1.50 a week. The foreman of the composing-room will receive $25 a week—an advance of $3. The deputy foreman will receive $18 instead of $16.50. There was trouble in the bindery when it was found that no increases had been allowed the girls employed in the bureau. The superintendent was kept busy reasoning with the girls all afternoon, but no concessions were allowed.

CHAMPION SCHOLES.

Henley, July 8.—L. F. Scholes of the Toronto Rowing Club of Toronto, beat A. H. Cloutte of the London Rowing Club, in the final heat of the race for the Diamond Sculls. There was intense excitement along the bank of the river, mostly cheering for Cloutte, but all the encouragement did no good. Cloutte kept looking round continually for Scholes. Scholes was not pushed in any part of the course.

Cloutte had the best of the start, but at the top of the island Scholes took the lead, increasing it at one-quarter distance to two lengths. At half distance, which was reached in 4 minutes, Scholes was still two lengths ahead. At three-quarter distance Scholes went back to one-half length, but when the mile was passed was one and three-quarter lengths in front.

In front of the Leander enclosure Cloutte spurted and cut down Scholes' lead to a length and a half, but his spurt was no good. Scholes was still in the lead, and after passing the lower end of the Phyllis Court, Cloutte made another effort, but Scholes spurted too, getting home one length and one-quarter ahead in record time—8 minutes, 23 1-5 seconds.

Scholes was quite fresh after the finish and took a swim in the river. Cloutte was almost done out.

Winnipeg Was Beaten.

In the final for the Stewards' Cup, Third Trinity, Cambridge, beat the Winnipeg crew. Time, 7 minutes, 20 seconds. The Winnipegs steered badly in the early part of the race.

Flags Flew in Honor of Victory.

Toronto, July 8.—John F. Scholes numbered his admirers by the hundred. To the latter belonged Secretary Morley of the Board of Trade, who called at the Athlete Hotel to convey that body's felicitations on the result.

If anything further were needed to complete the worthy sire's pride and keen satisfaction the communication from Mayor Urquhart would supply the want. It was written and received yesterday and reads as follows:

"I have learned this morning, with a great deal of pleasure of the success of your son, Mr. Lou Scholes, in winning the Diamond Sculls at Henley, England. I have just cabled him my congratulations, and have ordered the flags to be hoisted at the masthead on all city buildings in honor of his victory. As his great achievement is, no doubt, to some extent due to the deep interest taken in his work by his worthy father, I extend to you also my heartiest congratulations. Your son is an honor to Canada, and Toronto may well feel proud of him."

MEMORIES OF OXFORD

Probably the great master's special merit lay in his full recognition of the essential features of Oxford life. He appreciated the value of the college as a centre for the loyalty and affection of Balliol men. Of course the constant intercourse enjoyed by the men, whether they live on the one staircase, or meet at meals, or in clubs or games, cannot but create breadth of new and human sympathy just as the continual play of mind upon mind fosters originality and freshness of thought. The importance of this common life cannot be exaggerated; no more can fault value be attached to the friendships formed on English playing fields during quiet, hard-fought games, or after the games by the blazing hearth fire over the cup that cheers.

The tutorial system, which William of Wykeham, the founder of New College, instituted over four hundred years ago by his regulation that the younger scholars should go to the elder, who were to be paid to look after them, had become the recognized means of instruction in Oxford, and remained so, only in a fuller sense. Jowett, as tutor, put himself completely at the service of his pupils. The college tutor receives his men individually or in small groups for the purpose of hearing their essays. It should be remembered that almost all the work done by the under-graduates takes the form of essays. Thus their views are constantly submitted to the trained judgment of the experienced teacher. Moreover, the tutor becomes the friend of his scholars, he is eager to know them intimately and to offer his advice and counsel. If, indeed, education in its best sense implies the giving of inspiration, it can scarcely be imparted in any less direct way.

The colleges of Oxford have guarded their best traditions by retaining the classical literature of Greece and Rome as the main subject of study. It has been fully recognized in the University, that without a knowledge of the classics we cannot understand the development of the human race as manifested by its history, philosophy or literature; that, in a word, we cannot understand ourselves or the society in which we live. Moreover, the classics are valued as the best means for the cultivation of taste, judgment and literary skill. It would seem a dangerous step to replace the classics by any branch of study, however dignified or useful. The practice of the best Universities of every age cannot be lightly set aside. Higher studies if subordinated to material ends, can with difficulty again assert their supremacy, and rarely before the country which ignors them has suffered from the lack of citizens with thorough education, broad sympathies and pure ideals. Nor might it seem advisable to sacrifice the older studies to research. Research appears of little worth unless pursued by scholars whose minds have been well trained and prepared for independent work; its results must not be given undue value, but must be assigned their place in some general scheme of knowledge, and must be set forth with good judgment and literary form if they are to have effect.

Those essential features of Oxford education, the college life, the tutorial system and the classics, combine to give its liberal character. By liberal is meant the opposite of useful, self-sufficient. A liberal education implies cultivation of the mind for its own sake. The knowledge upon which it is based is a habit of the mind and its own end. Such education aims at producing a mental state, not technical skill or commercial cleverness. It becomes part and parcel of the man; it does not teach him to do this or that, but it enriches and ennobles everything he does; it gives him that outlook whereby he can give facts their true value and their place in his system of thought. With his purer taste and better trained mind the man so educated will perform his professional duties with greater facility, and in the broader functions of society — such as the work of government — will dislike his superiority. The maintenance of this ideal in English education does most to explain the high character and upright purpose of the statesmen, and the strong and outspoken public opinion in England.

Oxford can never be forgotten by her sons, for she is to them "an Alma Mater training her children one by one, not a treadmill, or a mint or a foundry." Sadly they pass from the deep, quiet buckwater of the University into the swirling currrent of life's main flood, remembering perchance the words which could not be spoken of any other place:—

"Farewell we said, fair city of youth's dream.
And in our boat we stepped and took the stream."

PILLS AND PILES.

A prolific cause of piles is the use of cathartics and pills of a drastic, violent nature.

Followed by a reaction on account of the resinous, drying properties they contain.

There are other causes, but no matter what the cause or what the kind of piles, Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid can be regied upon to cure—to stay cured.

It's an internal remedy that removes the causes of itching, blind, bleeding or suppurating Piles.

Nothing Announced.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 8.—The directors of the Lake Superior Co., after looking over the plants, have been holding meetings here yesterday afternoon and evening, but at the close of last night's meeting had nothing to announce regarding the appointment of a general manager or plans for the operation of the works.

CHURCH UNION.

Principal Caven on Imperative Duty of Christian Church.

London, July 8.—Principal Caven, replying to the congratulations of the English and Welsh Free Church Councils, said the alliance represented the union of the Church of Christ. It embraced substantially the Presbyterianism of the world, and nearly all branches of the reformed church of Europe. He believed the Christian church ought to regard union as an imperative duty at the present time. He trusted that in the not far distant future it would be possible for them all to represent the principle of union, not only in the imperfect way of some federal constitution, but in a more practical organic incorporation. Any system of national education should be kept entirely free from sectarian bias, and there ought to be a conscience clause to protect parties unable to have the full advantage of the established system.

The Useful Thumb.

By an unlucky blow with a hammer Mr. Benson had disabled one of his thumbs. "That's too bad," said a friend to whom he showed the damaged member several days afterward

"No, it isn't," replied Mr. Benson almost resentfully. "It is one of the best things that ever happened to me. It has taught me to appreciate that thumb. I never knew its value before. I found out by actual count the first day that there were 257 things I had been using that thumb for every day of my life without ever giving it a thought, and it was practically indispensable for every one of them. Please open my knife for me, will you? Thanks. That makes 258."

APPOINTMENT OF FIVE ASSESSORS

Was Decided Upon Last Night at a Special Meeting.

Concrete Coverings for George Street Bridge — A Grant for Entertainment of the G. G. F. Guards.

The council met last night at the conclusion of the meeting of the Committee of the Whole with the following members present:— Mayor Roger, Alderman Best, Morrison, Batten, Scott, Rush, Mason, Hicks, Johnston, Adams and McWilliams.

The property committee reported as follows:

To the Council of the Town of Peterborough:—

Your Property Committee begs leave to report as follows:—(1) That your committee asked for tenders for coal and recommend that ten tons of stove coal be purchased from R. J. Wolstenholm to be delivered at the town engineer's office and that twenty tons of egg coal be purchased from each of the following dealers: Jas. Stevenson, J. E. A. Fitzgerald and the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co., for the town buildings, the price for each kind to be $7.00 a ton, the coal to be delivered and to be weighed on the market scales, and the market clerk's tickets furnished and all to be first class Anthracite coal.

(2) We recommend that the caretaker of the town clock be notified that his duties as caretaker of the clock will include cleaning it every two years.

The report was adopted.

Ald. McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. Hicks, that a grant of $100 be made to the 57th Regiment to assist in the entertainment of the Governor General's Foot Guards on August 1st. The motion was carried.

The town solicitor presented the bill for the case Meldrum vs. Peterborough for $183.78, which was ordered to be paid.

The report of the Board of Works was presented as follows:—

To the Council of the Town of Peterborough:—

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works begs leave to report as follows:—(1) We recommend that a by-law be drawn to authorize the stopping up of Wolfe street, from George street east to the reserve along the river and the conveyance of that part of the street to the George Matthews Co., upon the Geo. Matthews Co., giving to the town a conveyance of the land to be given for a street in lieu of the said part of Wolfe street and a covenant to erect and maintain a fence on the north side of the substitute street in accordance with the report on this matter made by this board on March 7th last.

(2) We recommend that subject to the approval of the exchange of streets above referred to and to the making of suitable arranmgements with the street railway and with the property holders affected and to conditions similar to those imposed in the case of the Peterborough Sugar Co's. crossing, the Canadian Pacific Railway be given permission to lay another crossing across George street to the Matthews Company's premises as per plans dated May 23rd, 1904, produced and approved of by the Town Engineer.

(3) We have examined a petion for a granolithic sidewalk as a local improvement on the west side of Bethune street from King street to Sherbrooke street and recommend that it be granted then Mr. H. A. Porter, furnishes satisfactory evidence of ownership as it will then be sufficiently signed.

(4) We recommend that the Town Engineer be authorized to have Mr. F. W. Bates, driveway repaired and have necessary work done on the corner of Aylmer and Edinburgh streets.

(5) We recommend that the petition of Joseph Pickard and others asking to have a street catch basin put in on Lock street be granted and that the Town Engineer have one put in at a suitable place with a six inch pipe.

(6) That a petition for a granolithic sidewalk as a local improvement on the west side of Rubidge street from Dalhousie street to Wolfe street is not sufficiently signed.

(7) We recommend that the petition for the construction of a sewer as a local improvement on Weller street, from Walton street to opposite lot No. 5, plan 49 be granted as it is sufficiently signed.

(8) That upon the receipt of a new petition for a sewer as a local improvement on London street east from Harvey street with the same signatures and amended description we recommend that it be granted as it will then be sufficiently signed.

(9) We recommend that the application of R. Hicks & Co. for permission to raise the railway siding into their premises be granted on condition that they do the work and put in crossings to the satisfaction of the Town Engineer.

(10) We have considered Dr. J. W. Gray's petition opposing the construction of a portion of a sewer between George and Aylmer streets on Sherbrooke street and as it is not signed by a majority of the owners it is not sufficient to prevent the construction of the sewer.

(11) We recommend that the sidewalk from George street to the Grand Trunk Railway crossing at the entrance to Hazelbrae grounds and the gravel sidewalk on Argyle street, between George and Water street be repaired.

(12) We recommend that the application of the Otonabee Power Co. for permission to place poles on the following streets be granted, subject to any general or other regulations that may be made regarding or regulating poles on the streets and that the poles be placed subject to the approval of the Town Engineer, namely:— Elm street, north side, from Park street to centre of block, 7 poles; Cross street, east side, from McDonel street to Cedar street, 4 poles; Cedar street, north side, from Cross street to Cambridge street, 4 poles; Cambridge street, west side, from Cedar street to Walnut street, 3 poles; Walnut street, north side, from Cambridge street to Monaghan Road, 7 poles; Paterson street, north side, from Park street west to centre of block, 7 poles; Rutherford avenue, 1 pole; Lock street, from Ware street to Lansdowne streets, 5 poles to be placed on the west side instead of on the east side as asked; Lansdowne avenue, north side, from Lock street to the centre of block, 8 poles.

(13) That a report of the Town Engineer recommending that Mr. J. A. Ash's private sewer connection on Aylmer street be completed be adopted and that the work be done at a cost not to exceed $3 00.

(14) We have examined a petition from R. Fitzgerald and S. Parnell, objecting to a sewer on Antrim street, west from George street to No. 168 Antrim street. It is not signed by a majority of the owners and is not sufficient to prevent the construction of the sewer and we recommend that it be built.

(15) We recommend that the Chairman of this Board be authorized to make any suitable arrangements with the Township of Douro for any necessary work on the boundary between the town and Douro, north of Smith street.

(16) We recommend that the Engineer be authorized to advertise for tenders for the construction of sewers that the council is now in a position to build.

(17) We recommend that a drain for surface water be constructed on Simcoe street from the creek to the east side of the lane in rear of the Peterborough Hardware Co's store and that it be included in the contract for the sewers.

(18) That the Town Engineer's report in regard to a wire attached to a tree in front of Mr. J. Z. Rogers' premises be referred to the Town Solicitor to take the necessary steps to have it removed.

(19) We recommend that a ditch at Mr. Oliver's on Sherbrooke street be covered in accordance with a report from the Town Engineer.

Ald. Best moved, seconded by Ald. Adams that the Town Engineer be instructed to advise the C.P.R. to plank the space between their tracks on Hunter street. The motion was carried.

Ald. McWilliams moved the second reading of a bylaw to appoint the assessors for Peterborough for 1904, as follows:—Messrs. Wm. Aldridge and Thos. McKee, for Wards One and Four; Thos. McGrath and John Kincaid, for Wards Two and Three, at a salary of $200 each; Wm. Aldridge and W. H. Thompson, for Ward Five, at a salary of $50 each. The bylaw was passed.

Ald. Best moved that the Town Engineer be instructed to look into the matter of the grades on the street railway and report to the council. The motion was carried.

Ald. Morrison moved, seconded by Ald. Best, that the solicitor be instructed to take whatever steps are necessary to enforce the law as to cutting of weeds on the streets opposite private property. The motion was carried.

Ald. Morrison called the attention of the council to the condition of the streets in places where cuttings are made. The streets are opened up for gas mains and other purposes and as the openings are filled in again, the work is done so carelessly that the streets in many cases are in a bad condition, and hardly fit for traffic. He thought that in cases of this kind the companies should be compelled to leave the streets in as good condition as they were before the openings were made, and moved that the engineer be instructed to report on some improved method of filling in cuttings where they are made on the streets. The motion was carried,

Ald. Morrison moved, seconded by Ald. Adams, that the chairman of the Board of Works be instructed to engage a man to put in the concrete crossings that have been ordered, and to put a concrete deck on the bridge over the creek on George street. The motion was carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

SOUVENIR EXAMINER.

On Saturday, July 9th, the Examiner will issue a special illustrated souvenir edition, in connection with the opening of the hydraulic lift lock, which takes place on that day. The edition will be printed on calandered paper, and will be profusely illustrated from the newest photographs taken of the lock, some of them made especially for the Examiner, and used only in this edition.

It will be without doubt the most complete description of the lift lock published, and in addition to the illustrations, the history of the canal, from the time of its Imperial connection to the present time, the commercial advantages of the waterway, the best and most intelligible description of the lock yet published, will form important features.

This will be one of the best souvenirs of the opening of the lock that it will be possible to obtain, and everyone should procure a copy. Every regular subscriber will receive one, with their paper on Saturday, and extra copies may be purchased for 5 cents. Leave your orders in early as only one edition will be published, and on account of the expense of publishing only a limited number of copies will be printed, and after the 5,000 copies have been disposed of it will be impossible to procure more.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE PARLIAMENTARY PARTY

The C. P. R. Will Make a Fast Run From Ottawa to Peterborough.

Mr. Spencer, the divisional superintendent of the C.P.R. was in town last night, and interviewed the Mayor. In the course of the interview it was learned that the C.P.R. intends to make a feature of the special train, upon which the parliamentary party will be conveyed from Ottawa to Peterborough on the occasion of the lift lock opening.

The train which will consist of the engine, baggage car, four ordinary day coaches and two special coaches, will arrive here about 12 o'clock, making a fast run from the capital. The hour mentioned by Mr. Spencer is 30 minutes earlier than that set by the Government, and the Superintendent states that the train will certainly arrive here by noon.

The original intention was to have the whole train transferred to the G.T.R., but it was found that the track to lock No. 5 was not sufficiently heavy to carry the C.P.R. locomotives, which are heavier than the G. T. R. engines, consequently only the coaches will be transferred and at the station more coaches will be added to the train to accommodate those who will join the party here. The whole company will then go to dam No. 5, where lunch will be served, and the trip down the canal taken to the lock, where the opening ceremonies will take place.

RECEPTION TO NEW PASTOR

Interesting Event at George Street Church Last Evening

Rev Dr. Crothers and Family Were Heartily Welcomed—Interesting Programme.

The reception tendered to Rev. Dr. Crothers and family by the congregation of the George street Methodist Church last evening was in every way a most enjoyable and happy event and was attended by a large representation of the congregation. A sentiment of sociability and cordial relations was strongly manifested during the evening, and every effort possible was made to assist in making the new minister and his family as much at home as possible among so many strangers. The reception was in every way a most hearty one and Rev. Dr. Crothers and family have apparently already won a place in the hearts of the congregation.

The chairman was Mr. B. Shortly. The evening's proceedings were opened by singing and a prayer by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe after which Miss G. Kendry sang "Good Bye Sweet Day" in splendid voice. Mr. D. W. Dumble was then called upon to give the address of welcome.

Mr. Dumble said it was but a few days ago, that a portion of the congregation had met together to bid farewell to a pastor who had completely won the hearts of his congregation, and to-night they had gathered to welcome his successor. There was an old saying that "the King never dies," and "the King is dead, long live the King." This statement seemed to apply to the Methodist ministers who were constantly succeeding one another without any period of time between their stays. We welcome you as our pastor, said the speaker, addressing Dr. Crothers; you were the unanimous choice of the Board which has always looked for the best man available and has always been successful. All that we have ever heard of you was in your favour, and we were guided to unite in inviting you and the Conference honoured our choice. On behalf of the officials and congregation, I wish to say that we welcome you most heartily. There was no dissenting voice in inviting you and if there is any dissent in future you must carry the blame, said Mr. Dumble humourously. We are to stand by you and be loyal to our minister, our church and our Master, and help in every way to lighten your responsibility. The minister was not the church, only the head of the flock; the people with the minister comprised the church and there must be unity of action between the two. We are at your service to work loyaly and faithfully for the cause of Christ and hope pastorate may be as peaceful, harmonous and as productive of good results as have characterized those in the past. May your life be an inspiration to us so that when the time comes for us to bid farewell to you it may be in the same spirit of love as has been manifested in the past. It may seem hard to part with a pastor who has endeared himself to all the congregation, but the more good men we learn to love and to admire, the better it is for ourselves. May you enjoy every prosperity and happiness during your stay amongst us.

Rev. Dr. Crothers in replying, said the occasion was a very happy one for him. As he looked about the platform he saw faces which were not strange to him as he had known Mr. Dumble, Mr. Shortly and Mr. Jolliffe for years and was glad to meet them again under such pleasing circumstances. Ever since he had set foot in Peterborough he had been received most cordially and he felt assured that he would have the hearty co-operation of the people in promoting the best interests of the church. He was very much impressed with the cordiality of the reception of the evening and agreed with Mr. Dumble when he said that if there was any difficulty the fault would be with him. All must work together in the cause of the church. He thanked those present most heartily for their kind reception.

Solos were rendered by Mrs. McGregor, Miss Clara Belleghem and Mr. R. N. Jolliffe, after which refreshments were served and a most happy social time was spent.

VERY SAD DEATH OF BRIGHT YOUNG LADY

Miss Nellie Gray Died Last Night After Lingering Illness

A particularly sad death occurred shortly after 12 o'clock last night when Miss Nellie Alberta Ermybelle Gray received the death summons. The deceased young lady who was but 19 years of age was the only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Gray, for whom heartfelt sympathy is extended in the hour of their great bereavement. The deceased young lady had been ill for many weeks with typhoid fever and hopes were entertained for her recovery until yesterday, when she became worse and gradually weakened until death ensued. The end came quite suddenly. She was a young lady of estimable qualities and had endeared herself to a large circle of friends by her kind and loving disposition. Her regretted demise will bring sorrow to a great many.

The funeral will take place from the family residence 205 Sherbrooke street on Sunday afternoon.

B. S. A. PREFERENCE

Benefits of the Canadian Tariff Extended in Africa.

THE PROSPECTS FOR TRADE

Proceedings in the House—Steamship Subsidies—Sir Richard Cartwright Thinks That a 17-Knot Service Will Meet Requirements—Practically Equal to the Fast Lines From New York—Fading Visions.

Ottawa, July 8.—The Governor-General has approved of an Order-in-Council adding the Cape of Good Hope, Natal, Orange River, the Transvaal and Southern Rhodesia to the list of British colonies entitled to the benefits of the British preferential tariff in Canada, dating from 1st of July, instant. This is in return for the preference extended by the South Africa Customs Union Convention to Canada. On certain specified articles the South African preference amounts to 2½ per cent.

The Articles Scheduled.

These articles are: Acids, bolts, nuts and rivets, chain, cranes and elevators, belting, hoes, machinery, electrical and otherwise, electric cables, piping and tubing, railway supplies of all kinds, including steel rails, sleepers, traction engines, tramway construction supplies, wire and wire netting for fencing, and wire rope. In the case of other articles imported under an ad valorem duty the preference is 25 per cent. As the ad valorem duty is 10 per cent. the duty on articles from Canada will be 7½ per cent.

Our Exports to British Africa.

Our exports to British Africa last year amounted to $1,931,541. For the calendar year 1902 the imports via the Cape of Good Hope were $166,000,000. Via Natal for the same year the imports were $76,000,000. The United States sent in via the Cape of Good Hope in 1902 goods to the amount of $16,000,000. By way of Natal the value of the goods from the United States was $6,000,000. The class of goods we export to South Africa are bicycles, flour, chairs, agricultural implements, cotton, lumber, doors, sashes and blinds, household furniture, dairy products, musical instruments, carriages and harness, hay, condensed milk and provisions. With the aid of the preference and the direct line of steamers established by the Ottawa Government between the Dominion and South Africa, Canada ought to enjoy considerably the best of it in commercial competition with the United States.

17-KNOT SERVICE.

Sir Richard Cartwright Thinks That It Will Meet Requirements.

Ottawa, July 8.—At the close of another day in supply only fair progress had been made, and the visions of prorogation by the 20th instant are rapidly fading away. One of the reasons why greater progress has not been made developed last night, when the Opposition demanded a statement as to the intention of the Government regarding the purchase of the Canada Eastern Railway. They had to be contented with the assurance that the matter was under consideration, and, as under Parliamentary rules they could not insist upon any more definite statement, the item was allowed to pass. Prior to that some hours had been consumed in questions of greater or lesser relevancy to the item before the committee.

Steamship Subsidies.

In the earlier portion of the day the estimates of the Minister of Trade and Commerce were considered, and a number of items for steamship subsidies voted. In connection with the Atlantic service, Sir Richard Cartwright stated that with the new turbine steamers the Allan Company proposed to place in commission, which will have a speed of 17 knots, the time from Rimouski to Moville will be practically equal to that made by the fast lines from New York. He expressed a doubt whether Canada would be willing to pay nearly double for the increase from 17 to 20 knots in speed, equivalent to about 15 hours.

Sir Richard Cartwright explained that the increase in the business of the Department of Trade and Commerce had rendered it necessary to employ an accountant. An increase in the permanent staff had been made by transfers from the temporary list, and as an illustration of the increased importance and usefulness of the Department Sir Richard mentioned the fact that the correspondence had in eight years increased by six hundred per cent.

Trade With Newfoundland.

An appropriation of $20,000 subsidy to a line of steamers between Halifax, St. John's, Nfld., and Liverpool was then considered. Mr. Fielding stated that at the present time, when there was a hope of union with Newfoundland it was desirable to do everything possible to encourage trade with the island

This statement of policy the House cheerfully accepted.

Through His Estimates.

Mr. Emmerson practically got through his railway estimates last night, the last item passed being one of $140,000 for rental of the Grand Trunk terminal at Montreal. The House rose at 11.45 p.m.

Tariff Changes.

The Minister of Finance gives notice of additional tariff changes. On spirits, manufactured from sugar, syrup, molasses or other saccharine matter, a duty of $1.90 per gallon is imposed, the same as if the spirit is manufactured from not less that 90 per cent. of raw or unmalted grain. Crushed or ground malt hereafter is to pay a duty of 2½c per pound. The change takes effect to-day.

We advise everybody to use Sunlight Soap—It makes child's play of work.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." At first we used to wash with Sunlight Soap in the old way as we did with common soap, but after we washed according to directions printed on the package, we would never wash the old way again. We first soap the articles, leave them to soak and then rub out lightly on the wash board. Not much to do and it makes the clothes white as snow.

WARSHIPS BY REQUEST.

Britain's Action Taken at Request of Russia and Japan.

London, July 8.—In the House of Commons yesterday, Premier Balfour, replying to a question of Gibson Bowles (Conservative), said that the action of Great Britain in sending warships to the Kommander Islands for the protection of the seals was taken at the request of both Russia and Japan. No jurisdiction would be exercised over Japanese vessels, but the Japanese Government had requested that any raid should be reported to it, and the Government of Japan would deal therewith. There was no breach of neutrality in Great Britain's action, and no international question could arise therefrom. Mr. Balfour, in the course of his answer, reminded his questioner that the Pribiloff Islands did not belong to Russia, as stated in his question, but to the United States.

MILITIA AND THE STRIKE.

Question of Precedence and the Quality of the Rations at Sydney.

Sydney, N.S., July 8.—The principal trouble at Sydney now is among the militia. Evidently some one blundered so seriously that the attention of the militia has been called to the scandal.

A rumor was circulated here yesterday that there was trouble in the military camp. A detachment of the 94th Highlanders was seen marching through the city on the way to the barracks. They were ordered in by the colonel in command. Several other companies were ordered out and had reached Grand Narrows, but were ordered back on the arrival of the Halifax companies. They were given preferences over the Highlanders, which caused bad feeling. The Halifax men are kicking at the rations. They say they are worse than the Canadians received in South Africa.

Newfoundland the Hitch.

London, July 8.—(C.A.P.)—The Paris correspondent of The Daily Mail wires that the hitch in the ratification of the Anglo-French convention is due to the fact that difficulties have arisen over the question of Newfoundland. France has little confidence in the good intentions of the Newfoundland Government towards the French fishermen. The Government of the Republic demands the free exercise of the rights of its citizens to fish in Newfoundland water and permission to obtain bait on the coast of the island. Lord Lansdowne and M. Cambon, each assisted by two technical advisers, are actively engaged in seeking a solution of this thorny question.

Sir Robert Bond expects to leave on the 20th inst. to return to Newfoundland. The Standard's Paris correspondent says no one in Paris impugns the complete good faith of the British Government, but Sir Robert Bond's remarks have aroused distrust regarding the possible action of the Newfoundland authorities, whose intentions are believed to be opposed to the views of the French Government.

To Bring "Canada" Back.

Montreal, Que., July 8.—Captain Knowlton, Chief Officer Milne and ten men will leave this week for England to bring back the Dominion Government fishery protection steamer "Canada," which was recently launched at the Vickers-Maxim Shipyards at Barrow, England. The steamer requires a crew of 60 men, and the required number will be made up in England simply to bring the vessel out. The permanent crew will be engaged on this side when the vessel returns. Captain Knowlton has hitherto been in command of the Government steamer "Osprey." It is as yet unknown who will command the steamer "Canada" permanently. Commodore Spain arrived in the city yesterday afternoon to make final arrangements for the party. The "Canada" is destined for the fishery protection and preventive work on the Nova Scotia coast.

Conservative Wins.

London, July 8.—A bye-election Wednesday at Chertsey, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John A. Fyler (Conservative), resulted in the election of Lord Bingham (Conservative), who polled 5,425 votes against 4,876 for Mr. Sadler, the Liberal candidate. The campaign was fought almost wholly on the question of admitting Chinese labor into the Transvaal.

THE READING CURE.

Books as a Medicine in Cases of Mental Distress.

One could wish that the doctor of medicine occasionally called in the doctor of letters in cases of mental distress. There is a tonic quality in books, properly chosen, which is as beneficent to the mind as change of scene or doses of flat water. People do not realize that the shortest way from the quagmire of the modern unrest is a total forgetfulness of self, and few know that the healthiest nepenthe is to be found in reading. The word disease signifies the negation of ease, and most forms of neurotic sickness are a deliberate effort on the part of the invalid to make himself uneasy. If doctors were to prescribe a course of Cervantes or Moliere or Balzac or Sterne or Dickens or even Shakespeare and as strictly enjoin thoroughness in this course as they would if the treatment were a matter of diet or medicine, many of their patients would begin to mend from the first moment that these magicians had given them a forgetfulness of self. It is true that Poe declares in the "Raven" "vainly I had sought to borrow from my books surcease of sorrow," but the opinion of the world is overwhelmingly against him. Good reading is a forgetfulness of cares, and, by the same token, it is an education in all those qualities which make life sweet and greatly to be desired. It is the valetudinarian who most constantly tells one, petulantly enough, that he never reads books.—London Globe.

Why Englishmen Like Punch.

Mr. Sydney Brooks, writing in Harper's Weekly, gives some of the reasons why Punch has so strong a hold on the affections of the British public and why it fails to appeal to Americans. The great virtue of Punch, he says, is its seriousness, in which opinion there will be many on this side of the water to agree with him. The great fault of the American comic papers, it appears, is that they are not serious enough. They are always making jokes. Punch, on the other hand, evades these mistakes, "because it is really not a humorous, but a critical journal. The American comic paper is like the professional funny man at a party. You listen and laugh for a while and then you want to murder him."

THE DRUGGIST RECOMMENDED IT

Because he Knew of Scores of Severe Cases of Piles that were Positively Cured by

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

The writer of the letter quoted below suffered dreadfully from itching protruding piles for six years.

Like hosts of others, he was only disappointed with the many treatments he tried, until his druggist told him of what Dr. Chase's Ointment was accomplishing as a cure for this wretched ailment.

Mr. G. W. Cornell, who is with the Shaw Milling Company, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"In justice to Suffering humanity I write to tell you of the world of good I obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. For about six years I was the victim of itching and protruding piles and was in dreadful agony day and night. Doctors were unable to help me and I could get nothing to relieve the suffering. I was about as miserable a creature as was to be found on the of the earth.

"One day my druggist, Mr. A. J. Greenwood, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I did and obtained relief from the first box and and complete cure with the second. My trouble was caused by heavy lifting, and I consider that Dr. Chase's Ointment would be cheap at fifty dollars a box in view of the good it did for me. A feeling of sympathy for others similarly affected prompts me to give this testimony."

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 3

When a Man's Bashful

By OTHO B. SENGA

Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure

Mr. William Stevenson, in the small side seat at the end of the car, waited for the girl. She came in at the next station. He feigned absorption in his newspaper, but really lost no movement of the graceful figure, and managed to get a glimpse of the fresh color in her cheek and the pretty wave of her dark hair.

"She grows prettier every day," he remarked to the advertising column, "and I'm a goner."

He looked down the aisle and encountered the gaze of the girl. Her quickly averted eyes and heightened color were balm to his soul.

"Allah be praised!" he whispered, seemingly scanning the paper again. "That's the first indication that my lady is aware of my existence and I've sat in this same seat and watched for her every morning for exactly 185 days. Hang the conventions! I'd like to walk up to her and say: "Madam, would you be kind enough to give me your address? I intend to call upon you to win your love and eventually to marry you.' I wonder what she'd say."

"What do you ride sideways for?" cried a voice at his elbow. "Why don't you sit over here?"

Billy made a quick resolve. Bob Tennessee knew almost every one in Boston and was as white souled and honorable as if his profession were preaching the gospel instead of detecting criminals.

"Bob, go out and speak to the brakeman. When you come back look at the lady in the fifth seat from the rear, on the left side of the car. See if you know her."

Bob complied unquestioningly, but when he re-entered the car and looked toward the seat indicated he hurried past the astonished Billy and took the seat beside the girl, who greeted him warmly.

When the train drew in at the South station Bob looked up and waved a farewell to Stevenson, who stalked grimly out to the street.

"Bob Tennessee is a blatherskite," he muttered savagely. "I'd like to punch his head!"

He was still chafing under his wrongs when Bob sauntered into his office.

"You did me a good turn this morning, old boy," said Bob blithely.

"Go away," growled Billy; "I'm too busy."

"Stop writing a minute," whispered Bob. "I want to tell you about her."

The pen went busily scratching on, and Billy made no reply.

"Her name is Murdock—Grace Murdock."

Mr. Stevenson is serenely unconscious.

"She is assistant editor on Brinsley's Magazine," pursued Bob. "I've known her since she was a child. At one time I was terribly sweet on her older sister, but," sighing, "she preferred Tom Trevors."

"Showed her good taste," interposed Billy vengefully.

"'Let dogs delight to bark an' bite,'" quoted Bob soothingly. "Only that I'm a second John Rogers I'd never tell you that I'm to be on that same train tomorrow morning, and she says I may introduce you."

"Oh, don't trouble," loftily. "I may take an earlier train tomorrow morning."

"That's gratitude for you!" wailed Bob.

"It doesn't at all matter," indifferently, "and if it did I might find some way to attract her attention."

"Oh, of course, you might," retorted Bob witheringly. "You might forge a fit and fall at her feet, frothing at the mouth! That would undoubtedly 'attract her attention.'"

But Stevenson was impregnable to his sarcasm, and Bob departed.

Billy was of many minds that day. He half resolved to take a different train and in some way to make the acquaintance of the girl without Bob's assistance. Then, remembering the dignity of her bearing, he shivered at his own audacious thought. Diffidence was his one weakness. How he longed to possess Bob Tennessee's ready ease and absolute assurance. The self conflict ended in his taking the usual train, weakly relying upon Bob's promised introduction.

When the girl came in, looking prettier than ever, he waited feverishly for Bob. A wave of indignation swept over him when no Bob appeared. His anger overcame his diffidence. Bob had taken unfair advantage of the situation. Even now he might be somewhere on the train, enjoying his friend's disappointment and discomfiture. This, thought spurred him on. Taking his cardcase from his pocket, he wrote on a card: "Our friend Bob promised to introduce me this morning. In his absence, may I not come and speak with you?"

A half dollar and a whispered instruction to the train boy, and the thing was done. Billy suffered agonies in a brief minute. His heart thumped against his ribs, and his No. 16 collar seemed four sizes too small. The girl read the pleading line, looked deliberately down the aisle and nodded brightly. He made his way to her side, feeling like a man just rescued from drowning.

"Isn't this a delightful morning, Mr. Stevenson?" as if they were old friends.

"You are very kind, indeed," irrelevantly. "I particularly wanted to meet you today, for I am going away tomorrow, and I want permission to write to you."

He took the plunge like a hero—not the slightest trace of the timidity that had given him the title of Bashful Billy among his college mates.

The girl caught her breath, but answered demurely, "I read all manuscripts that are sent to me."

"Yes, I know, but these will not be offered for publication, and I want something more than a printed slip in reply."

"And Bob calls this man bashful," thought the girl, but she only said, "I will consider the matter."

There was time for little else. The train came to a standstill, and Miss Murdock hurried away. Still, Billy felt that he had made good progress for a bashful man.

Late that afternoon Bob came hurrying into his office with apologies and protestations of regret.

"I had no chance to send a line to either you or Grace," he said, "and somehow, old fellow, you've made a good impression on her. She really wants to meet you."

"Never mind, Bob," answered Stevenson kindly. "I leave tomorrow for a three months' trip abroad. It will do just as well when I return."

"Oh, better, much better," returned Bob in a relieved tone. "She would forget all about you in that time. When you come back, I'll give you an introduction and a recommendation besides."

"You might put in the recommendations while I'm gone," poking his head into a closet, pretending to look for something, "and I say, Bob, make 'em strong. Tell all the good you know; the bad keep to yourself."

"No one could say anything but good of you, Billy," said Bob, with wondering earnestness, "and if you weren't so confoundedly bashful you'd say it for yourself."

Billy had a very positive conviction that Miss Murdock would not mention the circumstance of the morning to Bob, and subsequent events proved the conviction well founded.

From London and Edinburgh, from Paris and Berlin, came long, bright letters over which Miss Murdock laughed and cried by turns as the writer touched upon the varying phases of life seen from the viewpoint of a keen understanding and a quick sympathy with humanity.

Her brief replies were not encouraging, but Billy's bashfulness was exceeded by his tenacity, and a foothold once gained he kept. He was in Berlin when he received a note that electrified him. "My vacation begins just as yours draws to a close. I leave Boston on the Commonwealth. We will likely pass each other in midocean."

"Indeed we won't," exclaimed Billy. "I hereby vote myself an extension of time. I'll cable to the firm, and when the Commonwealth reaches Liverpool Billy will be on the dock."

And he was.

She saw him, towering above the crowd, and waved her hand.

He had no intention of doing anything so precipitate, but when he saw the earnest face turned so joyfully toward him something sprang up in his heart and jumped into his throat, and, making a hurried dash through the crowd, he caught her in his arms and kissed her.

"I couldn't help it, Grace," he whispered. "I love you, you know."

For a single second she faltered, aghast at the man's passionate utterance and at the publicity of her position. Then, womanlike, she rose to the occasion. "Have you a carriage waiting?" she asked calmly. "Let us get out of the crowd."

Seated in the carriage, she held him back from her with both hands pressing against his breast and gazed long and earnestly into his eyes. He knew his cause was won and remained silent. She dropped her hands into his and smiled tenderly, "For a bashful man, Billy, you certainly are"— But he gave her no opportunity to finish the sentence.

Billy cabled the news of his engagement to Bob Tennessee, who spent days in fruitless conjecture.

"I give it up," he said finally, "but for unparalleled nerve Billy the Bashful may 'go up head.'"

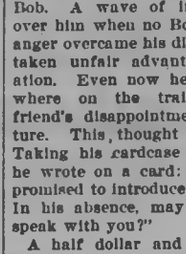
OSTRICH LOGIC.

"When I can't see danger there is no danger." That's the logic of the ostrich which hides its head and exposes its body to the hunter. There are not a few people who seem to have gone to the ostrich to learn logic. The most dangerous enemies of humanity are the enemies which can't be seen, the disease breeding microbes which infect the blood. It is harder to get the microbe out of the blood than to keep it out, but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does both, by purifying the blood and then keeping it pure.



If there are eruptions on the skin, boils, pimples, sores or other signs of impure blood, use Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which will purify the blood and cure the eruptions which come from it.

"My blood was all out of order, and I had to go to the doctor," writes Mrs. James R. Moss, New London Stahly Co., N.C. "He gave me medicine which helped me for a short time. In the winter of 1895 I got worse than I had ever been. My tonsils were enlarged and my neck swollen all out of shape; my throat was sore and I could not cure it. My husband went for the doctor, but he gave me no encouragement. He helped me a little, but it did not last long. He attended me for twelve months, when I heard of a lady whose condition was like mine, who was taking your medicine and was getting well. So I secured some of the medicine and began taking it. In one week I was able to do my cooking. When I began taking the medicine I could sit up only a few minutes at a time, and I could rest or sleep only a little while at a time. My throat was so sore at times I could not even swallow sweet milk, and my tonsils were full of little eating sores. My left side was swollen out of shape and I could hardly get my breath. The doctor said I would not get well, but three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, three bottles of his 'Pellets,' three bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and the use of salt water did the work and cured me."

Old Age a Fiction.

The time was, and not so long ago either, when men of sixty-five and seventy regarded themselves and were regarded by others as having reached that point when they should be willing to retire from the activities of life. Our conception of the man of seventy-five only a few years ago was that of a white haired patriarch who found pleasure only in reminiscences, the sectarian weeklies, checkers, dominos and his grandchildren. But the times have changed. The average man of seventy-five today is neither bent, feeble nor senile. He has not retired from the activities of life that he is aware of, nor has he any idea of retiring. Much less is he inclined to surrender to the younger people around him any of the responsibilities or pleasures of existence. He reads the sporting columns, plays golf, roots for his favorite baseball club and may perchance take a flier on the races. Moreover, he is if anything inclined to be more attentive to the ladies than he was at sixty, at forty or at thirty.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Wonderful.

Another Puzzle.

The Democratic House of Lords.

To think what time was wasted in arguing about the house of lords, Tories saying it ought to be preserved because it was clever and Radicals saying it ought to be destroyed because it was stupid, and all the time no one saw that it was right because it was stupid, because the chance mob of ordinary men thrown there by accident of blood were a great democratic protest against the lower house, against the eternal insolence of the aristocracy of talents.—Chesterton's "Napoleon of Notting Hill."

Little Luxuries the Best.

After all, it is a wide question whether the little luxuries enjoyed by the poorer classes and which consume their scant fortunes do not, in the long run, contribute more to the happiness of the human race than do the untold millions of the earth's money kings.

A SPECTATOR ON FRIDAY'S GAME

Some Common Sense Statements From One Who Saw It.

Peterborough, July 5th, 1904.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—After witnessing the game of ball last Friday and reading the account copied from the Lindsay Post, I thought that some one more able than I, would take up the matter to show the public how the wind blows and give to those who were not at the game and had read those cowardly falsehoods a true statement of the facts. In the first place, the fact that Lindsay lost, would be explanation enough to anyone who has had anything to do with them in baseball, lacrosse or hockey. I have been connected with sport for a number of years in this neighborhood and I have yet to meet as poor losers. I thought they died hard and cowardly last summer, when the T. A. S. beat them on their own grounds, after they had blamed their defeat upon the referee, the bad grounds, the rough players and every thing they could think of at the Lakefield picnic, but this whine beats anything I have ever heard in the line. We expected them to cry if they lost and give all kinds of excuses to their friends, but we think that we have a right to expect that they do it in a decent manner. Now, Mr. Editor, I was on the grounds from the start to finish of the game and I never heard one insulting word used by a spectator to one of the Lindsay players. I have seen their catcher play many a game and where ever he goes he is roasted. He brings it on himself by his unnecessary interruptions, and if he gets jollied, it is his own fault. The Post man says that their boys did not play good ball because the people teased them. Did this catcher let that third strike go by because the crowd teased him or did he throw wild to the bases for the same reason. I think not. For one thing he has lots of nerve. I must say that Lindsay's playing was a disappointment to a great many Peterborough people. I was sorry to see some of our Peterborough players rush on the field at the time of the display of blackguardism by that second baseman. It would be better to let the manager settle those matters. The Post says there was no cause for the trouble. Well, ask any of the players and they will tell you that blocking a base runner in a dirty manner is an old trick of his and that he does not play clean ball and they did not feel like standing for it in their own town, as they often have when away. As for the umpire, I cannot see where they have a kick. Of course we know they don't like Cobourg. For the same reason that they don't like Peterborough any more. Cobourg beat them when they thought they had a dead sure thing, and some of their tin horn backers lost some coin. Lindsay's team is playing on last year's reputation, which was fairly good, but how did they gain it. A Peterborough boy, whom Manager Whitcroft used to lend them, gained it for them. They seem to forget that along with a bill for expenses for that boy's services. Of course, Fred is unpopular if the Lindsay Post man does not like him. A short time ago they were throwing all kinds of boquets at him, but they were winning then. So there was not enough ladies at the game to suit this scribe. Well, perhaps they did not know he was in town. I am sure if they did, the rain and threatening weather would not keep them at home. Was that another reason why they could not play their game? Now, some of our ladies are great teasers than the boys. We don't condemn the town of Lindsay because some young men do not behave in a becoming manner. You will find hoodlums in all towns and I have all kinds of respect for the town and its fine people, but it is too bad that their sporting organizations have not a more truthful champion. Such insulting abuse, even when the truth, is cowardly, and catering to the hoodlum element.

Shares sold by young women	215 75

Other subscriptions have also been promised which make the total up to $20,071.20.

This does not, however, represent the proceeds from a complete canvass of the town. Many friends of the Association have still to be visited, and consequently the balance of the list will be published later. $215.75 represents the amount actually handed in by the young women, through the selling of shares. A good deal more has been promised and will doubtless be handed in shortly. The young women are to be highly commended for the interest and energy which they have shown in the raising of funds for their new building, and this deep interest on their part should be one of the strongest argument for the new building already begun.

People are Like the Lift Lock

We all have our ups and downs—each heart knoweth its own joy and sorrow. We should do what we can to lift one another to a level where straight sailing and sunshine brightens their paths. We are continually working to do our part—as we sail through this life—by helping each one into the MONEY-SAVING BOAT.

If you have not put yourself in our way do so at once. We will not run you down, but will save you (money), thereby lifting you to that level where by your savings, you will be able to enjoy more of the good things as we are sailing along.

We have had twenty-two years sailing in Peterborough and, like the town, our business has grown to a width like the wideness of the sea. It is just such unparalleled advantages mentioned which is the mighty factor in creating public interest and has helped to make our business what it is to-day.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR SUCCESSFUL FAIR.

Meeting of the Directors of Peterborough Fair Held Last Night.

Last night the Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition held a meeting in Secretary Wilmot's office, and the result was most satisfactory. The different committees presented their reports, and from them it was learned that satisfactory progress is being made, and the present indications are that the fair of 1904 will eclipse all former efforts.

All those who were present at the meeting were enthusiastically interested in the fair, and all are working energetically for its success.

The Black Watch Band has been engaged to give a concert on the night of Sept. 26th, which in itself will be a unique attraction.

A DECISIVE BATTLE IS NOW IMMINENT

The Russian Authorities Believe in an Early Engagement.

JAP ADVANCE ALL ALONG LINE.

Gen. Oku Occupies Kaiping After Severe Fighting — Persistent Report that Japs, Having 21 Warships Engaged, Were Defeated in Great Naval Battle at Port Arthur—Heavy Firing Heard.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—With the return of three days' fine weather, drying the roads at the theatre of war, the military authorities here are once more inclined to believe in the probability of heavy fighting and even in the possibility of a general engagement.

All Along the Line.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—A special despatch from Newchwang, dated Thursday, says Gen. Kuroki is advancing all along the line, and adds that Japanese officers are organizing Chinese bandit bands throughout the Liao Valley for an attack on Mukden.

Advices state that the Baltic squadron will sail from Cronstadt, July 28, under sealed orders. Complete mystery enshrouds its destination.

After Severe Fighting.

Tokio, July 9.—After severe fighting Gen. Oku occupied Kaiping yesterday.

Japs Defeat Reported.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—It is reported in a special despatch from Liaoyang, under Thursday's date, that a persistent rumor is current there to the effect that a naval engagement has occurred at Port Arthur, in which twenty-one Japanese warships participated, resulting in a Russian victory. A similar report was current at Liaoyang July 5, the location of the engagement then being given as northward of Gensan, Corea.

Heavy Firing Heard.

Che Foo, July 9.—Junks which passed through the Gulf of Pechili on Thursday, July 7, report having heard heavy firing at sea all that afternoon.

Hand to Hand Fights.

Liaoyang, July 9.—There have been repeated skirmishes during the past few days at Dalin Pass, some of them being hand-to-hand encounters. The Japanese have a tremendous force east of Liaoyang, and they evidently want to force a big battle before the rains set in.

Japs' General Advance.

Gen. Sakharoff, commander of the eastern army, in a long despatch to the general staff, dated Thursday, reports outpost skirmishes over a wide territory throughout July 5 and 6, which indicate a general advance of the Japanese, who are driving back the Russian advance posts. Sakharoff says the Russian losses during the fighting of July 6 have been definitely ascertained, but it is known that two officers and fifteen men were killed or wounded. He says:

"In general we observed July 6 that the enemy was taking the offensive simultaneously along his whole front extending from the seashore as far as the Valley of the Chinchan River. On the morning of July 7 a vast chain of the enemy was discovered in the neighborhood of Siaokhetzza. At 8 a.m., July 7, the enemy occupied the heights near Baositchja. No rains have fallen recently."

Japs Had 700 Casualties.

Liaoyang, July 9.—In the recent night attack at Nolgan the Japanese lost 200 killed and 500 wounded.

Gen. Kuroki, talking to a Russian officer, who had been taken prisoner, said the Japanese intend to take possession of all Southern Manchuria, establishing themselves at Port Arthur and Yinkow (the port of Newchwang), which it is proposed to fortify, garrison with large bodies of troops and supply with long range artillery.

If the Russians recaptured these places, Gen. Kuroki declared, it would be at the cost of an enormous amount of money and 300,000 fresh troops from Europe.

Demonstration South.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—The war office confirms the reports of the Japanese advance toward Kaichou, as reported in these despatches Thursday, but is inclined to regard the movement as a demonstration south, while changing the disposition of troops to make an attack elsewhere, danger is considered to be more likely from the direction of Ta or Fenshui Passes, although there is no sign of a movement in force there. The advance on Kaichou extends over a front of fifteen miles, and includes a force of about 15,000 men. The Japanese centre is at Taishashan, on the Choui River, eight miles southwest of Kaichou. Constant skirmishing with Generals Samsonoff and Chirikoff is occuring as the Japanese move forward along the railroad and from the Siuyen mountains.

The military expert of the Russkyia Viedomosti believes Gen. Kuropatkin has now decided to accept a general engagement near Liaoyang, wherefor he is not offering strong resistance to the advance of the Japanese from Fengwangcheng, desiring to draw them on to his own selected ground.

EMPIRE AND COLONIES.

Mr. Chamberlain Speaks of Their Relations —The Colonies Must Be Brought to Empire's Councils.

London, July 9.—(C.A.P.)—Mr. Chamberlian was the guest of 200 Unionist members of Parliament and 17 others at the Hotel Cecil last night.

Mr. Chamberlain, who was frantically cheered, said he was a fiscal reformer because he was an Imperialist. On that reform depended the maintenance of the British Empire. His belief in free trade was shaken two years before when at the colonial office he learned how closely the question affected the Empire. No other nation had to grapple with such an infinite variety of problems. The colonial administration of the early years of this country would determine the future of the British Empire.

The colonies were alive to the situation. They never want a suitor pay them court. He would urge upon the colonies as well as upon the motherland the absolute necessity of taking the present creative time to lay the foundations of the Empire. The colonies must be brought to our councils. Sentiment without organization was nothing better than courage without discipline.

The present position of the Empire was the same as that of the United States immediately after the declaration of independence, when it became necessary to bind together the different colonies separated from England. The step was achieved slowly in the face of great opposition. There was nothing sordid in commercial union as declared by the leader of the Opposition. It was more sordid to let individuals shift for themselves.

When the time arrived the Unionist party would pull together.

Joseph Chamberlain yesterday, on the anniversary of his birth, was the guest of 200 members of the House of Commons in sympathy with his fiscal policy. In the course of a long speech, Mr. Chamberlain said he had not wavered in his conviction that the policy he advocated was necessary in order to prevent the loss of British trade and prestige. He said that the British people should follow the example of the United States and make a united Empire out of scattered sister states.

France Is Alarmed.

London, July 9.—(C. A. P.)—The French Government is said to be much concerned over the serious proportions attained by the emigration of Breton peasants to Canada. An effort will be made to divert the tide to Africa.

THE "SOO" INDUSTRIES.

Certain Announcements That Have Gladdened the Hearts of the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, July 9.—Cornelius Shields named as manager for the Lake Superior Company and the steel plant to be started at once are announcements which gladdened the hearts of Sooites yesterday.

The directors, who arrived here last Sunday and have spent their time up to Wednesday night looking over the properties, have been holding business meetings Thursday and yesterday.

The appointment of Mr. Shields was decided upon yesterday and confirmed last evening. He will take charge at once and will have instructions to operate practically all the plants, but definite plans as regards that have not yet been announced by the directors, although one stated yesterday morning that the steel plant, which is by far the most important of all, will be put in operation as soon as men and material can be procured, which ought not to be very long.

The sulphide and the ground wood pulp mills, the Algoma iron works, the Helen mine, the charcoal plant and the sawmill are among those to be operated.

President Warren and the directors leave for the east this noon.

IN NIAGARA'S FATAL WHIRL

Albert Levine's Magnificent Struggle With Death.

GAINED ON RUSHING WATERS

With a Superhuman Effort He Managed to Reach the Rocks After Heroic Struggle With Forceful Niagara For Over a Mile—Exhausted, However, He Only Let Go to Go to the Grim Destroyer.

Niagara Falls, July 9.—A most thrilling and fatal accident occurred at the crib-work of the Toronto Power Company's works at 4.30 yesterday afternoon. As one of the cribmen, named Albert Levine, was walking along the side of the crib next the riverside at a point near the lower end he stumbled, and, losing his balance, fell in the rushing water, and in a second was swept out of reach of anyone on the crib. He was seen to struggle hard against the great force of deep, tumbling and rushing waters that was hurling him with great rapidity to the abyss of the Horseshoe Falls. About a mile below he seemed to be gaining ground on the rushing water, and foot by foot he seemed to be getting closer to the shore, and by the time he reached a point near the intake of the city waterworks pumping station, in his superhuman struggles, managed to reach the rocks, and, grappling them and partially raising himself out of the water, he fell back completely exhausted before the eyes of several people who were unable to render him any assistance. The rushing water in a few seconds swept his exhausted form over the falls, a few feet below. Levine came here from St. Andrews, Argentine, Que., where his mother resides.

Drowned While Bathing.

St. John, N.B., July 9.—James Malcolm, son of Andrew Malcolm of St. John, and a young lad named George Usher of Grand Bay, N. B., were drowned at the latter place yesterday morning while bathing. Both bodies were recovered. Malcolm was 22 years of age, and studying for the Presbyterian ministry.

Lad Drowned at Toronto.

Toronto, July 9.—The Don added another to its long list of victims yesterday evening. Ernest Albert Cooper, a lad of 17, living at 189 Bleecker street, went with a number of companions to a point immediately to the north of Winchester street bridge for a plunge. The place is the recognized "swimming hole." Cooper went into the water and swam with the rest of the bathers for a short time. At this point the stories of his comrades become conflicting. It was over an hour after the first plunge before they missed him and instituted a search. A young man named Alfred Wright finally found the body on the river bottom. An hour's work at resuscitation methods failed, and the body was then taken to the home of the lad's father. No one of his friends can give a clear idea of how the lad met his end.

Seven Blown to Pieces.

Sudbury, Ont., July 9.—Seven men killed and two men injured is the result of a premature dynamite explosion upon the new C.P.R. Sudbury-Toronto line. The accident occurred on the afternoon of the 6th inst., about four miles south of Romford, at which point the proposed line joins the main line of the C.P.R., a few miles east of Sudbury. The dead are three Austrains, three Finlanders and the walking boss, H. Poole, of Wakefield, Que. The bodies of the killed save Poole were literally blown to pieces. A foreigner named McIntyre and a laborer were badly injured, but will recover. It is difficult to get authentic information as to the cause of the explosion, as all immediately concerned in the work are dead.

Brakeman's Horrible Death.

Hamilton, July 9.—George B. Rogers, a G.T.R. brakeman, met with a horrible death last night. He left Hamilton on an east-bound freight at 10.50 p.m. When the train arrived at Stony Creek he was missing. His comrades came back along the line and at 1 o'clock yesterday morning found his mutilated body on the tracks under the James street bridge. It is supposed he fell off his train, was stunned and was run over by a yard engine. He lived at 154 Sophia street.

Parkhill Girl's Death.

Detroit, Mich., July 9.—A girl whose name is said to be Gertie Cays, but who lived under an assumed name, died Thursday afternoon at the Emergency Hospital from the effects of a heavy dose of morphine, taken, it was supposed, as the result of a quarrel with a soldier lover from Fort Wayne. Just as the girl was being removed from her room to the hospital a postman delivered a letter from the girl's parents, who live near Parkhill, Ont., asking her to come home, as her sister was dying and her mother was sick. Her body was taken to a morgue and her parents communicated with.

FROM PETERBOROUGH TO THE HIMALAYAS

Interesting Letter from Mr. Walter Turnbull.

An Alliance Missionary Writes Home—A Journey Vividly Described.

The Examiner takes pleasure in publishing to-day a letter written by Mr. Walter Turnbull, who is well known to Peterborough citizens. Mr. Turnbull is now engaged in missionary work in India, with his brother Louis, and the letter gives an interesting description of the scenery in the mountainous portion of the country in the north —

Simla, May 7th. 1904.

I am at last settled at Mountain Home in the Himalayas and as I write I am enjoying the loveliest view I have ever seen. I thought that Nyack and Italy were perfection but they are like little ant hills compared to this place. But I must begin at the first and tell you in order all I have been doing in the two weeks since I last wrote.

We had a great time getting off from Mah, for the people were so sorry to see us go and they all came around to say good-bye. We had to address over fifty envelopes to our present home, and may expect to receive that many letters from our people. All the arrangements for carrying on the work are quite satisfactory and we need not worry about what will happen while we are away. The night before we left one of our men found two notorious thieves prowling around outside our compound. He held them up with a stick and called us. We could not prosecute them for they were not inside, although there was no doubt as to their intentions, so we gave them a good talking to and let them go.

In the morning all our people saw us off at the station and it made it seem like leaving home to say good-bye to them. All asked us to pray for them and promised to pray for us every day.

We reached Ahmedabad about eight in the morning and caught a train for the north that left an hour later. We got our tickets up to Kalka at the foot of the hills for eleven rupees although it is farther than from New York to Toronto. We were third class, of course, but were very comfortable for we had a compartment to ourselves. I say we were comfortable in comparison to what we might have been if crowded in with a lot of natives, but our journey was not for pleasure. The temperature was 118 in the shade, and a dust storm drove the fine sand through the chinks in our carriage and covered us from head to foot. At Delhi we had to wait all day to make connection and here we were very comfortable for there was a fine large station with a bath, punkah and easy chairs. We did not go sight seeing about the city, although there are a great many interesting sights in connection with the meeting and the old Mohammedan Mogul Emperors of North India. The remainder of our journey through Umballa to Kalka was uneventful for there was nothing of beauty or interest in the whole journey. In fact from Ahmedabad to Kalka was like passing through a great desert, for the whole plain was as brown as a roasted potato and nothing could be seen except sand, hard dry clay and rocky hills in the distance. The stations were oases, for they were surrounded with trees and flowers that bloomed as though spring had come, for they were kept well watered. After the rainy season this wilderness is a garden for the grass and shrubs over the whole plain springs into life and soon make up for the time lost during the heat of summer.

At Kalka we got our first glimpse of the Himalayas and at first they looked disappointing for they were very bare and brown like the plains. The little mountain train was waiting for us and we examined it with interest for it is certainly one of the wonders of the world. The rails are not three feet apart and the cars and engine are made to match. Five little coaches and an engine are its sum total. The engine carries its coal on its back and the coaches could easily be put into one of our furniture vans. But it is a well built little train and has powerful brakes which are very necessary for if it once got beyond control it would come down the mountain like lightning and at some of the dreadful turns would jump into the valley, hundreds of feet below.

We started from Kalka and completed the journey to Simla, a distance of sixty miles in about seven hours. We could have gone faster but I for one am glad we didn't for it was trying enough to see the engine trying to catch its rear car, like a kitten after its tail, while we were balancing on a brick arch between two mountains, and leaning over so far that one could see nothing out of the window but the rough rocks away down in the valley. Sometimes we crept along the face of a cliff where you could touch rough shaky rock on one side and on the other the mountain fell sheer away without so much as a railing along the edge. If a stone should become dislodged and fall on the track there would be a great time for the engineer could never see a hundred yards in front of him, except on a few straight runs. They cannot get white men to take charge of the engine on this road for they see and know the danger so well that they have to give it up after several trips. The natives don't mind so much for they don't realize the danger. They are great cowards when any danger is in sight, but so long as the risk is only something vague and indifinite they are quite content to work for the extra pay.

The nearer we approach to Simla the grander became the scenery until at last it surpassed anything I had ever imagined. The hills became covered with trees and quite close to Simla the majority of these were covered with bunches of beautiful flowers. A few miles from our journey's end we caught sight of the town across a great valley. On the left was the Viceroy's lodge, which is like a beautiful castle set on the extreme summit of a peak. To the right lay the town which rose up in tier upon tier of beautiful houses and fine hotels which were half hidden among the green trees. On the extreme right was the highest peak of all which was one mass of bright green to the very top. In the valley below were many shoulders of the mountain running out into plain view. Some were terraced and looked like broad flights of steps leading up to the town. Some were green and others were bare rock. In the valley and on the lower hills were a few narrow fields of yellow barley and green wheat, which resembled nothing so much as a large patchwork quilt laid out on the side of a mound.

At the station Josephine was waiting for us and we were glad of her presence for more reasons than one; because there are no wagons of any sort here and it was a problem to get ourselves and luggage to Mountain Home, some three miles across hills and valleys. The problem was solved, however, by hiring coolies to carry our luggage on their heads. We had a trunk that was filled full of clothing and books, and must have weighed over a hundred pounds, but for twelve cents a man carried it on his head all the way and felt well repaid.

There are seven other Alliance Missionaries here now besides ourselves. They are all ladies, however, and I will be lonesome, no doubt. This house is situated about two miles from the centre of Simla and is entirely by itself as it stands on an isolated peak, which is only connected with the other hills by a neck or natural bridge. On every side except one the decent is very steep and we can look down upon the people far below, and even on the vultures, which are soaring high above their nests on some smaller peak, and yet we are higher than they. As I look up from my writing now I can see away across the deep valley to the opposite mountain, which rises to about the same height as our peak. On our side of the slope some men are quarrying and they look like monkeys at play, although the sound of falling rocks comes floating up quite clearly. In the centre of the valley on a small plateau is the palace of an Indian Rajah, and it looks like a model worked in clay, for every path and tree is plainly visible. To the left a broad valley runs away into the distance, with just the shadow of peaks on the horizon. In the background rising above all else are the beautiful snow capped ranges of the Himalayas proper. We are only in the foot hills and these snow capped peaks are one hundred and fifty miles distant. If the foot hills are so grand, what must be the beauty of the real mountains! They might be mistaken for clouds on the horizon only that they are always the same. Our rooms overhang the mountain side and if anything were to drop out of the window it would never be found again. My floor is made of stones built into the solid rock and I like to feel good substantial material beneath my feet as I look down, down at the birds which think they are soaring so high.

What a rest it is to just breathe this air. On the plains I always felt dull on rising and had to take a good while to wake up thoroughly. But this morning I felt as fresh as a daisy and after a long walk around the mountain in the cool breeze, I returned with an appetite which has long been a stranger to me. I have to stop writing every little while to take a deep breath and catch a glimpse of the distant snow.

—At the Police Court yesterday, a drunk and disorderly was fined $2. A case of assault was dismissed. The evidence of the plaintiff and defendant was very conflicting.

OUT OF ORDER

The great evils which are often wrought by small ills can be no more clearly and effectively demonstrated than by the troubles of an automobile driver. How well he knows the disastrous effect of negligence or failure to give proper care to each and every detail. A single small part out of order affects the entire mechanism.

And so it is with the infinitely more delicate and intricate mechanism of the human frame. Affected kidneys put the entire system out of order. They are the direct cause of lame back, sick headache, sallow or deathly pale complexion loss of memory, loss of ambition, dyspepsia, melancholy, tired feeling, swollen joints, puffed face, rheumatism in any of its various forms, loss of appetite, and many more troubles. Have you any of these symptoms?

Bu-Ju, The Kidney Pill, will set you right. It will cure you. Begin today.

MR. J. C. BROWN AS ARBITRAITOR.

Fixes School Rates in Norwood and Asphodel Sections.

(Norwood Register)

The assessors for the municipalities of Norwood and Asphodel, Messrs. C. O'Rielly and M. R. Elmhirst, having failed to agree as regards the adjustment of rates in the Norwood School Section, the County Inspector, Mr. J. C. Brown of Peterborough, was called upon (as provided by the School Act) to decide the matter. The parties interested met on Tuesday afternoon at the Town Hall when an award, fixing the rate for the next five years was signed by Messrs. Brown and Elmhirst, Mr. O'Rielly being opposed. The award fixes the percentage as follows: Norwood, 74 p. c. and Asphodel 26 p. c. on the assessed value of all the rateable property within the section. There appears to be a great deal of dissatisfaction in regard to this matter and it is claimed by persons who have looked into the matter that the property in that part of the school section in the township is assessed far below its cash value and not in proportion to property in other parts of the township and there is some talk of resorting to legal proceedings to have the matter more satisfactorily adjusted.

DECEASED PAINTER WAS WELL LIKED

The last issue of the Typographical Journal has the following:—

On May 25th, the earthly career of David Jamieson, for seven years on the Inland Sentinel staff, at Kamloops, B. C., was brought to a close. The deceased, a native of Peterborough, Ont., had worked on the Vancouver World and News-Advertiser and other newspapers at New Westminster and Vancouver. In 1897 he came to Kamloops to join the sentinel staff, and shortly afterwards was made foreman, a position he occupied to the time of his fatal illness. He was nearly forty-nine years of age and leaves two married sisters and a brother, all resident in Ontario.

"Dave" as the deceased was familiarly called and spoken of by all who knew him, young and old alike, was an industrious workman, loyal to the core to the office for which he worked, and possessed of many sterling qualities. The funeral, under the direction of the typographical union, was largely attended. The trades and labour council of Vancouver passed the following resolutions:—

Whereas, The Vancouver trades and labour council has received information from Kamloops of the passing away of David Jamieson, the former secretary and ex-delegate of this body, and former resident, secretary, and now active member of Vancouver Typographical Union No. 226; and,

Whereas, The conservatism and fairness which characterized all acts of our late brother endeared him to those with whom he was associated, and particularly to union printers throughout the country;

Resolved, That the Vancouver trades and labour council testify to its respect for former Secretary David Jamieson, as a man who as a staunch unionist and a devoted friend in the cause of humanity.

Resolved, That this council tenders to the relatives of the late lamented brother its sympathy, and that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to them, spread on the minutes, and published in the daily press.

"I continued its use for five weeks, and am glad to say that my complete restoration to health was a happy surprise to myself as well as to my friends."—Anna Prescott.

Peruna a True Friend to Women.

"As a tonic for a worn out system, Peruna stands at the head in my estimation. Its effects are truly wonderful in rejuvenating the entire system. I keep it on hand all the time, and never have that 'tired feeling,' as a few doses always makes me feel like a different woman."—Florence Allan.

An Encouraging Message

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the torture due to female troubles and the consequent despondency and mental agony almost to the point of despair, and I have been restored from this condition to a state of vigorous health, and to the happy, exhilerating frame of mind which accompanies physical well-being. This change has been brought about wholly by the use of ORANGE LILY.

In addition, I have had the privilege and pleasure of inducing multitudes of other suffering women to give ORANGE LILY a trial, and have received thousands of enthusiastic acknowledgements of the blessings it has brought to them. The following is a sample:

Truro, N. S., April 5, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—Your very kind letter was received yesterday. In reply to your question about my health, I am thankful to say that I am very well. As I have never given you a statement of my case you may be interested in it.

For several years I have suffered untold agony. This suffering was continuous, but I would have violent attacks every few weeks, each attack lasting several days. The first Sunday in November, I felt the pain increasing and so did not go to prayers. The rest of the family did go and soon after the forcing down pains seized me and I had to remain on the floor until their return. I was in great pain all night, and was very sick for a whole week.

Then Mrs. L. came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine. I got my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to write myself. (My doctor could do nothing for me.) I have used 5 boxes of ORANGE LILY, have had three months of good rest, and am now well, never better in my life. I have not had the old pains since. I often ask my husband if it is myself that is going around and doing my own work. I can scarcely believe it. It brings tears of joy to my eyes. I could shout it to all the world. I cannot speak enough in its praise.

Your friend, MRS. E. H. F.

Receiving as I do, dozens of such reports each day, I felt impelled to make known to my suffering sisters the merits of ORANGE LILY. It differs from the other so-called remedies in that it is not taken internally. It is a strictly local treatment, and is applied directly to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissues, expelling the stagnant foreign matter which has been irritating the membrane and oppressing the nerves, and a growing feeling of physical and mental relief is noticeable almost from the start. It is a positive, scientific remedy, and even if you use no more than the Free trial Treatment you will be very materially benefitted.

FREE TRIAL OFFER.

I want every reader of this who suffers in any way from painful monthly periods, irregularities leucorrhoea, inflammation or congestion of the womb, pains in the back, etc., to send me their addresses, and I will forward at once, without charge, 10 days' treatment. If your case is not far advanced it may entirely cure you, and in any event it will do you much good. I am so earnest in making this statement, and so positive that it is true, that I trust every sufferer who reads this notice will take advantage of my offer and get cured at home, without a doctor's bill.

MRS. F. C. CURRAH. WINDSOR, ONT.

PETERBOROUGH'S HYDRAULIC LIFT LOCK

after year, to be able to bring in their coal at 75 cents less a ton. In another part of this issue is an article setting forth the immense gain the opening of the canal would bring to one of our largest industries and the most important to the town, in relation to the farming community, the Cereal Works. When in full operation these works will consume about thirty or thirty-five million bushels of oats. Water freight rates on raw material and finished products would improve the profits of this company at both ends. To emphasize this point a statement of the President of the Lakefield Cement Company may be quoted, to the effect that the railways take in the way of freight charges, the extent of a quarter of the profit of production.

The same applies to other important milling industries in the town. The McAllister Milling Company, W. H. Meldrum's mills (present and prospective), and the Central Milling Company. In fact the prospects are favorable for making Peterborough a great milling centre for the conversion of the wheat of the North West into export flour similar to other points in the province further west.

The opening of the Lift Lock giving direct connection from Peterborough with the interior of the country will admit of the bringing in of cordwood at a figure much reduced from the famine prices that now prevail. Even in the matter of building stone the town stands to gain much. The supply of field stone for building purposes is about exhausted. Bringing quarry stone from Longford is at present hampered by almost prohibitory carrying charges. With the canal open as it is now with the lift lock in operation stone can be bought at low freight figures, and the present almost prohibitory prices of building material will be lessened to the extent of reduced freight on building stone. Besides there are fine lime stone deposits on the shores of Stony and other lakes which with the canal open to Peterborough can be opened and profitably worked.

Another Important Result of Canal Completion.

ANOTHER incidental advantage of the completion of the canal will be the water power development, it will make possible or probable. It has been urged that this consideration localizes the importance of the canal. But it is merely a consequence, not a causative factor in connection with the enterprise; the canal is built, and in the process local advantages and power possibilities are created and should be utilized and appreciated. The object of the construction of a railway is not to benefit certain towns or villages it may touch; the important benefit they receive is however not to be ignored.

Briefly considered the possible and probable effect of canal completion upon water power and electrical development are illustrated by what has already been accomplished in Peterborough, which has now the cheapest electrical power and light supply in the country. From the dams, principally created by canal construction, power has been developed to a considerable extent: To a folder issued by the town authorities, credit is due for statistics which show at a glance what is contended for in this brief article. The following figures showing the present effective power of these dams :

American Cereal Co	5000	H. P.
Auburn Woollen Co	2500	"
Peterborough Town Dam	1000	"
Canadian General Electric Co	2500	"
Otonabee Power Co. No. 5 on T. C.	2500	"
Dam No. 4 on Trent Canal	1000	"
Dam No. 3 on Trent Canal	1000	"
Dam No. 2 on Trent Canal	750	"
Lock's Bridge Dam	500	"
Burleigh Falls	3500	"
	20250	"

Each of the developed dams has a surplus of power not yet used. This surplus power, and the power not yet developed, gives 10250 horse power available, as follows :

American Cereal Co	2000	H. P.
Auburn Co	1000	"
Peterborough Town	500	"
Otonabee Power Co	1000	"
Dam No. 4	1000	"
Dam No. 2	750	"
Lock's Bridge Dam	500	"
Burleigh Falls	3500	"

In addition to this available power, plans have been made, and steps are being taken, to conserve in the lakes of the north the waters that rush down in the spring at the time of high water. When this work is done the river will have a steadier flow, and the minimum flow will be immensely increased, thus increasing the minimum power effective at each dam. With this increase the total available power will be augmented to about 40,000 horse power. A diagram showing the situation of actual and possible power and sites will be found herewith.

These figures are not submitted to show to what extent Peterborough is benefitted, but to demonstrate what possibilities can be created throughout the route of the canal by its completion. When we reflect that from the summit waters of the system—Balsam Lake—there is a fall of 600 feet southerly to Lake Ontario, and northerly a fall of 258 feet, an aggregate of 858 feet difference in level; and when we consider that in a distance of only nine or ten miles of developed area, the water power possibilities amount to at least 40,000 horse power, we see what effects in the way of industrial development can be made to result from power capabilites distributed through an extensive region possessing raw resources for extensive manufacturing operations.

Concluding Observations.

In the foregoing articles an attempt has been made to show, first, the immense value and importance of the Trent Waterway as a national transportation route, the prime consideration that should influence its completion ; secondly, the subordinate and incidental but proportionately important benefits the canal will confer upon the district of its route ; thirdly, the great advantages derived by the town of Peterborough ; and fourthly, the immense power possibilities it creates, with their influence in promoting the development of industrial enterprises. No attempt has been made to deal exhaustively with the several subjects—only conclusions have been presented, but, however, there is behind them abundance of proof available, to demonstrate their soundness and cogency, and to furnish, if it were wanting, evidence that the completion of the Trent Valley Canal from Georgian Bay to Trenton is a justifiable enterprise in the interests of national transportation and the development of our Great West, whose progress is so intimately associated, both commercially and industrially, with Eastern Canada.

The completion of the lift lock, and the circumstances connected with its opening should give a new stimulus to the vitality of the canal enterprise, the public men of the Dominion in whose hands are its destinies, who assisted at the official opening of the culminating feature of the canal, the Lift Lock, should see, by what they have seen, that the interests of the country as a whole will be substantially subserved by the completion of a great waterway link in the chains of transcontinental transportation. The Dominion is a unit and divers interests should be made strands in the bonds that will complete that unity.

FORT WILLIAM TO MONTREAL FOR THREE CENTS A BUSHEL

The Trent Valley Canal Has a Capacity for Barges of 800 Tons Running at High Speed—Run From Midland to Montreal in Six and One Half Days.

The Trent Waterway Association has had prepared a neat pamphlet giving extracts from the evidence given before the Royal Transportation Commission at its recent sitting in Peterborough. A number of the paragraphs contained in the pamphlet are reproduced below :—

The name Canal is a mis-nomer. The Trent route is a natural waterway. The distance from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario is 203 miles, of which 190 are now navigable and the remaining 43 miles will be made navigable by Canalizing 17 miles of river. Great stretches of Lake and River lie along the whole route, through which vessels can travel at full speed.

The depth of water on the lock sills will be 8 feet 4 inches and the locks will pass barges of 800 tons capacity, 120,000 bushels can be handled by one steam barge towing four consorts, two abreast, the equivalent of 120 loaded railway cars.

The barge will run from Midland to Montreal in six and one half days, or two round trips per month, and can carry grain at 1¼ cents per bushel at a good margin of profit even if they make the return trip empty.

Grain was carrid in 1903 from Fort Williams to Midland at 1 cent per bushel. The exports of the American Cereal Company, who manufacture Quaker Oats at Peterborough, stated they could bring grain by this route from Midland to Montreal exchanging wheat for flour at Peterborough at a cost of 2 cents per bushel and could take through cargoes from Fort Williams to Montreal, transshipping to barges at Midland, for 3 to 3½ cents per bushel.

This is the natural geographical route. In 1903 the grain received at Georgian Bay ports was over 31,000,000 bushels, all of which was sent forward by rail. The opening of the Canal will largely increase the figures by affording a new outlet and at the same time reducing railway rates.

The Trent Canal Route, counting the return trip, is 500 miles shorter to Liverpool than the Welland Canal Route, and 1,500 miles shorter than the Erie Canal route.

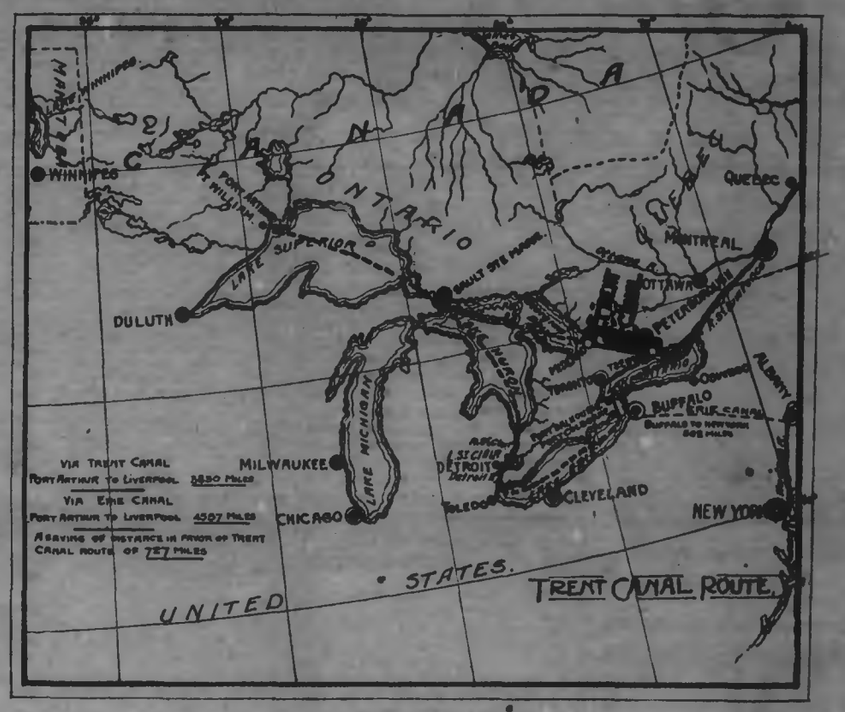
A deep water canal across the Province of Ontario is no longer advocated by the best engineers. Large vessels cost too much when moving long distances at slow rates in confined waters.

The Erie Canal now carries barges of 240 tons burden, but the expenditue of $101,000,000 in the next few years, will increase its capacity to 1000 ton barges. The ship canal scheme has been rejected. The Trent Canal has a capacity for barges of 800 tons running at high speed.

The Trent Waterway enters Lake Ontario at Trenton in the Bay of Quinte. The route is land locked from Midland to Montreal. This permits a cheap class of barge to be used at a low rate of insurance.

The Erie Canal for years has regulated freight rates on grain between Chicago and the sea, and when the new Erie is completed, it will reduce present rates one third. The Trent is an open water way—the Erie a confined prism, and by reason of higher speed and saving in distance, the Trent Canal will hold for Canada the trade which will otherwise go to Buffalo and New York.

It is also admitted by all engineers who have examined the route that there is an ample supply of water and no expensive work to be done. $4,000,000 have been expended by the Government in opening the inland stretches—$5,000,000.00 more are required to complete the exits. The money spent has been wasted unless the work be finished.



A LOUD WHISPER.

It Came From a Gun That a Sentry Forgot Was Cocked.

During the Mexican war, in 1846, Captain Kenly received orders from General Quitman to march with a guard to a ford in the Santander river and prevent its passage by the Mexicans. He reached the place, posted his men with strict injunctions against betraying their presence and took his position on the bank where he could overlook the ford.

Suddenly there came the report of a gun, fired by one of his sentries. Captain Kenly ran to the place, having seen no enemy, and found the sentry, a Georgian, coolly reloading his musket.

"How dare you fire your gun?" exclaimed the angry captain. "The whole division will be aroused."

Even as he spoke the long roll of the drums came floating down the wind. The sentry saw plainly enough the trouble he had got into, but he answered:

"Well, captain, you see I was so tired and sleepy that to keep myself awake I kept pointing my gun at a duck I saw on the river, and I thought how I would like to whisper to it, and, bang it, I forgot the gun was cocked and away she went."

The man escaped with a sharp reprimand from General Quitman, who sent him word that if he ever "whispered" again without orders it would be all over with him.

Why isn't common sense commoner, considering its name?

USES OF A SHANK.

A Toronto Housewife Tells the Secret of Her Management.

A thrifty Toronto housewife, says The Star, the other day confided to a friend, new at the business, a few of her pet economies in the purchase of meat.

"You see," she explained, "by the end of the month my finances are usually very run down—in very poor health indeed. I find then that a good beef shank is a friend in need. It is put on in cold water and allowed to simmer for hours, until the meat drops from the bone, then cooled and the meat cut up very small with a knife—the meat-cutter is no use here. If there is much liquid it must be reduced by boiling, strained, added to the meat and the whole very highly seasoned with salt, pepper, and a very little allspice and nutmeg, just a suspicion. Put the meat in molds to be turned out when needed. If the family is small we have a hot stew the first day, and after a day's intermission the cold. The flavor can be varied by browning the meat first in the pot before adding the water. Take some marrow out of the bone to put in the bottom of the pot, brown the meat well with a minced onion, and then barely cover with water. The seasoning may be added after it has cooked a couple of hours, and I find that a bunch of summer savory tied in cheesecloth improves it. If the bones and all the scraps of gristle and fat are saved they can be simmered for hours the second day, and after straining and cooling you will have a pot of excellent jelly for stock and a bowl of clear fat from the top which will do for frying, pastry, or ginger cakes. So, you see, we get two dinners anyway, sometimes three, stock for future use, and a big dish of scraps for the dog or chickens, all for 35c or 40c. A shank is the poor man's refuge and the rich man's delight—if his wife knows how it ought to be cooked."

HYDRAULIC LIFT LOCK'S OPENING

Brilliant Ceremony This Afternoon on Trent Canal.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, Heads a Large Parliamentary Party---An Interesting Event.

The town is being visited to-day by a larger body of public men than has ever before honoured it with their presence. The object of their visit to-day is the opening of the Hydraulic Lift Lock, on the Trent Canal, one of the wonders of the world.

The opening of this magnificent piece of engineering has been arranged by Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals in the Dominion Government, under the direction of which the Lock was constructed. The Minister, recognizing the great importance of the canal to the transportation facilities of the country, has conceived the idea of bringing a parliamentary party here to participate in the opening exercise, and to receive at first hand information on the practical uses of the canal, as well as a demonstration of its practical ability, which was given this afternoon.

SIR WM. MULOCK,

The Ottawa party consisted of Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, Hon. Wm. Mulock, Postmaster-General, and about ninety-five members of Parliament and Senators, in addition to a delegation from the Press Gallery, numbering about twenty-five, a large number of leading engineers, and other public business men, whom it was thought the canal would interest.

The party arrived here about noon over the C.P.R., on a special train, in charge of the Divisional Superintendent of the Company, consisting of two private cars, four day coaches, and a baggage car. At the diamond the train was transferred to the G. T. R., where it was attached to G. T. R. engines, and at the station the Ottawa party was supplemented by the local guests of the corporations of the county and town, and those who came to the town from the west and south, a number of coaches being added to the train for their accommodation.

The enlarged train, carrying about three hundred persons, then left for Dam No. 5, on the Trent Canal, where lunch was served by the town, the catering being done by Mr. A. McCallum. The visitors were much interested in the works on the canal, a great many of them expressing surprise at the substantial character of the work, and the magnitude of the enterprise.

After lunch the whole party boarded the two steamers in waiting, the new "Stony Lake" and the "Empress," and the trip from that point to the Lift Lock, through the canal was made. This was the first time that steamers have gone through this portion of the canal, and the trip was made without accident of any kind, showing the practicability of the canal as a transportation factor.

Upon arrival at the Lock, the party disembarked, and the ceremony in connection with the opening of the Lock was proceeded with, Hon. Mr. Emmerson taking a prominent part in the exercises.

Both steamers went through the locks, the lockages being made without mishap, and the locks worked perfectly. A little more time was taken to make the lockages than will be required when the locks have been used longer, but the first working was entirely satisfactory, and the engineers in charge are feeling elated over the success of this, the lock's first practical work.

At the conclusion of the ceremony one of the boats went on a trip down the river with a large number of the party on board, the other steamer going to the C.P.R. wharf, where those who had to leave by the 5.10 train were left.

After the return of the steamer which conveyed the party down the river, the visitors will be the guests of the corporation at a dinner in the Oriental, after which they will leave by the special train, arriving home about midnight.

A MARK OF HIGH APPRECIATION.

Mark Street Sunday School Officers Pass a Resolution.

The following resolution passed by the officers of the Mark Street Methodist Sunday School, shows the appreciation felt by them at the efforts of the officers and crew of the Sovereign on Thursday's excursion:—

Peterborough, July 8th, 1904.

We, the members of the Mark Street Sunday School desire to express our appreciation to the crew of the steamer "Sovereign" for the very efficient manner in which they handled our annual excursion.

We also wish to call the attention of the public to the fact that the rumours to the effect that the steamer "Sovereign" is unsafe is entirely without foundation.

It is also moved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the proprietor of the steamer "Sovereign", Mr. G. J. Snyder and to each of the newspapers.

Young Man Heavily Fined for Committing an Assault.

At the Police Court this morning an Englishman was charged with being drunk and disorderly in a public place. He pleaded not guilty and was discharged with a warning.

Justus Blodgett was charged with assaulting a man at the C.P.R. Hotel on the evening of Dominion Day. The plaintiff claimed that the defendant attacked him on two occasions without the least provocation, and hit out the least provocation, and hit out. The Magistrate imposed a heavy fine of $10.00 and costs or $16.70 altogether, to be paid in 10 days. Mr. D. O'Connell was counsel for the plaintiff and Mr. R. F. McWilliams for defence.

SUSPICIOUS LOOKING CHARACTER ABOUT.

Police Called to Gilmour Street Last Night.

Yesterday, a stalwart man was seen during the day lurking about Charlotte street, near St. Joseph street, apparently trying to conceal himself in some shrubs that grow at that point. Last night about ten o'clock, the same person, it is assumed, for he answered the description, was wandering about Gilmour street, on tip-toe, gazing into premises, staying a little while and coming out. He was watched and his presence reported to the police about midnight, who at once visited the neighbourhood, but the man could not be found.

A Business Change.

In April of last year Messrs. J. E. McConnell and Geo. W. Miller, both well-known in London, established an advertising agency in this city with their offices on Carling street. Since its inception the business has steadily grown until it has now become a strong factor in the Canadian field of advertising, and at present the firm is handling some of the best advertising accounts in Canada. In September last the firm found it necessary to find larger quarters, and moved into a handsome suite of offices in the Bank of Toronto Building where they are still located. The entire interests in the business of Mr. George Miller have now been taken over by Mr. M. M. Ferguson, late of Lawson & Jones, who will devote all his time to the interests of the new firm. The change took place Saturday morning. Both Messrs. McConnell and Ferguson are young men and popular in this city, and the business is sure to prosper under the new management.—London Free Press, June 28th, 1904.

THE HUB FACTORY AGAIN IN OPERATION.

Through the Enterprise of Messrs. John Finlay and Sons.

The Norwood Register gives the pleasing information that the hub factory at Tweed belonging to Messrs. John Finlay & Sons, which was destroyed by fire about six weeks ago, is again in operation. The Register says:—Messrs. Finlay & Son's hub factory at Tweed, which was destroyed by fire about six weeks ago, is again in operation, fully equipped. The new buildings are very substantial, the walls and floors being of concrete, and the whole group is roofed with Carey's Magnesia Flexible Cement Roofing—making them as nearly as possible, fireproof. The factory is 80x40, boiler house 20x28, engine room 12x17 and store house 24x68. Six gangs of workmen were employed, viz., foundrymen, machinists, sash and door fitters, concrete gang, roofers, and reeves and pully fitters. The entire plant was rebuilt and equipped in five weeks and is a credit to the village of Tweed and also to the owners, Messrs. J. Finlay & Son, of this place. The factory is under the management of Mr. A. J. Fitzgerald, and Messrs. John Walker & Son have the contract of getting out 4,000 sets of waggon hubs and 160,000 hub blocks—which quantity, we understand, are already sold. The citizens of Tweed can congratulate themselves upon the erection of such a neat and substantial factory in their village. We understand that the Council of the village are considering the matter of a fixed assessment, also that the business men of the place have in a very liberal manner shown their appreciation of the enterprise. The village is favourably situated, having two lines of railway, viz., the Bay of Quinte and the C.P.R., and the firm has good prospects for an increasing trade.

The Question of Baldness.

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Derenwend of Toronto to Peterborough on Friday, July 15, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel renders it possible for any who wish to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalness of his wigs and toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the days and dates.

TROOPER BRACE NOW A BENEDICT.

Was Married on Wednesday to Miss Cora Blanche O'Brien.

There occurred at Stouffville on Wednesday, July 6th, an event which stirred the whole community, when Cora Blanche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas O'Brien was united in marriage to Trooper Chaplain A. J. Brace. The ceremony was performed by his father, Rev. A. H. Brace, of Peterborough, assisted by Rev. A. P. Brace, B. D., of Newton Brook, brother of the groom, and Rev. J. R. Aikenhead, the bride's pastor. The bride was assisted by Miss Manning, of Brampton, whose costume was of artistic beauty, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. E. Garlick Brace. The decorations consisted chiefly of Marguerites very tastily arranged. With the strains of the wedding march beautifully played by Miss Mitchell, the bride, simply, but beautifully attired was led by her father to the daintily decorated arch, where she was met by the rest of the party and the ceremony was solemnly completed by the trio of clergymen. The congratulations by the hundred or more present and the good will expressed by telegrams from different parts of the continent augur well for a happy future.

Amid music, vocal and instrumental, the choice refreshments were deftly served by the girl friends of the bride. A most enjoyable and long-to-be-remembered experience filled the interval till train time, when amid showers of good wishes, Marguerites, rice and confetti, the happy couple left for Jackson Point, the bride wearing a handsome travelling dress. About the end of the month they will leave en route for their future home in New Westminster, B.C., where their life's work will begin, in charge of the West End Methodist Church. The numerous varied, valuable and choice presents show the high esteem in which the young couple are held by their wide circle of friends.

A pleasing feature was the presence of the groom's old friend and commander, of South African fame, Col. Merritt, of the Governor General's Body Guards.

TWENTY YEARS OF FAITHFUL SERVICE.

Court Peterborough, C. O. F. Honours Mr. Henderson Nesbitt.

Presented With a Handsome Quartered Oak Desk—His Efficient Services to the Order.

An unusually large number of members of Court Peterborough, C. O. F., were present at last night's meeting and a very pleasant time was spent by those who attended. An incident of special interest was a presentation made to Mr. Henderson Nesbitt, who for twenty years has successfully filled the duties of the office of Financial Secretary of the Court. Mr. Nesbitt is also one of the charter members of the Court, of whom there are very few remaining.

At the conclusion of the business of the evening, the Chief Ranger called upon Mr. George Stenton to read the address, which was as follows:—

Peterborough, July 8th, 1904.

Bro. Henderson Nesbitt.

We the members of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C.O.F., desire to sincerely thank you for the efficient manner in which you have discharged the duties of Financial Secretary to this Court.

We venture to say that your record of twenty consecutive years in one office is unique in the annals of Canadian Forestry, and speaks for itself, for your courtesy, kindness, and attention you have bestowed on the duties of that office.

Not only has your influence been felt in this Court, but you have been instrumental in organizing several others, in fact, there is not a Court in this district but has benefitted by your counsel and advice.

We beg of you to accept this oak secretary, as a token of our regard, and hope you may be blessed with many years of good health and hold your present office in our Court, that we may enjoy your presence amongst us, and benefit by your experience.

Signed on behalf of Court Peterborough—

J. R. METHERAL,
G. STENTON,
W. CARTER.

The presentation of a handsome quartered oak roll top was made by Mr. J. R. Metheral.

Mr. Nesbitt was visibly affected by the address, and in acknowledgment of the gift stated that he had had no inkling of what was coming. He referred to the kind and pleasant relations existing between the members of the Court and himself, and returned his grateful thanks to all the brethren for the handsome gift, and expressed his determination to always have a kind regard for Court Peterborough and the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Refreshments were then served, and a short toast list ensued, in which a number of the brethren spoke, referring to the faithful services of Mr. Nesbitt, who has during his term of office of twenty years, been almost consistent member of the Order, and an efficient officer.

PRESENTATION TO ALEXANDER CAMPBELL.

Members of St. Andrew's Church Gave Him a Morocco Wallet Last Night.

A very interesting event took place at the close of the service preparatory to Communion last night in St. Andrew's church, when Mr. Alexander Campbell was made the recipient of a Morocco bill wallet containing "a small token of esteem" as Mr. Wm. Fowler put it in presenting the gift. The pastor referred to the interest that Mr. Campbell had taken in the different departments of church life and work, and while the session of which he had been a faithful member for seven years, would miss him, yet all would rejoice in his promotion and wish him every success.

Mr. Wm. Girvan and Mr. John Mathieson, elders, also gave evidence of their personal regard.

Mr. Campbell leaves for London, Ont., on Monday in connection with The London Life Insurance Company.

DISEASE THAT WORKS OVERTIME

Dyspepsia Once Started Never Quits till Stopped—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the One Sure Way to Stop it.

Some diseases have particular seasons in which to do their deadly work, but there is one that works all the time and over-time at that. It is almost needless to say that that disease is indigestion or dyspepsia.

Once started Dyspepsia never quits till it is stopped, and there is only one sure way to stop it, and that is by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

There is abundant proof that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets always stop Dyspepsia. Thousands of Canadians speak as does Mrs. John F. Sellars of Western Bay, Newfoundland. She says:

"I gives me great pleasure to say I have been cured of Dyspepsia by the suffered for seven years. I could use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I could not eat without suffering intense agony, and had given up to die before using the Tablets. I felt relief from the first and after the use of five boxes am well and strong."

PETERBOROUGH ARTISTS IN WARSAW CONCERT.

Local Musicians Who Supplied Entertainment at a Recent Concert.

The Warsaw correspondent to the Lakefield News, in reporting a Dominion Day concert, refers to a number of Peterborough artists as follows:

"Among those who added most materially to the evening's enjoyment, were the talented Peterborough artists who kindly lent their assistance. Their numbers which were greeted with hearty and well-merited encores, included several well-rendered vocal solos, and duets, by Mrs. Seward, the Misses Chasty, and Mr. Miller, several cornet solos being also executed by the latter in a finished manner. Misses Gumpricht and Chasty acted as accompanists. The numbers of Miss Julia Choate and Rev. Mr. Battersby of Warsaw, were also much enjoyed. The ladies of the Guild are to be complimented most highly upon the success which they achieved despite the unfavourable condition of the weather."

CHARGE OF BLAST POWDER EXPLODED.

Mrs. Harrison, of Asphodel Meets With a Narrow Escape.

A rather unfortunate occurrence took place at the home of Mr. John Harrison in Asphodel, on the 28th of June. Mrs. Harrison was ridding up a cupboard in the summer kitchen, and after the usual custom of all good housekepers, everything that appeared to be of no use was consigned to the stove. Unfortunately she got hold of a small quantity of blasting powder, which had been left over from last season, and not knowing what it was, cast it into the stove also. Hardly had she replaced the lid when an explosion took place which threw the fire from the stove in every direction. Mrs. Harrison's clothing took fire and she was severely burned before the flames could be extinguished. We are glad, however, to learn that her wounds are healing nicely.—Norwood Register.

JAP GUNBOAT SUNK

The Kaimon Struck a Russian Mine in a Dense Fog.

JAPS AT GATES OF KINCHOU

Gen. Chirikoff, With the Centre of the Russian Vanguard, Compelled to Fall Back By the Swarming Japs—Samsonoff's Heroic Attempt to Head Off the Japanese Ended in Failure.

Washington, July 8.—The Japanese Legation has received the following telegram from Tokio, dated yesterday: "Admiral Togo reports that on July 5 our gunboat Kaimon, while on a special mission in the waters outside of Talienwan, in a dense fog, struck a Russian mine and sunk. Three officers, including Commander Takashi and nineteen petty officers and men are missing. The rest were saved."

At Kinchou's Gates.

Tatchekiao, July 8.—The Japanese swarmed over the mountain crests early yesterday morning and advanced on Kaichou, compelling General Chirikoff with the centre of the Russian vanguard to fall back. A whole brigade of Japanese, with masses of cavalry, followed and occupied the village of Nantay, driving out two companies of Russian infantry and two companies of Cossacks, who were entrenched there. The Japanese arrived within five miles of Kaichou. It was then nightfall. Gen. Samsonoff made a heroic attempt to check the Japanese, galloping out with guns to shell the Japanese left and inflicting great loss on them. But fearing his retreat would be cut off, he fell back and is now holding Kaichou. Gen. Chirikoff's force is stationed southeast of Kaichou.

Cholera in the East.

Washington, July 8.—A cable report from United States Minister Allen at Seoul points to the existence of a great danger to both belligerents in Manchuria. He says that he has learned from a missionary surgeon that cholera has crossed Manchuria and appeared at Antung.

Jap Provisions Captured.

Liaoyang, July 8.—According to a trustworthy report, Major-General Mistchenko, on July 5th, captured a large convoy of Japanese provisions, principally of rice. In the convoy were fifty head of cattle. In view of the extreme heat, most of the moving of troops is done at night. Special sanitary measures are enforced with rigor in all the camps, and an abundant supply of boiled drinking water is furnished the soldiers. Up to the present time, the health of the Russian troops remains good.

A WOMAN'S SYMPATHY.

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too, but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need to do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so I shall be happy and you will be cured for 5—the cost of a postage stamp. Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. Mrs. F. D. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont. Orange Lily is recommended and sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne 345 George street. s-w

Immigration Bill Abandoned.

London, July 8.—The alien immigration bill has been definitely abandoned for the present session of Parliament. The Opposition to the measure has been so persistent in the committee stage that the Government yesterday decided that it was impossible to pass the bill within the remaining few weeks of the session.

Safeguard the Children

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in the large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr. Frank Riggs, of Franklinville, N.Y., in speaking of this remedy, said: "I have found it expedient to have a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. It has been a family safeguard, and while especially beneficial to children it is equally good in adult cases. I recommend it cheerfully and without reservation." For sale by all druggists.

Standards For Oats.

Ottawa, July 8.—A. Campbell's special committee yesterday morning completed its labors, and reported the bill respecting inspection of grain with numerous amendments. The standards for Ontario and Quebec oats were fixed as follows: No. 1, 34 pounds; No. 2, 32 pounds; No. 3, 30 pounds; No. 4, 28 pounds, per bushel. A change was made in the manner of constituting the survey board for the eastern division, which will be appointed upon the recommendation of the Boards of Trade of Toronto and Montreal. The board was made the final arbiter in cases of dispute.

Late Mr. John J. Long's Funeral.

Collingwood, July 8.—The remains of the late John J. Long were brought home yesterday. A crowd of two hundred or more were gathered at the station when the train arrived at one o'clock, the casket being conveyed in a special car. During the day there were many sympathetic callers, and a large number of telegrams and several cablegrams of condolence were received. The funeral will take place this morning at nine o'clock, proceeding to St. Mary's Church.

When your Child Suffers

For lack of knowledge of the value of Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for eczema, many a mother has been worn out in the effort to relieve her child of suffering. Eczema, scald head and other forms of itching skin disease are common to children, especially during the teething period. Though readily cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment, eczema, if neglected, becomes chronic and may last for years.

LIKE A MIRACLE

The Wonderful Recovery of a Nipissing Man

Stricken with Partial Paralysis and was Unable to Move Right Arm or Right Leg.

Mr. John Craig, a well known farmer living near Kells, Nipissing District, Ont., is another of the many paralytics, who owes his present good health and ability to go about—if not life itself—to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Craig gives his experience as follows: "But for the blessing of God and the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I do not believe that I would be alive to-day. I was stricken with that terrible affliction, partial paralysis, I had absolutely no power in my right arm or leg. I was not able to sit up—in fact if I tried to do so I would fall over. I had to be lifted like a child, and my family and friends believed death was very near. The doctor told me that he could do nothing for me, and that I was liable at any moment to have a second stroke which would carry me off. I was in this deplorable condition when I was advised to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I sent for three boxes and before they were all used I could move the fingers on my hand, which had hitherto been absolutely numb and powerless. You can scarcely imagine my joy at this convincing proof that the pills were helping me. From this on I kept getting stronger and the control of my paralyzed limbs gradually came back until I was again able to walk about and eventually to work. To my neighbours my cure seems like a miracle, as not one of them ever expected to see me out of bed again. I gladly give permission to publish the story of my cure with the wish that it may bring life and hope and activity to some other sufferer."

The cure of Mr. Craig gives additional evidence that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not an ordinary medicine, and that their power to cure in all troubles of the blood or nerves places them beyond all other medicines. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or direct by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. See that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" is printed on the wrapper around every box.

A NUMBER OF ACCIDENTS.

Three Scalded to Death.

Petoskey, Mich., July 8.—The boiler of a saw-mill at Wahmenee blew up yesterday, killing William Reed, William Franks and Engineer Thomas Dickerson. John Fortune was scalded so terribly that he may die. All are young men.

Hunter Found Dead.

Quebec, July 8.—A hunter named Jas. Cole, aged 70 years, was found dead on the docks in the southeast of Bic Island by a hunter named Tilqute Noreau, of Esquimaux, who was on the hunt for porpoises. The deceased man's boat was found adrift, and in it was the dead man's rifle. Cole had been dead for a week or more, and the body was somewhat decomposed.

"Death By Accident."

Sundridge, July 8.—At the inquest held here Wednesday night on the death of Robert Woods, the farmer who was accidentally shot by Ephraim Paisley, another farmer, in mistake for a deer, Coroner Dr. Barber of Burke's Falls presided, Crown Attorney Haight prosecuted and D. R. McLean appeared for Mr. Paisley, towards whom evidence tended as the person who did the shooting. The jury, after two hours' deliberation, delivered the verdict, "Death by accident."

Steel Hoop Plants Close.

Pittsburg, July 8.—Operations have been suspended at the four steel hoop plants of the Carnegie Steel Mills, two at Youngstown and one each at Girard and Warren. These are the only works of the big steel concern that has been under the wage scale of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. All the other plants of the company are operated on a strictly non-union basis.

War Minister Detented.

Paris, July 8.—During the discussion in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday of a bill reducing the term of service of army reserve men, War Minister Andre was defeated twice in succession, which led to rumors of his possible retirement from office.

The Pope Is Not Ill.

Rome, July 6.—There is no truth in the report circulated in the United States by a news agency, that the Pope suffered from an attack of palpitation of the heart yesterday morning.

Test the Kidneys

Allow urine to stand in a glass for 24 hours, and if at the end of that it is clouded or has left a sediment in the bottom of the vessel you may be sure that your kidneys are diseased. As a means of invigorating the action of the kidneys and making them strong and healthy there is no preparation so prompt and none so thorough as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

A Musical Malaprop.

Among such a mass of players as comprise a great orchestra there are "characters" enough to supply a new Dickens. One of these characters, according to the Saturday Evening Post, is noted more for his love of big words than knowledge of their meaning. During Mr. Seidl's lifetime he played in the orchestra at Brighton Beach. One day the tuba player, who sat back of him, had a very difficult part to play in Liszt's symphonic poem, "Mazeppa." Hearing his heartfelt sigh of relief on its conclusion, Mr. Malaprop turned and asked, "Barnum had one, hadn't he?"

"What?" was the query.

"A Maseppa of course," was the answer. He had confounded the hero of Byron with a zebra.

"Do we play this with or without reputation?" he asked one day of a colleague.

Playing in a new theater on tour, the man who sat next him looked up and announced, "The acoustics are bad here."

"Are they?" he said critically, sniffing the air. "I have such a cold that I can't smell. But I take your word for it."

Bryan Cheered But Turned Down.

St. Louis, Mo., July 8.—The Democratic national convention yesterday adopted the report of the committee on rules, credentials and permanent organization. During the day several speeches were made, chief of which was W. J. Bryan's effort to overthrew the report of the credential committee and seat contesting delegates from Illinois. The controversy was ended by the rejection of minority report of the committee by a vote of 647 to 299. Though Mr. Bryan's speech and his appearance on the floor of the convention were cheered far beyond any previous demonstration, the fact made few votes.

Fenian Raid Medals.

London, July 8.—(C. A. P.)—Colonial Secretary Lyttelton, replying to E.R. Moon, M.P., as to why the services of those detailed from the naval services of Canada against the Fenians in 1868, were not awarded the medal, said the medals given were in 1866, and 1870, but it was not considered desirable to grant the medal to the men who defended the Dominion frontier in other years, since their services amounted to the policing of the frontier, and not to actual military operations.

A PRESENT FOR THE OLD FOLKS.

FOR THE STOMACH'S SAKE.

An eminent physician says, "human life should last five times the years it takes to mature"—thus if twenty-one is maturity we should live over a hundred years, but there are not many reach the century mark. A great deal more longevity would exist if the stomach did not get crippled and played out—That organ gets plenty of abuse, and is deserving of attention—It is the starting-point of most ailments, and it needs the first attention when symptoms of sickness appear. If an elderly stomach can be kept working right, you may be sure of a ripe and contented old age, comparatively free from physical burdens. The great new discovery, ANTI-PILL, the Great System Treatment, has a grand effect in helping old and deranged stomachs. Any aged person who will address a Postal to Wilson-Fyle Co., Niagara Falls, Ont., will get a free trial bottle by return mail.

Her Splendid Inconsistency

By W. W. HINES

Copyright, 1904, by W. W. Hines

From the open windows came music, made by the orchestra in the ballroom on the farther side of the house, softened by distance. Moonlight, broken up by intervening trees into bars and splotches of golden radiance, lay all about them as they walked up and down the veranda.

They were two, a man and a woman, as befitted the waltz tune and the moonlight.

"The right kind of a woman always appreciates a proposal of marriage from any man as a great compliment. Coming from you it is the much more to be valued, but I cannot marry you," said the woman.

Turning in their walk, the woman leaned back against one of the pillars of the veranda, and the man seated himself on the railing. He was taking his rejection with admirable coolness, as the woman knew he would take it.

"May I smoke?" he said politely.

The commonplaceness of the request struck the woman's vein of humor, and it was with a little laugh that she gave her consent. The man lit a cigar, looked out toward the trees and the moonlight and said:

"Rather a pretty waltz they are playing, isn't it?"

Then he puffed away at his cigar reflectively and continued:

"I have to thank you for having listened to me so patiently. Might I trespass a little more upon your good nature and ask permission to discuss the matter further with you?"

His manner, as calm as though he had been discussing some abstractly ethical question, was very characteristic. Perhaps the knowledge of this irritated the woman a little, for she replied:

"No amount of discussion can profit either of us, so far as I can see. But, as I have said, in asking me to marry you a great compliment was paid me, and in return for that compliment I suppose that I owe you permission to indulge your love for discussion or argument."

"Thanks for the permission," said the man, still in his stolid manner. "I cannot recognize my proposal as, in any sense, a compliment, but I am willing that you should, if you wish, take the manner in which I made it as a compliment. Recognizing the splendid development of your own logical faculties, I have made my offer of marriage in perfectly businesslike form. I have heard you often declare that a contract of marriage is like any other contract and should be entered into only when both parties are fully aware of what they are doing."

"Do you think women are ever entirely consistent?" interrupted the woman.

The man looked a trifle surprised and replied:

"At least, I give you credit for having a splendidly consistent mind. You do not mean that I have erred in my manner of proposing, that you would have preferred more of an air of romance and all that sort of thing?"

"Not at all," the woman hastened to assure him. Perhaps one more skilled in woman nature would have placed little credence in her words, but the man to whom they were addressed never presumed to doubt their truth.

"Now, the situation is something like this," continued the man in very much the same tone of voice that he would have used in arguing an important case before the supreme court. "You are twenty-nine—or is it thirty?—years old, have a reputation as a beauty, and all that. You can, I know, marry any one of two or three men who can offer you at least as much as I, but modesty was never a prevailing characteristic of mine, and I have not feared to measure myself with these other men.

"On the other hand, I can give you pretty much anything you desire that costs money. I stand well in my profession and have prospects of soon being near the top of it. Altogether, I am satisfied that any one would call it a very suitable match all around."

"Does the prosecution here close its case?" inquired the woman, laughing a little.

"I hardly care to regard the matter as one of prosecution and defense," said the man imperturbably, "but if you wish to use the terms I am forced to admit their applicability. Will the defense rest its case on the testimony submitted by the prosecution, or will it elect to submit an argument?"

"The defense will submit an argument," replied the woman. "I admit that the match would be, as you say, pronounced suitable by every one. As for the two or three other men whom you aver that I can marry at any time, I cannot answer. I have noticed that the number of my proposals has been falling off of late, and attributed the fact to advancing age—you were right when you said I was thirty. I may close the discussion by saying that I have made up my mind to become an old maid."

"Far be it from me to say anything against those estimable members of society—the old maids," said the man, "but I do not think you will ever be one of them. I am firm in the belief that every old maid is a woman who was disappointed in love or who was too cold bloodedly selfish to ever marry. Surely you do not come in either class?"

"No," said the woman reflectively, "I can't say that I do, and yet"—

"Perhaps," said the man, and now his voice was very gentle, as though he feared he might here touch some old wound unwittingly, "there is in your life some romance which I have not guessed. Believe me, I would not wound you for worlds, and I trust you will pardon my clumsy speech."

"Oh, I am not a blighted being, never fear," this with a laugh that did not ring altogether of merriment.

"Then your refusal to marry me is not based upon the ground that you prefer some other man?"

"No, I am not in love—with some other man."

"Then why not marry me?"

"I have given you the best of all a woman's reasons, 'because.'"

"But your refusal of me is final, I may take it?"

"Yes,"—the "yes" with an almost inaudible sigh, a sigh so nearly inaudible that it did not reach the man.

He had thrown away his cigar and stood for a moment gazing out toward the trees, the throbbing waltz tune breaking an otherwise perfect silence. Then he began to speak, and his voice was harsh with feeling that had been restrained:

"I think I quite forgot to mention one thing in my proposal. I did not say that I love you very dearly; that, not wishing to be a beggar of love, I have waited all these years to be in a position to offer you the things which I mentioned as rendering me eligible for your hand. You, who are so cool and calm, what can you know of love and passion? Now I know that I have worked all these years in vain—no, not altogether in vain—for I am going to kiss you once, here and now, if it means the loss of all the little that is left me of your regard."

He gathered her in his strong arms and kissed her, not once, but many times, on her forehead, on her eyes and on her lips, and then released her with the full consciousness that he had done an unpardonable thing which he did not regret.

But the woman held out her arms to him and said:

"Oh, Jack, dear, why didn't you tell me that you loved me at first?"

The First Gas Machine.

A gas machine is generally understood as an apparatus for producing carbureted air, which may be used like carbureted hydrogen or coal gas for illuminating purposes. When gasoline, which is a very light and volatile product of petroleum, comes in contact with the air it is dissolved by the air—in other words, the air becomes charged with its vapors to such an extent that the air and vapors form a fairly good substitute for coal gas, requiring a slightly different burner. Oliver P. Drake, a philosophical instrument maker of Boston, was the first to use gasoline for this purpose. The Drake machine was made in the form of a cylinder with a partition through the center. One end was provided with a water meter wheel driven by a weight and clockwork. This meter wheel pumped air, which was taken into the other end of the cylinder, where it came in contact with the gasoline, the gasoline being constantly presented to the air by a rotating evaporator made of wicking. The air in passing took up sufficient of the vapors to enable it to be used for illuminating purposes. These machines went into use to a limited extent.—Sir Hiram Maxim in Harper's Weekly.

Painted "The Derby Day."

A delightful old gentleman is Mr. W. R. Frith, R.A., the famous painter of "The Derby Day," "The Railway Station," and many other celebrated pictures. A trifle bent with the weight of years, he is eighty-five, though anything but decrepit, slight of frame, and of no great stature, with bushy, white hair, brushed back from a great forehead, a ruddy complexion, an aquiline nose, blue eyes, wonderfully keen and alert, and a whimsical smile, he is just such a character as Dickens would have loved to paint, which recalls the fact that Mr. Frith painted one of the best portraits ever done of the great novelist. Mr. Frith delights in showing visitors the copy of an old Dutch engraving he made when a boy, and telling the story of how it led to his adopting art as a profession, and the sequel. Mr. Frith's father, anxious to know whether his son, then about fourteen years old, had any prospects as an artist, submitted the copy in question to the verdict of a number of distinguished painters foregathered at a dinner party. The verdict was favorable, and so the boy became a painter. Years afterwards he met Mr. Chalon, R.A., who had been one of the judges on that momentous evening. Showing him the copy reminded him of the incident, which Mr. Chalon had forgotten. "Do you mean to say I advised you to become a painter on such evidence as that?" cried the R.A.; "I ought to be ashamed of myself!"—M.P.

Would You?

If you had it to do over again, would you marry?

Of course you would, for if you had your life to live over again you would live just as you have lived.

But if you had known, when young, what you know now, would you marry, as you did?

That, however, is not a fair question, knowing that such a thing is impossible.

Besides, you could have learned from the lives and experiences of others if you had been anxious to know all about married life before entering upon it yourself.

Possibly you were advised this way and that, warned to look out for trouble and assured of complete success. No wonder advice is so cheap; it is so plenty. And who wants anything so cheap that it is given away just to get rid of it?

That's how you felt, no doubt, and that is, or once was, your excuse for doing as you did.

It is better that you didn't take advice from others, for if you had you might now regard them as your mortal foes and blame them for all your troubles and your woes.

One Way to Foretell Weather.

There were weather prophets before the weather bureau. A correspondent of the Springfield Republican says that once when Dudley Leavitt, for many years the maker of the New Hampshire Almanac, was driving northward through Nottingham he encountered a farmer hoeing by the roadside.

"A fine morning," said Leavitt.

"Yes," was the answer, "but it's going to rain before long."

There was no hint of rain in the summer sky, but before Leavitt had got through Northwood narrows a heavy shower came down upon him. Wishing to find out how the farmer could predict so exactly, he turned back and found him out in the field again after the rain.

"I should like to know," said the astronomer of Winnepesaukee, "how you could tell so exactly what the weather was going to be."

"Well," said the sage, "when my old ram scratches his ear with his left hind foot in the morning I'm certain 'twill rain before night. Besides, if that old fool of a Dud Leavitt says in his almanac, 'Fair weather may be expected,' I know 'twill be just the contrary."

The Society Woman

Though hurried and rushed in society's whirls,
Her complexion is rosy and fresh as a girl's;
Well she knows, though she dances far into the night,
"Abbey's Salt" in the morning, will make her all right.

Society people recognize the value of ABBEY'S SALT as a health preserver and complexion beautifier. ABBEY'S SALT takes away the baneful effects of hasty, irregular eating—overcomes the ravages of late hours and bodily fatigue.

ABBEY'S SALT is a gentle, mild, yet perfect tonic laxative. It regulates the stomach and bowels—keeps the blood pure—the eyes bright—and the skin fresh and beautiful.

MASSAGING THE SCALP.

It Is the Root of All Systems of Stimulating the Hair's Growth.

The massage of the scalp is at the root of all treatment of the hair. By stimulating the flow of blood to the scalp new vigor is given to the hair. Without this massage hair restoratives are of little avail.

Now this massage may be better done by a masseur than by the man or woman who is growing bald, but it is possible for that individual to massage his own scalp well enough to do the hair a great deal of good.

The hands should be half folded and the ends of the fingers made to touch the scalp lightly. Then rub them slowly over the scalp.

It is convenient to begin at the back of the neck and rub the scalp slowly up the center of the head to the forehead. Then the rubbing should be done all over the head from one side of the scalp to the other. It should be repeated several times.

The same glow that the expensive fingers of the masseur produce follows, showing that the circulation in the scalp has been stimulated. The fingers should be pressed on the scalp with sufficient force to cause the blood to tingle.

TIDAL WAVES.

The Forces Which Start These Dangerous Volumes of Water.

The ocean tidal wave—sometimes called the primitive—is formed by the union of two waves, produced by the combined attractions of the sun and the moon. This wave in its most dangerous form sometimes sweeps over ships in the open sea and in its ordinary course produces the tides proper.

Where the outline of the land, as in the bay of Fundy and the Bristol channel, compresses the force of its flood with narrow estuaries it also gives rise to tidal waves, which are termed derivative and are also known colloquially as "bores," or eagres.

Earthquakes are also a cause of tidal waves of two sorts. One is due to shocks which occur on land and cause a retreat and reflux of the sea within the usual tidal limits, but where an earthquake shakes the sea bed a dome shaped mount of water rises over the center of the disturbance and draws the surrounding water into the vortex beneath it. As this dome subsides it sends an immense rolling mass swinging across the ocean, which creates a most formidable tidal wave.

7 Sutherland Sisters Hair Grower

GREW THIS HAIR

Testimonial No. 432.

MISS NORA GASTAGER
2108 Centre Ave., Pittsburg, Pa.

When the scalp throws off either dandruff or a gummy substance, it is an evidence of scalp disease, and no time should be lost in correcting it. You certainly would not hesitate to take treatment were you to look at this matter through a magnifying glass. When highly magnified it resembles a working mass of insects. These creatures absorb the nutriment or life-sap of the scalp causing the scalp to become dry and feverish, resulting in the loss of hair and finally baldness. Seven Sutherland Sisters' Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner works wonders in all such cases. It thoroughly eradicates all trace of scalp bacteria and makes the hair grow unusually long, strong and beautiful. One 50 cent bottle is enough to show you that it will do all this and even more. NOW at all druggists, two sizes, 50c. and $1.00 per bottle.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN
WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

The Vice-President Independent Order of Good Templars.

An experience which many women have was related by Miss Agnes Stribling, of 231 East 24th Street, New York City, as follows: "I had very poor health for a year until life looked dark and dreary to me. Had headaches, backache, also pain, my sleep was broken and fitful. I longed for health. Tried several medicines but none were of any lasting benefit until I took Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I soon realized that I had found the right remedy. It helped nature to throw off the poisons that saturated the system, renewed all pains and strengthened the digestive organs, and brought the roses of health back to my cheeks. This medicine if taken occasionally keeps the system in perfect condition, helping it to throw off the disease and consequences of exposure to dampness. I am pleased to give it my endorsement."

A FAST BASEBALL GAME AT FOUR O'CLOCK.

Auburn and T. A. S. Will Play a Game in the Kawartha League Series.

Second only in point of interest to the opening of the Lift Lock this afternoon, will be the baseball game between the Auburns and the T.A.S. on the latter's grounds, Murray street. These two teams are running neck and neck for the League championship, and the result of to-day's game will be a large factor in determining which team will claim the pennant.

In addition to the interest attaching itself to the game alone, many will be attracted by the fact that a number of visiting members of Parliament will attend the game, and one of them will throw the first ball over the plate.

The game will not commence until the close of the proceedings at the Lift Lock, and there will be ample time after that to get back to town to see the game. Some new faces will be seen on the Auburn line up, and the game should be one of the best seen here this season. Both teams are playing fast ball, and both have designs on the championship, consequently the contest to-day will be a closely fought one.

BASEBALL.

A meeting of the Executive of the Guild Baseball League will be held to-morrow night at 8 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A.

Charlotte Street and St. Andrew's played a most exciting game in the Guild League Thursday night and at the conclusion of the sixth innings the Methodists were leading by a score of 8-2. The remaining innings will be played on Monday night. St. Andrew's had a lead of 1-0 at the start. At the end of the second the score was 2-1 in favour of Charlotte Street. In the fourth, some bad fielding and hard hitting gave St. Andrew's four runs and at the end of the fifth they had increased the lead to 7-3. In the sixth, the Methodists took a batting streak and aided by a couple of errors, got six runs amid great excitement. The batteries were:—For St. Andrew's, Patterson and Thornton; for Charlotte Street, Roddy and Thornton. Umpire, F. Whitfoft.

The game this afternoon between the T.A.S. and Auburn will be called at 4 o'clock on the Murray street grounds. All visitors to town who desire to witness a good ball game should be present and see a struggle which will practically decide the championship of the Kawartha League.

Anglo-French Agreement.

London, July 9.—Lord Lansdowne is stated to have impressed the French Government with the fact that he cannot tie the hands of the Newfoundland Government, though he recognized the legitimacy of their desire that the treaty be applied in a spirit agreeable to Paris and London. The Paris correspondent of The Times is sure there is no serious hitch in the Anglo-French negotiations.

RECALL OF TROOPS.

Halifax Men Ordered Off the Sydney Steel Works.

Sydney, C.B., July 9.—The Department of Militia at Ottawa have issued orders for the recall of the Halifax militia from Sydney, as the result of certain irregularities in connection with bringing them here. One company each of the 66th and 63rd Regiments will leave for home by this morning's train, while the other two companies will only be retained until their places can be filled by men of the 94th Battalion of Argyll Highlanders, who have been ordered to report full strength if it is deemed necessary.

Sydney Strikers Quiet.

Sydney, July 9.—Yesterday was one of the quietest days since the commencement of the great steel strike. The police and military authorities have little or nothing to do, and the strikers are remaining practically indoors or away from the plant. A suggestion has been made by Col. Irving that the Halifax regulars on duty at the plant be replaced by the Canadian regulars now at Quebec. This recommendation, it is believed, is based upon the fact that many of the Halifax volunteers are employes of city firms and are anxious to return to work.

THIS MUSICIAN IS DELIGHTED

Tried Many Medicines but got no Relief Till he Used the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Rosedene, Ont., July 8, (Special.)—Mr. Samuel J. Crow, the well-known musician of this place, relates an experience that adds to the already great popularity of Dodd's Kidney Pills in this place.

"I suffered for years with Kidney Trouble," says Mr. Crow, "which became aggravated with every attack of cold and caused me much agony. The disease developed into Gravel when I was totally unfit for anything.

"I tried different remedies without the desired result, and was in much misery when I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, when to my astonishment and delight I immediately began to recover.

"After using five boxes the ailment had entirely ceased and I was again enjoying perfect vigour, all of which I owe to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

The fact that Gravel yields so readily to Dodd's Kidney Pills is good news indeed, as it does away with those terrible operations that were supposed to be the only relief from this trouble.

JAPANESE PRESS TOWARDS YINKOW

Japs Lose No Time After Driving Russians from Kaichou.

RUSSIANS RETREAT NORTH

Gen. Sakarhoff Claims That the Russian Loss was Small—Operations of the Japs are Now Focussed on Newchwang, and the Logical Conclusion is That They Will Sieze It—Russian Squadrons Out.

St. Petersburg, July 11.—Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff, in a despatch to the general staff, confirms the report of the Japanese occupation of Kaichou. He says that the Russian loss did not exceed 150 killed or wounded. Gen. Sakharoff adds that the Japanese are on the Yinkow road.

Gen. Sakharoff says: "Our detachment remained during July 8 at Kaichou station, having its advance posts on the right bank of the Kantakhe River, the enemy occupying the heights on the left bank and fortifying themselves thereon.

"Our battery on the railroad bridge opened fire at the enemy's patrols. Towards noon a fusilade occurred between a detachment of the enemy and our company and our losses were six wounded.

"Towards the evening of July 8 the enemy's force, consisting of four divisions and a brigade, could be made out in front of Kaichou, extending along the seashore. At dawn, July 9, the enemy resumed the offensive upon the rear guard of our detachment, which retired about 6.30 in the morning from Kinchou to nine and one-half miles northward.

"At 10 o'clock, under heavy pressure, our rear guard retired on our position at Makhuntsiguiga and Yaclintas. The rear guard held this position under a heavy fire until two o'clock in the afternoon, when in accordance with instructions it retired slowly and in perfect order on the third position, just as our main body was concentrating at Magachapu and on the position at Makhuntsiguiga.

"The enemy kept up a very heavy cannonading for two hours uninterruptedly, but our battery carried on the struggle successfully, firing along the Shuanlunsa Pass. It finally fell back with hardly any casualties.

"On our right flank our horse battery shelled the Japanese battery. At the same time the enemy's cavalry advanced slowly along the shore road to Yinkow.

Losses Do Not Exceed 150.

"Our losses are not yet known, but according to the commander of our forces they do not exceed 150. Among the killed was Count Nyrodt, captain on the general staff."

Gen. Sakharoff also reports an ambush of the Japanese twenty-five miles north of Siuyen, when the Japanese had one officer and eleven dragoons killed or wounded.

On July 7 Gen. Sakharoff says the Japanese began to advance, but not in considerable force, toward Siaosyou, occupying Siaochan.

Operations Now Focused.

London, July 11.—The capture of Kaichou (Kaiping) by General Oku establishes a Japanese line clear across the Liaotung Peninsula and brings the operations of the Mikado's forces against Kuropatkin to a focus.

The evacuation of Newchwang by the Russians seems the only logical move, and with the fall of this town and its port, Yinkow, the Japanese will secure a harbor close to the centre of operations for landing men and supplies for an immediate attack on Kuropatkin's main force.

That these men and supplies are even now in transports in the Gulf of Pechili is shown by the reports which have come in during the last few days, which state that a large fleet of Japanese steamers is near Yinkow.

Despatches from St. Petersburg indicate that Kuropatkin is expected to retire from Tatcheklao, and even Haicheng, and concentrate his forces in Liaoyang, which has been fortified elaborately.

This he may not be able to accomplish, however, as the Russian official reports indicate the presence of a great body of Japanese within striking distance of the fortifications. It may be that the great battle of the war will be fought in the open.

Fight Near Fenchui Pass.

Liaoyang, July 11.—A column of Russians, after proceeding to a point about seven miles northwest of Fenchui Pass, on the Liaoyang-Fengwangcheng high road, halted at night, worn out with heavy marching and fighting. The Japanese hurried up fresh troops and attacked them at dawn with a superior force. The Russians retired fighting. Their losses numbered 300. The Japanese also suffered severely.

Another forward movement of the Russian Rifle Brigade began during the night of July 6. The Russians attacked the Japanese position in the darkness. No particulars of the engagement are yet obtainable, but it is believed that a severe fight occurred.

The Japanese force of 25,000 which was advancing toward Mukden, has now fallen back. Similar backward movements are reported from other points. Chinese report that General Kuroki's headquarters have been established at Fenchui Pass.

Rome July 11.—A despatch from Liaoyang says that a fierce battle has been fought at Hoang, near Liaoyang, between a force of Russians numbering 4,000, led by Gen. Keller, and a supposedly superior number of the enemy. Although the Russians struggled valiantly they were compelled to retreat before determined assaults by the Japanese, and left 350 dead upon the field. The battle ended in the complete rout of the Russians. The loss of the Japanese is unknown.

Both Squadrons Out.

Immediate assistance was asked.

"The Taotai despatched troops and telegraphed the authorities at Hwanghsien and Tangchoufoo also to send assistance if required."

HOW TO REACH INDIA.

Kuropatkin Has a Complete Plan Prepared For Contingencies.

London, July 11.—The Daily Express to-day prints what it claims is Gen. Kuropathin's signed plan of invasion of British India, which, it is stated, was filed in the Russian war office as the official method of procedure in case of a war between Russia and Great Britain. The document goes into minute details and is three columns in length.

Briefly summed up, General Kuropatkin divided such a war into two campaigns, one ending with the capture of Herat and the other after two or three years' administration of the country, with the capture of Kashmir, Kandahar and Kabul. After that, says Gen. Kuropatkin, the British would find themselves without native support in India proper.

The plan deals minutely with the method Russia ought to adopt to secure the co-operation of the Persians and Afghans by an elaborate system of agents and sheikhs. It estimates that one Turkestan army corps would be required in the initial stage of the campaign, which "I should prefer to begin in November, as the weather is healthier for the men and all Russian ports are frozen. A casus belli can, any time when required, be found through a collision between Russian and Afghan outposts."

General Kuropatkin's alleged plan for the invasion of British India will not be taken very seriously, and if it be genuine, goes far to explain his fiasco in Manchuria.

NOMINATION OF PARKER.

New York's Chief Justice of Appeals Democratic Standard Bearer For President—Henry G. Davis For Vice-President

St. Louis, Mo., July 11.—At 5.45 on Saturday morning, Alton B. Parker, chief judge of the New York State Court of Appeals, was nominated by the Democratic convention as presidential candidate. On the first ballot he was given 658 votes out of the required 667, and the nomination was made unanimous. In the afternoon, however, a sensation was sprung when a telegram was received from Judge Parker, from Esopus, N.Y., stating that unless the convention would accept him as an avowed believer in the gold standard he must decline the nomination. After a conference of leaders it was decided to make it the sense of the convention that Judge Parker's attitude on the money question was fully understood by the delegates before he was placed in nomination, and that the telegram therefore disclosed no new feature. This was done.

Late in the evening Henry G. Davis of West Virginia, was nominated on the first ballot as vice-presidential candidate, and the convention adjourned sine die.

ORANGEMEN ATTEND ST. LUKES CHURCH.

Very Large Turnout of the Order Last Evening.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt Preached a Forceful Sermon—Scores Unable to Gain Attendance to Church.

St. Luke's church was far from being sufficiently large to accommodate the large crowd of people desiring admission to the church last evening. Every available seat was occupied while scores were standing inside and outside. The Orangemen of Peterborough and the surrounding district attended the service and listened to a forceful sermon by the rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, who chose for his text the verses, "For there is one God and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus," Timothy 2; 5, and "O Timothy keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and opposition of science falsely so called; which some professing have erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee," 1st Timothy, 6; 20 and 21.

The rector was pleased to see such a large congregation present and to welcome the Orangemen to the service. He hoped that the evening would be one of profit and instruction to all. When he saw a body of men like that gathered before him, calling themselves "Defenders of the Faith" he did not feel concerned nor afraid in saying that Protestantism would never die, but that its influence would continue to broaden and deepen. But there never was a time when the believers in the Lord Jesus Christ had to come forth more boldly in upholding their belief and have a clearer understanding of their position which they must not be afraid to defend. To resist by all lawful means the ascendency and encroachment of the Church of Rome, and in so doing to be careful to abstain from all unkind words or actions towards its members, was one of the obligations which the members of your Order undertake to carry out when each becomes a member, said the speaker. It was in a spirit of charity coupled with firmness that he desired to address those present. He wished it distinctly understood that he had no desire to stir up strife but he wanted British fair play and wanted to exercise the privilege of the faith which he believed without being abused. This country was a Protestant country and should resist all efforts to produce strife and hatred between the Protestants and Roman Catholics living in it. At no time was a clear understanding in reference to the Roman Catholics more needed than it was to-day in order to meet effectively their arguments. We should remember that the Protestant religion was the old religion and the Roman was the new. The true church of Christ was one body and hand one head, the Lord Jesus Christ. The claims of the Roman Catholics that their church was the mother of churches, were unfounded, for there was a church at Jerusalem before one existed at Rome. The charge was often made that the Protestants were divided, but they were more united in spirit and aim than the Catholics. The speaker was not in favour of organic unity among Protestants, as all could not agree in external church matters, but all were agreed in loving one God. The Protestants were united in having one Head of the church, were united in their belief of the Holy Trinity, of three Persons and one God, believed in one Bible as the foundation of their faith, and their only Guide to Heaven, believed in baptism and the Sacraments, were united in a true spiritual blood relationship to the Lord Jesus Christ, being one great family in Christ. There might be minor differences but these would not destroy the relationship to Christ, and, lastly, the Protestants acknowledged Christ as the only Sacrifice, and the One who died for the sin of the whole world.

The speaker made reference to several passages in the Roman Catholic Bible and books of devotion, making comment upon the same.

In closing the Rector urged the Orangemen to be steadfast in the faith, and allow nothing to induce them to weaken their hold on Protestantism, but be always loyal subjects of the Church of Christ, and when the commemoration of the Battle of the Boyne on the 12th would take place, they would feel with gratitude that they were commemorating an event which was the means of making many free to be loyal to Christ and His Church. Their motto of "No Surrender" should be always before them, and be carried out to the glory of the blessed name of Protestant, which would always stand as a monument to the works of the past and the blood shed by the martyrs. We should all rejoice in the heritage we have. May God bless you, and may we always exalt the Lord Jesus Christ as our only Saviour.

There was a very large turn out of the Orangemen, who were headed by their band of about twenty pieces.

The Question of Baldness.

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Duranwend of Toronto to Peterborough on Friday, July 15, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel renders it possible for any who wish to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalness of his wigs and toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the days and dates.

THE AUTOMOBILE NUISANCE ON COUNTRY ROADS.

Farm Journal.—The topic this month is again the automobile, or the woman's terror." We are hearing a great deal about what a nuisance the thing is in rural districts, in all parts of the United States. From across the river comes a report of an accident to the M. bodist minister of a small town, who was returning home one morning from church when two automobilists came around a curve and bore down upon him at a two-minute gait. He pulled his horse back on its haunches to the side of the road, but at the sound of the horn the horse broke a trace and started pell-mell through the town. Headed off by the village blacksmith, the horse, with the carriage attached, attempted to vault a rail fence. The animal broke a leg, the minister was severely bruised and cut, and the carriage wrecked. The horse was killed later to end its sufferings. The minister was rendered unconscious by the fall, and it was at first thought that he was seriously injured.

An Ohio subscriber writes: — "I wish you would keep on agitating this subject until our law-makers will take bold and compel auto owners to build roads to run the wicked things on, so we farmers can go out on our own roads without risking our lives. I am afraid to take my team out only when the road is too muddy for the auto. I have a fine mare, my wife and daughter could drive anywhere; she is afraid of nothing only the auto; now they cannot drive anywhere."

We can hardly express our indignation when we hear of the wrong done our people by the reckless drivers of these road machines. We know that farmers, their wives and daughters are being driven off the best public roads and forced into the byways, or obliged to stay home, or go on rainy days when the autos are not out, and the situation is getting worse all the time. Not one half of the auto drivers hold up for frightened teams, no one never knows when he is going to meet a crazy racer.

An Indiana subscriber writes:—"If a wild animal should escape from some circus and run at large on the public highways, the farmers would be apt to turn out with guns and drive it out of the country. If a traction engine is run on a public road the engineer is compelled to stop at a certain distance from an approaching team, whether there is danger or not. He has to get out of the road and shut off all steam. The automobile is a cross between the ferocious beast and the traction engine and "auto" be governed by the laws which apply to both. However, the auto is not all to blame. Perhaps the goggle-eyed specter who sits therein may have to answer for its depredations in a clime somewhat warmer than ours."

Another Ohio subscriber writes:—"In this part of the country it is not safe for a lady to drive out on the public roads for fear she will meet one. There are very few horses that will not get frightened at the sight, sound and smell of one."

This comes from one of our New York folks: "It seems to me that no racing speed should be allowed on public roads by any sort of vehicles, auto or wheelbarrows. I would suggest that the laws be changed to forbid the use of roads to any machine that can be driven faster than eight or ten miles an hour, and upon complaint proper authorities may give expert examination to any machine, and if it can be made to go faster it should be condemned. Let racers stay on race tracks."

A correspondent of the Ohio Farmer writes:—"It makes a man think to be thrown from a waggon suddenly as one of these scare horses comes along. I think my horse noticed it at least a quarter of a mile away, and as near as I can calculate it came as fast as forty or fifty miles an hour. I have no doubt my horse could have been driven on the streets of Cleveland, but he could not stand that lone monster in the quiet country. This bright sunshiny day has dried up the roads so that it would be nice to take a ride for pleasure; but that is not safe when the roads are dry and the weather fine, because the scare horse is very likely to be out. Four of us went twenty miles to Akron and back one day last year but it was a rainy day and the autos were not out. I don't enjoy having to stay at home when the weather is pleasant and do my riding about when it rains. But what can I do about it? The auto driver says I have just as good a right to the road as you.' It is true if he does not have anything with him that is a nuisance, but the auto is a nuisance on our country roads. If I want to exercise my bull on the busy streets of Cleveland, would they not declare it a nuisance, and I would have to take him away? The bull is not adapted to city conditions nor the auto to those in the country."

And this leads us to say that the opposition to the automobiles on country roads — they always take the best — will never cease, but will grow hotter all the time, until laws are passed in every state requiring all drivers of such machines to keep their rate of speed within reasonable bounds, to fetch up at the side of the road and halt when they meet teams, stop their engines and do whatever is within their power to avoid accidents, and to conserve the lives of those who drive horses. The auto racer who recklessly causes a runaway accident must be deemed an outlaw and not only fined, but be made to pay for all injury done, to the last penny, and the worst cases should be sent to jail into the bargain. Human life and limbs are to precious to be wantonly sacrificed to the auto craze.

SWAMP SOILS.

By Prof. R. Harcourt, Chemist.

Scattered here and there throughout Ontario there are many swamps, varying in size from a few acres to many thousands of acres. Originally these swamps were covered with such trees as, the ash, tamarack, willow, cedar, etc.; or bushes indigenous to the soil. They were low-lying and covered with water the greater part of the year. Consequently the fallen trees, dead bushes, and grass have not had free access of air to bring about their natural decomposition, and the partially decayed matter has, through long ages, accumulated until it is from a few inches to many feet deep.

In all cases these surface accumulations are rich in nitrogenous substances, but they contain no more mineral matter than the materials from which they were formed. They are, therefore, very likely to be deficient in potash, phosphoric acid, and lime, necessary for the full development of our cultivated plants, especially those producing seed.

During the last twenty-five years a large number of these swamps have been cleared and drained. Where the vegetable matter is well decayed and not too deep, good crops, even of cereals, may be matured after the soil has been cultivated for two or three years. The best results are obtained where the subsoil is clay and some of it has gradually become mixed with the top soil; but where the vegetable mould is deep or the subsoil sand or gravel, the results are usually not satisfactory. Crops such as hay and roots, which are not matured before harvesting, very often do well while wheat and oats will fail to produce seed. There are still other soils which fail to produce remunerative crops of any kind. The rank growth common on swamp soils is doubtless due to the excessive aomnt of nitrogen which is derived from the decaying vegetable matter, and the poor seed production is probably caused by the small amount of mineral matter present. In most cases, where a drained swamp soil dries out too much in the summer, the organic matter is not sufficiently decayed to form a close soil.

In recent years so many letters complaining of the unproductiveness of these soils have been received at the Chemical Department of the Ontario Agricultural College that we have decided to investigate the matter and see if any remedy can be suggested to increase their usefulness. For this purpose nearly 1,000 circular letters have been sent to farmers who own swamp soils. From the information contained in the answers received and the results of the analysis of a number of typical samples, and from pot experiments, we hope to be able to suggest some remedy, and next year to undertake co-operative experiments to test the efficiency of these remedies.

HEALY CALLED A TRAITOR.

Fiercely Attacks Redmond During Debate on Land Bill.

London, July 9.—In the course of a discussion of the Irish Land Bill in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, Timothy M. Healy, Nationalist, fiercely attacked John E. Redmond, the Irish leader, for selling his estate on the basis of twenty-four and a half years purchase. His remarks were greeted with a prolonged uproar and cries of "Traitor!" Mr. Healy said the Nationalists had honored him (Healy) by turning him out of the party in December, 1900. This statement was fiercely resented by the Nationalists, and Mr. Healy, who was unable to proceed, left his seat.

This boat, which was in charge of the second mate of the Norge, was eight days on the open sea. The party rowed the entire distance to the islands. All on board were exhausted and unable to stand when they landed. The Shetland Islands were sighted by the boat on Wednesday last.

"Quincy Tufts."

Lord Carnarvon, during his visit to the United States last year, took a commendable interest in all things. He was passing one day through a small Eastern town when he noticed the shop of a man called Quincy Tufts. Mr. Tufts was his name upon his sign in huge letters, and Lord Carnarvon misunderstood that odd name. He imagined that it represented some interesting object which he had never seen. Accordingly, entering the shop, the "distinguished foreigner said to the proprietor: "Pray, sir, what are quincy tufts? Show me some, won't you?"

FAULT OF OPERATOR

Rear-End Collision on the Erie Railway on Sunday.

17 KILLED AND ABOUT 100 HURT

Operator Failed to Set the Block-Signal, and Passenger Train Ran Into a Standing Train of Excursionists—Rear Car Was Torn Through By the Engine and Its Forward End Driven Into Car Ahead.

New York, July 11.—Seventeen persons were killed and about 100 were injured in a collision which occurred at Midvale, N.J., just before noon yesterday, when a regular passenger train on the Greenwood Lake branch of the Erie Railroad ran into an excursion train which had stopped to take water. All of the dead and injured lived in Hoboken, Jersey City and New York.

The accident is believed to have resulted from a tower operator having lowered his signal too soon, and this was admitted by D. W. Cooke, general passenger agent of the Erie Railroad, who gave out a statement in which he said: "The operator in the tower failed to set the block signal against the train following."

The train which was run into was a special carrying members of the First Plattdeucher Association of Hoboken on their annual outing, and had 800 passengers. The train consisted of twelve cars and two engines. The first engine had taken water and the train had moved up and stopped with the second engine beside the tank when the regular train drew near.

The flagman on the special signalled the engineer of the oncoming train, but owing to a curve in the road his flag was not seen until too late. It is claimed that the engineer of the regular train had slowed down to about ten miles an hour before he crashed into the special, but his engine tore through the rear car the greater part of its length and drove the forward end of that car into the car ahead. The killed and injured were in these two cars.

Excursion Train Wrecked.

St. Louis, Mo., July 11.—An excursion train on the Missouri Pacific was wrecked at Labadie, 45 miles west, last night by jumping the track. Three cars rolled down an embankment. No one was killed, but 38 persons were injured.

Thomas Storey Killed.

Winnipeg, July 11.—While walking in the C.P.R. yards on Friday afternoon, Thos. Storey, formerly of Smith's Falls, Ont., was struck by a yard engine and instantly killed. Deceased was on his way to see a new plastering machine at work. He was a prominent resident of Wawanesa, where two brothers reside. His father lives at Smith's Falls.

Found Dead.

Chatham, July 11.—The body of a young man, apparently about 25 years of age, was found on the G.T.R. tracks yesterday morning east of here by trainmen in a very badly mangled condition. Deceased had nothing in his clothes to identify him by. He had 85 cents in his pockets. From appearances, he was evidently a workman with the Forepaugh & Sells Bros. shows.

Barn Raising Accident.

Galt, July 11.—A serious, if not fatal, accident happened at a barn raising at Herbert Schlieter's farm, about two and a half miles east of Washington, on Thursday evening. At 8 o'clock the work was well on toward completion when a brace fell from the top of the framework. James Deans was standing on the ground below and was struck on the temple. The young man was rendered unconscious. He is in a precarious condition.

BRIDGE DIVER KILLED.

Son of An English Admiral Who Retired in 1881.

Tacoma, July 11.—Patrick Mardon lost his life while making a 75-foot dive from a bridge at Hoquiam. He fell into the water on his back. He was quickly picked up, but died in the hospital an hour later. Mardon's father, who was in the English navy, retired in 1881 with the rank of admiral. He is still alive and prominently connected with The London Daily Mail, The Freeman's Journal and the Harmsworth publications. The deceased was educated for the royal navy at the Woolwich Royal Navy Academy, where he graduated, serving as an officer on various ships until he resigned. It was his intention to have returned home this fall. The body will be buried at Hoquiam.

Jumped From 9th Storey.

New York, July 11.—Miss Bertha Dolber, 25 years old, of San Francisco, said to have been the daughter of the late S. F. Dolber, millionaire, jumped from a ninth-storey window of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Nearly every bone in her body was broken. Since her father's death a year ago, Miss Dolber has suffered with melancholia.

Imagination Killed Him.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 11.—A victim of his own imagination, James Henratty, a fisherman, is dead here, after drinking whisky which he thought was poison. He was just recovering from a long drinking bout, and Saturday night took a drink, to steady himself, from a bottle kept in a dark closet. Shortly afterward Henratty was seized with the conviction that he had taken poison. Terror gripped him, and he fell writhing in convulsions. He was dead when a doctor reached him. A post-mortem examination yesterday showed no trace of poison, and the remainder of the whisky was found to be pure.

In Woman's Favor

Few treatments stand so high in woman's favour as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This is not only because of the extraordinary control which this preparation has over diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, but also because of its power as a tissue builder. By weighing yourself while using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you can prove that new flesh and weight is being added to the body.

SEA BATHING.

Hints For Securing the Most Benefit From a Seashore Sojourn.

The sojourn at the sea, sea bathing and the fresh salt air play an important part, from a hygienic point of view, for they are exceedingly efficacious for certain ailments, and the season is not merely a time for distraction and amusement. Of course the salt air does not suit every one, and it is well to be cautious in the selection of a summer locality.

Medical opinion will quickly settle the point. It is wise to choose a maritime climate with a higher temperature than that of the place one lives in. Another rule is to wait a few days to grow accustomed to the air before indulging in sea bathing. This especially applies to children and delicate individuals.

The most favorable hours for the bath are between 10 and 11 in the morning or 5 o'clock in the evening, according to the tide or the particular locality. Only in rare cases should very small children be bathed in the sea.

It is well to go into the water directly yon have donned your bathing suit, wetting the head and feet thoroughly. Those who swim quickly get warm; the others must jump about. It is better to bathe in water just slightly agitated than to dive into whitecaps. In some places from five to ten minutes is long enough to remain in the water, though at others, where the water is warm, half an hour is not too long.

Dress as quickly as possible, wiping the skin dry with a towel without rubbing, so as to leave the beneficial ingredients of the sea water on the skin. If one does not get warm quickly it is wise to drink something hot. Children especially should have a small cup of broth or hot milk to restore circulation. In the south two baths a day are not injurious. In a colder, more bracing climate one is sufficient.

Hot sea water baths are very good in some cases and especially for weak constitutions preparatory to baths in the ocean. People with bad circulation can stand them when perhaps sea bathing is too powerful a tonic for their constitutions.

For children a smooth sandy beach is the safest, with little incline, so that they can enjoy playing about. They should go to bed soon after sundown and have a good night's rest. It is wise to interest them in "the common objects of the seashore," so many wonderful and beautiful things are to be found by intelligent seekers.

Children are fond of making collections of sea weeds and shells, and it is as well if parents are able to answer all their numerous questions concerning the treasure trove. It is impossible to exaggerate the benefits normally derived by children and others from a summer at the sea, such healthy appetites, bright sun kissed faces, strong lungs and limbs are taken back to the city.

A Bad Place in Court.

At a circuit court in an English county town a young countrywoman was under examination.

"Now, my good girl," said the advocate, "you say you were near the spot when the prisoner at the bar committed the act. Was any one with you at the time?"

"Yiss, yiss, my lord ant atvocate; my sweetheart was wis me."

"Courting, I suppose?" was again asked. "Is he here? We want corroborative evidence."

"Yiss, my atvocate ant lord; shust outside."

"We had better call him into court," here remarked the judge.

"No, no, my lord!" cried the witness. "Gootness, no! I can hartly get him to court me when we're alone, ant I'm sure he won't court me here afore you all."

$16,500,000 SURPLUS

Canada's Magnificent Financial Showing For Last Year.

ESTIMATES FOR THE CANALS

$100,000 Passed For An Electric Lighting System on the Welland Canal—Details of Intercolonial Railway Bridge Improvements Debated at Length—Nine Items Amounting to $1,332,800 Passed.

Ottawa, July 9.—A preliminary statement has been prepared by the Finance Department of the revenue and expenditure of the Dominion for the fiscal year up to June 30th. It shows that the Finance Minister was fully justified when in the course of his budget speech he estimated the prospective surplus of the year at $16,500,000. The accounts for the twelve months will not be finally balanced till the middle of August, but when they are the total revenue will be found to reach $71,000,000, and the expenditure on consolidated fund $54,500,000. There is a material gain in every revenue-earning branch of the service, with the single exception of the Government railways, which was accounted for by large increases in the pay of the employes, the increased cost of coal and the exceptional difficulties of operation last winter.

ESTIMATES FOR CANALS.

Electric Lighting System For the Welland —Nine Items Passed.

Ottawa, July 9.—Railway and canal estimates engaged the House the entire day yesterday, and although the various items were most thoroughly discussed the result was the passing of nine items, amounting to $1,332,800. The details of Intercolonial bridge improvements were again debated at length before the item of $385,000 was allowed to pass. A considerable time was occupied by the item of $100,000 towards and electric lighting system for Welland Canal. Mr. Lancaster, Conservative member for Lincoln, did not see the necessity for the change. Two of the items for the canal expenditures passed, and on Monday Government bills will have precedence.

No Holiday on the 12th.

Before the ordinary business was taken up in the House yesterday, Col. Sam. Hughes said that next Tuesday would be the 12th of July, a day honored by many people. Many members of the House desired to be away, and he asked the Premier to make it a holiday for the House.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied with a smile that he had no doubt his hon. friend would have to divide his attention between his duties inside and outside. There was no precedent for such a course, so far as he knew.

"Oh, you can create a precedent," replied Col. Hughes, but the matter dropped.

100,000 People Homeless.

Washington, July 9.—Acting Secretary Oliver of the War Department received telegrams yesterday from T. B. Wilbert of Kansas City, Kansas, and from Representative Bowersock of Kansas, representing that 100,000 people have been driven from their homes in Kansas City by recent floods, and asking that the commandant at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, be directed to issue rations as needed for the relief of the people. Brigadier-General Bell, in charge of the general service, and staff college at Fort Leavenworth, has been instructed by telegraph to investigate the situation and report at once the extent of the distress and the plan of affording relief.

John J. Long's Funeral.

Collingwood, July 9.—The remains of the late John J. Long were laid at rest in the family vault yesterday morning, to the great grief and regret not only of his sorrowing relatives, but of the entire town. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated in St. Mary's Church by the Rev. Father O'Leary, parish priest, and Father Moyas of Orillia and Jeffcott of Stayner. The pallbearers were Charles Cameron, Capt. P. M. Campbell, James Gullfoyle, W. H. Patton, J. M. Hopkins, Collingwood, and M Garthind of Stayner.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

Revelation of the Passion of Politics—Gold Plank Beaten.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—All that had happened in the convention up to the time Mr. Littleton concluded his address multiplied many times was almost as nothing compared to the hurricane that broke out when he mentioned the name of Alton B. Parker. On the part of the Parker delegates it was a revelation in the passion of politics. Like one man they sprang up in their chairs, with everything that could be waved tossed high in the air. The delegates tore their State emblems from the poles, and carrying them high overhead tramped around the hall again and again, cheering frenziedly.

When Bryan Scored.

The feature of the early hours of the day was the knocking out by the committee on resolutions of the gold plank which had been put in the platform. W. J. Bryan not only scored in the fight on the money plank, but secured a modification of the tariff plank. The platform is a compromise acceptable to all of the interests involved, and was adopted unanimously by the committee.

During the day these gentlemen were placed in nomination: Judge Parker, Judge Gray, W. R. Hearst and Gen. Nelson A. Miles.

Wreck on the Wabash.

Detroit, July 9.—Wabash trains 5 and 6, which left the Union Depot about midnight last night, collided on the Viaduct, near Eighteenth street. A Pullman sleeper was derailed and toppled off the elevation. It is reported that several were killed and many injured. The trains were bound for Buffalo and Chicago.

Mercury Found Body.

St. Catharines, July 9.—Last evening the searchers for the body of 17-year-old Edward Plumley, who was drowned Tuesday near lock No. 2 of the old canal, were rewarded. The body was recovered at Port Dalhousie, three or four miles away from the scene of the accident. A novel method was employed to find the remains. A loaf of bread containing quick-silver was put in the water and the loaf traveled to Port Dalhousie and remained stationary over the spot where the body lay.

Baby's Body in River.

Winnipeg, July 9.—A small boy fishing at the foot of Barber street yesterday morning found the body of an infant about three weeks old floating near the river's edge. There was an abrasion on the head, and it is thought the infant was killed before being thrown into the river. The body had evidently been in the water less than 24 hours.

DRESS AND FASHION

FRIVOLOUS AND FEMININE IS THE WATCHWORD OF THE MODE.

Elaborately Fashioned Picture Gowns of the Season—Ombre and Changeable and Flowered Patterns In Delightful Summer Fabrics.

Fashions are undeniably fussy and the dress of the day extravagant beyond a doubt, facts which apparently only add to the charms of the season. The Parisian vogue points decidedly to two extremes in the long basqued coats and skirts made in pastel cloths and canvas textures and the elaborately fashioned picture gown made in soft tiny checked silks, voiles and voluminously gathered silken cashmeres.

Two characteristic gowns of the season appear in the first sketch. The graceful frock worn by the sitting figure is carried out in changeable taffeta silk trimmed with appliques and narrow-spiky edgings of venetian lace. Madeira embroidery composes the sleeve flounces and square yoke. Black velvet ribbon forms vandykes around the waist and the treble framing to the square opening of the box plaited bolero in black velvet ribbon. One single piece of it is skillfully arranged in the manner of a chain.

My lady holding the dainty sunshade is gowned in champagne art linen or pique, set off with black lace tabs of various sizes, the longest on the skirt being fringed. The sleeve ruffles and jabot lapels are in silk muslin, elaborately embroidered. A black ruche in silk muslin defines the vandykes around the neck.

A charming model for a waist appears in the second sketch, a dainty confection of white lawn effectively inset with Irish crochet insertion, intersected by strappings of the lawn and with tucks on sleeves and bodice. In place of the white seasons of a year or two past the radiant colors of a sunset or the hues of a rose garden are suggested by an assemblage of summer toilets. Ombre and changeable effects reign in the new muslins, chiffons and voiles, and champagne and other light colors supersede the pure white. Muslins and organdies blossom out in rose, tulip and all sorts of flowered patterns of old fashioned beauty.

A quite pronounced decorative feature is being made of lines of ribbon velvet intersecting embroidered branches or trails of sequins, the ground being either net chiffon or crepe de chine.

AMY VARNUM.

Mashed Browned Potatoes.

The hashed browned potatoes so generally served at hotels as a breakfast or luncheon dish are simply prepared, but need careful handling. Chop fine six boiled potatoes of good size, adding a high seasoning of salt and pepper, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and three tablespoonfuls of sweet cream. Melt a small spoonful of butter in a frying pan and turn in the potatoes, pressing them out flat. Cook slowly without stirring until they are evenly browned on the bottom, carefully fold over like an omelet and rub a bit of butter over the top.—Table Talk.

Decoration For a Portiere.

Very decorative for portieres are all over designs of a disk shape, large rounds or rings outlined by heavy strands of crewel or floselles or flax threads, according to the ground wrought on, couched down with silk.

CORDAGE COMPANY EMPLOYERS PICNIC.

Annual Excursion on Friday was an Unqualified Success.

The annual excursion of the Canadian Cordage Company's employees on Friday, was an unqualified success, and all who attended enjoyed themselves to their heart's content.

It took eight well filled cars to carry the crowd to Lakefield, and the new steamer Stony Lake, was comfortably filled on the trip to and from Buckhorn. Arriving at Buckhorn the crowd scattered for dinner. Those who had not taken baskets enjoyed the hospitality of Eastwood's hotel, and all are loud in their praise of the bountiful table set at this well known hostelry.

An interesting programme of sports was carried out under the direction of an efficient committee. Donald Potter was clerk of the course, J. Carter, starter; H. L. Sutcliffe, referee and Rev. Dr. O'Brien, E. B. Fowler, J. Irwin and T. P. Connor, judges at the finish. The following are the winners at the different events:

Wilson's orchestra supplied excellent music for dancing and the younger members of the party enjoyed themselves with this pastime on the main deck of the steamer on the trip up and down. Coming into Lakefield cheers were given for the captain and the officers of the steamer as well as the Cordage Company and its officials. Peterborough was reached about 10.30 p.m. All voted the outings the most enjoyable of the season and are warm in their praises of the service of the Grand Trunk and its officials.

T. A. S. WON OUT IN THE EIGHTH.

Score was 5—4 on Saturday Afternoon —Both Pitchers in Fine Form—A Well Played Game in Kawartha League.

In the best contested and one of the most exciting games of baseball played at the Murray street grounds this season, the T.A.S. won from the Auburns in a Kawartha League game on Saturday afternoon by a score of 5—4 and practically cinched the championship of the League. The winners took an early lead but the Auburns crept up slowly and lead by 4—3 at the eighth, when the Total Abstemers got two runners over the pan, winning the game. The heavy rain put the grounds in a very slippery condition and the ball was greasy and difficult to handle, but nevertheless the game was a splendid one and the errors were quite excusable. Both Quinlan and McCorry twirled in fine shape and the hits were well scattered. Both had fine control, neither giving a base on balls while each fanned nine men.

The game was over an hour late in starting, much to the displeasure of the spectators. The late arrival of some of the players was the cause.

The game was not marked by any sensational features either in the fielding or hitting line. Long and Pilling made pretty running catches for the Auburns. A few bad throws to bases caused by the slippery ground were very costly for both sides.

The contest began about 5.15 o'clock. Doran grounded to first, Pilling fanned and Belleghem went out on a grounder in front of the plate. For the the T.A.S. Callahan flew to Pilling, Fitzpatrick grounded to McCorry and A. Latremouille fanned.

In the second, Cawthorne missed a trio of slants, Long got to first on three strikes, Latremouille missing the ball; but was caught stealing second and Oille grounded to Quinlan. For the T.A.S. Trainer flew to Pilling and Grady and Craig struck out.

The Auburns nearly scored in the third. Shaw beat out a hit to Grady, and stole second and third, McCorry fanned, Shurah got a poke in the ribs but Doran missed three and Pilling flew to left. For the T.A.S. Derocher flew to Pilling, H. Latremouille hit a warm one through Oille's legs, Quinlan hit to McCorry, who threw to centre field in an attempt to catch Latremouille at second; the latter scored and Quinlan went to third, Callahan missed three and Belleghem dropped the ball, but threw the runner out at first and Doran returned the ball in time to catch Quinlan at home.

In the fourth, Belleghem hit to Trainer, Cawthorne fanned and Long grounded to the pitcher. For the T. A. S. Fitzpatrick hit a grasser at Oille and was out, A. Latremouille beat out a slow hit, and Cawthorne bungled Trainer's grounder. Both scored of Grady's three bagger which went through Shurah's legs. Craig bunted and Grady was caught at home. Craig went to second on a wild throw and was put out running to third.

In the fifth Oille reached first on an error. Shaw sacrificed. McCorry singled neatly to left. Shurah fanned, and Oille scored on Doran's hit to right. Pilling flew out to Derocher. In the second half Derocher flew to Long. H. Latremouille was hit by a batted ball, and Quinlan grounded to McCorry.

In the sixth Belleghem was an easy out. Cawthorne fanned, Long beat out a hit to Quinlan. Callaghan dropped Oille's fly but Shaw flew to Grady. For the T.A.S. Long made a nice catch of Callahan's high fly, Fitzpatrick grounded to Doran and A. Latremouille struck out.

In the seventh McCorry hit a two bagger to left and stole third, while Shurah and Doran fanned. Pilling's single to left scored McCorry. Pilling stole second and scored on a passed ball. Belleghem got a life on Quinlan's error, but Cawthorne again fanned. For the T.A.S. Trainer and Grady struck out and Craig flew to Doran.

In the eighth, Long singled to right and stole second, but was doubled up on Oille's fly to Grady. Shaw hit to Quinlan and got to second on his wild throw. McCorry got to first on Quinlan's fumble. Shaw stole home by heady base running. Shurah fanned. The T.A.S. won the game in their half. Derocher beat out a slow one to short, Belleghem made a bad throw of H. Latremouille's hit in front of the plate, Derocher scoring and Latremouille going to third. Quinlan hit to Pilling, who made a nice pick up but could not catch Latremouille at home. Callahan got to first on Cawthorne's error, Fitz fanned, so did A. Latremouille. Quinlan was caught trying to steal home.

In the ninth, Doran struck out, Pilling flew to Callahan, and Belleghem grounded to Quinlan, and it was all over.

The teams were:

Auburns — Doran 1b, Pilling ss, Belleghem c, Cawthorne 3b, Long cf, Oille 2b, Shaw rf, McCorry p, Shurah lf.

T. A. S., — Callahan 3b, Fitzpatrick cf, A. Latremouille lf, Trainer 1b, Grady 2b, Craig ss, Derocher rf, H. Latremouille c, Quinlan p.

E. Pearse was umpire, and failed to satisfy either team many kicks being registered against his decisions. His views on balls and strikes were not of the best.

The score by innings:

These pupils are requested to call at Mr. Alex. Gibson's store, George street, and give particulars of the names to be engraved.

The judges experienced no small difficulty in making the awards, as some excellent specimens of writing were submitted. The writing, generally showed a marked improvement over that exhibited by the same classes two years ago, when a similar competition took place.

We understand that the same prize will be offered again next year. This should, and no doubt will, prove an incentive to the boys and ggirls to improve in writing, and thereby attain a much higher standard in that most useful art. The judges were Mr. Duncan Walker and Mr. Wm. Pringle.

CORP. RICKERBY WRITES.

Corp. Rickerby, who was injured in Cobourg, some few days ago while in attendance in the camp of the 14th Midland Field Battery, sent the following letter to the Examiner on Saturday, in reply to a letter from Capt. Ackerman. In an endeavour to do justice to both parties and not in a controversial spirit, the letter of Corp. Rickerby is published:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—I notice in your issue of the 5th, a letter written by Capt. W. C. Ackerman, criticising your account of the accident, which I met with at Cobourg. Among other things he laid emphasis on the bit with which the horse was bridled. His letter stated that it was the same bit that was used all the time in camp, in which statement he is mistaken, as I got it from Corp. Martin, the day we broke camp. The animal, as Capt. Ackerman states was very high spirited, and I venture to say that there were not more than two men in camp who could manage it. As for having experience in riding, I may safely say that I am not quite so inexperienced as the letter would seem to infer.

Thanking you Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
GEORGE RICKERBY.

LIFT LOCK OPEN TO TRADE OF CANADA

Largest Hydraulic Lift Lock in the World Opened Saturday.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, Presided at the Ceremony—Successful Operation of the Lock.

The event to which the people of Peterborough have looked forward for years, at sometimes it must be confessed, with but slight prospects of their hopes finding realization, but with the energy, for which they have become proverbial, refusing to believe that the great work would not be completed, took place Saturday, and now the great hydraulic lift lock, at Peterborough, on the Trent Valley Canal, is open to the commerce of Canada, declared so on Saturday, by Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals in the Dominion Government, in the presence of one of the largest crowds ever gathered in Peterborough, and in spite of the decidedly disagreeable weather conditions which prevailed during a portion of the day, the ceremonies incidental to the opening were successful, and everything passed off without a hitch of any kind.

For the first time in the history of the Dominion of Canada, or of America, for that matter, by the means of a lift lock, a steamer was in the short space of less than fifteen minutes, lowered sixty-five feet from one water level to another, and it is a matter of no mean cause for congratulation that the agencies making such a feat possible are the result of the application of scientific laws, by Canadian engineers, using Canadian materials, and the cost borne by Canadian money, administered by Canadians.

There has apparently been a misconception in the minds of many Canadian persons, that when any great engineering work was to be accomplished, it was necessary to import the brains to do it, and the fact that at Peterborough, a work of such proportions, the only one of its kind in America, and by all odds the largest in the world, has been constructed, as well as planned, by Canadians, and works eminently satisfactorily, will doubtless be a matter of no little surprise to those who have entertained ideas, which should henceforth be considered as casting reflections on the ability of Canadian men.

HON. H. R. EMMERSON,

While Peterborough feels a pride in the fact that there is located here, the only lift lock on this continent, this pride is greatly accentuated by the fact that to a Peterborough man, a man born and raised here, belongs the honour for having been responsible for its construction, and the further fact that in spite of the oft asserted belief that the lock would never work, an ample demonstration of its practical working capabilities was afforded Saturday, is additional cause for congratulations to the superintending engineer, Mr. R. B. Rogers, who, when he was receiving congratulations from all sides on Saturday upon his successful culmination of the work of years, might well have felt, though it is safe to assume that his modesty prevented the thought from finding expression, that his triumph was a well-earned one, and the Examiner gladly pays this tribute to the skill of a local gentleman. Nor in the passing around of the honours for the successful completion of this work, must be neglected mention of the efforts of Mr. Walter J. Francis, C.E., who under Mr. Rogers has had immediate charge of the work, and to whom in his capacity as engineer of hydraulic locks, a great deal of detail work in connection with the construction has fallen. That their work has been so signally successful, must be the source of gratification on the part of these men, as well as of others who have taken more or less prominent parts in the work of building this great engineering work.

A DOMINION DAY.

The opening of the lift lock on Saturday was a national day, in more senses than one. In the first place, the Department of Railways and Canals of the Dominion Government, under whose direction the work has been prosecuted, and the heads of which have evidently appreciated the fact that the Trent Waterway is a national enterprise, decided to make the opening of the lock, an occasion in which the members of parliament from all parts of the Dominion might see at first hand something of the magnitude of the work and recognize the necessity for a completion of the work begun, decided to make the opening an event in which these representatives of the people could participate. With this in view Hon. Mr. Emmerson organized a party in which were included members of parliament and senators from all parts of the Dominion, from Nova Scotia to the North West Porritory, prominent public men, and the largest gathering of newspaper men ever seen in Peterborough, to come and witness the ceremonies, of the opening.

This party arrived here about noon by the C.P.R. and the train was then taken charge of by the G.T.R. officials, and switched on to the latter's tracks, and at the station a number of extra coaches were attached to accommodate the addition to the party made here, and the train hauled by two engines proceeded to lock No. 5, on the Otonabee River, where lunch was served to about three hundred guests of the town and county.

Among those who were present were:—

The Examiner used every effort to obtain a full list of the guests but should any name be omitted, such omission is not intended.

After lunch had been taken the party embarked in the new steamer "Stony Lake" and the "Empress," both of which were waiting at the lock, the former in charge of Captain Scollard, and the latter commanded by Captain Robinson, both being piloted by Captain Morin, of the Government steamer "Empire," and sailed down through the canal to the Lift Lock. This section of the canal, though constructed some time ago, had never been traversed by a steamer larger than a yacht, until Saturday, when the two boats mentioned above with their distinguished party cut the waters of the canal, and rode safely to the lock. While so far as human agencies were responsible, the opening was satisfactory, the weather man was not so kind, and just after the steamers started on their trip down the canal, and while thousands of spectators were gathering at the lock, for the purpose of seeing the opening ceremony, the rain commenced to fall in torrents, and, during the whole period of time occupied by the trip, a very heavy rain fell, which, while it did not very seriously affect those on board the boats, created most uncomfortable conditions for the thousands who had gathered on Armour's Hill, and along the banks of the canal and lined the walls of the lock. The rain, however, did not drive the people away, and farmers, and others, whose houses the steamers passed along the route, were out to salute the illustrious party, and at the bridge crossing the Warsaw road, two little girls dressed in white, without any protection from the rain, but bound to see the first boats pass, were standing in the road, and received an ovation from the persons on the steamers for the determination displayed by them in thus doing honour to the visitors and the lock.

Shortly after the steamers arrived at the lock, however, the rain ceased, and the actual lockage of the first boat through the lock was performed under most pleasing conditions.

The steamer to which was given the honour of being the first to go over the lock was the Stony Lake, on which was the majority of the parliamentary party. The lockage occupied less than fifteen minutes, and the actual operation of lowering was less than four minutes. This was nearly two minutes more than were required, but this extra time was taken to ensure against any possible contingency. The operation of the lock was entirely satisfactory, and Hon. Mr. Emmerson, who was on the boat declared that it was a wonderful triumph of engineering skill, and as soon as the descent had been made hoisted up Mr. Rogers and warmly congratulated him on his success as did also a very large number of those on board. The successful operation was accompanied by round after round of enthusiastic cheers, and the hearty singing of "God Save the King." Mr. Rogers' house-boat "Lotus," with the "Rob Roy" made the ascent in the east chamber, simultaneously with the descent of the 'Stony Lake' in the west chamber. All the machinery worked perfectly, and nothing was lacking to make the opening a complete success.

The "Empress" soon followed the "Stony Lake," and after this lockage had been performed, Hon. H. R. Emmerson in a short address declared the lock open to the commerce of Canada, and for the benefit of the people of Canada.

A PRELIMINARY TRIP.

Preliminary to the official opening of the Lift Lock, the staff arranged a "trial trip" of the Lock, similar to the trials that take place in connection with all new great works, from a warship to a harbour tug. The trial took place about ten, the craft employed for the purpose being the Government yacht, "Empire," and Engineer Rogers' house boat, "Lotus." Those who took part in the trial trip included the construction staff, and others intimately associated with the work — Messrs. R. B. Rogers, C. E., Superintending Engineer of the Trent Canal, Phelps Johnson, Manager of the Dominion Bridge Company, W. J. Francis, C. E., Engineer of the Hydraulic Lift Lock; D. E. Eason, C. E., John Hays, foreman, Robert Ritchie, foreman, Alex. Richardson, Inspector and Superintendent; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rogers, Toronto, the latter, by the way, being the first lady to be taken through the Lift Lock; Harry Rogers, captain of the Empire; Jos. Young, engineer of the Empire; Thos. Kelly, time clerk of works; Herbert Rogers, son of the Superintendent; Engineer Sandford and Angus Richardson, sons of Inspector Richardson, Herbert Gale, Fred Mather and J. Armstrong.

When everything was ready Mr. D. A. Murphy, C.E., took his place at the "throttle" in the lockmaster's cabin, the Empire and Lotus were warped into the lock chamber, the valve was opened, and the descent to the lower level was made in two minutes. Everything went very smoothly and worked perfectly, the motion of ascending or descending is, to use a sort of paradox, perfectly motionless—that is, there is an utter absence of jar, or vibration, of any kind. A vessel filled to the brim with water, and placed upon the cabin of a craft ascending or descending, would not lose a drop, and as a lady who made the first ascent in the Lotus, as the Stony Lake was making the first official descent, remarked, one could have threaded a cambric needle as easily upon the descending craft as she could do in the quiet of her boudoir. Any person in either an ascending or descending craft, closing his or her eyes, is quite unconscious that he or she is rising or falling, through space. It is only by looking upon a stationary object that the motion is perceived.

The engineering staff had perfect confidence in the satisfactory working of the Lift, but to make assurance doubly secure took the precaution, as remarked, in connection with all similar enterprises, of making a test, which events proved was from a practical point of consideration, quite superfluous, because, at the official opening and official descent, everything worked as near perfection as is possible with a machine of human contrivance. Both the test and the official opening were a triumph, and it will be a source of admiration, and unending surprise, to see a monster mechanism, weighing altogether seven millions pounds, or 3,500 tons, controlled by one man's hand, descending through space as smoothly and gently as a brooding dove settling down to its nest.

WALTER J. FRANCIS,

THE OFFICIAL OPENING.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson, in declaring the Lift Lock open, said:—

"Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen, this demonstration is the result of engineering skill, while inspiring, almost commands everyone of us to stand in silence before it. We have been the favoured and fortunate witnesses of an event that will stand out in the history of Canada. (Hear, hear.). Not only are those directly interested, and all the people of Canada to be congratulated, but also the Empire itself in the accomplishment in Canada of a work, the first of its kind in America, and the largest of its kind in the world. (Cheers.) I am sure that our united congratulations go out to those who have had to do with the completion of this great work. I think I should first mention the name of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals — (hear, hear). — Mr. Schreiber, a gentleman who has been intimately connected with the great public works of Canada, and who has also been identified with the present enterprise. To those under him, who have had immediate control, are due our congratulations, and I have the privilege of extending to these gentlemen on behalf of all present, our warm and hearty congratulations on the success which has attended their efforts. (Applause.) It is events like the present which mark the progress of a country, and no event that has transpired in Canada illustrates so clearly the advance which we have made. Think of the advance which has been made within the last century in works of this kind. You have been reminded in the progress of this work of the fact that 300 years ago these waters were portaged by Champlain. You come down through the years and you have the present canal system. But if the people of Canada have reason to be proud of their canals, there is even a greater reason to exult over such a work as this. (Cheers.) I do not think that I should omit to extend congratulations to one who was associated with the initiation of this work. That gentleman, Hon. Mr. Blair, was Minister of Railways and Canals when the project was begun, and I am sure that the judgment which he, in common with the Department, exercised in carrying it on, reflects great credit upon him. (Applause.) We are recording history, recording an event which, as I said before, shows the advance that Canada is making, which is, in a measure illustrative of the growth of our country, the commercial energy and pluck of our people, and of the skill with which Canadians can carry out such works as this without any outside assistance. (Cheers.) This fact will certainly give us greater faith in ourselves, and we will have greater reason to conclude that we as a people, though young, are enabled to carry out even greater and grander works than that which now confronts us. I shall say no more, but simply declare this work open to the use of the people of Canada, dedicated as a public utility in the interest of trade and commerce, and in the interest of the business of the country. (Cheers.)

CANAL MUST BE COMPLETED.

Hon. Sir William Mulock, Postmaster-General, followed Mr. Emmerson, and said that he felt he could add nothing to the words that had been so well spoken, except to utter a hearty endorsation of them. He remarked that usually in affairs of this kind there was some hitch in the arrangement, but Saturday's event was, in this respect, an exception to the rule, because everything in connection with the opening had been satisfactory. Additional cause for gratification was found in the fact that Canada had supplied the skill that designed and constructed the Lock, and which had been so successfully opened, which was a testimony to the fact that Canadians are equal to the best. (Applause.) Canada leads the way in America, and America leads the world.

It is a significant fact that the first steamer that crossed the Atlantic was built in Canada, of Canadian wood, and with Canadian skill, and now again Canadians have conquered the waters, by the construction of the Lift Lock, also by Canadians.

Canada possesses great water powers, and these, if utilized, will transport the products of the Great West to the ocean, and will make Canada a great country. These water powers can be no better utilized than for this purpose. The Trent Canal, said Sir William, must not stop at the Lift Lock, (hear, hear, and applause,) but it must be extended, at both ends, until it will form a national waterway, and other canals must be constructed wherever they are needed, which will lead to a great development of Canada.

He paid a high tribute to the energy displayed by the people of the district in working for the completion of the canal. Though parts of three generations have been active in agitating for the canal, those living now were still working for it, and they may now enjoy the satisfaction of knowing that their work has been successful.

He hoped that they would continue until it would be possible for a boat to load with grain at Midland, and come through the Trent waters, and unload in ocean steamers at Montreal. (Applause.)

HOUSE FURNISHING.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF AN ARTISTIC AND PRACTICAL FEATURE.

Window Seats Must Be Well Planned. They Assist in Making the Living Room Cozy and Inviting—Box Seats For Bedrooms.

A seat built below a recess window is almost always justified by its pictorial effect even if it is not used to any great extent. The person of matter of fact tendencies is sometimes heard to object to this kind of seat because "when sitting in it one cannot look out of the window." Yet it is certainly true that often the visual enjoyment of a room that is tastefully appointed exceeds that afforded by a commonplace exterior view, the former prolonging itself indefinitely through artificial lighting, says the Delineator, in preface to the following suggestions:

To incorporate the window seat successfully within the architectural lines of the house it is necessary to realize the importance of this part of the interior fittings while the plans are in preparation. The remodeling of an old house sometimes makes the introduction of a window seat practicable.

Window seats, notwithstanding their popular appreciation, are rarely overdone. One may call to mind single rooms where the window seat contributed to the attraction, but the house is still to be built that is rendered distinctive throughout this feature. Window seats are disappointing when they are not properly located and when their construction is not rightly understood. A window seat in an entrance hall where no one sits and where it receives only casual attention is practically wasted. Formal rooms of the house make no especial claim for the window seat, but its presence in the living rooms is a means for securing cozy, inviting looking interiors. The best situation for the window seat must be a question for individual decision. The dining room has probably the most urgent claim when it is much in demand for afternoon or evening entertainment, and the picturesque quality of the window seat is always welcome among the conventional furnishings of this apartment.

Brick houses with walls eighteen or more inches deep offer the simplest solution to the making of window seats, but with walls of ordinary thickness good effects can be made by projecting a casement window outside of the running wall. This has been done, as in the illustration, where the window and seat combine with the fireplace to make a charming living room. Sometimes an uneven line of wall or a "jog" invites the introduction of a window seat, and the arrangement is made doubly satisfactory if it is inclosed like a box. In a bedroom a window box of this description is always available for storing unused underwear or shirt waists or extra bedding. In a living room it can always be utilized as a stowaway for articles that must be kept at hand, but out of sight.

In the construction of the window seat the primary consideration is the height. With a cushion laid over the top of the seat the distance from the floor should be less than if it is left uncovered.

TO RECLAIM ARID LANDS.

Mixed Farming Made Profitable by Investment of Millions in the West.

Writing from Calgary, G. C. Porter, The Toronto World's correspondent, says: The industrial development of Alberta is probably more marked in the progress of irrigation than in other schemes for the introduction of mixed farming in this section of the west. To-day this scientific problem that promises so much for the future of agriculture has been reduced to a practical basis. The territory affords an excellent example of the possibilities of the idea for all Canada. There are in Alberta 160 canals with a total length of 400 miles. The subject has assumed the proportions of a commercial proposition in this part of the Dominion. This method of reclamation of the semi-arid region illustrates the evolution of the theory as applied in the Northwest Territories. What is more significant is the tremendous undertaking by which the C.P.R. is preparing to irrigate a solid tract of land 150 miles long by 60 wide. It means the investment of some $5,000,000, employment of hundreds of high-salaried laborers and the ultimate opening to diversified farming of 3,000,000 acres. This is the colossal scale upon which preparations are being made for the reception of the thousands of new settlers crowding into Southern Alberta. It is an enterprise involving the future prosperity of thousands of families. The contracts have been awarded, preliminary preparations have been made and the completion of twenty miles of the great ditch is assured this year.

Eighty miles more of the big ditch will be excavated next year. It is expected to put this property on the market at from four to five dollars per acre for grazing lands and about ten dollars for irrigated lands. In other sections where farming lands under irrigation are purchased, the tracts are disposed of under a contract to furnish water at an annual rental of not to exceed fifty cents an acre. That assured a profitable basis of operation. This is the plan followed by the Alberta Coal Company, and the Mormons find the experiment exceedingly profitable. The main ditch will be sixty feet wide at the bottom and will carry ten feet of water. All these elaborate operations will be carried on east of Calgary, and mean the introduction of mixed farming in a contiguous area of 400,000 acres. Dairying and grazing are to-day the chief industries in the section that is to be covered by the irrigation ditch. This artificial waterway will be the largest in the Dominion, and carrying a greater volume of water over a greater distance than any irrigation enterprise on either side of the line. Until this land is placed under irrigation the company is renting sections from four to ten cents per acre, according to quantity desired. It is one of the interesting features of the science of irrigation as applied in the west that the grain yields are regular and double that of the wheat fields of Manitoba. Ontario farmers who have investigated the subject in this section have expressed the belief that intelligent ditch building in some parts of Eastern Canada would be found so profitable that once introduced it would never be abandoned. It becomes merely the difference between certain moisture whenever desired, and the caprice of nature. One dry season in every seven years, it is asserted, will destroy enough farm products to pay the expense of constructing an irrigation ditch on a farm of 160 acres in Ontario naturally situated for the diversion of a small stream. This is one of the unique subjects that the success of irrigation in the west is making prominent. There are several instances in Southern Alberta where farming in a small way has been found immensely profitable by the most primitive methods of irrigations, such as raising water by means of a windmill over heavy obstructions. The solution of this problem is an element of no inconsiderable importance to the agricultural development of Alberta.

The Very Man.

Of an eminent English statesman who was a very dull speaker Lord Ashbourne once told this story: "He was making a very dull speech one evening, when I remarked to a member of the Cabinet on the dreariness of the performance. 'He is an admirable man,' was the reply. 'I wish we had him.' 'What would you do with him?' 'Do with him? Send him to Ireland of course. He would disperse any unlawful assembly in five minutes.' "

Fish Slides Should Be Compulsory.

A large number of speckled trout of large size have been caught in Clarksburg and up the river this year, which old fishermen say is due to the Thornbury dam being out. When rebuilding it would be much easier to put a proper fish slide on than to do so afterwards. We mention this, as we understand a movement is on foot at Heathcote and Kimberley to compel owners of dams to make provision for fish to get up and down, and it's better to have it settled without delay one way or the other.—Clarksburg Reflector.

STANLEY'S GARDEN MODEL.

Reminder of the Tollsome African Journey in Search of Livingstone—Spent Much of His Time on the Toy.

The countryside is radiant with furze bloom all about the little village of Pirbright, and near here, on a slope of pleasant country, is Furze Hill, the country seat of the late Sir H. M. Stanley.

The great explorer chose well his retreat during the last year of his active and adventurous life. The house is a fine mansion of brick, stone faced, of a fashion something Elizabethan, and about it are spacious green lands. By contrast with the aching sunlight and the blighting heat of Africa, it is paradise in a ring-fence. But the man who discovered Victoria Nyanza and spooned the Congo to its source, could not forget the wilds that gave him fame.

So, in the garden-reaches below the house he had the ground laid out to keep Africa in mind. Mr. Muirhead, the steward of the estate, carried out the work, following the map to which Sir Henry added such substantial areas, and now a miniature Congo drowses in a bed of cement through English underwoods and a winding path between Hawthorn and dog-rose leads one to a summer-house on the topmost crest of the Mountain of the Moon.

What this dwarf Congo lacks in breadth it makes up in depth. In the middle of its widest part—where the mighty river is a dozen yards from shore to shore—it is 12 feet deep. There has been no slavish adherence to geographical detail in the design; that was impossible from the first, through the nature of the ground and the size of the original; and the Congo of Pirbright runs around half an acre of island, which the spring has turned into a thicket of young green.

At one place, the Congo turns into the Zambesi, and its waters thunder over a five-foot concrete fall in imitation of the Victoria Falls. When Sir Henry was in residence, there were canoes and a punt on this water, and the youngest members of the family took their turn at solving the riddle of the Congo and cutting their way to the roof of the world on the Mountains of the Moon.

Higher up in the grounds in Victoria Nyanza, a fine sheet of water, from whence issues, as is due and proper, the River Nile. A bridge spans the lake, and there are boats on it, and in this model the Congo itself draws its water from Victoria Nyanza. The whole scheme cost a very large sum, and was an idea in which Stanley himself took the greatest interest.

He spent many an afternoon, alone or in company with his wife, in the summer-house on the Mountains of the Moon. From there the whole of the elaborate and costly toy can be seen, and it is curious and not a little pathetic to think that the man who bored a road through the bleak hostility and imminent dangers of an unknown country should derive pleasure by means of channels and islands in an English garden, Congo, Nile, and Zambesi! There were names that had the force of technicalities for him—they were a part of his trade—and when he had used them, he made them in miniature to keep by him, as an old sea captain keeps a glass-cased model of his ship.

It was essentially his alone. If you ask a villager of the matter you get a blank stare. "Congo? I don't know nothing about no Congo," is your answer. "It cost a heap of money," is the first comment of the men on the estate, and it is only those who had a hand in making it who know which is Congo and which is Nile. It has taught no geography and aroused no local interest. It was Stanley's toy, his momento of days when he carried lives in his hands and pushed the borders of civilization further and further apart.

The reason that some people can't think is because they don't know how.

Required Help to Move in bed

Was a Great Sufferer and Almost in Despair—New Hope and Strength Came with the Use of

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

This great food cure is doing wonders for weak, worn-out and discouraged women.

Many medicines which are prescribed in such cases are merely stimulants which give temporary relief and arouse false hope.

Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food actually forms new, rich blood and increases the vitality of the body, its benefits are thorough and lasting and its cures permanent.

Mrs. M. A. Clock, Meaford, Ont., writes:—"Three years ago I became very much run down in health and suffered from weak, tired feelings, indigestion and rheumatism. At times I was so badly used up that I required help to move in bed. While sick and down hearted I received Dr. Chase's Almanac and sent for some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

"Under this treatment I soon began to improve, and by the time I had used eleven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was happy to find myself strong and well again. I often think of what a lot of money I spent for medicine which did me no good, and believe I owe my life to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I hope women who suffer as I did will benefit by my experience and use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

"Good gracious!" cried Dolly, getting to her feet, with very pink cheeks. "I wonder"—

Sanford lifted his hat with one hand and simultaneously held out the other.

"I'm afraid you don't quite remember me, Miss Kensington," he began.

"Remember you? Remember you, Billy? Why, it's only three years since—oh, do say that you have but just come out; that you did not really see"—

"Certainly not," returned be promptly. "After the rain the deck is fearfully slippery. As a matter of fact, I have just succeeded in picking myself up from it."

Dolly laughed softly and plunged five rose tipped fingers through a tumbled heap of sun blond hair.

"You haven't changed at all," she remarked, slipping deftly into the most convenient chair.

Sanford regarded her closely for the space of half a minute, a light that was not unfamiliar there leaping swiftly to his eyes.

"No," he said, quite grave; "not the least bit—not in any respect."

D lly's lashes, long, blue black, flickered momentarily over the smoke colored eyes. "Not really?" she questioned in a musing tone.

"And you, Dolly," he pursued, alert, tentative—"you have not changed either, I presume?" He took the camp stool opposite her.

A minute's pause, broken only by the rush and swirl of water against the sides of the ship.

Presently Dolly glanced up. "I have not changed, Billy," she replied. Her voice was low, sweet, easy. Her gaze slipped dreamily out to the limitless expanse of quivering, jeweled water.

For some time both were silent, studying the truculent breakers with retrospective eyes.

"And by that I am to infer that you will never"—

"I'm afraid I never shall," responded she.

Sanford smiled, a trifle enigmatically, and looked down at his strong, sea tanned hands.

"Still in the quest of the ideal, I see," he observed after a little, his keen gray eyes shifting transiently along the deck rail.

"So to speak," acquiesced Dolly, following his gaze.

"One might just as well chase rainbows," grumbled Sanford, digging clumsily into his pocket for a cigar. "May I?" he inquired politely.

Dolly nodded, catching her full lower lip under a curved row of milk colored teeth. "To judge by your remark," she commented, with a sudden inflection of ire, "one would think that I was—am—a—that"—

"Not at all," corrected he emphatically. "Very brilliant persons frequently foster illusions. It is an infallible sign of a theosophic mind, though commonly speaking"— He broke off lamely.

"Ye-es?"

"Well, a mistake, I should say."

"People learn by mistakes."

"But scarcely ever profit by them. Experience generally comes too late for—the train."

"I have somewhat modified my ideas," conceded Dolly after a pause.

"As to"—

"Ideals, of course."

"And may I ask—you would not mind telling me whether you are any nearer the—whether you have really"— He looked at her helplessly, a shadow of dwindling hope across his face.

"Not an iota nearer," she cut in, with some abruptness.

Sanford smoked complacently for several seconds. The sun dropped steadily in the west, casting a weird copper glow over the thin, keen, expressive face. Dolly watched him furtively for a little, her gaze gradually shifting to the great plunging emerald columns of sea water, scattering sheets of opal spray and filling the air with salt fragrance.

"What takes you to New York, William?" she asked after awhile, with a sudden assumption of casual interest.

Sanford did not at once reply. A queer little smile developed about the corners of his mouth as he looked at her half averted profile.

A long silence ensued. When Dolly looked toward him again, there were tear traces in her eyes. She held out her hand.

"Let me congratulate you, won't you?" Her voice was studiedly low to hide its meaning. "Who is the—the lucky girl, Billy?"

"The woman I love," he replied sententiously, drawing her fingers into both his hands and holding them close.

Dolly flushed, snatching them away sharply.

"Don't!" she cried. "It's—it's mean of you!"

"By the way, Dolly," asked Sanford, "what are you going to New York for?"

She regarded him narrowly for an instant through contracted lids.

"Why, I'm going to be married, too," she returned, with a wee laugh. "And it's—a—a sort of disgrace, Billy," she hurried on. "I've half a mind to tell you the truth about it."

"Do."

"The man—I—well, it's some one I've been writing to for a long time. I live there now, you know, but I've been away all summer. He—he lives in the south—New Orleans. Perhaps you know him—Ford, Jack Ford, is his name."

"Oh!"

"You do know him, then?"

"I've heard of him," said he circumspectly.

"He's my ideal," explained Dolly, with a charming blush.

"He certainly isn't the sort of fellow you would have married—once."

"How do you know that? You said you had merely heard of him."

"Your requirements were pretty ironclad."

"I told you, did I not, that I had modified them?"

Sanford stared at her quizzically for a moment. "You also told me that you never would; that there was no one"—

"I've changed my mind," snapped Dolly. "That's the prerogative of wise men—and women."

Sanford rose slowly from his chair and stood for a second at the back of hers, looking down at the silk rumple of sun blond hair.

"You haven't exactly set the day yet, dear," he ventured mildly.

"And, pray, how do you know that, Mr. Sanford?"

"At least I have received no letter." He bent his head to the mutinous rose face, then lifted it suddenly.

"What is your ideal, Dolly?" he asked curiously.

"A man who is a real man," said she softly, "one who would do anything, all things, in the great round world to win the girl he loves—who would even go so far as to get some other person to write his letters, forgetting to disguise his little tricks of expression—who"—

"At least," he broke in, "I didn't use a typewriter, an old one with the p and q all out of alignment, just such a one as we used to practice upon ten years ago. Remember when we studied shorthand together that"— "I don't remember a thing about it," interrupted Dolly, two pink roses slipping softly into her cheeks. "I never even think about those— Do stop, Billy! I'm sure I hear the last call for supper!"

There was a cry in the streets. People rushed from their doors and strained their eyes on the struggling balloonist fighting for life. Even the poor, panting sufferer in the sick room was forgotten while the family gazed breathless at this strange tragedy of the air. Then they went back to the sick room to tell of the terrible struggle for life they had just witnessed. It did not occur to them that under their very eyes a more terrible, more pathetic struggle was going on daily.

There can be nothing more pitiful than the struggle the consumptive makes against disease. The greatest help in this struggle is gained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures obstinate coughs, weak and bleeding lungs, emaciation, and other ailments which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

"In 1898 one of my daughters was suffering on account of a severe cough, hectic fever, wasting of flesh and other symptoms of diseased lungs," writes Rev. Joseph H. Pesperman, of Harlem Springs, Iredell Co., N. C. "I promptly gave her Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with gratifying success, and she now enjoys excellent health. This being true, I hereby heartily endorse your medicines."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery."

ADVOCATES ARBITRATION.

English Lawyer Trying to Awaken Interest in Treaty—Recently Spoke at Canadian Club in Toronto.

The pioneer in bringing about the Anglo-French treaty, was Mr. Thos. Barclay, a prominent English lawyer of London and Paris. Mr. Barclay came to America with the Moseley Educational Commission some weeks ago, and has remained here promoting, with much persuasiveness and apparent success the idea of a new treaty between England and the United States.

At a recent luncheon of the Canadian Club in Toronto he gave an interesting address on the subject which lies nearest his heart. In the course of his address he said that at the time of the Fashoda incident and later, during the Boer War, he had, as president of the Paris Chamber of Commerce, sought to impress upon the business men of both countries the disastrous effect which war would have upon their trade. He found them quite ready to endorse an arbitration treaty, and their representations to the two Governments had considerable effect in expediting the arrangement of the treaty. Dr. Barclay said that his visit to America was made for the purpose of sounding public opinion in the United States and Canada with regard to the possibility of securing an arbitration treaty between the two great Anglo-Saxon nations. He had found that the United States Senate would be a hard body to convince. England would not again propose such a treaty, and any advances must come from the United States through Canada. It was to Canada's advantage that such a treaty should be secured, to prevent the repetition of a certain recent settlement which was not an arbitration at all. Dr. Barclay said that many portions of the States favored closer relations with Canada, and a group of Congressmen at Washington had resolved to bring weight to bear on the Senators in order to facilitate the adoption of a treaty. Dr. Barclay thought that when the United States has assimilated its foreign population the two countries would get along better, and closer union would follow between Great Britain, Canada and the United States.

Joseph's Well.

At Dothan, in upper Palestine, is a pool which has refreshed the traveler for centuries. It is the well of Joseph. Its environs form a dreary enough prospect. Above it is a low, insignificant hill upon whose summit cluster a few miserable mud huts, and at the base is the sordid anachronism of a puffing steam mill, while away from it stretches in all directions the faint toned, almost lueless expanse of the Syrian landscape, long reaches of palest blue and gray and yellow, with only an occasional blotch of brilliant color in the foreground. Dreary and waste and sad indeed is the scene to the eyes of the flesh, but to the eyes of the spirit that squat, bald hill becomes a veritable Mount of Visions—visions a thousand times more real and vivid than the spectacle of mud huts and steam mill and rocky wastes.—Metropolitan Magazine.

Ideas of Beauty.

The idea of beauty in children is strangely varied. A teacher at a certain school gave thirty children five minutes to think over the most beautiful thing they ever saw. Five chose the moon and stars, two the sun and one the setting sun. One of the five who chose the moon stipulated that he meant only the full moon. Two children chose flowers, two scenery and two birds. Not one chose a human face. The snow, the rain, a butterfly, a tiger's skin, salt, silver and gold, a brooch and pink silk all had one vote each.

The First Kindergarten.

The first kindergarten was opened in 1840 at Blankenburg, Prussia, and, like most innovations, met with scant encouragement and considerable opposition, but it gradually gained a footing in the best educated countries, and its progress more recently has been rapid.

JACQUES CARTIER.

In the seaport of St. Malo, 'twas a smiling morn in May,
When the Commodore, Jacques Cartier, to the westward sailed away;
In the crowded old cathedral all the town were on their knees
For the safe return of kinsmen from the undiscovered seas;
And every autumn blast that swept o'er pinnacle and pier
Filled many hearts with sorrow, and gentle hearts with fear

A year passed o'er St. Malo—again came round the day
When the Commodore, Jacques Cartier, to the westward sailed away;
But no tidings from the absent had come the way they went,
And tearful were the vigils that many a maiden spent;
And manly hearts were filled with gloom and gentle hearts with fear
When no tidings came from Cartier at the closing of the year.

But the earth is as the future, it hath its hidden side,
And the captain of St. Malo was rejoicing in his pride;
In the forests of the north—while his townsmen mourned his loss—
He was rearing on Mount Royal the fleur-de-lis and cross;
And when two months were over and added to the year
St. Malo hailed him home again, cheer answering to cheer.

He told them of a region, hard, iron-bound and cold,
Nor seas of pearl abounded, nor mines of shinging gold;
Where the wind from Thule freezes the word upon the lip,
And the ice in spring comes sailing athwart the early ship;
He told them of the frozen scene until they thrilled with fear,
And piled fresh fuel on the hearth to make them better cheer.

But when he changed the strain—he told how soon is east
In early spring the fetters that hold the waters fast;
How the winter causeway, broken, is drifted out to sea,
And rills and rivers sing with pride the anthem of the free;
How the magic wand of summer clad the landscape to his eyes,
Like the dry bones of the just when they wake in Paradise.

He told of the Algonquin braves—the hunters of the wild;
Of how the Indian mother in the forest rocks her child;
Of how, poor souls, they fancy in every living thing
A spirit good or evil that claims their worshipping;
Of how they brought their sick and maim'd for him to breathe upon;
And of the wonders wrought for them thro' the Gospel of St. John.

He told them of the river whose mighty current gave
Its freshness for a hundred leagues to ocean's briny wave;
He told them of the glorious scene presented to his sight
What time he reared the cross and crown on Hochelaga's height;
And of the fortress cliff that keeps of Canada the key—
And they welcomed back Jacques Cartier from the perils over sea.

—Hon. Thomas D'Arcy McGee.

Dinners in the Sixteenth Century.

State banquets became very elaborate and expensive in the earlier half of the sixteenth century, which was the period of pageants and mumming. Excesses in feasting in Edward III.'s reign were so great that the King framed rules forbidding any common man to have dainty dishes or costly drinks at his table. He did not, however, practice economy in his own household, for the marriage feast of his third son, Lionel, Duke of Clarence, was exceedingly sumptuous. There were thirty courses to it, and the fragments sufficed to feed a thousand people.

349 George St. Peterboro

LIFT LOCK OPEN TO TRADE OF CANADA

time, and in his travels through the Trent Valley he had formed the opinion that the ends of the canal should be opened, and the whole work completed at an early date. Large sums of money had already been spent, and it was imperative that in view of this fact the whole project should be completed. He congratulated the people of Peterborough on the achievement represented by the Lift Lock, and hoped that the whole work would be pushed to completion. He always tried to be practical, and in looking at the Trent Canal from that standpoint, he could see nothing but what advocated its completion.

PETERBOROUGH'S IMPORTANT POSITION.

Senator Kerr, K.C., of Cobourg, father of Mr. F. D. Kerr, was the next speaker, and his address was a humorous one, and it also contained some food for reflection. He remarked that before coming forward to speak, a young man in whom he was considerably interested had told him not to speak more than one minute. He said he would like to congratulate Peterborough upon what had transpired to-day. He believed that Peterborough occupied an important place in the business of Canada; America was the best place in the world, and Canada was the best country in this hemisphere. Ontario was the best province in the Dominion, and Peterborough was the best of the whole thing. (Laughter.) He wanted to see the northern sons of the country developed, and one step in this development was the Trent Canal. He referred in high terms to Sir Sandford Fleming, to whom, he said, great credit was due for the part he had taken in the development of Canada. He thought this was a red-letter day in the progress of the country, and remarked that that day's events had proven that it was not necessary to go abroad for engineering skill. He promised, amidst laughter, that he would not give the ministry peace night or day until the canal had been completed. (Applause.)

HAD WAITED LONG.

Hon. Senator Cox was then called upon, and on rising remarked that he regretted that Hon. Mr. Blair would not accede to the request for an address, since it was under his jurisdiction that the work on the Lift Lock was started, and he would like to congratulate him upon this fact. He remarked humorously that the delay was the authority of Mr. Blair that "Cox cannot wait," but he said he had waited a long time for the completion of the canal, and was pleased that those had been who were sufficiently interested to push on this great work. The Senator said that his object in speaking was to congratulate Mr. Rogers and Mr. Francis upon the magnificent success of the undertaking, and closed by expressing the hope that the whole canal would soon be completed.

A WELCOME TO THE VISITORS.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, who followed, said that this was not a Provincial day, consequently he did not propose making a lengthy address. It was a Dominion day in more ways than one. As a citizen of Peterborough he was glad to co-operate in welcoming the ministers of the Dominion Government, the Senators, Members of Parliament, and all the visitors. This was an important event in the history of Peterborough, the citizens of which had looked forward for years to the completion of the canal, and the formal opening of the Lift Lock. The events of this day should impress upon the Members of Parliament present the necessity for an early completion of the work. He was glad to hear from both of the Ministers who had spoken that they intended to press for the completion of the canal, and assured them that the people intended to hold them to that statement. With the Trent Canal an accomplished fact the Canadian wheat from the Northwest could then find its outlet to the markets through Canadian territory, all the way. He was sorry that time would not permit to show the visitors the great chain of waters to the north, which formed part of the Trent Waterway. He closed by thanking the Mayor for the opportunity of welcoming the ladies and gentlemen to this pleasing function.

Mayor Roger, in a few words, added his welcome to that already extended, and the public character of the event closed.

The "Stony Lake," with those of the party who had not to leave on the early train, on board, then went for a sail down the river, going as far as Crawford's Grove, the boat being piloted on this trip by Captain Harris, of the "North Star." Upon the return of the boat to the C. P. R. wharf carriages were in waiting, and the party was taken to the Snowden and Oriental Hotels, where dinner was served, and at eight o'clock the special train left for Ottawa, carrying the party which came from that city.

At the Snowden House a short programme of toasts was held, presided over by Mayor Roger, who remarked that the time would not permit of a lengthy list of speeches. He proposed the toast to the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals, Mr. H. R. Emmerson, and expressed his great satisfaction and pleasure at being able to welcome the Ministers, and the distinguished party of parliamentarians. Hon. Mr. Emmerson replied in a short, but happy speech, saying that it gave him great pleasure to be present. He congratulated the town of Peterborough on the evidences of industry and progress displayed. It was located in such a position that its future was assured. The honourable gentleman remarked that he had been so impressed with what he saw that he intended at the first opportunity to come back and take a trip over the whole stretch of water forming the Trent Waterway, and obtain a personal knowledge of this important work under the charge of his Department.

Hon. J. R. Stratton then proposed the toast to Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, and in doing so congratulated the head of the Department, Mr. Schreiber, Mr. Rogers, Mr. Francis, and the staff of the canal upon the successful completion of the work. He stated that the people of this district, both Liberals and Conservatives, were bent upon securing an early completion of the canal from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario.

Mr. Schreiber had left the dining room prior to this toast, and in his absence Mr. R. B. Rogers responded, stating that he was not a public speaker, but thanked the proposer of the toast and the guests for their kind references to the staff of the canal.

Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., of Lindsay, proposed the toast to the Mayor and in doing so congratulated the town upon the completeness of the arrangements. Everything possible had been done to ensure the comfort and pleasure of the guests, who, he said fully appreciated the kindness shown. The Mayor replied briefly.

Col. Kaulbach, M. P., of Nova Scotia, proposed the toast to the ladies of the town and county in a neat speech, and after singing "God Save the King," the company dispersed, the visitors going to the train.

The Minister of Railways and Canals, upon whose invitation those who were here from Ottawa came, expressed himself as being amazed at the stupendous character of the Lock, and said that he considered it nothing short of wonderful in its working. It is safe to assume that the Members of Parliament who were here, went away with a very much enlarged store of knowledge on the Trent Waterway, and a greater appreciation of its necessity as an addition to the transportation facilities of the country.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, secretary of the Manufacturers' Association, was on hand on Saturday dispensing information to the visitors and distributing literature explaining the great advantages of the canal.

The committees which had charge of the arrangements representing the town and county, were:

Warden E. A. Peck, County of Peterborough; Mayor G. M. Roger, of the town of Peterborough; Ald. R. F. McWilliams, chairman; Aldermen H. Rush, Frank Adams, and Henry Best; County Councillors G. W. Fitzgerald, T. M. Hunter and T. F. Johnston; R. B. Rogers, Superintending Engineer Trent Valley Canal; D. Hughes-Charles, President Peterborough Board of Trade; F. D. Kerr, Chairman Manufacturers' Committee and S. R. Armstrong, secretary.

The lock will not be open until Thursday or Friday for traffic; some slight adjustments having to be made.

The dredge upon which there were a number of guests, Saturday, was to have been taken over the locks, but by a misunderstanding this was not done, although it was fully intended that it should have gone over the lock.

The Band of the 57th Regiment was on hand to meet the visitors at the G.T.R. station, and afterwards was at the Lift Lock, and accompanied the "Stony Lake" down the river, and also played the visitors away as the special train pulled out of the C.P.R. station at eight o'clock.

The "Rob Roy" with the following party on board made the ascent with the house-boat, "Lotus,"—Capt. Roy, Fred Roy, J. Craig and son, George Matthews, Mr. Askey, J. Wilson, R. Loos, A. Patterson, A. Payton, H. Morgan, H. Rye, A. Hall, R. E. Layfield and several others.

The town was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the work being done by Mr. A. Kingscote, while many private residences were also very prettily arrayed in honour of the auspicious event. At the Lift Lock flags and bunting were present in profusion, and a numer of tents had also been erected for the accommodation of the guests by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons.

Mr. D. A. Murphy, superintendent for the Dominion Bridge Company, was at the lower when the first lockage was made, and successfully performed the duties of lock-master. Mr. Murphy deserves a great deal of praise for the successful completion of the work. He has been a very busy man during the past few weeks, and the fact that his portion of the work, as well as others, is satisfactory, is a cause for gratification on his part

A Fairly Intelligent Dog.

They were talking of the sagacity of dogs.

"My Irish setter saved me a curtain lecture by posting a letter for me the other day," said Longbow, going the last speaker "one better."

The others tried to look as though they believed him.

"Fact," he continued. "Wife gave me a letter to post at breakfast; told me it was very important; warned me not to put it in my coat pocket—calls my pocket her dead letter office. Well, I didn't. I left it on the hall stand; remembered it when I got to my office; called up the maid; told her to send Major to the telephone. 'Hello, Maje!' I said. 'Get the letter off the hall stand and give it to the postman.' Maje recognized my voice, barked comprehension of the message, took the letter in his mouth and went and stood by the nearest letter box until the postman came to collect the mail; wife got an answer that night and never suspected I'd forgotten to post it."

Tender and True.

Squire Benson was often consulted in cases of family difficulty resulting from the storm and stress of time or temper, and he derived a good deal of amusement from the tales told in his little office.

"Is it true that you threw something at Mike that caused the swelling over his eye?" the squire asked a little wiry Irishwoman who appeared sobbing at his door one day half an hour after her husband had departed.

"Yis, I did," said the little woman, catching her breath, "but I niver wint to hurt him, an' he knows it well. We'd just come home from me cousin's weddin', an' I was feelin' kind of soft to Mike, an' I axed him if he loved me as much as he did the day we was married, an'—an' he was so slow answerin' me that I up wid the mop an' flung it at him, Squire Benson, for if we poor women don't have love our hearts just breaks inside of us!"

They Knew Him.

A well known literary man who has been spending several weeks at his old home in Vermont tells of a conversation which he overheard between two visitors on the porch of the village store. An acquaintance of theirs had just passed in the street, and the following comment was heard by the visitor:

"Thar goes Si Perkins." Then a meditative pause—"Si ain't the man he used to be."

"Naw—an' he never was."—Harper's Weekly.

YANKEE AMONG THE DOUKS

To Spend $15,000 to Further Educational Requirements—Peter Verigin's Idea, a School in Each Village.

Job S. Gidley of Dartmouth, Mass., has just returned from a trip to Canada, where he visited for two weeks among the Doukhobors. Mr. Gidley went to Canada with William Evans and Jonathan E. Rhoades of Philadelphia for a conference with Peter Verigin, a prominent person among the Doukhobors; J. Obed Smith, Commissioner of Immigration for the Dominion at Winnipeg, and other officials, relative to the best method of expending the sum of $15,000 given under the will of a woman friend of Philadelphia to the Doukhobor committee of the Philadelphia yearly meeting. The money is to be devoted to the education of the Doukhobors.

"Two conferences were held at Winnipeg," said Mr. Gidley, in speaking of his trip. "The proposition of the Friends was to establish a normal or training school in some village of the Doukhobors, then select from the different villages the brightest of their young men and young women and have them attend this school two or three years, that they might be qualified to teach their own people. The understanding was that all the expenses of this school should be paid from the $15,000 legacy.

"Peter Verigin was strongly in favor of having a school established in each village among the Doukhobors, and thus avoid all semblance of favoritism. He desired also to have such teachers as Friends should select. When told that to have a school in every village would probably mean in expense amounting to $20,000 or $30,000 a year, which the Doukhobors would have to meet, he said that he thought the Doukhobors would be able to pay that amount. If Peter Verigin's proposition is carried out the $15,000, in all probability, will be expended in the supervision of the schools. His wishes are that these schools for the present shall be under the supervision of Friends."

After these consultations were held William Evans and Jonathan E. Rhoades left Winnipeg in order to attend Kansas yearly meeting, and Mr. Gidley took the train for Yorkton, a thriving village about 275 miles distant from Winnipeg, in a northwesterly direction, thence overland to Good Spirit Lake, about 40 miles further in a similar direction, in order to visit the Doukhobor villages near the lake, and a school of Doukhobor children in one of these villages, taught by Hannah Bellows and Jessie Wood, two young women from England.

"As we came in sight of the village where the school is located," said Mr. Gidley, "we could see the white tent at the farther end of the village where the school kept. On approaching the tent, entering, looking at the bright and smiling faces of the Doukhobor children seated upon rude benches (if straight pieces of planks for seats without any backs, and other planks in front of the pupils upon which to place their books and papers, which were few indeed, may rightly be called benches), taking note of how few of the conveniences so necessary to aid the teachers in their work, and remembering, too, that they had left happy homes and their relatives in a foreign land, knowing that they would have to endure hardships and privations which are unavoidable in a new country sparsely inhabited, to give instruction to these deserving children, I was reminded of the declaration, 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me.' What a field for consecrated laborers in this part of the land is presented!

The Doukhobors are building a log schoolhouse to be used in the place of the tent the coming winter.

"After hearing a recital in concert by the pupils, asking each of them to send me a letter at some future time, and giving them a few words of encouragement, we continued our journey in an easterly direction about 35 miles to Atradnoe Village, the home of Peter Verigin, passing through two other Doukhobors villages on our way. We spent nearly two days at Atradnoe."

Esquimaux Dying Off.

Steamboat Inspector Phillips, who just returned from an official trip to all points on the Mackenzie River and tributaries, where steamboats are in commission, going as far north as the Peel River, 300 miles within the Arctic circle, states that during the past two years the Esquimaux tribes of the Mackenzie Bay region have suffered from an epidemic of measles, the deaths from the disease having decimated some bands to such an extent that there are very few left. At Fort Resolution on the Peel River, where usually a large number of Esquimaux meet the Hudson Bay boats, there was not one this year. The disease was contracted by these people through a visit to Dawson City, and as they had absolutely no care the disease spread and they left the dead all along the trail on the way home. Among one tribe at the north end of Great Slave Lake about eighty of these poor people died from this disease.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Thirsty Children.

Milk, being a food, should not be given as a thirst quencher to children. Water is better, and in great thirst tepid water is preferable to cold. Encourage sipping; the habit is easily formed. This barley water flavored with lemon or orange juice is an excellent drink for children. It is nutritious and cooling and should contain as little sugar as possible. Boiling water poured over fresh fruit, such as currants, raspberries and the like, and strained off when cold is a simple drink. Just enough fruit to flavor and color the water suffices. Pure lemon juice, say a teaspoonful to half a glass of water, is useful occasionally. Too much is lowering to the system.

Gentlemen's Rings

We never remember being favoured with so many orders for Gentlemen's Diamond Rings as we have had this summer. The demand for so many of a high-priced character has made it necessary to import a very rare variety of settings.

Those just imported are certainly out of the ordinary. The styles and designs that appeal with most force to men predominate.

JAPS CLOSING IN ON YINKOW

Simultaneous Land and Sea Attack is Planned.

TAITCHEKIAO THE OBJECTIVE

Japanese are Pressing the Russians Retiring from Kinchen Hard—Have Shelled and Occupied Pintzan—Severe Fighting Around Port Arthur on July 7 Caused a Loss of 1,000 Russians Killed.

Yinkow, July 12.—Japanese vessels have been seen off Kaichou. It is believed that they are keeping in touch with the advance of land forces, and that if the Japanese take Taitchekiao, which is understood to be their objective, it is thought that a landing will be made simultaneously at Yinkow.

The fighting at Kaichou consisted of a series of skirmishes on July 7 and July 8, ending at the occupation of the town by Gen. Oku's troops.

The Japanese began to push their advance north at dawn July 9, and since then they have proceeded steadily.

They kept their artillery well to the front and shelled and occupied Pintzan, seven miles north of Kaichou, at noon July 9. It is now reported that they are in close touch with Taitchekiao.

Japanese scouts are close to Yinkow. They can be seen on the neighboring hilltops, from which they occasionally fire upon the Russian outposts.

Jap on Russ Heels.

Tatchekiao, July 12.—A Russian correspondent of the Associated Press, who has just arrived with the Russian rear guard after a running fight from Kaichou, half way here (Tatchekiao), says: "We evacuated Kaichou to-day (Saturday) after a fight lasting through Friday. We made a short stand at Pintzan, seven miles north of Kaichou. The Japanese kept on our heels, and there were constant exchanges between the Russian and Japanese batteries. The Japanese advance stopped eight miles south of here. The fighting along the road was lively, but our losses were small.

"There had been preliminary skirmishing and manoeuvring for position around Kaichou since July 5. On that day two companies were caught in the hills to the eastward and surrounded by six Japanese battalions. They cut their way through, however, and returned to Kaichou, bringing many wounded."

Russians Lost 1,000.

Che Foo, July 12.—A European, who left Port Arthur at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, reports that the Japanese made a torpedo attack Sunday afternoon, attempting to penetrate into the harbor. They were repulsed without loss to either side.

The European further reports that on July 7 severe fighting occurred around Port Arthur. The Russians claimed to have driven the Japanese back on all sides, but admitted a loss of more than one thousand killed. Several hundred wounded are said to have arrived at Port Arthur, July 8, and it was reported that more were to come in.

Captured 8 Guns.

London, July 12.—Special despatches to The Daily Telegraph and The Daily Mail from Tokio assert that the Japanese captured eight guns during the fighting around Port Arthur, July 4, and that they reconnoitered from a war balloon.

SHOOTING ACCIDENTAL.

Constable Tisdale's Explanation of Hitting Hotelman Swartz.

Woodstock, July 12.—Yesterday morning the Embro shooting case came up in the local police court and occupied the whole day. The first charge dealt with was that against William Swartz for assaulting his wife and using threatening language. Defendant first pleaded not guilty, but afterwards withdrew the plea and one of guilty was entered. He was fined $5 and costs or $17.65 in all.

High Constable Tisdale was then charged with shooting with intent to do grevious bodly harm. Swartz, the victim, was the first witness called and stated he was running away, with Tisdale pursuing him, when the shot was fired and went into his left leg below the knee. After he was shot he ran through several back yards, when he was finally stopped by Chief Zeats. Tisdale then came up and put handcuffs on him. They then went to Dr. Sutherland's, where they awaited his coming. Tisdale expressed his sorrow at having shot plaintiff. The bullet was searched for, but not found. In cross-examination, Swartz admitted he had been making preparations to leave Embro.

Dr. Sutherland stated Swartz's wound was a typical shotgun wound and confirmed Swartz's statement that Tisdale had expressed regret. "It was an unwise thing," he said, "to drive the man 10 miles in the condition he was in."

For the defence Constable Tisdale gave his version of the occurrence and stated he intended to shoot in the air, but fell and it was then the weapon was discharged. The shooting, the witness said, was merely accidental.

Killed at Shawville.

Ottawa, July 12.—George Towell, one of the pioneers of Clarendown township, was fatally injured in a runaway accident at Shawville, dying an hour after he was hurt. Mr. Towell came into town on business and left his horses standing on the street. They took fright and bolted down the roadway. Mr. Towell ran out and endeavored to catch the lines. He fell beneath the wagon, however, and the wheels passed over his head and body.

TORONTO'S GREAT FIRE.

Insurance Committee Sums It Up in Interesting Figures.

Toronto, July 12.—The report on the conflagration of April 19 has been issued by the general insurance committee who adjusted the losses. The cause was not ascertained. The electrical appliances of the Currie building had been inspected four months previous and found in good order, and the use of an over-heated stove was denied by the firm. "After investigation," says the report, "It has been impossible to obtain any information upon which to base a reliable conjecture."

The total area fire swept was 19.7 acres, less street space, or 13.8 acres of block area, and 98 separate buildings were burned. All of these, with the exception of McLaughlin's stone flour mill, were of brick. No "fireproof" buildings were involved. Ordinary mercantile wooden joist construction prevailed.

The Losses.

There were 338 claims reported on, involving 2,048 policies. The total amount adjusted was $9,850,000, to which is added an estimate of $500,000 for losses to foreign unlicensed companies. Twenty per cent. of the loss was on buildings. The insurance loss was $8,200,000, plus, for unlicensed companies, $175,000, or, in all, $8,735,000, or 80 per cent. of the value of property destroyed. The 75 per cent. co-insurance clause was found in nearly all policies.

The velocity of the wind during the fire ranged from 25 miles, at 10 p. m., to 33 miles at 2 a.m. Friday, with a gust at 48 miles between 1 and 2 a.m.

Salvage Is Small.

The salvage was placed under the control of the Underwriters' Salvage Company of New York. Out of 41 ruins examined, only ten were found to yield anything worth handling, including seven wholesale dry goods houses, two wholesale hardware firms and one wholesale fur business. The sprinklers in the Brock building are held accountable for a good salvage.

The conflagration is the sixth in size in continental history, comparing:

1871—Chicago	$250,000,000
1872—Boston	70,000,000
1904—Baltimore	45,000,000
1892—St. John's Nfld....	15,000,000
1877—St. John, N.B....	13,500,000
1904—Toronto	10,350,000

SATISFIED WITH CONVENTION.

Premier Bond Expresses An Opinion on the French Convention.

London, July 12.—Sir Robert Bond declares there is no hitch in the Newfoundland negotiations; all his transactions with the Foreign Colonial Offices were of the most cordial character. Some of the French papers were alarmed as to what he was reported to have said on the subject of Newfoundland. He never made such a statement beyond saying that he was satisfied with the convention. Several times he had been approached by French journalists, but had refused to talk.

It was an absurd rumor that Newfoundland declined to accept the convention. It had received marked favor in the colony except from the Opposition, which try to make political capital of it. He repeated that his Government thought the colony might have received more, but was very much pleased with the results obtained.

ARMS AND AMMUNITION.

Lethbridge Mounted Police Stores Burned Up Monday Morning.

Winnipeg, July 12.—What might have proved a disastrous conflagration broke out here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning at the mounted police barracks at Lethbridge. The fire must have made considerable headway before discovery, for when the alarm was sounded a dense mass of smoke was issuing from the building containing the orderly-room, offices and quartermaster's stores. Fortunately there was no wind, otherwise the entire barracks and stables would have been consumed. The entire stock of arms and ammunition, of which there were nearly one million rounds, groceries, saddles, blankets and general stores, together with all records of the division, were entirely destroyed.

Nine Months Each.

Windsor, July 12.—Magistrate Bartlett sentenced Rolland McIntyre and William Powell to nine months each in the Central Prison for stealing brass from the Kerr Engine Co., Walkerville, and to three months for the theft of brass from the Penberthy Injector Co., Windsor. The sentences to run concurrently.

Found Dead in Bed.

Mitchell, July 12.—Mrs. Frank Fishleigh of Chicago was found dead in bed at the home of her nephew, W. R. Davis, on Sunday morning. Heart trouble was the cause. She was 82 years of age.

I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have bearing-down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time.

"The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor given in your little book accurately describe my case, so I write to you for advice."—(Signed) MRS. E. F. HAYES, 253 Dudley St. (Roxbury), Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Hayes' Second Letter:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Sometime ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman.

"The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) MRS. E. F. HAYES, 253 Dudley St. (Roxbury), Boston, Mass.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS AGAIN IN CAMP.

The Scribe Writes From the Camp on Sandy Point.

An Enthusiastic Crowd of Campers—All the Members in Good Health and Spirits.

Sandy Point, Clear Lake,
July 9th, 1904.

This is Saturday afternoon and while our camp is enjoying its first thundershower, which is a thorough drenching one, I take up my pen again, after a silence of over twelve months, to report some of the doings of the camp. This is an easy task for the motto of the camp this year is "Somethin' Doin' all the Time."

All the boys have found a refuge in the tents and Mr. Hutchinson has just completed re-erecting the tent of his section, which was rather too easy a subject for the windstorm of this morning. Dinner is just over and this makes the storm an enjoyable change after the great warmth of the past two days since we arrived here.

We left Peterborough on Thursday morning and were in splendid company nearly all the way, for the Murray Street Baptist Sunday School excursion was with us. Lakefield was reached a little later than schedule time, yet after considerable hustling of boys our merry party boarded the "Majestic" while the picnicers took the new and handsome "Stony Lake"—both bound for Sandy Point.

The "snack" so tastefully prepared by the mother of each boy was enjoyed under the shade trees and was particularly palatable to several who in the excitement of camp going, had slept little the night before and been indifferent to the question of breakfast.

Sandy Point never saw a more enthusiastic and willing lot of Y.M.C.A. boys, as the hours of the afternoon were spent in erecting tents and getting things in order generally. Ther ewas not a single drone as was evidenced by the quick transportation of a deserted field into a small village of white tents.

There was no trouble in disposing of the important item of supper and early retirement was general in all the sections.

If one supposed that the boys purposed to break all records and sleep the major part of the first night they were easily convinced of their error, for it was not long before the occupants of No. 4 and 5 were viewing with each other as to which could reproduce the crowing of a rooster. These two sections soon aroused No. 1 and "Bingo's" yelps soon drowned those of his owner.

"Pongo" successfully repelled persistent attacks made upon his tent, and proved himself more effective than a guard of fifty men. Considering the whole midnight programme only a few slept and at breakfast the next morning many good resolutions were made. A volunteer vigilance force organized to silence any .....that might break forth so unfitingly on the succeeding night.

Our camp was favoured with a visit from Messrs. Meredith and Merrell who were unfortunate in failing to reach the excursion boat in time. They spent the night with us and rendered valuable assistance in the erection of the large dining tent which was a little late in arriving.

The "Council of War" was postponed until last evening and it was successful and so much done that I will have to leave a report of it until my next letter.

The boys are all well and bent on a good time

The shower is over now and the sun showing his face again. —

Yours till another time.

DEAF AND DUMB INSTITUTION VISITED.

Hon. J. R. Stratton Pays an Official Visit to this Benevolent Enterprise.

Received a Warm Welcome—Mr. S. Russell M.P.P. Also a Visitor—Medals for Scholars.

(The Deaf Mute.)

The institution was honoured on the 8th inst., by a visit from Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, and Mr. S. Russell, M.P.P., for East Hastings. They arrived in the forenoon and spent the rest of the day with us. They were shown through every part of the Institution, saw all the classes and industrial departments at work, and exhibited a warm personal interest in all they saw. The distinguished visitors were then invited to the chapel, where they were accorded an enthusiastic reception, and where they learned in a somewhat startling manner, that our so-called silent family possessed good vocal organs and a very healthy lung capacity.

Superintendent Mathison expressed his pleasure at the visit paid them by Hon. Mr. Stratton and Mr. Russell. Of all the Ministers who have had charge of this department from time to time, none had shown as great an interest in them as had Mr. Stratton. He always gave freely and ungrudgingly for their maintenance and support. He did not, however, give blindly or without knowledge. He always enquired carefully into all their demands and assured himself that proper care and economy were being exercised; and then gave cheerfully all that was needed for their comfort and efficiency. They were all glad to see him, and hoped he would come often to visit them.

Mr. Stratton said he was glad to have the opportunity and privilege of again seeing the pupils of the Institution. He was delighted beyond measure to see their happy and smiling faces, and he was glad to know that they were all getting along so well with their studies, and thus laying the foundation for their future success in life. He had regretted very much to learn of the serious illness of so many of the pupils during the past winter, and he was glad that Mr. Mathison and the other officers and attendants had, with the full approval of the department done all that could possibly be done to alleviate their sufferings, and to help them get well as quickly as possible. It was a long, dreary winter, and he was sure that they were all glad that it was over. As their Superintendent had said, he had charge of all the public institutions of the province, and while it was his duty to see that none were neglected, yet he always felt that his first duty was to this Institution and that for the blind at Brantford. It had always been a pleasure to him to meet the wishes of Mr. Mathison whenever he could. He supposed he could say that they were all his children, as they were in his department, and he felt the same interest in them as did the Superintendent, officers and teachers of the Institution. He could see as he went from room to room how devoted the teachers were to their work, and how delighted they were to see the pupils advance. He realized the difficulties and disadvantages under which they laboured, and would be glad to do all he could in helping them to attain to happiness and success in life. He knew they were all glad the term was nearly ended—not that they were not happy here, but they desired to go home and see their friends—and he was sure their friends were equally anxious to see them. He sincerely hoped that they would all have a very pleasant and enjoyable vacation, and come back with re-invigorated powers and renewed energy for the work of another session. To those not returning he would say that if in his private capacity or his official position as head of the department he could be the means of helping them in any way, or could in any way facilitate them in getting positions suited to their ability, he would gladly do so, and he wanted them to feel at liberty to communicate with him either directly or through Mr. Mathison, and he would be delighted to help them if in his power. He was glad to see all of them so happy and interested and enthusiastic in their work, and he knew it was the superintendent's desire to get the best helpers and obtain the best results possible. He missed some faces that he saw at his last visit, notably that of the very capable matron, Miss Walker, who was no longer with them. But he was pleased to know that they had in Miss Ross a most willing and competent successor. He was glad to be able to say that those employed at the Institution were each and all satisfactory to the superintendent and to the department. There was very little criticism of this Institution in the Legislature. The management of the Institution had been such as to disarm all criticism and make it a very easy task for him to obtain from the Legislature the money required. He liked to give credit where it was due, and he must say that the Opposition never find any fault with or object to any of the estimates of this Institution. He was glad to have Mr. Russell with him. He wished all the members would come and spend a day here, and then he was sure they could get all the money they wanted, and perhaps in a year or two they could get the new building, which in his judgment should have been built before this; and which, with the necessary changes in the main building, would make them so much more comfortable and enable them to do even more efficient work. This was his second visit to the Institution but he hoped it would not be his last. It had been his wish and intention to visit all the institutions in his charge once a year, but he had been unable to do so, but he hoped to accomplish this in future.

Mr. Stratton said there was one thing he might mention, and that was the many kindly things said about the domestic science and manual training and industrial departments of the Institution. He wanted to give credit where it was deserved, and wished to say that all with whom he had talked that had visited the Institution gave great praise to these features of their work.

Mr. Russell said this was his first visit to the Institution but, if spared he did not intend it to be the last. But though he did not come himself he had kept in constant touch with them, for he read every issue of the very neat and interesting paper published here. The Canadian Mute. Every one in the Legislature always spoke well of the Institution and the estimates always go through with a rush, because Mr. Mathison was known here and all over the continent as one of the ablest and most careful and judicious superintendents to be found in America. He was glad that Mr. Stratton had virtually promised them a new building, and he could assure them that when Mr. Stratton said he would do a thing he always did it, so they might hope to soon have the new building they so much needed and had waited for so long.

Mr. Mathison said he had a very pleasing announcement to make. Mr. Stratton desired him to say that in the highest class next year he would give a gold medal to the best boy and the best girl, to be competed for as an incentive for them to excel. But to be obtained this medal must be deserved, and if the standard of the best was not high enough, it would not be given that year, but held over to the next. From the pupils, officers and teachers alike they required, not the best that they could do but the best that could be done.

ADVANTAGES OF THE BEEF RING.

A Means of Supplying Fresh Meat for the Summer Months.

Although live stock is grown on almost every Canadian farm, the farmer as a rule finds it very difficult to furnish his table with fresh meat during the summer months. Salt pork and poultry are in general use, but it is evident that a liberal supply of fresh beef would make the problem of preparing meals much easier for the women of the household, and would ensure a more wholesome and palatable bill-of-fare for the family. The average farmer is several miles from the nearest butcher, and would find it both inconvenient and expensive to send a member of the family to town every day or two for fresh meat, especially as both men and horses are apt to find their time fully occupied. Again the farmer's family could not consume a beef animal before it would spoil, so it is out of the question to think of killing his own. In order to make the use of fresh meat possible in every farm home, even during summer months, the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa, recommends the more general establishment of beef rings, which have been successfully carried on for years in some sections of Canada.

Beef Rings.

These rings are not, as the name might indicate, "trusts", for the control of the production and sale of beef, but are groups of farmers who co-operate to supply their tables with fresh meat during the summer. The ring is usually composed of sixteen, twenty or twenty-four members, although sometimes as many as forty are enrolled. Each member agrees to supply one beef animal during the summer, and in order to give plenty of time for preparation, the members draw lots the previous winter to determine the order in which they shall contribute animals. After the drawing members may exchange numbers if they find it mutually advantageous. The small families may combine for one share.

The Animal.

The regulations usually provide that each member shall supply a steer or heifer under three years old, sound, healthy and in good condition, dressing from 400 to 500 pounds of beef, and grain-fed for at least six weeks previous to killing. If an animal is not up to the standard it may be rejected and the owner compelled to supply another, or it may be accepted at a lower valuation. The decision in such cases is left to the secretary or a duly appointed committee of inspection.

Killing and Distribution.

A butcher is employed to kill and cut up the animals, the owner retaining the head, heart, fat and hide. The amount paid for killing and cutting up a beast is usually $2 to $2.50, with an extra dollar if the butcher makes delivery, which is not a general practice. Of course it is not necessary to employ a professional butcher, but a man is required who can do the work neatly and well and cut up the carcass along the usual lines and in the same way each time. The butcher provides a hook for each member and hangs thereon the portion for each family as the animal is cut up. Each member should have two meat bags with his name on, so that one of them may always be at the butcher shop ready to receive the weekly portion. In the case of some rings each family gets only one piece; in others a good piece of the hind quarter and an inferior piece of the fore quarter, or vice versa; in still others a member gets a boiling piece, a roast and a piece of steak each week. The various cuts are numbered and an accurate record is kept by the butcher of the quality and weight of beef received by each member. In this way it is possible to arrange for each family to receive approximately the same weight of meat, and the same proportion of valuable and cheap cuts during the season. At the end of the summer the secretary of the organization furnishes each member with a statement of the year's operations, compiled from the butcher's records. As no two animals will have been of the same weight, small balances will have to change hands in order to equalize matters. As a standard price is always agreed upon at the beginning of the season, say five or six cents per pound, there are no disputes at the close. Members who have received more beef than they supplied pay for the difference at the price agreed upon; those who have put in more than they have received are paid in the same way.

The Advantages.

Wherever it has been tried this system has given excellent results, as is shown by the fact that it is difficult to gain admission to the rings, as there is no inclination to drop out. The farmers' wives and daughters are particularly well pleased, as the abundance of fresh meat at their command simplifies the question of providing suitable meals. Then the farmres get their beef at the actual cost, paying no more for the best cuts than they would for the cheapest they could buy in retail. Under the operation of the beef ring each family gets its portion within a few hours after killing, so that there is little difficulty in keeping the meat fresh for nearly a week. The usual method is to use the steak and roast first, and put the boiling piece into brine or a refrigerator until needed.

A Book for the Home.

Dr. Chase's Last and Complete Receipt Book, containing over three thousand medical, cooking, veterinary and miscellaneous receipts, is sold at $2.75 post-paid. There is no book published which is so useful in the home. After using it a month you would not exchange it for $10. Cured When all Else Failed

"Could I live my early life over, this testimonial would not be necessary, though I was no more sinful than thousands of other young men. Early indiscretions, later excesses, exposure to contagious diseases all helped to break down my system. When I commenced to realize my condition I was almost frantic. Doctor after doctor treated me but only gave me relief—not a cure. Hot Springs helped me, but did not cure me. The symptoms always returned. Mercury and Potash drove the poison into my system instead of driving it out. I began the day your New Method Treatment was recommended to me. I investigated who you were first, and finding you had over 25 years' experience and responsibility, honorably, I gave you my case under a guarantee. You cured me permanently, and it is six years there has not been a sore, pain, ulcer or any other symptom of the blood disease."

GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brackenridge, of Westwood Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary.

"Welbeck" the family residence was the scene of a very happy event on Thursday evening, July 7th, when Mr. and Mrs. Brackenbridge celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding. Besides the family there were present a number of relatives also a few intimate friends, Mr. Wm. Stevenson, Mr. Robt. Stevenson, Mrs. Hugh Stevenson, brothers and sister of Mrs. Brackenridge and Miss M. Dinsdale and Master Raymond Stevenson had come from Traer, Iowa, to be present at the occasion; and three of the family, John of Dinsdale, Iowa; James of Wetaskawin, Alberta and Hugh of Blind River, had also come home. Among the guests were three of historic fame; Mr. Brackenridge's brother Mathew, who acted as best man at the ceremony 50 years ago, Mr. McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. Brackenridge's first acquaintance in Canada and Mr. Poe, a fellow worker with Mr. Brackenridge in Mr. Short's store in Keene. These men called to mind some very interesting events and incidents that happened during their young days.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brackenridge were born in the County of Ayrshire, Scotland. In 1846 Mr. Brackenridge then a young man of 17 came to Canada and took a position in the store of Mr. Thos. Short, Keene. Seven years later Mrs. Brackenridge then in her 22nd year came with her parents (Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson) to Canada and the family settled on a farm a few miles from Westwood at which place Mr. and Mrs. Brackenridge were married in 1854. Settling for a time on a farm near by they in 1864 moved to "Welbeck" where they have ever since resided. Of a family of fifteen, fourteen are still living and were all present at the anniversary. Mr. Brackenridge has for the past forty years been connected with municipal and educational affairs and at the present time holds the office of Clerk of the Township of Asphodel.

The couple are enjoying the best of health, in fact, as Mr. Brackenridge says he never felt better.

Mr. and Mrs. Brackenridge were the recipients of many handsome gifts from friends—from the grand children came a gold cup and saucer and from the family and relatives a complete driving outfit.

The family are:—John of Dinsdale, Iowa; Matthew, of Westwood; Marion, at home; Mrs. Gilliott, of Millbrook; Thomas, of Westwood; Dave, William and Agnes at home; Mrs. Robb, Mrs. Thompson, of Westwood; James, of Wetaskawin, Alberta; Norman, of South Monaghan; Mrs. Kindred, of Zion and Hugh, of Black River.

The guests present were:—The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Thompson, Hastings; Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, of Keene; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh, of Norwood; Mr. and Mrs. F. Birdsall, of Birdsall; Mr. and Mrs. Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Graham, of Westwood; Mr. and Mrs. M. Brackenridge, Indian River; Miss Cairns, of Peterborough; Mr. McNeil, of Keene and Mr. Poe, of Cobourg.

STONY PASS MINING COMPANY.

Strikes Rich Ore in the Course of its Tunnel Driving.

Silverton, Colo., July 4. — A. A. Brown, manager of the Mammoth Tunnel and Mining Company, and also of the Stony Pass Mining Company, has a force of men pegging away on the Mammoth group of claims. The big bore has been pushed over 800 feet by hand and now a gasoline engine and complete equipment is being installed and the balance of the distance will be made by a set of power drills.

He expects to cut the vein in less than 200 feet, and if surface indications are any criterion, the tapping of the vein should make a splendid property. In the early days of the San Juan, prospectors found innumerable large boulders on these claims, which were broken and packed to Pueblo by pack animals, and even then the ore netted a goodly sum, it remained for Mr. Brown to locate the vein which he did by trenching. The Mammoth Tunnel was then started with the idea of cutting this vein at considerable depth. As soon as the air drills are installed the force of men will be increased to twenty five.

RICH ORE STRUCK.

The vein just cut on the Stony Pass group, which gave returns of 364 ounces of silver and 15 1-4 ounces of gold, was somewhat of a surprise to the management. They were looking for something good, but the assays were away above their most sanguine expectations. The two groups contain sixty-two claims and are traversed by eighteen veins.—The Denver Post.

VICTORIA COUNTY CHEESE BOARD.

Mr. Fitzgerald Cleared the Board at Yesterday's Meeting.

The members of Victoria County Cheese Board and salesmen assembled Monday morning at 10 sharp. They completed their business in twenty minutes, and what is more, without a dispute. They all seemed in the best of humour. Before the meeting had got nicely started, Mr. Staples, of Red Rock, moved that the Board meet at 9 30 in future, for various reasons. The motion was carried.

The following factories boarded the number of cheese set opposite:—

Star	140
Cameron	140
Dunford	173
Mariposa	135
Cambray	90
Omemee	190
North Verulam	150
North Ops	100
Pine Grove	55
Reaboro	164
Bobcaygeon	225
Maple Leaf	180
Palestine	158
Red Rock	265
North Harvey	84
Total	2,240

Mr. Whitton started the bidding at 7 1-2, but Mr. Fitzgerald went a notch higher, and at 7 5-8 cleared the Board with the exception of Omemee, which sold to Mr. Cook at the same figure.

The Board then adjourned to meet again at the end of two weeks time. —Post.

A RECEPTION TO REV. J. P. WILSON.

New Pastor and His Wife Welcomed to Bridge Street Church, Belleville.

(Belleville Ontario.)

Wilson and his wife by the congregation of Bridge Street Methodist Church Friday evening must have been very gratifying to that esteemed gentleman and his estimable wife. It was in every way a most pronounced success and was attended by a very large representation of the congregation. A sentiment of sociability and cordial elations was strongly manifested during the evening and every effort possible was put forth to assist in making the new minister and his wife feel as much at home as possible among so many strangers. The reception was in every way a most hearty one and Rev. Mr. Wilson and his wife have apparently already won a place in the hearts of the congregation. The Sunday school rooms were decorated beyond anything ever seen in those rooms before and large committees were appointed on decorations, reception and introduction and the first part of the evening was spent in the two latter.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell was requested to act as chairman of the meeting which was opened with prayer by Prof. Doxee after which a few words of welcome were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson who were seated on the platform beside the chairman. Addresses of welcome were then given on behalf of the following departments:—

Quarterly Official Board by Mr. William Johnson.

Trustee Board by Mr. W. R. Aylesworth.

Women's Missionary Society by Mrs. Mayor Chown.

The Sunday School by Mr. F. E. O'Flynn.

King's Daughters by Mrs. J. C. Lake.

Epworth League by Mrs. J. T. Luton.

The Choir by Prof. Hunt.

Ladies' Aid by Mrs. O'Flynn.

The congregation welcomed them by Mr. J. W. Johnson.

To the various addresses Rev. Mr. Wilson replied saying that the occasion was a very happy one to him and his wife and was much impressed with the cordiality shown.

An interesting programme then followed. A quartette composed of Miss Mabel Vermilyea, Miss Gertrude Price Mr. C. H. Vermilyea and Mr. J. T. Burns was followed by a solo by Miss Elsie Price. Miss Sidna Brown gave a violin solo and then Mr. D. A. Cameron sang a solo. Miss Lucy Berry gave a reading followed by a vocal solo by Miss Vermilyea with violin obligato by Miss Sidna Brown.

Hon. Senator Perley, of B.C., who is a Methodist from the Pacific coast, made a happy address, as did also Rev. J. A. Wilson, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, of Peterborough, who was very intimately associated with and a personal friend of Mr. Wilson, the new pastor. It was the concensus of opinion among those spresent that the reception would have been incomplete without this visitor's presence and able address.

After the singing of the national anthem the doxology was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Adams and the evening was brought to a close.

SIMPLE DISEASE SIMPLE REMEDY.

Cookburn Island Lady Tells how she Cured her Stomach Troubles by Using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

How many people are simply "troubled with their stomachs!" They hardly recognize their complaint under the pretentious title of Dyspepsia but they do know beyond a doubt that they have hours of discomfort and that the stomach is the cause. To these the experience of Mrs. B. S. Rombough, Cookburn Island, Ont., is added. She says:—

"I was troubled terribly with my stomach. I got some of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and they did me good. I think they are a good Tablet, and I would recommend them to all who are troubled with their stomach."

Now that is a simple statement regarding a simple remedy for a simple trouble. It simply tells all who have stomach troubles that they can find relief in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The Liver to Blame.

So long as the liver is active in filtering the bile from the blood there is no biliousness and no constipation, because the bile is passed from the liver into the intestines where it acts as a cathartic in keeping the bowels active. Because of their direct action on the liver as well and the bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills thoroughly cure constipation, the real cause of nine-tenths of the common ills of life.

PETERBOROUGH THE ORANGEMEN'S MECCA

Thousands of Visiting Members of the Order in Town To-day.

Largest Gathering of Orangemen Ever Seen in Peterborough—An Immense Parade This Afternoon.

The town to-day is in the hands of the Orangemen, and it is doubtful if ever in the history of Peterborough so many members of this Order have been gathered here at one time. Lodges have been arriving since early morning from all parts of Cental Ontario, from Bowmanville, Newcastle, Clarke, Newtonville, Port Hope and Cobourg, along the main line of the Grand Trunk. These, with lodges from Millbrook come in on a special train which reached here about 10 o'clock. Earlier in the morning, in spite of the heavy rain which fell since daylight, on all the roads leading to town the "Sons of William" have been driving into Peterborough to participate in this, the greatest Orange celebration in the history of the Midland counties.

WILLIAM KINDRED,
County Master.

Shortly after the southern contingent arrived, a special train carrying the contingent from the Lindsay district pulled into the station, and although this was the largest body to arrive during the day, it was learned that there were more to follow from that district, the accommodation provided by the special train, not having been sufficient to carry the large crowds that were at the station, in spite of the rain which had then been falling for some hours, and a number of coaches were added to the regular train to carry those left behind on the first section.

Shortly after noon one of the most interesting contingents arrived. This was the section from Roseneath and Alderville, headed by the Alderville Band, which created a decided impression upon the thousands of spectators, who lined the streets and who gave the red-coated Indian Band an ovation.

The Lindsay District, headed by the Lindsay Brass Band, one of the best of the visiting organizations, marched up George street to the Central Park, and dispersed at the drill shed. A number of fife and drum bands also accompanied this section. Hardly had this party passed when the Clarke District headed by the Newcastle Band, under the leadership of Mr. William Pickard, followed. The Cobourg Band was also in this section.

The Lakefield contingent was so long that two trains were required to carry it. The regular train in the morning carried its full quota, and still the Nassau Lodge could not procure train accommodation. A second train was despatched and arrived at noon, with the Nassau, Douro, Apsley and North Star Lodges, several hundred strong.

Not only by trains, but by the river steamers the members of the Order came, until shortly after noon, when the town was literally alive with Orangemen, and the largest gathering of followers of King William, ever seen here, was in town.

The visiting brethren were received at the stations and wharves by delegations from the local lodges. Mr. Wm. Kindred and Mr. Robert Wilson on white chargers, piloted the visitors to the drill shed.

The rain cleared about noon and the afternoon's proceedings were conducted under very pleasing conditions.

The parade which was the largest ever seen here, started from the Central Park, and took the following route: Down George to Hunter; Hunter to Aylmer; Aylmer to Charlotte; Charlotte to George; George to Hunter; Hunter to Water; Water to McDonel; McDonel to Central Park.

The procession formed in the Park in the following order. Some idea may be formed of its great length when it is stated that it required thirty-five minutes to pass a fixed point:—

AN INNOVATION MUCH APPRECIATED

Mr. R. R. Hall Secures a Daily Mail Service at Bensfort.

It will be pleasing information to the many who will be benefited by it, that on representations made by Mr. R. R. Hall, the Liberal candidate for West Peterborough, a daily mail service is being established by the Postmaster General at Bonsfort, South Monaghan, and a new post office named Lorens has been established at the cheese factory, lot 7, concession 2, South Monaghan. Mr. Jacob P. Andrews will be the postmaster and the service will be a daily mail.

The establishment of this new office and a daily mail at Bensfort will be of great service to the residents in that part of South Monaghan, and also of considerable service to the residents of the town and county who have correspondence with residents in that district.

TWO VAGRANTS GIVEN A MONTH'S LODGING

Will Sojourn at the County Jail—Police Court News

Everybody appearing before the Magistrate at the police court this morning got into trouble.

John Foley was the first to be dealt with. He was charged with being drunk and disorderly and was fined $2, and given ten days to pay it in.

John Clarke was charged with being a vagrant. The evidence against him went to show that he had all the requirements of a vag—no money, no place of abode, and no visible means of support. Clarke's defence was not of a very weighty nature. He claimed that he was an Englishman and had secured work for a short time after arriving in this country. He had been looking for work but was unsuccessful in his search. The Magistrate thought there was plenty of work for a man if he desired it, and sent Clarke to sojourn in the county jail for one month.

Henry Aitchinson was charge with being a vagrant. He claimed that he was about to accept a position as canvasser for an insurance company in town when he was arrested. The evidence went to show that he was found strolling about the streets at 3 o'clock in the morning. He had no money ,no place of abode, no visible means of support. He was sentenced to one month in jail.

OBITUARY.

Lamented Death of Mrs. John Cronin Occurred Tuesday.

The death of one of the older residents of Peterborough occurred this morning in the person of Honorra, wife of John Cronin, who passed away at the age of 65 years, after suffering for about three months from bronchitis and indigestion.

The deceased had lived in Peterborough continuously for 42 years, having come here in 1862 from Newcastle, Limerick county, Ireland, where she was born.

She was a good faithful wife and mother, and leaves to mourn her loss a husband and six children. The children are: Thomas, of Peterborough, a tinsmith employed with Jas. Murty; Nora and Katy, of Toronto; Mrs. Cadigan, of Hamilton; Mrs. Esmo, of town, and Jane, at home.

A short time ago a daughter was taken away and this bereavement affected her considerably.

The funeral will take place on Thursday morning at nine o'clock.

NOW MAJOR W. T. HALL.

Rapid Promotion of One of Peterborough's Officers.

An extract from the Militia General Orders, which appeared in Saturday's papers, announces the promotion of Capt. W. T. Hall, of "B" Squadron, 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons, to the rank of Major in Command of his Squadron. Major Hall who has been in the regiment for some years now has had a rapid promotion and is to be congratulated upon receiving his Majority. He is deservedly popular with the officers and men of the Dragoons and is one of the regiment's most efficient officers. He is undoubtedly one of the youngest Majors in the force.

DAMP ECHOES OF THE LIFT LOCK OPENING.

The "Crew" of the Lotus the First Craft to Ascend the Lock.

How the Rain Made a Holocaust of Feminine Hats.

The Hydraulic Lift Lock is not something that will pass as a tale that is told, for it is a monument more enduring than brass to Canadian initiative, Canadian engineering skill, and Canadian industrial skill. Yesterday glowing reports of the opening were printed in the most influential journals of Canada, and Peterborough should not let the Lift drop too suddenly.

In recording such an event as the opening of so great a work, it is unavoidable that some omissions should be made. In connection with the opening, the Lotus and its guests were the first to ascend the Lock, and those who enjoyed this highly appreciated distinction wish to make their acknowledgment of the kindly, courteous treatment and graceful hospitality received from Mrs. Rogers during the whole of the eventful day. Those who were upon the house boat were: Mrs. Rogers, the hostess, Mrs. A. P. McDonald, Mrs. D. W. Dumble, Mrs. W. F Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. John Nugent, Miss Hatton, Miss Barlee, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rogers, Mrs. Yokome, Mrs. Perks, Miss Quirk, and her guests from Galt, Miss McCausland, Miss Lulu Robertson, the Misses Kingan, Mrs. Learmouth, Mrs. J. O. Shook, Mr. D. H. Burritt, Mr. W. H. Blanchotte, Mrs. Blackwell, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. W. H. Robertson, Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, Miss Mills, Mrs. Quartermaine, Miss Eileen Fair, the Misses Calcutt, and others whose names could not be obtained.

THREE HUMOURS AND HORRORS OF THE DAY.

While others were enjoying the occasion secure from the pelting rain, the thousands scattered, and in some places, clustered, on the slope of Armour's hill, were in the swim also. There were among the thousands, of course ladies clad in the diaphonous flimsiness of summer attire, who were not protected by an umbrella or even parasol, and when the rain came there was no escape, and with a few exceptions the assembled thousands philosophically, or, rather, stoically, stood their ground or, rather, water, for under the skyey deluge there was soon as much water as ground underfoot. Of course hats—ladies' hats — were speedily reduced to pulp such beautiful "creations" were not made to stand a flood, and thousands of things of beauty were soon hanging limp and flabby, hideous travesties of departed greatness, utterly ruined. One lady, evidently a prosperous young farmer's wife had her attention jocularly called by her husband to the limp "set" of her hat. She removed the bunch of sodden pulp from her comely head, and when she saw it, she did not see the joke; woman like, she started in for a good cry. "Hush, Hush! Mary," said the good-natured husband, "don't make a fuss before all these people—lots of 'em are as badly off as you are; don't cry any more, I guess I can scrape together $12.50 to get you another hat like it, and, by gosh, I'll get you a better one." She subsided, and, crushing the useless mass of wt lace, etc., she flung it aside. Scores of other women were seen throwing away their ruined hats, and every now and then from a packed 'bus a shapeless mass of crushed lace would be hauled out.

Hundreds of dreams of hats became dreams indeed, for there was no reality for uncrowned ladies to wear to church on Sunday. Consequently there was a decidedly thin attendance of ladies at church services on Sunday — without a Sunday hat, or, at the worst, last year's hat, churchgoing was impossible.

As a consequence, the milliners of the town and, it is probably the case in other towns, are as busy as bees filling the place of the hats destroyed by a drop too much—in the wrong place at the Lift Lock opening.

The boot sellers also reaped a little harvest on Saturday evening. Many outsiders whose boots were soaked through and through, bought new boats so that they could travel home dry shod.

No wonder the hats got wet, and feet were soaked! In a little less than an hour an inch of rain fell on the level, and thousands of people were out during the entire downpour, and it's no joke to receive on one's devoted head an inch of rain, which represents upon an acre fourteen and a half million gallons of water, seven times as much as the waterworks pumps in a day.

AN INTERESTING WINNIPEG WEDDING.

Mr. John Mahood, Formerly of Smith Married on Wednesday.

An event which will no doubt be of interest to many people of Peterborough and surrounding country, took place on Wednesday morning, July 6th, at St. Andrew's church, Winnipeg, the occasion being the marriage of Mr. John Mahood, fifth son of Mr. Ed. Mahood of Smith, and Miss Aggie Belle Tully, youngest daughter of Mr. William Tully, of Fowler's Corners, Smith.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. McMillan, pastor of the church ,and formerly of Lindsay.

The bride and groom were supported by Miss Annie Bird, of Picton, and Mr. T. J. Walsh, of Winnipeg.

After the ceremony the wedding party partook of a sumptuous wedding breakfast, prepared by their friends in Winnipeg, after which they left on the C.P.R. to visit points of interest in the far west. On their return they will reside at 352 William avenue, Winnipeg, in which city Mr. Mahood is engaged in a profitable business.

AN ENGLISH FAMILY WITH TWENTY CHILDREN.

Ten of the Number Located Here—Difficulty in Getting a House.

Yesterday morning on the early C.P.R. train there arrived in Peterborough an Englishman with his wife and eight children. They had come straight to Peterborough from Manchester, England, where he had been engaged as a market gardener. After saving up a little pile of coin, the family decided to come to Canada and try their fortune here. About 10 o'clock yesterday morning, the father left his wife and children at Central Park while he went in search of a house, telling his wife he would return shortly and take the family to their future place of residence, being of the opinion that it would be an easy matter to secure a house in Peterborough as it is in many other places. But, as is well known here, vacant houses are conspicuous by their scarcity in Peterborough and the Englishman met with little success in his efforts to secure a suitable dwelling house. He continued his search until the evening, when he secured a house a few miles south of the town.

In the meantime, the wife and children were stationed at Central Park without money and food, the husband having taken all the cash with the expectation of returning before noon. About 6 o'clock the fact was made known to Sergt.-Major Brittain that the strangers were in need of something to eat, and he very kindly supplied their wants. The husband returned about 7 o'clock and took the little party to their new home.

The children's ages ranged from two to twenty years. Four of them were old enough to look after themselves and should easily secure situations, in fact two of them were offered jobs yesterday afternoon. The family is a healthy looking one and were most cheerful during the somewhat unpleasant day's sojourn at the park yesterday. There was at one time twenty children in the family; ten boys and ten girls. Six of these died and fourteen are still living, six of whom are married and the remaining eight are here with their parents.

REV. J. A. WILSON WAS APPRECIATED.

Preached in St. Andrew's Church, Belleville on Sunday to Large Congregation.

The Belleville Ontario says:—Rev. J. A. Wilson, of Peterborough, preached two excellent sermons in St. Andrews church Sunday, and he captivated his hearers by his eloquent and forceful teaching. In the morning he took his text from Second Corinthians eight chapter and part of the fifth verse, "But first give themselves unto the Lord." No one whether in the church or out of it could have perfect peace unless they first gave themselves to the Lord. Rev. Mr. Wilson will occupy the pulpit of this church again next Sunday.

HON. W. S. FIELDING

Sketches Canada's Eight Years of Unprecedented Growth.

BIG RECEPTION AT TORONTO

Years of Stable Credit, Sound Finance, Reduced Taxation, Decreasing Debt, Successful Departmental Administration a Stable Tariff, Commercial Prosperity and Peace Within Our Borders—Effective Speeches.

Toronto, July 12.—Whether the general election comes soon or late, there can be no doubt as to the value, as a straightforward statement of the financial record of the Federal Government, of the masterly speech of the Minister of Finance last night before the members of the Fielding Club and many men prominent in public life and in financial and industrial circles. Mr. Fielding's speech was intended to be a plain statement of the progress of Canada from the depths of financial depression to the splendid heights of prosperity attained during the past few years. The Minister noted the improved position of Canadian securities, the eight years of prosperous financing, of lower taxation, of reduction of the public debt, of successful departmental administration, of commercial prosperity, of national expansion and of national peace which Canada has enjoyed under the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Dealing with the preferential tariff, he declared that but for the step taken by Canada in 1897 the policy of Imperial preferences would not have gained such headway as to have been taken up by Mr. Chamberlain. Canada's other departures in daring tariff policy, the German surtax and the provisions against dumping, were dwelt on briefly, the Minister declaring that if the latter regulations were found insufficient to prevent the evil aimed at they would be improved until they became completely effective. Mr. Fielding spoke for one hour and a quarter, and was followed with the closest attention.

Sir William Mulock urged a continuation of the policy of developing Canada's natural resources, with a strong word of protest against militarism. The Postmaster-General, Hon. Wm. Patterson, and Hon. H. R. Emmerson each paid tributs to the zeal and ability of the Minister of Finance.

A Large Attendance.

The banquet, which was held in the King Edward Hotel, was attended not only by leading Liberals of the city and representative Liberals from the Province but by many of Toronto's prominent business men who take little share in politics. About 300 sat down to dinner, special arrangements having to be made for a much larger number than had been expected. The decorations were elaborate. From every pillar and cornice pendant banners and bunting hung. Over the Chairman's seat was a Union Jack. In the centre of the room was erected a large cornucopia, and from the mouth of each of four horns the records of Canada's great progress under Liberal rule were depicted.

Some of Those Present.

Occupying the chair sat President James McLaughlin and next to him were Hon. W. S. Fielding, Right Hon. William Mulock, M.P., Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways; Hon. William Patterson, Minister of Customs; Hon. J. M. Gibson, Attorney-General; Hon. Richard Harcourt, Minister of Education; Hon. J. R. Stratten, Provinvial Secretary; Hon. E. J. Davis, Minister of Crown Lands; Hon. Senator Cox, Hon. Senator L. M. Jones, Hon. Senator Kerr, Mayor Urquhart, R. F. Sutherland, M.P.; T. O. Davis, M.P.; Archibald Campbell, M.P.; W. M. German, M.P.; Robert Jaffary, J. A. Macdonald, H. Miles, ex-president Board of Trade, Montreal; Aemilius Irving, K.C.; Hon. S. C. Biggs, Ald. J. J. Ward and W. J. Clark.

Horns of Plenty.

On the mouth of one horn were the words, "Immigration—1896, 14,865; 1903, 128,364."

In the third horn—"Transportation—Two transcontinental roads; G.T.P., built from less than one year's surplus—$6,500,000."

In the fourth horn the words, "Agriculture—Exports 1896, $50,590,902; in 1903, $114,441,863."

A Clever Cartoon.

When Mr. Fielding rose to speak a clever cartoon by Mr. J. W. Bengough placed on the wall was uncovered. It caused great amusement. The cartoon represented a Yankee with a bag on his shoulder labelled "dumper." An automatic machine machine labelled "Fielding's Anti-dumper" faced the Yankee, with swords underneath it "Pressure on the platform sends up the duty." The Yankee, looking at the machine, says: "Consarn that machine; I don't like it, neighbor."

Mr. James McLaughlin, President of the Fielding Club, presided. All the arrangements were most satisfactory, and reflected credit upon the committee of the Liberal clubs and organizations in charge. The toasts of the King and the Governor-General were first honored.

The Toast of the Guest.

Mr. W. J. Clark, Secretary of the Fielding Club, in proposing the toast "Our Guest," said that in arranging this gathering they had two objects in view—to give to the citizens of Toronto and Ontario an opportunity of meeting the distinguished Minister from Nova Scotia and becoming acquainted with him personally, and to hear from him how the business affairs of the country had been managed so that he was able to present a surplus every year. It was a matter of gratification to the officers of the Fielding Club to be able to say that every district in Ontario, and every town almost, had sent representatives to do honor to the Finance Minister. It was a matter of very great pleasure to them also to be able to say to their distinguished guest that on this occasion party lines had been obliterated. (Hear, hear.) They had with them men who did not always see eye to eye with the distinguished statesman they were honoring, but they admired his great abilities and his great services to the country. They were all delighted to honor him because he was one of the men to whom they looked up as representing the highest element in public life today; furthermore, because of his intense Canadianism — (applause)—because he had carried the flag of Canada for the Canadians and planted it at an outpost farther than any of his predecessors had ever done, for when the Germans attempted to deal unfairly with Canada, Mr. Fielding had promptly met them by the surtax.

A Sincere Reception.

When Hon. Mr. Fielding rose to respond, the banqueters, who had drunk the toast amid much applause, followed by the singing of "He's a Daisy," greeted him with another outburst of cheering, and it was several minutes before he was able to proceed.

RIFLE SHOOTING AT BISLEY.

Staff-Sergeant Crowe of Guelph Scores 49 Out of 50.

Bisley Rifle Range, July 12.—(C. A.P.)—The annual meeting of the National Rifle Association opened yesterday morning under favorable auspices. This association was founded in 1860 (incorporated by royal charter 1890) to give permanence to volunteer corps and to encourage rifle shooting throughout the King's Dominions.

In the J. H. Steward Challenge Cup competition yesterday afternoon Pte. Neil Smith of the 21st Regiment, Stewart, put on a score of 34 out of a possible 35.

In the Gregory he made the same score.

In the Alexander Martin competition, Staff-Sergt C. R. Crowe of the 30th Regiment, Guelph, scored as follows: 4 5 5 5 5 5 5 5 5—49. Immediately following this he put on a score of 12 bullseyes.

In the Gregory unsquadded competition, open to all-comers, seven shots at 200 yards, Lance-Sergt. W. G. Fowlers, 12th Regiment, Toronto, scored 33 out of a possible 35.

Fast Shirt-Making.

During a recent visit made by an English social reformer to a shirt factory the foreman started a piece of cloth on the rounds and made it come out a finished shirt in just six and one-half minutes. Seven girls worked on the shirt. One machine made 16,800 buttonholes in a day, or twenty-eight a minute. In ten hours in this shop a man can cut 250 dozen, or 3,000 shirts.

Humor and Philosophy

NOT ALWAYS MAY.

Then let us give our best applause
To every glad spring day,
And in the sunshine bask, because
It is not always May.

But hold! This hint from somewhere drops—
It may be best that way:
When would we gather in the crops
If it were always May?

How would the man who handles skates
Make such a business pay
And keep the sheriff from his gates
If it were always May?

A fellow with his only girl
Could never take his sleigh
And through the pleasant country whirl
If it were always May.

And here's another thing that's so
About one form of play—
A man could never shovel snow
If it were always May.

Then let us on the season smile
As through the month we stray,
But let us thank our stars meanwhile
It is not always May.

Disgraced.

Mrs. Clara de Clare, proud mistress of a grand colonial home, sat in her inner chamber, her eyes red with weeping and a great sorrow gnawing at her heart like a chipmunk at a shellbark hickory nut.

Blue blood ran in her veins whenever it was needing exercise. At other times it sauntered along, soldiering painfully on the job.

She was of a proud race. The family hadn't stolen anything for three generations, for the founder of the line had gathered in three townships by questionable means, and his descendants did not have to go about picking up hot stoves in order to live.

But for all she was not happy. Not that any of the women in her set had homelier and more expensive hats than she had. It was no trifle like that that stirred her bosom to its depths and made the Missouri river freshet come unbidden from her eyes.

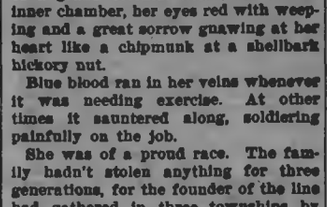
Her only son, heir to the estate, on whom she had builded so much, had disgraced the family, and she felt she could never again look the world in the face. He had gone to work.

The Change.

He had to kiss the baby,
Affecting much delight.
He didn't want to do it,
But the mother said he might.

Some twenty odd years later
He met her once again.
He didn't kiss her that time,
But he was willing then.

A Back Number.



"Is Jenkins up to date?"

"I should say not. He is just learning to ride a bicycle."

Double Pressure.

He walked with her in quiet lanes,
Romantic paths and shady.
At first he warmly pressed his suit,
And then he pressed the lady.

His Turn Coming.

"Are you going to marry that young man who has been hanging around you for a year?"

"I don't know, but if I ever do, I will get even with him for holding me so long in suspense."

Couldn't Rise From a Chair

On Account of Dreadful Pains in the Kidneys and Back—A Complete Cure by

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

In its course through the body the blood not only supplies nourishment to the various organs, but also gathers up the poisonous waste matter.

When the liver and kidneys fail to filter these poisons from the blood there are pains and aches and diseases of the most painful and fatal kind.

Because they restore the strength and activity to the kidneys and liver Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills overcome such troubles and purify the blood in a wonderfully short time.

Mr. L. W. Dennis, Welland, Ont., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify in behalf of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. For many years I was seriously afflicted with kidney and liver troubles. At times my back would ache so bad I could not rise from a chair, and then again I would be confined to my bed. I was treated by the medical profession, but they all failed to understand my case.

"About the time I was most discouraged I heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they were so strongly recommended that I decided to try them. Before I had used all of five boxes my old trouble had entirely left me, and I was again as healthy as in boyhood. I freely give this testimony for the benefit of those who suffer as I have."

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 5

BIRTH OF THE ROSE.

Two Legends of the Origin of This Beautiful Flower.

There are two traditions as to the origin of the rose. According to Sir John Mandeville, a Jewish maid of Bethlehem (whom Southey names Zilah) was beloved by a brutish sot named Hammel. The maiden rejected this suitor, and he, in revenge, accused Zillah of offenses for which she was condemned to be burned alive. When brought to the stake the flames refused to hurt Zillah, but burned Hammel to a cinder. There she stood in a garden of roses, for the brands which had been kindled became red roses, and those which had not caught fire white ones. These, according to the tradition, were the first roses that bloomed on earth since the loss of paradise.

Then, according to a Musculman tradition, the rose is thus accounted for: When Mohammed took his journey to heaven the sweat which fell on the earth from the prophet's forehead produced white roses, and that which fell from the animal he rode upon, named Al Borak, produced yellow ones. At the present day the sellers of roses in eastern towns cry aloud in the streets, "The rose was a thorn, and the sweat of the prophet Mohammed dropping upon it formed it into a rose."

HE ORGANIZED RANGERS

IS NOW COMMANDER OF GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S BODYGUARD.

Major Merritt Promoted to Succeed Lieut.-Col. C. A. Denison—Splendid Military Record of the New Chief Officer of the Oldest Cavalry Corps in the Dominion—His South African Experiences.

Militia orders recently issued make changes in the command of the Governor-General's Body Guard. The tenure of command of Lieut.-Col. C. A. Denison having expired, Major Wm. Hamilton Merritt was appointed in command of the corps. This corps is the oldest cavalry organization in Canada, and has had an honorable career under its past commanding officers. The establishment having been increased it now devolves upon the present commanding officer to build up the regiment to nearly double its previous strength, which, in view of the newly authori-

The military service of the new commanding officer is given in the transactions of the United Empire Loyalist Association as follows:

He entered the Governor-General's Body Guard as cornet 29th February, 1884; promoted to lieutenant, June 6, 1884; captain, May 31, 1899; major, second in command of regiment, June 11, 1898; was adjutant of the regiment about a year, including service as acting adjutant in Northwest campaign, 1885, under Col. George Taylor Denison, in which service he captured the Sioux chief, Whitecap, an incident referred to in the "Historical Record of the Governor-General's Body Guard," and also in Denison's "Soldiering in Canada" (medal). Was attached for instruction to 20th Hussars at Aldershot in 1890, and received a certificate.

When the South African war broke out he went at his own expense to Cape Town to offer his services, and was appointed a squadron commander in 1st Regt. Brabant's Horse (colonial division) under Gen. Brabant; was transferred as second in command to 2nd Regt. of the same brigade; and was subsequently A.D.C. to General Brabant, and to his successors in the command, Col. Dalgety, C.B., and Col. Cuming, C.B. Certified by General Sir E. Y. Brabant, K.C.B., C.M.G., to having taken part in the following operations and general actions in 1900: Eastern Cape Colony, including "Labuschagne's Nek" (March 4 and 5), and "Aliwal North" (March 11), "Siege of Wepener" (April 9 to 25); Eastern Orange Free State (surrender of Prinsloo in Brandwater Basin—Wittebergen), including "Lielliefontein" (June 26), and "Roode Krantz" (July 23); chase after Dewet, including school platz (Aug. 12), and "Magato's Nek" (Aug. 16); attacks by Delarey in Western Transvaal, including "Doornhoek" (Aug. 26), "Kwaggafontein" (Aug. 31), and "Syferfontein" (Sept. 1); against Dewet in North Orange River Colony, including "Vrederfort" (Oct. 5, 6, and 7). (Medal with four clasps).

In February, 1901, an offer made by Major Merritt (after the colonial division was broken up) to raise a mounted force of Canadians for service in South Africa was accepted by the Imperial Government, and he was authorized to raise a regiment, at Imperial expense, to be called "The Canadian Rangers," and to select the officers and men, subject to the consent of the Canadian Government, which consent, however, was refused; but as the outcome of the correspondence, which then took place, the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles was raised in December, 1901, and the command given to a permanent corps officer, when Major Merritt, notwithstanding the altered circumstances, loyally accepted the position of second in command. Shortly after reaching South Africa he unfortunately met with a severe accident which prevented his taking an active part in the services of the corps, with which he returned to Canada at the conclusion of the war. On the regiment being disbanded, an address was presented to him by the men who had served in it.

On the reception of the Toronto members of the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, the mayor of Toronto in presenting field glasses and a civic medal, observed: "It was owing to Major Merritt's efforts that the 2nd Canadian mounted rifles was sent at all; and it was owing to his efforts that the contingent arrived in time to take part in that crowning event of the war, the Hart's River engagement."

Brides

Are always "beautiful" and always "happy" according to the society reporters, and in this case the report is mostly true. There may be unhappy brides in fiction, but there are few in real life. But how hard it is to look upon many of the wives we know, and believe that they were once beautiful and happy. Pain, the result of womanly disease, has marred beauty and undermined happiness.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"I have thought for some time I would write you and tell you of the great improvement in my health since taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" says Mrs. H. S. Jones, of Forest, N. C. "When I began its use I was a physical wreck and had despaired of ever having any health again. Could not sit up all day, and was so weak I could not walk one quarter of a mile. I noted a great improvement in my health before the first bottle was used. Was suffering with almost every pain that a woman is subject to; had inflammation of ovaries, painful and suppressed periods, and other symptoms of female disease. After taking six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' I felt like a new person. Can ride horseback and take all kinds of exercise and not feel tired."

"Papa" as a Worm.

One of the governesses in a kindergarten and preparatory school was giving an interesting lesson on "Worms, grubs, and caterpillars, and their uses to man." Presently she turned to a little six-year-old girl and asked:

"Now, my dear, what worm was it that gave your mother her beautiful silk dress?"

"Papa, ma'am," promptly replied the child.

A Highland Chieftain.

The chieftainship of a Highland clan is still a great position, even in these levelling days; and where there is a doubt as to who is entitled to it, the adherents of the rival chiefs uphold their respective claims with a quite mediaeval ardor. It would be a bold Southron who would venture to adjudicate on the competing claims of the Mackintosh and Cluny Macpherson to the chieftainship of the Clan Chattan; and even Lord Lovat, who was the recipient last week, at the hands of his fellow-Frasers, of a splendid silver casket, in recognition of his patriotic services, is not universally (though very generally) held to be the chief of his famous clan. Lord Saltoun, head of the Aberdeenshire Frasers, is understood to assert his right to the chieftainship; and when, in the great hall of Beaufort Castle, the clansmen mustered, some years ago, round the youthful Lord Lovat, and congratulated him on his majority. Lord Saltoun (though one of the house party at the castle) sternly declined to take any part in a ceremonial which seemed to imply recognition of the claim of his brother-Peer to be the chief of their common clan.—London Chronicle.

Race for a Canadian LL.D. Degree.

In a race against time with an LL.D. degree as the prize, President Harper, of the University of Chicago, started on a flying trip from Madison, Wis., to Toronto, Ont., on the 9th June. A special train to Chicago and the holding of a Michigan Central express at Buffalo by special arrangement, were features of the trip. President Harper was in Madison attending the jubilee of the University of Wisconsin, where he was given an LL.D. degree that day. In the afternoon he left on a special train over the North-Western, arriving in Chicago at 4.45 p.m. At 5.20 he started over the Michigan Central, reaching Buffalo at 6.45, Central time. The hour scheduled for the departure of the train for Toronto was exactly the minute of the arrival of Dr. Harper's train from Chicago. He duly arrived in Toronto, and on the 10th Dr. Harper delivered a convocation address in the afternoon at Toronto University, received another LL.D., and left for Chicago in the evening.

The Secretive Hen.

Hens like to lay in a rather dark nest, the opening from which is hidden from view. If box nests with the opening towards the wall are placed in the poultry house, very few hens will steal their nests in out-of-the-way places.

INSECT ARCHITECTURE.

The Way Carpenter Bees Build Their Nests In Wood.

Mr. Rennie in his "Insect Architecture" describes the work of a carpenter bee. First she chiseled a channel in a piece of wood with her powerful jaws and deposited each morsel at a distance. Then she made repeated journeys to bring in pollen and clay until she had collected enough to serve as food for the future grubs and to bar the entrance.

Cutting open the post, he found a nest of six cells separated by partitions of clay as thin as cardboard and with sides as smooth as any joiner could have contrived.

Reaumur tells us how the violet carpenter bee bores into wood obliquely for an inch and then perpendicularly for a foot, scooping out three or four such passages. At the bottom she lays an egg, covers it with a paste of pollen and honey and a protection of gnawings from the wood. This is repeated until the nest is filled, and a side door at the bottom enables the young bees to come out in due time.

An Early Memorial System.

The primitive Indo-European numerical system was a mixture of the decimal and the sexagesimal. The first large number was the "shock"—that is, 60—and the next large number was the "hund," or "hundred"—that is, 120. Between 60 and 120 there were no numbers like our 70, etc., being "a shock and 10," and 80 being "a shock and 20." The introduction of our present numbers between 60 and 120 arose out of the introduction of the decimal hund or hundred—that is, 100—in distinction from which the old hundred (120) was called the duodecimal hundred, or the "great hundred," which is still used in Iceland and parts of England.

The Question of Baldness.

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto to Peterborough on Friday, July 15, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel renders it possible for any who wish to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Last night a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Guild Baseball League was held to consider a protest entered by the St .Paul's team against the game last Thursday night. They protest the game on the ground of interference with players, and also that the game was continued after it was too dark to play. This protest was not considered, it being decided that it was a matter to be settled on the field by the umire.

All Saints' and St. Paul's were ordered to play off the last half of a game which the former claimed by default.

The finals will be played next week, in case the first series is completed this week.

Peterborough's next home game is with Cobourg here on July 23rd.

Lindsay is scheduled to play the Auburns here on Saturday, July 30th.

Miss Cecilia McDonald, a trained nurse occupied in the New York and Boston Hospitals and in a private capacity, is taking a rest and renewing old associations by visiting her old home, Peterborough. She came to town last evening and is the guest of Mr. Harry Rush, Sr. After a few days' stay she will return to Boston by the St. Lawrence route.

Mrs. R. D. Spencer and her sister Miss Taylor, of Trenton, were in town to see the lift lock opening the guests of Mrs. E. Layfield, Reid street. They had the honour of making the ascent—on the slightly belated City of Peterborough, and were delighted with the actual experience as well as with what it promised, for they, in common with the people of Trenton, regard the opening as another approach of the day when a steamer can come through the completed canal from Trenton and make its own ascent of the lift lock.

MINING OPERATION IN EASTERN ONTARIO.

Majority of the Mines in Active Work —Good Prospects.

A local gentleman, who is familiar with the conditions in the mining districts east of Peterborough, gave the Examiner some information yesterday with reference to the following item contained in the Toronto Sunday World:—

"P. Kirkegaard, mining promoter, of Marmora, who was in town the past few days in connection with mining matters, says that the mining industries of Hastings County are looking brighter. One mining property, idle for the last year, is being pumped out, and arrangements under headway for reorganizing."

The Examiner's informant states that in Delora, the conditions are entirely satisfactory, several hundred men are now employed, and work is being actively pushed. Mr. Kerr, the manager of the mine, was formerly employed at the Cordova mines in a similar capacity. At Cordova the conditions are not reassuring, no word having as yet been received as to the date of the opening of operations.

All the other mines in the east are being operated, and the prospects are described as excellent.

DESPATCH TELLS OF A MUKDEN ROMANCE

Tells a Wonderful Story of the Loss of 30,000 Japanese.

BRITISH STEAMERS STOPPED

Action of Russian Volunteer Vessel in the Red Sea—Two Great Armies on the Heights Ready to Fly at One Another's Throats—Long Before Kuropatkin Will be Able to Take Offensive.

St. Petersburg, July 13.—A despatch from a Russian correspondent at Mukden, dated July 12, says: "According to intelligence received here, the Japanese last night attacked positions near Port Arthur and were repulsed with enormous losses, not less than thirty thousand, it is said, being killed and wounded by our mines."

London, July 13.—The Morning Post's Shanghai correspondent says that the Japanese casualties by land at Port Arthur Sunday night are reported to have been 28,000, but none of the other special war correspondents mention a disaster at Port Arthur.

British Steamer Stopped.

Perim, Straits of, Babelmandeb, July 13.—The British steamer Menelaus, from the Clyde for Shanghai, which arrived here last night, reports that she and the British steamer Crewe Hall, from the Clyde for Kurrachee, were stopped on June 11 in the Red Sea, south of Jedda, by the Russian volunteer fleet steamer St. Petersburg, which carried eight guns and a large crew.

Two Armies Facing Each Other.

Headquarters of General Count Keller, Niuthiay, eleven miles west of Liandiansian, July 13.—The opposing armies are grimly facing each other on the heights across the Liank River, ready to engage in a death grapple. The Liank crosses the main Liaoyang-Fengwangcheng road, twenty-eight miles east of Liaoyang, flows north into the Taitse River, which passes through Liaoyang and empties into the Liao River.

The correspondent of the Associated Press, who arrived here after a thirty-five mile ride from Siaolindui, saw long lines of infantry and transport trains winding through the mountain. At Liandiansian, a lookout stationed in a treetop pointed the way to Gen. Keller's headquarters, near Niutkiay. There the Russian eastern army was found, hidden in the hills.

The whole army is anxious to fight Gen. Kuroki, whose headquarters are at Vandiapuze, and whose men are entrenched on the other side of the river. The burning question is who will be the first to cross the dread valley of the Liank River.

BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE.

Merchants Must not Obstruct the Sidewalk.

At the Police Court this morning a George street merchant was found guilty of obstructing the street at the rear of his store by placing crates on the sidewalk while unloading them. The bylaw states that the walk may be obstructed partially for a reasonable length of time while goods are being unloaded, but in this case the evidence went to show that the obstruction had been much longer than the Magistrate was of the opinion that the law allowed. No fine was imposed but the case should serve as a warning to the many other merchants who frequently block the sidewalks, that the police are awake in the matter. The Magistrate said that there was too much display making by merchants in taking in their goods.

A man charged with obtaining money under false pretences was discharged. From the evidence it appeared that the money had been received in a fraudulent manner, but this point was not brought out by the complainant's counsel and the charge was dismissed.

A little girl who it was complained was a great nuisance to the public in certain section of the town, was given a reprimand by the Magistrate and made promise to behave herself in future.

THE LIFT LOCK WAS APPRECIATED.

Congratulatory Letters Received by Mayor.

Appreciation of Peterborough's Hospitality and Increased Appreciation of the Canal.

As the Examiner has frequently indicated would be the case, the opening of the Lift Lock has given the canal itself a lift in the public estimation, and in the estimation of public men and bodies of influence. The presence of these men, and representatives of these bodies at the official opening, was to speak, familiarly, an eye-opener. Mayor Roger has since Saturday received several letters, all congratulatory, and some asking further information, very gratifying indications of a revived and intensified interest in the canal. The following shows how large is the appreciation and great has been the increase of interest in the important national work—the Trent Valley Waterway:—

Toronto, July 11th, 1904.

G. M. Roger, Esq., Mayor of Peterborough, Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I am instructed by the President of this Board to thank you for the courtesies extended to our deputation on their visit to your city Saturday last.

There is only one conclusion to be arrived at by those who took part in the opening ceremonies of the lift lock, and that is the necessity of completing the canal now under way, with as little delay as possible. As far as this Board is concerned you can rest assured we will do all in our power to further the project, believing it to be of the greatest interest to this Province, as well as Toronto.

Before closing let me express my admiration for your beautiful city and tender my congratulations to you and your committee for the admirable manner in which the programme was carried out. The citizens of Peterborough have proved how trifling a deluge is in the face of an attraction such as the opening of the lift lock.

Yours faithfully,
F. G. MORLEY,
Secretary.

This is very gratifying, but it shows in one expression, a popular misconception of the real causus belli, so to speak, of the Trent waters. Mr. Morley refers to it as a work of the 'greatest interest to this province as well as Toronto." This is too localized a view to take. The interests of the whole Dominion are concerned in the completion of the Trent Valley Waterway, and this is a point that cannot be too strongly insisted upon. Now is the time for the friends of the canal to strike—while the iron is hot. It is especially incumbent upon Peterborough to take the lead. The presence of the Lift Lock here, the most outstanding natural feature of the canal, and the prominence Peterborough has gained through the ceremony of Saturday, naturally indicates this town as a leader, not so much in point of ability as by virtue of the position it holds as the most important urban community on the route, and the most prominently associated in the public mind with the great national undertaking represented by the canal.

I suffered with backache, headache and dragging down pains for over nine months, and nothing relieved me a particle until I took Peruna. A few bottles relieved me of my miserable half-dead, half-alive condition. I am now in good health and have neither ache or pain, nor have I had any for the past year. If every suffering woman would take Peruna they would soon know its value and never be without it."—Mrs. Joseph Lacelle.

THE FIELDING BANQUET.

The banquet extended to Hon. W. S. Fielding in Toronto, on Monday evening was a notable event in more ways than one. It served to mark an epoch in the era of triumphant prosperity which has attended the administration of a Liberal Government, and to honour a man who has had so large a share in moulding the conditions which have had so important an influence upon the prosperity of the country at large. Naturally, the majority of those who were present, were in political sympathy with the Liberal party, but there were many who were broad enough to sink for the moment party differences, and to unite in honouring a man whose official record shows so much financial skill and patriotic impulse who has given the country such faithful and effective service. A full record of the country under eight years of Liberal rule would be a long and very pleasing story. But it might be pointed out in a general way; a few figures will demonstrate its general character. This year the surplus revenue of the country amounts to the enormous sum of $16,500,000, a revenue collected under a generally increased tariff rate, so that this big surplus is not a result of high taxation, but of the increased commercial and industrial activity of the country. By way of contrast, our total trade in 1896-7 was $239,000,000; in 1903-4 it had risen to $467,000,000. In the past eight years our exports of agricultural produce have more than doubled. In 1896 they were 50 1-2 millions, in 1903 they were 114 1-2 millions. The immigration into the country has increased nearly ten-fold. In 1896 the immigration was 14,000; in 1903 the increase of population by immigration had grown to 114,000 and this year a larger tide is flowing in. In every department of national activity there has been abounding prosperity and gratifying development and progress. The success of eight years of Liberal administration entitle the Government to the favourable consideration of the people, when the time shall come, sooner or later, for an appeal for a renewal of the confidence which has been so abundantly justified.

A WELL DESERVED ATTENTION

Next Friday evening a reception will be tendered to Lord Dundonald in Toronto. There will be an address presented and a few speeches made. Lord Dundonald is entitled to a cordial recognition of the distinguished services he has rendered the Empire. His brilliant record as a soldier entitles him to the gratitude of his Colonial fellow citizens. No one will venture to canvass the merit of Lord Dundonald as a soldier, and recognition of this fact will be at the same time a well deserved and a graceful act. It is stated that there is to be no political reference in the address to be presented to Lord Dundonald, but that the occasion is to be "a farewell on the part of citizens to a very able and distinguished officer." This object is commendable and will be universally approved.

THE REVIVED INDUSTRIES AT SAULT STE. MARIE

An Energetic and Efficient Board of Directors.

Excellent Character and Conditions of Existing Works.

The long and anxious effort to resurrect the "Sault industries" from their state of collapse, and set them once more in operation, bids fair to be a permanent success. The new Board of Directors, after a prolonged visit and thorough inspection of the works, has put in charge of them Mr. Cornelius Shields, in whose ability and integrity, the public have learned to confide. His appointment will do much to strengthen the general belief that the expectations of success are well founded.

The members of the Board are practical business men of long and varied experience. All but two of them are from the United States, selected there by the creditors of the former company, who have shown their faith in the reorganization by staking their invested funds on its success. That they will not be disappointed is the earnest hope of Canadians, for the successful revival of the industries means much for this country and especially for this province. The Canadian members of the Board are Mr. C. D. Warren and Mr. N. W. Rowell. The former has long been one of the prominent financiers of Toronto, and is also well known as a courageous but conservative promoter; the latter, as the lawyer who had most to do with carrying through the reorganization scheme, brings to bear on its operation a more complete knowledge of its complicated details than is possessed by any other one person. Mr. Warren, as President, has fortunately the full confidence of the whole Board.

It is needless to give here any enumeration of the varied industries included under the scheme of reorganization, for with most of them the public are already familiar. It is more to the point to learn that the directors are unanimous in the opinion that the collective plant is of the most modern type and the most perfect equipment. They were most agreeably disappointed in the character of the steel plant and the rail mill, about which many disparaging reports have from time to time been put in circulation, and which will very soon be ready for operation. It is worthy of note in this connection that ore from the Helen mine, which is the property of the reorganized company, is already used extensively in American mills, a fact which disproves all disparaging allegations as to its quality and availability.

The directors paid during their visit of inspection close attention to the condition of the Algoma Central Railway, which they found to be of a very high standard of excellence, as compared with the best American roads, such as the Pennsylvania system. It will be remembered that the motive of the guarantee of the bonds of the reorganized company by order of the Ontario Legislature, is the completion of this railway from Sault Ste. Marie to the main line of the Canadian Pacific. All who take the trouble to study the topography of the Sault region and the way in which the transportation problem has been treated so far in relation to it will readily admit the future importance of this cut-off line which would pass into the possession of the Ontario Government should there be a complete failure of the experiment on which both the province and the American investors have embarked. For the completion of the Algoma Central sufficient funds have been set apart under the guarantee, and for the protection of the province the Legislature has been extremely exacting in the matter of security. If the industries prove to be as well promoted as the Province is well protected, there is a splendid future in store for the Sault.

Havelock and Tweed Play a Game in T. V. L. L.—Social Events of Interest.

Last Friday, July 8th, the local lacrosse club went to Tweed by special train to play the deciding game of the Eastern District of the Trent Valley Lacrosse League. Everything went well until the ball was faced at about 4.30 with about 500 spectators present from all parts of the district. After the game had started Havelock began to do some pretty work, and in about three minutes Muldoon made a neat pass to Ferguson, who landed in the nets.

After the draw off the Havelock bunch was crowding Tweed good, but by a lucky chance they managed to get the ball in the vicinity of the Havelock goal, and as the Havelock boys were at the other end of the field an open shot was the consequence, and Tweed scored in 12 minutes.

The ball was again faced, but as it was plain to be seen Havelock had the best of the game Tweed lined up in front of their goal and prevented any more scoring in this quarter.

The second and third went through very well but although the teams tried hard to score it was prevented by Dineen's good work in goal, and the crowd stopping the ball for Tweed.

The last quarter was of the whirlwind variety and play had not been for more than two minutes before another scrap was started. Every time the ball was faced for being out of play, it was put out again by the face off. This continued for about seven times when it was in play again, Tweed getting the ball. J. O'Sullivan in going to check his man had the ball deliberately thrown at him, and if he had not dodged it in time it would have gone bad with O'Sullivan. One of Tweed's home men when about to shoot was bodychecked by J. Mein which knocked the Tweed player completly out.

The ball was again put in play, but the Tweed men thought that the way to play lacrosse was to get in the centre of the field, toss the ball to each other, and dare anyone to check them, as they had the whole town with clubs ready to make mincemeat out of the offender. About five minutes before the end of the game Havelock's swift centre, McGuire, took his life in his hands and endeavoured to get the ball. But as soon as he had checked the whole team was after his scalp. By this time Mr. Crowley, the referee, called the game off. The boys then lined up together and marched through the town to the hotel to the tune of hissing from the ladies, and "Lynch the scoundrels!" from the men, but nothing was done in that line however, and when they arrived at the hotel they were treated in such good style by the proprietor, Mr. Huycke, that they almost forgot that they had ever played lacrosse.

A very quiet but pretty wedding took place at the residence of Rev. R. B. Denike, Campbellford, on Wednesday, July 6th, when his daughter, Miss A. Victoria Denike, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. Edward Fennell. The bride was dressed in brown ladies' cloth, and carried a bouquet of roses. Her father officiated. The guests from town were A. C. Denike and wife, A. Denike and wife, Arthur Fennell of town, A. P. Venostine of Cordova. The many handsome presents which were on view showed the high esteem in which the bride and groom were held. After the wedding the happy couple left on the 3.15 train for points east. On their return they will reside in Havelock.

On Friday evening the friends in the Presbyterian church of Mr. Chiles made him the present of a very fine lounging chair, accompanied by the following address:

Havelock, July 8th.

Mr. George Chiles,—

Dear Sir,—Your friends in the choir and congregation have assigned to me the agreeable duty of expressing their high appreciation of your services in this church, and their assurance that in going into married life, you take with you their best wishes for your future happiness. They have also desired me to ask your acceptance of this token of remembrance, intended to mark their sense of your devotion to the interests of the church, and your sterling worth as a man. I join with them most heartily in the wish to pay a just tribute to your public and private character, and beg you to receive this chair as a token of our friendship, and an evidence of sincere and disinterested regard.

Signed on behalf of the above.

Mrs. Jas. Martin.

Mrs. Thos. Lloyd left on Monday for an extended visit to Chatham, then to Montreal.

A very pleasant time was enjoyed at the lawn social given by the English church on their grounds, back of the manse. Mat. Swain in his comic songs was appreciated by all.

The town hall has now been equipped with incandescent lights, which improvement it greatly.

The Liver to Blame.

So long as the liver is active in filtering the bile from the blood there is no biliousness and no constipation, because the bile is passed from the liver into the intestines where it acts as a cathartic in keeping the bowels active. Because of their direct action on the liver as well and the bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills thoroughly cure constipation, the real cause of nine-tenths of the common ills of life.

A very interesting event took place last Wednesday evening, when Miss Mabel Mae Harper, daughter of Mr. J. A. Harper, Ridge street, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred Squire, son of our esteemed townsman, Mr. J. S. Squire. The bride was supported by Miss Gertude Squire, while the groom was assisted by Mr. H. A. Harper. The bride was gowned very becomingly in white silk organdie, carrying a shower bouquet of white roses, while the bridesmaid wore a dainty frock of white crepe de chene. Miss B. Squire played the wedding march. Many and beautiful were the presents, showing the esteem in which the young people were held. They left that evening for their home in Havelock amid the shower of good wishes for a long and happy life.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pearce, Misses Pearce, of Marmora, and Mr. Rushworth, Liverpool, Eng., were the guests at the home of Mr. J. B. Pearce on Sunday.

ORANGEMEN PARADE BY THE THOUSANDS

Monster Celebration Held in Peterborough on the 12th.

Addresses at Central Park—The Duties of Orangemen—Incidents of the Day.

Yesterday, despite the fact that the early part of the day was decidedly unpleasant, Peterborough saw the largest Orange demonstration in its history, and several thousand members of the Orange Order gathered in this town to celebrate the 124th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, and in spite of the unpropituous weather conditions, the day was in every respect a success.

The Examiner calculates that over 3,000 men were in the parade, which occupied 35 minutes in passing, and which was witnessed by many thousands more, who lined the streets on the route of the parade. There were eight brass bands, fourteen fife and drum bands, forty-five banners, and fifty lodges in the parade, at the conclusion of which a number of addresses were delivered at the Central Park, where a very large number of persons had gathered. Those who spoke were Rev. Messrs. Whitelaw, Duprau and Langfeldt, and Mr. James Worrell, Mr. Wm. Kindred acted as chairman of the meeting.

In an Orange celebration success does not altogether depend upon weather conditions. This fact was given ample evidence to yesterday in the monster gathering of Orangemen which took place in Peterborough, and which, in spite of the most uncompromising state of the weather, particularly early in the day, was a huge success.

From early morning, even through the pouring rain, the staunch followers of William of Orange might be seen coming into town on all the roads, and through every avenue of travel. So great was the tax upon the facilities of the railway companies, that the G.T.R. had not enough siding space to store the empty coaches, and the sidings at Auburn had to be utilized for this purpose. By far the larger number of visitors come by this line, a number of specials being run, and all the regular trains carried hundreds of Orangemen. The noon express from Toronto came in with two engines, and the other trains were loaded in proportion.

The river steamers also carried many hundreds, and, it must be remembered that while at the time of the arrival of many of those the skies had cleared and gave promise of better weather, when they left their homes the rain was coming down in torrents, with every prospect that it would continue to do so all day. In the face of this fact, the great gathering of Orangemen and their friends is truly wonderful.

In the parade, details of which were given yesterday, there were exactly fifty lodges represented, and although the Examiner does not claim to have made an absolutely correct calculation, it is pretty safe to assume that the average strength of these fifty lodges in the parade was not less than sixty, and in a great many cases the numbers, by actual count, far exceeded this. This would give a total of at least 3,000 men in the line, without taking into consideration the membership of the bands, of which there were eight brass and fourteen fife and drum. These will bring the total strength of the parade considerably over the 3,000 mark.

It is known that a number of lodges were prevented from coming on account of the wet weather, but even for a fine day, a parade of 3000 and more strong, would have been considered a remarkably good one, and under the conditions described, the success is all the more pronounced.

In spite of the threatening aspect of the morning and early forenoon, the sun, as if ashamed of her bad behaviour, came out about noon, and the remainder of the day was, from the weather standpoint, all that could be desired, and certainly as far as members and enthusiasm were concerned, the same might be said of the afternoon's gathering.

The parade, the order of which was published in yesterday's issue started shortly after the time announced, and the streets, during its progress, were lined with thousands of spectators. A very large majority of the local population was on the streets, the factories that attempted to run yesterday doing so with sadly depleted staffs of employees, but the town's population formed but a very small proportion of the immense crowds that gathered on the streets during the afternoon about the time set for the parade.

It required thirty-five minutes for the procession to pass a given place, and it is a perfectly safe assertion to make that never before in the history of this town, has there been such a large number of Orangemen in parade at one time, and the crowds on the streets easily eclipsed anything seen in years.

The parade was a highly creditable one, indeed, and one which commanded considerable well-merited admiration from the spectators. All the lodges appeared well uniformed, and some of them were particularly conspicuous for neatness and tasty uniforms. Some of the visiting musical organizations, too, were very creditable, particularly the Sylvester Band, of Lindsay, the bandmaster of which, Mr. Neil Resnick, was an old-time band friend of Bandmaster Gliddon, when they both played in the then famous Bowmanville Organ Factory Band. The Alderville Band, too, in the red tunics of His Majesty's soldiers, although not a large organization, played very well, and the appearance on the streets of this band, the members of which are Indians, created an impression. The Newcastle Band, which accompanied the Clarke District, is under the direction of Mr. W. Pickard, and came up twenty strong. They were liberal with their music, and it was of a good quality. Mr. Norman Allin, the drum major, fills the duties of that office to a nicety.

THE SPEAKING.

After the rear end of the parade had pulled up at Central Park, more than half an hour after the first section had arrived, the crowd gathered around the band stand, from which the addresses were delivered, and for more than an hour listened to a number of prominent men explain the principles of the Orange Order.

The chairman of the proceedings was Mr. Wm. Kindred, County Master, and in opening the meeting, after the 57th Band had played a selection, he warmly welcomed the visiting members of the Order and their friends to Peterborough. He remarked that earlier in the day he had felt pretty blue, but the failure, or partial failure, which he had anticipated then, had been turned into a grand success.

He first called upon Mayor Roger to address the gathering. His Worship said that it was a pleasure to him to extend the hearty welcome of the council and people of Peterborough to the many visitors. He believed that under wise supervision Orangeism would help Canada instead of hindering it. He extended to them a cordial welcome and hoped that they would come often, assuring them that they would always be welcome.

The next speaker was Rev. J. H. Whitelaw, of Omemee, Presbyterian minister of that town. Rev. Mr. Whitelaw remarked that it was a great pleasure to him to address a gathering of Orangemen in the Province of Ontario. For some years he had resided in the province of Quebec, where Orangemen were not as numerous as they are in Ontario. The reverend gentleman then went on to expound the principles of the Order. First of all, he said that an Orangeman ought to be a man. We are stamped with the Divine image, and should not disgrace our Creator. Then they should recognize the brotherhood of man, and embrace all men as brethren. The object of the Orange Order was not to crush men but to crush those things that prevented men from being free. He referred to the days of Derry, Enniskillen and the crossing of the Boyne, and said that our expectations go out to the future, when this Dominion, which is but now experiencing an awakening, will be the home of many millions of people, and for these, he said, we must lay the foundations of Christian liberty and Christian light.

To-day Canada is standing in a peculiar position. We are sowing the seed, and what shall the harvest be?

Orangemen should be antagonistic to no human being, but should be against everything not in harmony with God's law. He said that he would defy anyone to find in the constitution of the Order, its teachings, and, he hoped, in the lives of its members, anything contrary to the will of God. Mr. Whitelaw said that their Roman Catholic friends should be thankful to the Orange Order for the stand it had taken in upholding loyalty. There was a difference in the condition of things in Ontario to that in Quebec. They are both bound by the Act of Confederation, and both are under the British flag, but there is a great difference in the condition of the people, and the speaker contended that the improvement in the condition of things in Ontario was largely due to the work of the Orange Order. There are many things that both Roman Catholics and Protestants have in common, but if the former saw things in which the latter were wrong it was their duty to point it out to them, and the same applies to the Protestants, and he believed it was the duty of the ministry of the Protestant churches to tell the people by means of public meetings such as these that the law of God is the only rule of life and conduct. He closed by thanking the audience for its attention and expressed his pleasure at being present.

Following this the 57th Band rendered a selection.

A CHURCH WEDDING.

Mr. F. S. Hubbs Married to Miss Rosamond Esther Price

A quiet wedding took place yesterday morning at St. Luke's church, when Mr. Fred Stanley Hubbs was married to Miss Rosamond Esther Price, daughter of Mr. S. R. Price, of Otonabee, in the presence of only the immediate friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Lenffeldt, M.A., Rector of St. Luke's, at 7.30 a.m., the bride being given away by her father. The bridesmaid was Miss Bessie Price, sister of the bride, and the groomsman, Mr. Frank Hubbs, of Toronto, brother of the groom.

The bride and groom left for Belleville on the morning train, and will take a trip through the Thousand Islands before their return. They will reside in Peterborough.

One of the pleasant excursions of the season will be St. Andrew's picnic to Idyl Wyld on Tuesday, July 19th, per steamers "City of Peterborough" and "Sovereign." The steamers arrive at Idyl Wyld about 12 a. m., and leave about 4 p. m. Tickets 40c and 20c.

The Question of Baldness

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto to Peterborough on Friday, July 15, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel renders it possible for any who wish to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalness of his wigs and toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the days and dates.

BASEBALL.

The George Street Guild team has again conceded to the request of the E. A. C. team for a return game and the contest will come off on Friday evening at the Benson avenue grounds.

* * * *

The Peterproughe' weak spot is in batting. Yesterday there was too many attempts for big hits by slugging at the ball and the batters were easily fooled. Nice little singles are what is wanted in place of so many strike outs.

* * * *

Quinlan's work on the slab yesterday was very creditable to this young pitcher. He struck out 13 men and allowed only seven hits. He has a great assortment of curves and when he acquires more speed and more experience, he should easily hold his own in the Midland League.

LACROSSE.

One of the best lacrosse games of the season is promised for next Saturday afternoon at the Murray Street grounds, when the tie game between Port Hope and the T.A.S. will be played off. Since their former appearance in town, the Ontarios have been considerably strengthened by the addition of several of last years senior players and their team will be a formidable one. The T.A.S. have also been strengthened and are confident of duplicating their Dominion Day trick in Port Hope. The game should be the best of the season.

SINGING EVANGELISTS AT MURRAY STREET

A Company of McMaster Students Will Conduct Services Here Next Week.

This is a company of young men, students of McMaster University, Toronto, are spending their vacation together in evangelistic work, and their labours are everywhere received with joy by the churches and communities where they have gone. The Lord's blessing has rested richly upon their labours; the fruits have in every instance been very encouraging. They have been to the largest Baptist churches in Montreal and Ottawa, and have spent a week in Renfrew, Pembroke, Arnprior, being now at Lanark. In these latter places all Christians have co-operated with them. The students come to Peterborough next Saturday and will begin services at the Murray street Baptist church next Sunday morning. They will hold three services in that church on Sunday, July 17th, at 11 a.m., at 4 and 7 p.m. The afternoon service will be especially for the young people. Young men will be sure to be interested. They will conduct services in the same place every night next week until Saturday. They will furnish good music, solos and quartettes, and give short and bright addresses.

The general public is invited. Nobody will regret going to hear them. Everybody will receive good. You will be sorry if you miss them.—Com.

A REPLY.

Mr. T. M. Hunter Gives Some Facts Regarding the County Accounts.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—In your last week's issue of the Examiner there is an article commenting on the accounts of the county, which while partly true, is altogether misleading as to the true state of affairs.

The facts, as I understand them, are these:—

Mr. Pearce, was allowed to remain in office until a very aged man and he had a system of bookkeeping of his own which appeared to answer the purpose very well, but was not of the type that has been ordered by the government, but as death removed him in the middle of the year and as the present council understands that the books were then partially audited, and the late treasurer, Mr. George Stewart, was appointed, and he took up the work where it was left off by Mr. Pearce. Now, Sir, there is no man in the county that knew Mr. Stewart, that would have questioned the wisdom of the then members of the County Council in appointing him, as he was a man of the highest integrity and a good scholar, but in a short time after his appointment he was taken sick with a disease that after affected his memory. He then verbally notified some members of the council that he would have to give up the work. He then did resign the clerkship and Mr. Richard Watt, was appointed clerk with the understanding that he was to assist Mr. Stewart in keeping the entire work up and complete. Mr. Stewart had entire confidence in Mr. Watt's ability and trusted him with making all entries in books, etc., in connection with the office. But in 1902 there begun to be a shortage or a difference in the bank account and the County Treasurer's books, until it run up to over one thousand dollars. The auditors discovered this and then a scrutiny of the books began to discover the errors, if any, and the shortage dwindled down until it is now less than five hundred dollars, and we may find before the end of the year where it has gone, too. Now, sir, the council, while in session, considered very carefully the wisdom of employing an expert auditor and have him go back over the books for a number of years, but we found that it might cost all the way from one thousand dollars up, as they charge from eight to ten dollars per day and they have a free hand to work as long as the circumstances will allow. As it only requires a small amount to make the books balance, we intend to first exhaust all ordinary means before entering upon the radical measure of hiring one of those high-priced fellows that is suggested. As to the present auditors, in the article in your paper they are dubbed "farmers". Well, that is true, but both of those men are men of long municipal experience, and are clerks of the respective municipalities in which they reside at the present time, and are men of good education, and in the opinion of the council are quite capable of performing their duties as auditors, and are doing the work assigned to them—perhaps not as rapidly, but just as honestly and correctly as professionals. I am not aware of the extent or length the official auditor can go in reporting, but I do think he should confine his reports to the council and to those who employ him and not to news offices and the public until the true state of affairs are before the light, as it is unfair to the council who are trying to protect the interests of the county from any financial loss, without defaming anyone who has been connected with the office in the past or present. As to the present clerk and treasurer it is quite unnecessary for him to be obstructed or handicapped in any way as he will be only held responsible for his own work from the date he started, and a special audit is quite unnecessary for his protection, and the necessary books are being supplied him. The present members of the county council found that there has been altogether too many officers employed at the county office. They were like Bellamy in his long sleep. They forgot where they left off, and were careless to start with, so they have dismissed the late clerk and have refused to appoint a sessional clerk.

I regret the necessity of having to reply to your article, but when the matter has been mentioned, the public should know the true state of matters as they stand. Hoping you will publish this explanation, I am

Yours truly,
T. M. HUNTER,
Ch. Fin. Com. County Council.

The Examiner very willingly gives space to Mr. Hunter's letter, because his interest in the welfare of the county, and the industry and zeal he applies to the discharge of his duties, cannot be too well known, and because his letter fully justifies the position taken, and the object aimed at, in the article dealt with by the letter. The sole object of the article in question was to serve the public interest. There was no hint of any wrong doing on the part of any person connected with the circumstances leading to the county accounts being in the unsatisfactory condition, which Mr. Hunter admits they are in. The Examiner felt that its responsibility to the public demanded that it should urge the County Council to take steps to straighten out the complications of the county accounts, so that the people, to whom the councillors are responsible, should know, as they have a right to know, just where they stand. We believe that the object in this direction of the County Councillors and the Examiner, is identical, the only difference of opinion seeming to consist in the means to be adopted. The Examiner favours the employment of an expert accountant, believing that, though there may be some little expense, the expense, within reasonable limits, will be well justified. It will be a source of the greatest satisfaction to have our accounts placed upon a footing easily to be understood, and proper books of account opened so that the future may be free from the lamentable condition now existing in connection with the county accounts. The County Council seems to think otherwise and that the present steps being taken are sufficient. In this connection Mr. Hunter does the Examiner something of an injustice when he states that the article "dubbed" the auditors as farmers. He should know as well as anybody that no disrespect to farmers as a class was intended. The Examiner only wished to point out that their calling did not afford the experience and training in financial matters fitting them to as well straighten complicated accounts as an expert accountant with a life-training in this direction, and with daily experience with complicated transactions. If a company's books became complicated, such a company would not employ a college president, a lawyer or a doctor, or a farmer or even a newspaper editor, who is supposed to know a little of everything, to disentangle complications, but an expert accountant. As remarked the common object of both the Council and the Examiner is to secure a proper adjustment of the county accounts. That was the object of the Examiner in writing the article upon the subject. The point of difference is the means to be employed. The Examiner has nothing to recall of what it has said upon the subject. Nobody was blamed and especially the County Council, only it was urged in the words of the concluding sentences of the article criticised, to take in the interests of the people "prompt steps be taken to straighten out the county books, by a thorough audit by a competent accountant, and to establish a proper system of book-keeping, so that we may know where we stand, something we do not know at the present time." If the people are satisfied that this is now being done the Examiner has nothing more to say. The object it aimed at will be attained. No doubt the chairman of the Finance Committee is acting for the best and it is to be hoped that the efforts being made will be speedily successful.

PARADES---SPEECHES

Enthusiastic Orange Celebration Everywhere.

12TH OF JULY IN ONTARIO

8,500 in Line at Toronto—8,000 People Heard the Speeches at Exhibition Park—3,000 Witness the Laying of the Corner Stone of a New Orange Hall at Battersea—Rain Everywhere.

Toronto, July 13.—The "Glorious Twelfth" was ushered in by a violent thunderstorm early yesterday morning, during which rain fell in torrents, and not till 11.30 did the rain cease and the weather begin to look cheerful. The Observatory official said at noon that 1.08 inches of rain fell during the downpour, which was considered unusually heavy. He added that thunderstorms were general throughout Western Ontario, and accompanied a low area which moved across the lower lakes from the south.

Celebrated the 14th.

But the County Orange Lodge of Toronto and Orangemen from Buffalo, Hamilton, Humber Bay and Mimico celebrated the glorious victory of William III., the Prince of Orange, in 1690, at the battle of the Boyne, all the same. The rain had just about ceased when the procession moved off just about 12 o'clock. The parade was undoubtedly the finest ever held on the Twelfth in Toronto. Everywhere the Orangemen were greeted with cheers. It is estimated that about 8,500 were in line.

The march culminated at the Exhibition grounds, where there were 8,000 people assembled to hear the speeches. County Master Fred Dane presided, and speeches were made by Mayor Urquhart, Grand County Master Harper of Hamilton, R. W. Master John McMillan, Rev. E. C. Laker, chaplain of Toronto East District, and Grand Treasurer E. F. Clarke, M.P. After the speeches a program of sports was successfully run through.

CELEBRATIONS ELSEWHERE.

Woodbridge, July 13.—West York and Peel celebrated the glorious twelfth here. There were over 1,500 people in line, the procession being over half a mile in length. The speakers were County Master Peter Ellis, J. W. St. John, M.P.P.; Rev. Newton Hill, King City; R. O. Harvey, Laskey; A. R. Hassard, Rev. Peter Campbell, J. J. Mahaffy, and W. Bro. George Syne.

At Woodstock.

Woodstock, July 13.—The 12th of July gathering for 1904 included nearly all the lodges of Oxford, Brant, Middlesex, Elgin and Norfolk. Addresses suitable to the occasion were delivered by Rev. Canon Farthing and Dr. Sproule, M.P., Grand Master of the Grand Lodge.

2,000 at Owen Sound.

Rain Spoiled It.

Arnprior, July 13.—A heavy downpour of rain, which continued at intervals all day, disorganized to a great extent the celebration of the glorious Twelfth, held here yesterday. Orangemen from Ottawa, Billings' Bridge and New Edinburgh, assembled here. A program of speeches and sports had been arranged in the McLachlin Grove. But for the rain a pleasant day would have been spent. At Braeside, a village some three miles from here, a district celebration was held, the lumber mills there and here being closed to allow the employes to participate.

Celebration at Tara.

Tara, July 13.—The Twelfth of July celebration held here yesterday was not up to previous years in point of numbers, on account of unsatisfactory railway arrangements.

Cut glass and bric-a-brac should always be washed with Sunlight Soap. Shave enough Sunlight Soap into a pan, one-quarter full of lukewarm water and whisk into a lather. Wash the articles thoroughly and dry with a soft cloth. This insures that brilliancy and sparkle so much admired in cut glass articles. Sunlight Soap can be used to clean and brighten all through the household. It is the purest and best soap made.

CHILDREN HAD SKIN DISEASE

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Too many mothers are worn out by anxiety and loss of sleep in watching over their little ones who are tortured by such ailments.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is a prompt and positive cure for every form of itching, skin disease, and has proven its marvellous power in thousands of cases, similar to the one described below:—

Mrs. Louis McKay, Tiverton, Digby County, N.S., writes:—"My children were taken with an itching, burning skin disease and tore their flesh until it was sore, and their shirts would sometimes be wet with blood. The doctor didn't seem to know what ailed them, and could give no relief, so I began using Dr. Chase's Ointment. Wherever it was applied it did its work well and has entirely cured them of this horrible disease. They suffered so they could not sleep at night, and I think if it had lasted much longer I would have gone crazy from the anxiety and the loss of sleep. I cannot find words to praise Dr. Chase's Ointment enough for the good it has done my children, and hope others sufferers will try it."

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 6

THE MILITIA BILL

Plan of Military Council Explained in the Commons.

OVER FIFTY CLAUSES PASSED

Sir Frederick Borden Explains That Council Will Preserve Continuity of Policy—Will Be Composed of Four Staff Officers, Two Civilians and the Minister As Chairman—Seed Bill Introduced.

Ottawa, July 12.—The House yesterday attacked the Militia Bill, one of its few remaining contentious problems. There was a good deal of discussion, but over fifty of the 135 sections were passed in committee. Sir Frederick Borden made a brief statement explaining the purpose of the bill.

Since the bill was brought before the House Sir Frederick said he had availed himself of the opportunity of studying the report of the Defence Committee, which had been adopted by the Imperial Government, and the principal features of which had been found to work satisfactorily. In view of the fact that the War Office had adopted the system recommended by that committee, Sir Frederick Borden said that he had embodied in the bill such provisions as would enable the Government to follow the example of the Mother Country. The militia system which has been in existence since Confederation had been found absolutely unworkable by Liberal and Conservative Governments alike, and a change in the system was necessary. He did not blame those charged with the administration for these defects so much as the system.

Remedy For a Great Defect.

The great defect in the existing system seemed to be the want of continuity. Each new General Officer Commanding who came to the country seemed to be possessed of the idea that it is his duty to overthrow and change everything that his predecessor had done. He proposed following the example of the Imperial Government and establishing a militia council corresponding with the British army council, composed, first, of the Minister of Militia, who would be chairman of the council, with four military men, viz., the chief of the general staff, who will be the principal officer; the Adjutant-General, the Quartermaster-General and the Master General of Ordnance, and two additional civilians, probably the Deputy Minister and chief accountant of the department. In this way the Minister would be in touch with the whole militia system.

Generals' Exaggerated Ideas.

The position of the General Officer Commanding would be dispensed with under the bill, the council being largely in substitution of that office. Sir Frederick Borden, as an illustration of the exaggerated ideas that some of these officers entertain of their powers and prerogatives, said he himself was under the impression that as Minister of Militia he had the right to consult any officer in his department, and did so. He found at one time, however, that the General Officer Commanding had sent out an order that no officer was to obey the Minister's summons for consultation without the consent of the General in the first place, and, secondly, after the interview the officer was to return to the General and report everything that had transpired.

Col. Sam Hughes—Will the Minister give me the name of the General to whom he alludes?

Sir Frederick Borden—The hon. gentleman knows the name of that General pretty well. It is Hutton. (Laughter.) Continuing, Sir Frederick said these officers come out here with the idea that they were to have command, that every officer in Canada was under them, and under them alone, and were jealous of any interference, even on the part of the Minister of Militia.

In reply to Col. Hughes, Sir Frederick said that he had been led to these conclusions by an experience of eight years. He did not desire to blame any individual, and attributed the difficulty to the system. At the same time, he declined to be drawn into any controversy or personalities.

Seed Growers' Association.

Hon. Sydney Fisher introduced his bill respecting the incorporation of the Seed Growers' Association. In reply to a request for an explanation, Mr. Fisher stated that the measure simply authorized the formation of seed growers' associations along the same line as live stock associations.

At the minister's suggestion the House rose at 10.30.

$10,000 Fire at Montreal.

Montreal, July 12.—The explosion of an oil furnace in the hammer shop of the G.T.R. shops at Point St. Charles yesterday morning resulted in a fire that did considerable damage. The spring shop, the blacksmith shop, and the hammer shop of the railway, the centre frame of the blacksmith shop, which is over 100 feet in length, was completely destroyed. The damage is estimated at $10,000.

Many Deaths in Montreal.

Montreal, July 12.—Montreal's unprecedented summer mortality still continues. The civic return for last week shows 217 deaths of which 133 were children under one year old. Infantile diseases were responsible for 131 of these deaths. This is regarded as a terrible mortality.

THE REASON.—There is no medicine equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. It carries off the poisons which contaminate the life fluid. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands and gives the body an increased supply of pure, body-building blood. It builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh instead of flabby fat, promotes the appetite, feeds the nerves, and so gives to weak, nervous people vitality and vigor.

"About a year ago I had a very bad cough and feared it would run into consumption," writes Hon. Geo. W. Lynch, of 27 Mason Street, Worcester, Mass. "When a severe attack of coughing would come on vomiting would set in. Matter accumulated in nose and my tonsils were irritated. After reading of the wonderful cures resulting from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery began to use it, with some doubts as to the good it would do me. I am frank to say. But, after I had used one bottle I noticed quite a change for the better. Ordered five more bottles and before I had used them all the cure was complete. There is not now a trace of cough or cold in my system and my health is perfect."

THE MANNA TREE.

It Is a Species of Ash Which Is Tapped For Its Gum.

Few know that manna is a species of gum which exudes from the ash. The true manna ash is the Fraxinus ornus. It is a beautiful tree and has much handsomer flowers than any other ash. In some parts of Sicily trees are planted especially for these substances which they yield, just as in some parts of our country the sugar maple is planted for its sugar. The ash trees are tapped when about ten years old. A transverse cut is made about one-third of the circumference of the tree, a number of these transverse cuts being made one above the other. As many as forty-five cuts are frequently made in one large trunk.

In some countries where manna is collected it is done by inserting tubes, just as is the case of collecting the maple sugar, but where these cuts are made the gum runs down the trunk and hardens. The following season cuts are made just above those of the previous year. After this has been three years in progress the stems are cut down and the new crop of shoots left to get matured. Sometimes, however, the stems are left standing four years before being finally cut away.

Dainty Colored Lingerie.

The very lightest pink and blue batiste is in favor with Parisians for underclothing. It washes well and is not by any means so ruinously expensive as silk. Frenchwomen stow these delicate articles in what is called a lingerie basket, covered with cretonne and trimmed with ruchings and lace, interlined with plain color in harmony with its contents. This forms quite a pretty adjunct to my lady's chamber, and the cover is generally wadded, a large flat bow on the top. In these baskets these dainty garments are not in any way crushed. Sometimes the baskets are divided in four and have a series of trays for each kind of lingerie.

A New Novelist.

Norman Duncan, whose stories of Newfoundland have found their way into several United States magazines, is a Canadian who claims the city of Brantford as his birthplace. Eight years of his life were spent in the town of Mitchell in Western Ontario, and from there he entered the University of Toronto. He left that institution without a degree, because he found the science course which he had chosen distasteful. From there he went to Auburn, N. Y., and engaged in journalistic work. Two years later he joined the staff of the New York Evening Post, and to the atmosphere of that office attributes his later success in fiction. His first stories dealt with life in the Syrian quarters of New York, and have since been published in book form with the title, "The Soul of the Street." Reaction caused him to long for a change of subject, and he chose to study the sea and those who fight with it. His subsequent work is the result of three summers in Newfoundland and one in Labrador. His second book is a collection of Newfoundland stories. His third, to be issued next fall, is to be his first long story, and it will bear the title, "The Champion," Canadians who have not yet tasted his work, should seek it out. There is no Canadian writing fiction to-day who gives greater promise than Norman Duncan. He recently visited Toronto at the invitation of the Canadian Club, and made a decided impression. Of medium stature, Mr. Duncan is not one to impress one on sight, but the face and the voice soon indicate the gentle, earnest spirit which animates the man and which stamps him as one of earth's noblemen.—Canadian Magazine.

CHASED WITH A BUTCHER KNIFE.

Annoyed Women Near Bowmanville and Is Locked Up.

Bowmanville, July 12.—Harry Knight, who says he is a pressman in the tin works, Montreal, and formerly of Cleveland, and who was tramping back to the American side, entered the home of E. C. Beaan near Newcastle yesterday.

After locking some of the doors he started chasing the women of the household with a butcher knife. The women fled to the field, where men were at work.

The men captured him and brought him to Bowmanville, where he is now a guest at the town jail. He will appear before Police Magistrate Horsey to-day. He is either mentally deranged or laboring under delirium tremens.

Vancouver Released.

Montreal, July 12.—The Dominion Line steamer Vancouver, which ran aground in the river below Sorel on July 1, has finally been successfully floated. After dredging the river about the steamer, the force of five tugs was required to pull the steamer off the mud banks. The Vancouver came up to Montreal under her own steam, and, after taking on a cargo, will sail at once for Liverpool. The steamer is not damaged.

35 Years the Limit

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 12.—No man over 35 years applying for work on the Delaware and Hudson Railroad will be accepted in the future. The officials say that such a man is too old to learn railroading, and not active and vigorous enough for the hard work required.

Rev. S. A. Duprun, of Belleville, was the next speaker, and upon rising referred to the disagreeable weather of the morning, but said that Orangeism always shines better when it is rubbed up a little. He said that he had no hatred for Roman Catholics, but he could not say that he had not an aversion to them. Some people, he remarked, say that there is no necessity for the existence of the Orange Order to-day, and that it only stirs up animosity. With this he did not agree, although he did think that Orangemen should not be aggressive, but should take a defensive stand. They should defend everything that makes home the most sacred spot on earth, and should defend the exercise of the convictions of our conscience.

Protestantism, he said, gave every man the right to act according to the dictates of his conscience, and also defends the open Bible and religious institutions. Orangeism is not a political, but a religious body, and he advised the members of the Order to lay partisanship to one side and say that for the sake of our home, our country and our religion, we will allow no encroachment on liberty.

This address was followed by a selection from the 57th Band.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt was the next speaker, and upon rising was given a hearty reception. He said that he wanted to speak to give a sample of his voice. It had been said that it was cursed, but he thanked God that to-day it was stronger than ever, and he prayed that it might long be spared to help enlighten the Roman Catholic people.

"No Surrender" should be the motto of all Orangemen. He expressed it as his opinion that it would be a bad thing if the Roman Catholic church should become the State Church of Canada.

He thought it impossible for the opponents of Orangeism to judge of its merits because they only knew one side, and they were prevented from entering Protestant churches to learn the teachings of Protestantism. He urged all who heard him to stand firm for the cause which seeks to overthrow all that curses men's lives. Be Protestant first, stand by the faith, once and for all.

The last speaker was Mr. James Worrell, of Picton, Grand Master of the L. T. B. Order. He said that he was glad to be present to participate in this celebration, and to do honour to the one who delivered us years ago. He would like to point out the necessity for making history for the present and the future.

Mr. Worrell's address was one in which he advocated the claims of the True Blue Orphanage Home at Picton, and speaking of it, he said that when the work was started five years ago there were 300 Protestant children in Roman Catholic orphanages. The Picton Orphanage was started when the True Blues had only $400, and a membership of 4,000. On the strength of this a contract for $4,500 was let, and when the building was completed, in less than one year, there was only $1,500 still to be paid. During the five years since this institution was started, over 300 orphans had passed through this Home, and have been placed in foster homes, and at the present time there are 33 in the Home. Those who have passed through the Home have gone to strengthen the Protestant churches of Canada. He made an appeal to the friends of the cause present to help the Orphanage in its work. He said they should not only celebrate the 12th of July but do something practical to help the cause, and nothing more practical could be done than to help the Loyal True Blue Orphanage.

At the conclusion of his address a collection was taken and a good sum was realized to help in this work.

In closing the meeting the chairman said that he hoped all present had profitted by the addresses that had been given.

The gathering dispersed after the band had rendered the National Anthem.

On the platform were a number of prominent members of the Order, with the ministers of the Protestant churches in town.

The decorations of the town, the work of Mr. A. Kingsmote, were very much admired by the thousands of visitors in town.

Mr. Quinn of Lakefield, yesterday attended his 54th consecutive orange walk.

Mr. Robert Wilson was a very busy man yesterday. He was up bright and early on his horse, and through the rain in the morning he performed the duties of pilotting the visitors to the drill shed from the trains and boats.

Six steamers and two scows were required to carry the crowds from the points on Rice Lake and Otonabee River.

The Lindsay Post yesterday contained the following interesting item: "Sergt.-Major Martin, town, and his brother-in-law, Mr. Richard Warren, of South Verulam, have each five sons in the Orange procession to-day. More loyal supporters of the principles for which King William fought and conquered are not to be found in the province, yet withal, they would do a good turn for a Roman Catholic fellow citizen as readily as for a Protestant. Can any other portion of this county turn out twelve good Orangemen—members of one family—on July 12th? The Major is ready to wager a barrel of flour for the Ross Hospital that the record cannot be beaten in the province."

OSHAWA WON EXHIBITION GAME.

Defeated the Locals by 8—4 Yesterday Afternoon.

Visitors Took An Early Lead—Quinlan Did Good Work on the Slab.

The Peterboroughs lost an exhibition game to Oshawa at the T.A.S. grounds yesterday afternoon before a large crowd of spectators by a score of 8 to 4. The game was a somewhat listless exhibiton, the homesters not playing the game they are capable of by any means. A few bad errors at critical moments were very costly while in hitting the boys were weak. "We've got the "no-hittis," said Graham after three men in a row had shugged vainly at the sphere and that was about the size of it. The visiting twirler had the locals swiping at balls away over their craniums and his list of fans was a large one. The players tried to knock out home runs instead of going after a single or a sacrifice with men on bases and the result was not gratifying. A little more team work would be better. Quinlan pitched his first game in Midland League company and did good work. Except in the first innings he was not hit freely and with perfect support the score would have been much smaller. Parker, a southpaw, pitched great ball for the visitors and the locals could do practically nothing with him. He had fine speed and curves galore.

The first innings was disastrous, Hambly grounded to Quinlan, Martyn angled to left and Crowley got to first on four balls, Bowden's single scored Martyn, Gaetz fanned and Cawker's hit to centre scored Crowley and Bowden, Cawker stole second and went to third on Graham's low throw, Simpson dropped Giles' fly and Cawker scored. Ginnett hit to Sheridan, forcing Giles at second. For the locals, Sheridan flew to Parker, Graham grounded to pitcher and Lamonte fanned.

In the second Parker beat out a bunt and stole second and third, while Hambly was fanning, Martyn's corking two-bagger scored Parker. Crowley's infield hit which should have been an out, scored Martyn. Bowden forced Crowley at second and Gaetz fanned. For Peterborough, Whitcroft hit to Parker, Earls missed three and Pilling hit a grounder at Cawker.

In the third Cawker and Giles struck out and Ginnett went out by the Lamonte to Pilling route. For the locals, Wareham, Simpson and Quinlan fanned in a row.

In the fourth Parker went out on strikes, Hambly singled to centre, Martyn beat out a slow one to Quinlan. Crowley hit to Whitcroft, who threw over Graham's head, and Hambly and Martyn scored. Bowden flew to Quinlan and Gaetz fanned. For Peterborough Sheridan got to first, when Crowley dropped the third strike. Graham got a charity and a double steal, was perpetrated, Lamonte's sacrifice scored Sheridan. Whitcroft fanned but Earls single to right sent Graham over the pan. Pilling hit to first and died.

In the fifth Cawker was hit on the leg and was caught stealing the middle station. Giles fanned; Wareham dropped Ginnett's long fly; Parker hit to third, forcing Ginnett. In the second half Wareham and Simpson fanned and Simpson fouled to Crowley.

In the sixth Hambly grounded to Quinlan, Martyn fouled to Graham, and Crowley was hit by pitcher. Bowden hit to Quinlan, who threw to catch Crowley, but Whitcroft was not on the base. Gaetz kindly fanned. For the locals Sheridan singled to centre, Graham fanned and Sheridan was caught stealing second. Lamont fanned.

In the next, Cawker and Giles missed three. Ginnett hit a two bagger to left, but Parker grounded to Whitcroft. For the locals Whitcroft hit to Parker, Earls fanned, Pilling hit one through Martyn and stole second, but Wareham fanned.

Hambly flew to Sheridan to open the eighth, Martyn fanned and Crowley grounded to Quinlan. For the locals Simpson and Quinlan flew out to Cawker and Sheridan hit to the pitcher.

In the ninth, Bowden hit to Quinlan, Gaetz struck out, and Cawker flew to Pilling. For the Peterboroughs Graham singled to left centre and stole second. Lamonte got a charity and a double steal was worked. Whitcroft and Earls fanned. Pilling hit to short but Bowden dropped ball, Graham and Lamonte scoring. Simpson fanned and the agony ceased.

DISFIGURED WITH ECZEMA

Under Physicians Five Months. Went from Bad to Worse.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Wonderful Change in One Night. In a Month Face Was Clean as Ever.

"I was troubled with eczema on the face for five months during which time I was in the care of physicians. My face was in such a condition that I could not go out. It was going from bad to worse and I gave up all hope, when a friend of mine highly recommended Cuticura Remedies. The first night after I washed my face with Cuticura Soap and used Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent it changed wonderfully, and continuing the treatment it removed all scales and scabs. From that day I was able to go out, and in a month my face was as clean as ever."
THOMAS J. SOTH, 317 Stagg St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The above letter was received in 1898 and he again writes us Feb. 19, 1903, "I have not been troubled with eczema since."

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures of the civilized world.

Cuticura Resolvent, Pills and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

It was the intention until shortly before the game yesterday to play a League game. Oshawa, however, arrived in town with two men short, the players having missed the train. As there was a special leaving Bowmanville in the morning the Oshawa manager telegraphed for Hambly and Martyn of the Bowmanville team to come along and play with Oshawa, which was done. Manager Whitcroft would not play a League game with two Bowmanville men on the Oshawa team, and accordingly it was agreed to play an exhibition game. There was no attempt made to fool the public in the matter, and had Oshawa brought along their reegular team a League game would have been played.

THAT REPORTED JAPANESE DISASTER

No Confirmation of the Story of 30,000 Perishing by Mines.

THE FALL OF PORT ARTHUR

Story, However, is not Confirmed—Gen. Oku's Army Steadily Closing in on Kuropatkin, and Next Few Days Will Determine Whether He Will Fight for Possession of Newchwang—Japs Lose.

St. Petersburg, July 13.—An official communication from the Russian general staff says:

"According to information derived from Japanese sources and received by Admiral Alexieff's military staff, the Japanese attacked the Russian positions at Port Arthur during the night of July 10. They were repulsed with enormous loss. It is difficult to calculate even approximately the number of Japanese casualties, which amounted, it is said, to the immense figure of 30,000."

Not Fathered By Alexieff.

There was great anxiety thruout St. Petersburg all this evening for further details of the reported disaster. It has developed that the official report, which was at first supposed to emanate directly from Viceroy Alexieff, was not specifically fathered by him, but was given out as a report, reaching his headquarters from "Japanese sources." What these sources are has not yet been explained.

Has Port Arthur Fallen?

London, July 14.—There is published this morning a rumor that Port Arthur has fallen, but it is discredited and lacks confirmation of any sort.

Closing in on Kuropatkin.

St. Petersburg, July 13.—Steadily and cautiously Gen. Oku's army from the south and Gen. Nodzu's army from the east are closing in upon Tatchekiao, where Gen. Kuropatkin is reported to be entrenching. One hundred and thirty thousand men are involved in the movement. The next few days will determine whether and to what extent Gen. Kuropatkin intends to make a stand at Tatchekiao, the possession of which by the Japanese would compel the immediate evacuation of Newchwang.

The outposts of the armies are scarcely 15 miles apart.

Literally Mowed Down.

Tatchekiao, July 13.—A Russian correspondent of the Associated Press in the field, describing the fight which preceded the capture of Kaichou, says that the Japanese did not display their customary prudence. They advanced in open formation with cries of "banzai," meeting the hail of artillery and rifle fire of Major-General Kandratovitch's men and being literally mowed down.

With 50,000 Japs.

Chefoo, July 13.—A despatch received here from Lloyd's agent at Newchwang says: "Japanese scouts were seen this morning at Blackwood's Pond, six miles south of here. Gen. Oku with 50,000 men is advancing rapidly between this place and Tatchekiao."

Bloody Affair at Motien Pass.

At the Front With Gen. Kuroki's Forces, July 4, via Seoul, Korea, July 13.—The brief and disastrous attempts of the Russians to overwhelm the small Japanese force which guarded the entrance to the Motien Pass was a bloody affair. The Japanese troops again exhibited their resourcefulness and courage, and the Russians again threw away many lives. The losses cannot be ascertained until the battlefield has been searched. The Japanese are still driving the enemy up the valley. The correspondent of the Associated Press saw enough to justify the estimate that the Russians had more than two hundred men killed or wounded, and that the Japanese casualties probably will amount to sixty.

Japs Repulsed July 12.

London, July 14.—The Yinkow correspondent of The Daily Chronicle asserts that a battle occurred north of Kaichou July 12, when the Japanese were repulsed with great l[illegible]

SUDDEN DEATH OF LIFT LOCK EMPLOYEE.

Mr. Jerry Coughlin Dropped Dead Last Night While at Work.

A Native of Peterborough County—Employed for Six Years on the Canal—Heart Failure Cause of Death.

A very sad occurrence was that which took place at the lift lock last night, about 9 o'clock, when Mr. Jerry Coughlin, a night watchman at the canal, died from heart failure very suddenly. The deceased, who was one of the oldest employees of the canal staff, had been feeling poorly for some days, but nothing of a serious nature was anticipated either by himself or his friends. Last night, although he was not very well, he went to his work as usual, thinking that since his occupation did not require him to make any great physical exertion, he could perform his duties.

About 9 o'clock, he felt a little worse and sat down in a chair, and just as Mr. Henry Gervin, another watchman, came into the room he noticed his head droop, and thinking he was about to faint, went to assist him, when he discovered that he had died. Dr. Carmichael was at once telephoned for, but when he arrived life was extinct. He pronounced that death had been caused by heart failure, and Coroner Gray, who was communicated with, upon learning the particulars decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The body was taken to the family residence, corner of Dixon and Concession streets, and the sad news imparted to the slumbering members of the family.

That the deceased was a man highly respected by those who knew him is evidenced by the fact that early this morning the house was visited by large numbers of friends, who called to offer condolences to the bereaved family.

The late Mr. Coughlin was 54 years of age, and was a native of Peterborough County having been born in the Township of Douro, in which township he lived until about 6 years ago, when he removed to Ashburnham. Until this removal he followed the business of farming. He married Miss Ellen McMahon, of Otonabee, and nine children, with the bereaved widow are left to mourn the loss of a loving and kind father.

The deceased had been connected with the work of the lift lock ever since it was started, and came to town for the purpose of taking a position on the staff.

The sons, of whom there are four are,—Timothy Ambrose, Jeremiah Alonzo, John and Michael Edward, all living in town. The daughters, Minnie, Maggie, Nora, Lillie and Monica, are also living at home. Four brothers, Timothy and Daniel, of town; John, of Douro, and Michael, of Nebraska, and one sister, Mrs. J. Moher, of Douro, also survive him. Michael Coughlin, of Nebraska, and Mrs. Hugh McCormack, of Mount Pleasant, Mich.; and Mr. Michael McMahon, of Rib Lake, Wis., the latter two being a sister and brother, respectively of Mrs. Coughlin, have been telegraphed for and will probably arrive in time for the funeral, which will take place Friday morning at 9.30 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral and the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

AUTO IS TAGGED NOT THE OWNER.

Hon. J. R. Stratton Decides on New Regulations Due to Motor Vehicle Act.

The Provincial Secretary, Hon. J. R. Stratton, has decided upon new regulations necessitated by the last session's amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act.

The particular changes are first, to make it more clear that it is the vehicle that is licensed and not the owner, and that the permit and marker must be retained with the machine when it is sold. The renewal of permits is also provided for.

Other changes relate to vehicles owned by manufacturers and dealers, and not used by them for their own private purposes or for hire. Before the Act was amended such vehicles were not required to hold a permit or to exhibit a marker. Numbers of complaints have been made on this account, and in order that all vehicles should bear a distinguished marker the regulations provide that a marker shall be issued to each dealer, which must be used upon machines being exhibited to intending purchasers or being tested, and these markers can be used only while the vehicle is within five miles of the dealer's place of business.

Under the former regulations the marker became the property of the holder of the permit. Under the new regulations the marker is to be returned to the Provincial Secretary's Department if the license should not be renewed, or if the vehicle is destroyed, or if for any other reason the permit should lapse. — Toronto Star.

GOOD ROADS.

The credit for the improvement that has taken place in the roads of this Province is shared by the Government and the farmers, says the Toronto News. The inauguration of the movement was due to the education of the agricultural community by the Commissioner of Good Roads, whose appointment has been fully justified. The principle of educating the farmer and leaving him to work out his own prosperity has been adopted with signal success in this province. While it shows that the Government is alert to assist the farmers, it proves even more strikingly that the Ontario farmer is of the material that responds quickly to such treatment. If the men who till the land lacked the capacity to comprehend the full significance of the teaching of the good roads movement, it would be barren of results. They must provide the money. To accomplish what they have in this direction, they have provided probably two or three times the aggregate amount formerly spent on the roads. Statute labour was abolished in one hundred and thirty townships up to the end of 1903, and a total of $1,572,924 was expended on township roads last year. These results are encouraging. Well constructed highways are profitable to farmers, and add materially to the comfort of rural existence. As the fact becomes more fully recognized, the movement which already swings along at a good pace will gather strength and momentum.

LIVELY TIME AT THE Y. M. C. A. CAMP.

Sandy Point is the Scene of the Annual Outing.

Interesting Letter From the "Scribe"—Describing the Doings of the Boys in Camp

Seventh Annual Y.M.C.A. Camp, Clear Lake, July 11th, 1904.

This Monday morning broke fair and warm—a good omen for the very full programme of the week in connection with our camp.

Now that we are fairly settled, you will, no doubt, be interested in knowing who we are and how we do things. Our camp roll is as follows, and after each name the camp name of those who are so favoured; we also give the former camps that each has attended. The whole camp is divided into sections of six men each, making five in all:—Section 1—G. H. Williamson, leader, '98, '04; G. Hutchinson (Toronto) '04; F. Turner, '03, '04; Roy Scott (Scottie) '04; W. Sager (Yankee) '04; L. Fauxe, '04. Section 2.—T. H. Hutchinson, leader, '04; R. Thornton, '03, '04; C. Mulligan, '04, (Mamo); W. Harper, '04; J. English and W. English, '04; J. Brightman, '04. Section 3—W. S. Maguire, leader, (Mack), '04; H. Maguire (Tim) '04; G. Martin, '04; H. Johnston, (Slip) '04; E. Eyers, '04 (chip); P. Wallace, '04. Section 4—S. E. Smythe, Pembroke, leader, (Sandy), '04; G. Thornton, '03, '04; W. Armstrong, 02, '03, '04, (Walley); M. Dobbin (Mike) '02, '03, '04; A. Emmerson, '04. Section 5— M. Robinson, leader, (Schanel) '00, '04; S. Madill, '04; A. Darke, '99, '04; F. Austin, '04.

Each section is quartered in a tent of its own and these run in a line down the field parallel with the shore, adjoining the large dining tent. The view is a very pretty one, as there is a rich back ground of green covering the high ledge of rocks which overlooks our camp.

The duties of prepairing for the meals and doing other such pleasant and educative work falls to the lot of each section for a day in turn. Our camp leader declares he never saw a more willing crowd to help in making the camp a success for all who are attending it.

In the programme of the camp few features have been overlooked and some very novel ideas are introduced which promise to add greatly to the two weeks' outing.

For the past four years a daily Bible Study class has been conducted immediately after breakfast and the interest displayed thus far in the studies "The Manly Jesus" has been highly qualifying to the leaders, who in turn lead the very helpful discussions in which there is general participation.

Saturday evening the council of war was held, which had to be postponed from Friday evening as the boys were too tired. The interest was deepened on that evening by the arrival of Mr. R. E. Harding, who came up for Sunday and Monday. He was given a rousing reception and gave an appropriate reply which betrayed the large place he has in his heart for the boys.

An important item of the council was the entertainment of a "Camp Conscience" for Sunday, which was strictly carried out.

In the camp "Wow" means yes, and "bah" no, and it was most amusing to hear the crowd making use of these two expressions.

Mike Dobbin was elected Poet Laureate with Herb. Johnston as assistant. W. S. Maguire was chosen "Walking Boss" his duties being to see that the camp is kept in order, corresponding with that of a police officer and street inspection combined.

Mr. Robinson was elected editor of the "Camp Jollier" the official organ of the camp which made its appearance.

The baseball league was also organized and will be heard from later. Some lively times are ahead as there are some in camp who have the game down pat.

On Sunday morning Bible Class was held as usual and later Mr. Harding lead a service and gave an impressive talk on "Gideon". Mr. Smythe sang a solo. The folding organ is proving a very useful thing in camp this year under Mr. Smythe's direction.

The day was spent very quietly—more so than any other Sunday in the history of the camp here.

In the evening the first "Moot" was held and a splendid discussion took place on the subject of "Church Membership". As a result at least three volunteered to apply for church membership on their return home to town.

I think I have made this letter rather long and will keep anything else I have to say for a later epistle.

THE SCRIBE.

THE ENDING OF MR. MACLEAN'S PET PROJECT.

(From the Ottawa Free Press, July 7.)

The unceremonious rejection by the Railway Committee of the House of Commons yesterday of Mr. W. F. Maclean's little pet project for the establishment of a two-cent passenger rate on railways, with modifications permitting variations according to earnings, was just the kind of ending that might have been expected to a proposal that was surrounded by features of a highly objectionable character.

The bill would have given the public no advantages whatever in the way of cheap travelling that they do not already possess, and it would have been made the excuse for the withdrawal of excursion and other privileges in the matter of holiday travel that are highly prized.

The fate of the bill was a foregone conclusion when the attempt to show that travel on the American railways was cheaper than on the Canadian broke down.

No substantial reason could be advanced for interference when it was shown that although the earnings on the large American systems are, as a rule, higher than the Canadian, the average rate per mile is, generally speaking, lower in Canada than in the United States.

Another contention which the committee could not overlook was the fact that although passenger rates, generally speaking, remain as they were some years ago, except in Western Canada, where sweeping reductions have been made, the cost of operating passenger trains has been greatly increased. Wages have advanced 12 per cent. in the last five years; coal is higher, and more of it is consumed, than when lighter trains were run, and the acceleration of the speed of trains and the general improvement of the services have added to the burdens of the companies.

The theory that loss of revenue that might be entailed by the application of the principle of uniformity would be made up by the increased travel, was shown, by reference to the experience of rate wars, to be unsound.

For these and other reasons Mr. Maclean's legislative bantling was doomed to somewhat ignominious extinction, and the abrupt termination of its career has evoked no expressions of regret.

It was moved by Messrs. Smith and Fowler, that the accounts as presented be passed and paid.—This was carried.

Mr. McIntosh appeared before the council in regard to an error in the amount of commutation of statute labour tax due R. Div. No. 3 in 1904. It appeared on investigation that the sum of $28 paid for gravel in 1903, had been charged to the commutation account in this Road Division in error, also that the sum of $13.00 for gravel had been charged to the commutation in Road Div. No. 1. On motion of Messrs. Smith and Fowler, these sums were added to the amount to be expended in Road Districts Nos. 1 and 3, respectfully in 1904.

It was moved by Mr. Fowler and Brown that the Clerk of Road Div. No. 1 is hereby authorised to gravel that part of Anne street newly graded, provided Mr. R. A. Morrow contribute the sum of $10 toward the same.—This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs Brown and Morrow, that the sum of $28 as granted in 1903 to R. Div. No. 3, be re-granted for the purpose of gravelling from Springville eastwards—Mr. Brown and Mr. Fowler to be a committee to superwise the contract.—This was carried.

The clerk was then instructed to write the Smith Council in regard to erecting a guard railing along the embankment at lot 9, on the Smith boundary. North Monaghan being willing to contribute one half the cost.

A communication having been received from Mr. Peter Gifford, in regard to his assessment, it was shown that no action could be legally taken in the matter this year.

Council then adjourned until next regular meeting on the second Monday in August.

PRESENTATION TO MINISTER'S FAMILY.

Fraserville School Pupils Remember Children of Rev. M. D. Drew.

On Tuesday, June 28th, Rev. Mr. Drew Mrs. Drew and about twenty friends called at Fraserville School in the afternoon.

Before school closed the pupils and teacher of Cairo school, Fraserville, presented Misses Mary, Vera, Fanny and Master Noble Drew, with a pretty picture, nicely framed in oak, and an address read by Miss Lulu Hogg.

The picture was presented by Miss Gertie Monerief, and the following is the address:—

Dear Schoolmates,—Your teacher and schoolmates at Cairo School, Fraserville, knowing that you are about to leave us, cannot let you go without some small gift to remind you of the happy days spent at our school, so we ask you to accept this small gift as a token of our good wishes and kind regards for you.

We all join in wishing you much success and happiness in the future, and if we may not meet again on earth we hope to meet where partings are no more.

Signed on behalf of the school, Maggie Whitfield, Ray Findlay, Cora Scobell, Ottie Pue, Lila Monerief, Joseph Waterman, Gertie Monerief, Lulu Hogg.

Rev. Mr. Drew replied for the children thanking the children for their handsome gift, and expressed satisfaction with the way his children had advanced in Fraserville school, also gave the pupils much good advice. The children leave many friends behind, and with the good wishes of all. Their teacher, Miss Fair regrets their departure as they are bright and interesting children, and hopes they will become wise and useful citizens under the guidance of such kind and moral influence as they have in their home.

AN INTERESTING OTONABEE WEDDING

Miss Violet Adeline Fallin Married to Mr. John Oliver Fife.

On Wednesday evening, July 6th, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fallin, Otonabee, was the scene of a pretty wedding, when their eldest daughter, Violet Adeline, was united in marriage to Mr. John Oliver Fife. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. B. Secoombe of Keene, at half past six o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Louisa Fife, sister of the groom. The bridal party entered the drawing room and arranged themselves under a beautiful arch of evergreens and bell of white daisies. The bride, who was given away by her father, was beautifully attired in Persian lawn, the corsage having a drop yoke and deep bertha of chiffon and lace. She also wore a veil and wreath, and carried a shower bouquet of carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Fannie Fallin, sister of the bride, was becomingly dressed in white, and carried a bouquet of carnations. The groom was ably assisted by Mr. Harry Fife of Norwood. After the ceremony the bridal party adjourned to the dining room, where refreshments were served to over one hundred guests. The gifts to the bride were numerous and costly. The young couple left amid showers of rice and best wishes and will reside in their beautiful residencee on Jermyn avenue.

WARSAW.

(From our own Correspondent.)

An old resident of Dummer passed away on the morning of the 5th inst., in the person of Mrs. Payton, relict of the late Robert Payton, at the age of 89 years and 4 months. The late Mr. and Mrs. Payton emigrated to Canada from Wiltshire, Eng., 50 years ago, taking up their residence in Dummer, where they resided continuously except for a brief period when they moved to the North West. Not liking the climate there they decided to return, and while en route Mr. Payton was taken suddenly ill on board the train and on reaching Brandon was removed to the hospital, where within a day or two he passed away, his daughter, Mrs. McDonald, remaining over with her father, and brought the remains on to Warsaw for interment. The deceased lady was of a quiet and unassuming disposition and always retained the quaint old country manneriam and dialect so characteristic of many of the people from the Mother Land. She preserved her physical and mental faculties to a wonderful degree until a few days before death. She leaves behind her two sons and one daughter, Charles, of Owen Sound, and Jas., of Peterborough, and Mrs. Jas. J. McDonald, of Warsaw. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on July 7th, appropriate services beang conducted at the house by her pastor, Rev. H. McQuade, interment taking place at the Warsaw cemetery.

Several of our citizens wended their way to Peterborough on Saturday to participate in the great national event, and while they speak in the highest praise of the official function regrets were expressed at the great down pour of rain which marred the pleasure of the proceedings.

Mrs. Dr. Coush of Toronto, together with her little son, is under the parental roof at the home of her mother, Mrs. Lyons. We understand the doctor is to favour us with a visit in a few days.

Mr. Robert Dickson and family of Oshawa, are visiting old friends in this locality.

We regret to learn that Mrs. Battisby, wife of Rev. Mr. Battisby, of this place, is seriously ill, and hopes are expressed for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. Uriah Payne entertained at her new home on Friday evening a large number of the ladies of town. All speak in the highest praise of Mrs Payne as a hostess and report having spent a delightful evening.

The Orange fraternity of this locality attended divine service in the Methodist church on Sunday evening where an interesting and appropriate sermon was preached by the pastor. A large number of the members were in attendance, having first assembled in their hall and marched in a body to the church where the centre seats in front had been reserved for them. They presented a fine and orderly appearance. The citizens turned out en masse, the church being crowded to its utmost capacity.

Some of our citizens are beginning to think that all the lies being told these days about fish are not true.

Had 35 Minutes' Liberty.

He enjoyed liberty for a brief space of about thirty-five minutes, half of which was taken up in a most exciting chase. He was shot at by a guard three times, but was not hit.

Pleaded Guilty.

St. Catharines, July 13.—Henry Sevenpiper pleaded guilty to stealing $96 from his brother-in-law, Jacob Honsberger of Jordan, and was sent to the Central for three months by Judge Carman. Sevenpiper worked as a farm hand for Honsberger and stole the money from a drawer in the house.

WHAT WOMEN SHOULD KNOW.

That the cause of a great deal of suffering, usually supposed to be on account of female disorders, is overcome by ANTI-PILL, the discovery of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt.

A great amount of womens' ailments are caused by the food that is taken being turned (through improper digestion) into poison instead of nutrition. This poison carried by the blood throughout the system, makes weak women—women who are hardly ever well—nerves in dreadful condition—limbs ache, back aches, head aches—billious, constipated. ANTI-PILL, the Great System Treatment, will correct these troubles—it starts its work by making a well stomach—It insures strength to weak women—It is harmless at any stage or condition of a woman's life, and there is no time ANTI-PILL cannot be used with safety. Any woman who cares to may use a bottle of ANTI-PILL free from any expense. If satisfactory results do not follow its use, mail us wrapper with name of druggist from whom purchased and get your money back by return mail. Wilson-Fyle Co., Niagara Falls, Ont. A month's treatment for 50 cents.

OPPOSITION DEFEAT

Mr. R. L. Borden's Amendment to Audit Act Voted Down.

CORNWALL CANAL CONTRACT

Minister of Justice Throws a Bombshell Into the Opposition By Showing Original Contract Provided For Renewal For 84 Years—Committee Appointed to Make Selections of the Papers to Be Published.

Ottawa, July 14.—The functions and extent of the powers enjoyed by the Auditor-General under the audit act as it exists at present occupied a large share of the attention of the House yesterday. An amendment offered by Mr. R. L. Borden to the motion to go into supply, demanding an extension of his powers to safeguard the public treasury, was voted down. Hon. Mr. Fielding, for the Government, declined to admit the necessity for an amendment to the act, and contended it had been shown by the Auditor's report that he already possessed the requisite power. He laid down the principle that the control of public expenditure must remain in the people's representatives, and Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick insisted that the Exchequer Court could not be substituted for the High Court of Parliament as a court of final appeal.

Davis Lighting Contract.

In the evening a debate upon the Davis contract for lighting and operating the Cornwall Canal was brought on by Dr. Reid (Grenville), and the Minister of Justice threw a bombshell into the Opposition ranks by showing that under the original contract provision was made for renewals covering a period of 84 years. This provision was contained in the terms and conditions which the Auditor-General had not included in his published reports. Mr. Fitzpatrick contended that the terms of the amended contract, made in 1900, were, in respect to the period of the contract, precisely the same as in the original one. The leader of the Opposition accepted a suggestion made by the Minister of Justice, and named three members of the Opposition to act upon a committee to examine the papers and determine what should be printed.

Sir Wm. Mulock introduced his bill to further amend the postoffice act, which extends the time during which letter-carriers may take advantage of recent legislation affecting their standing and salaries.

Mr. Clarke asked what had been done with regard to the letter written by W. T. R. Preston on the Dundonald issue. Mr. Sifton said that Mr. Preston had been notified that his letter was entirely contrary to his duty as an officer of the Government.

Mr. Fielding requested the Opposition to vote one-fifth of the items in the estimates not yet dealt with in order to meet some pressing accounts. His request was promptly granted by the leader of the Opposition.

G.T.P. Bill Passes Senate.

Ottawa, July 14.—Senator Dandurand moved the third reading of the Grand Trunk Pacific bill in the Upper House yesterday. After discussion for a short time the bill was read a third time and passed.

JUST ONE MORE REMARKABLE CURE

Diabetes is Again Vanquished by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Donat Laflamme, of St. Marguerite Que., the man Cured—Further Proof of the far Reaching Power of the Great Kidney Remedy.

St. Marguerite, Dorchester Co., Que., July 13. — (Special.) — That all varieties and stages of Kidney Disease yield readily to Dodd's Kidney Pills has been proven almost daily for years, but when another victory over the deadly Diabetes is scored it is always worthy of mention. Such a case has happened here.

Donat Laflamme is the man cured, and the cure was quick as well as complete. Speaking of his cure, Dr. Laflamme says:—

"For two years I suffered from Diabetes. I was attended by the doctor, but all his remedies did me no good. Then I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and two boxes cured me entirely."

What will cure Diabetes will cure any Kidney Disease is an old saying, and no doubt remains that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Diabetes.

PETERBOROUGH WILL REAP GREAT BENEFITS

From the Demonstration at the Opening of the Lift Lock.

No event that has ever transpired in Peterborough, has given this town so much prominence in the public eye as the opening of the Lift Lock, which took place last Saturday, and the results of this occasion will be felt for a long time. While the prominence given to Peterborough by this event, is by all means a welcome one, and one which every loyal citizen of the town will rejoice to see, this will only be incidental to the great benefit which will accrue to the whole country from the fact that there cannot be now any doubt of the completion of the Trent Canal, the crowning triumph of which, from an engineering standpoint, is the Lift Lock, which was so suspiciously opened last Saturday.

From letters that have been received, both by the civic authorities and private individuals, since Saturday, it is pretty safe to assume, what has long been contended by the advocates of the waterway, viz.: that when once the canal and its objects were understood, even partially, that there would be a revival in the interest in the project, and a general advocacy for its early completion.

The Examiner has received letters from different sources, asking for copies of the special edition in which the Lock was described, and the canal in its entirety explained. The great majority of these letters state that the visit of the writers was a revelation, and that they were surprised beyond measure to learn of the magnitude of the project, and were ready to believe, after seeing it, all that had been said by its advocates as arguments for completion.

That there has been a very generally erroneous conception held of the canal and its benefits, is a fact which needs no verification here. An evidence of this was furnished on Saturday, when at Nassau. Shortly after the party had alighted from the train, one of the visiting members of Parliament, in conversation with another gentleman, referred to the canal as the "Tay" Canal. It is safe to say, however, that the demonstration of Saturday, and the subsequent publicity which the newspapers have given to the event, and the description of the canal, will have a very decided tendency to remove a great deal of the misconception held by many on this project.

Peterborough and the Trent Canal are being talked about more to-day than ever before, and that this publicity will result in the material advantage of both, goes without saying. Peterborough appeared in a very attractive light to her many visitors, Saturday, and the advantages possessed by the town as a commercial centre were impressed upon those who were here, and it would not be surprising if in the near future some developments of a pleasing character, from the standpoint of industrial expansion, are made.

The Question of Baldness

This is a vital question with hundreds of men who are bald, or partially so. How to overcome the disfigurement lent by baldness is a simple matter when you consider the perfection of modern art in the making of wigs and toupees. The visit of Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto to Peterborough on Friday, July 15, when he will be at the Oriental Hotel renders it possible for any who wish to consult him to do so at his private apartments retained at the Oriental Hotel for this purpose. Demonstrations given to show the perfect naturalness of his wigs and toupees. Do not miss this opportunity. Remember the days and dates.

THE INJURED ONES ARE RECOVERING.

Those Hurt in the Elevator Accident Becoming Better.

It will be a source of pleasure to the many friends of the young ladies who were injured in the elevator accident at Richard Hall & Son's store last week, to learn that they are all recovering rapidly. The Examiner was in communication this afternoon with both hospitals, where the victims of the accident are being cared for, and at the Nicholls Hospital it was learned that Miss Shera, Miss Fitzgerald and Ralph Moore, the elevator boy, are all doing remarkably well, and will soon be well enough to leave that excellent institution.

Inquiry at St. Joseph's Hospital gives the pleasing information that Miss Delaire and Miss Talbot are also improving rapidly, and under the care of the faithful nurses there will soon have recovered completely. The members of the firm have been assiduous in their attention to those who were injured, and everything possible has been done for their comfort.

INTEREST IN LIFT LOCK IS INTERNATIONAL.

Request From New York for Information in Reference to it.

Mr. C. H. Allison, formerly a member of the Examiner staff, now secretary to the president of the Illinois Central Railroad, has written to Peterborough for literature relating to the Lift Lock, and photographs, with a view of preparing some illustrated articles for technical and other journals. Mr. Allison's experience in newspaper work, and his acquaintance with local conditions, will enable him to prepare articles that will give the best possible idea of the Lift Lock and its importance.

This is but another evidence of the widespread interest that the occasion of the opening has created, and the benefit to Peterborough of the canal, the early completion of which will be very materially hastened by the fact that that the Lift Lock opening demonstrates has opened not only the Lock to the commerce of Canada but also the eyes of the Canadian people to the very great advantages of the canal to the country at large.

FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY LIMITED.

Excellent Results of the First Three Months of Operation.

Profits Realised at the Rate of Twelve Per Cent Per Annum.

The first general meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, Limited, was held in the company's offices, 162 Charlotte street, on Friday evening, July 8th. There was a large attendance of the shareholders, who were much gratified with the exceptionally fine showing of the company for the first three months of its existence.

The president, Mr. J. H. McClellan, occupied the chair, and briefly stated the object of the meeting.

The secretary presented the detailed report of the operations of the first three months. This showed that the direct and indirect profits amounted to the handsome sum of $1,552, being at the rate of over 15 per cent. per annum on the paid-up capital — realised on three months' operations of the initial year.

The question of a dividend was discussed, and the decision arrived at to pay dividends half yearly at the rate of one per cent. per month, or 12 per cent. per annum, the balance of profit available for distribution to be placed to the rest account.

During a subsequent discussion the circumstance was developed that the operations of the company so far exceeded expectations formed at the beginning that the need was felt for further working capital. It was therefore decided to make an effort to place additional stock sufficient to bring the amount of paid up capital to $20,000. A considerable amount was subscribed at the meeting, leaving a small balance of stock available for acquisition by the public at par, and it is hoped to close the stock books on the first of August with the amount of $20,000 stock fully subscribed.

In addition to the financial statement, an informal report of the work done in the way of equipment, was made. Besides fitting up elegant new offices at 162 Charlotte street during the past three months, there have been erected 150 feet of coal sheds along the tracks of the C.P.R., making a total of 275 feet, which at present contains 2,500 tons of anthracite coal, practically all subject to booked orders. Scales have also been installed in connection with the sheds, and stables built for the housing of the company's twenty horses, blacksmith's shop, and a wood working shop for the purposes of the company, have also been erected and equipped. The company's sheds at the G.T.R. tracks contain 900 tons of soft or steam coal, and the work of building sheds for hard coal, will be begun in a few days.

The cartage branch of the company's business has surpassed anticipations, it having been found necessary to provide seven new trucks and thirteen additional horses.

THROUGH THE LIFT LOCK.

On Saturday afternoon the Canadian General Mutual Benefit Association will run the first excursion through the new lift lock. The steamer Stony Lake has been chartered and will leave Wolfe street wharf and pass through the Lock and up the canal and river to Lakefield. This will be an exceedingly pretty trip, and will afford an opportunity of seeing the new portions of the canal, now for the first time open for traffic.

The tickets, which are limited to 300 may be procured at Madill's Drug Store.

A HEATING SYSTEM FOR CENTRAL SCHOOL.

Adam Hall's Tender was Accepted Last Night by Board of Education.

A Lengthy Discussion on Best Plan to Pursue—A Diversion of Opinion.

At last evening's special meeting of the Peterborough Board of Education, the report of the Property Committee recommending that a new heating plant be installed at the Central School at a cost of $2,515.00 was adopted after a lengthy discussion. Last spring the boiler at this school gave out, and the purpose of the meeting was to consider what could be done. Some of the Board thought that the old boiler could be repaired to give satisfaction, while others suggested installing a new boiler and using the old pipes. An amendment to adopt the latter cause was lost and the report was adopted. The new system will be a most complete and satisfactory one.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening. There were present Messrs. J. J. Hartley, chairman; J. Stevenson, V. Eastwood, H. Morgan, F. J. Jameson, J. Crage, W. G. Ferguson, R. Fair, W. H. Hill, J. J. McBain, P. Hamilton.

The members of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The chairman remarked that the special meeting was called for the letting of the contract for the heating of the Central School.

COMMUNICATIONS

A telegram was received from Miss M. Hinds, of Colborne, informing the Board that she had accepted another engagement.—Received.

From Miss Mina Ross, of Allandale, accepting a position on the public school teaching staff.—Received.

From Mr. W. E. McPherson, of St. Marys, accepting the position on the Collegiate Institute staff.—Received.

It was moved by Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Fair, that Miss Annie T. Hudson be appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Hinds' non-acceptance of a position on the public staff. The mover read several high recommendations from the inspector of Lanark, concerning Miss Hudson. The motion was carried.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

The Property Committee reported as follows:—

To the Chairman and members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee beg leave to report that according to instructions we advertised for tenders for a new heating plant for the Central School, and we recommend that Adam Hall's tender of $2515.00 be accepted, it being the lowest, the work to be completed in a first class manner, according to plans and specifications and under the direction of Mr. Mansell, of Toronto, whom we employed to prepare the plans and specifications, Mr. Mansell to be paid the usual commission for such work, said commission being 5 per cent. of the amount of contrate. We also recommend that the solicitor be instructed to prepare a contract for the due performance of the work and that the chairman and secretary be instructed to execute same on behalf of Board.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

V. EASTWOOD,
Chairman.

There was a considerable discussion upon the question of the boiler for the school. Mr. Eastwood said that the committee had gone into the matter thoroughly and that it would cost about $1,000 to repair the old system and put in a new boiler and the committee thought it would be most advisable in the end to have a new system. The ventilation was poor in the school and as the school was a first class one there should be a good hearting and ventilating system. A satisfactory job could not be made without many repairs unless a new system were put in.

Mr. Stevenson said that the old boiler had not been properly looked after, and that if a new one were installed more attention should be given it.

Mr. McBain said he had been informed that the old boiler had not been washed out nearly as often as was neccessary.

Mr. Fair wanted to know if the old boiler could not be repaired, and attached to the old pipes. He thought the boiler could be repaired and made to give satisfaction.

Others also suggested that the old boiler be repaired, or that a new boiler be installed and attached to the present pipes.

Mr. Hill referred to the bad ventilation. He had heard many complaints regarding this matter, and he thought no new system should be installed at any great expense unless there were a better ventilating system. If the new system would materially improve the ventilation, it was a step in the right direction.

Mr. McBain thought that the new system would destroy a lot of valuable work, and not give any better satisfaction than would be experienced if the old boiler were repaired, or a new one installed and connected with the new pipes.

Mr. Fair suggested that an adjournment be made, and that in the meantime the committee inquire into the cost of having a new boiler installed, and using the old pipes; and, lastly, having a new system entirely. Mr. Fair thought that the old boiler should be inspected by a competent inspector, and a report submitted to the Board.

Mr. Hill remarked that it was necessary to take prompt action, as it would require several weeks either to repair the old system or instal a new one, and the work had to be done before the re-opening of the schools on September 1st.

Mr. Eastwood stated that the committee had looked into the matter from all sides, and though they were desirous of keeping down expenses as much as possible, they deemed it advisable to instal an entirely new system. The old system gave only fair satisfaction, and with a new boiler things would be no better. The best possible satisfaction would be derived from the new system, which would be modern in every way, and although the cost at first seemed somewhat high, the committee thought it more advisable to expend the sum required for a new and satisfactory system than to pay $800 or $1000 for a new boiler, and use the old pipes. The old boiler was situated too high to give good service, and if a new boiler were put in it would have to be lowered and the pipes adjusted. He thought that had the other members of the Board investigated the matter to the same extent that the committee had done, they would be of the same unanimous opinion as the committee.

Mr. Stevenson said an entirely new system would be too expensive, and that if the old boiler could not be repaired a new one should be installed, and the old pipes made use of.

There was considerable heated discussion lasting about an hour, and to which every Board member present participated.

Mr. Stevenson finally moved an amendment, seconded by Mr. Morgan, that the report be not adopted, and that the old boiler be repaired if possible, and if not, a new boiler be installed with the necessary improvements.

The amendment was lost, having but three supporters, and Mr. Eastwood's report was adopted.

A RESOLUTION.

It was moved by Mr. Eastwood, seconded by Mr. Jamieson, that the Municipal Council of the Town of Peterborough, be, and they are hereby required, pursuant to Section 5, of the statute passed in the third year of King Edward VII, Chapter 32, to pass a bylaw for borrowing the sum of $3000 by the issue and sale of debentures for the erection of certain additions to the Central Public School Building in the Town of Peterborough, consisting of steam heating apparatus, as shown on plans and specifications tyled with the secretary and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Town Clerk. —Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

An Appreciated Pastor.

Rev. N. D. Drew, secretary, Bay of Quinte Conference, on leaving the South Monaghan Circuit, for his new field of labour, was presented with a purse by the Bemfort appointment, and with two costly chairs by the Bailieboro choir, while Mrs. Drew was the recipient of a purse from the Fraserville church. The members of the family attending school were remembered by an address and the gift of a beautiful picture. These tokens were accompanied with expressions, written and otherwise, of appreciation, and of best wishes for the future. Mr. Drew was stationed at conference at Keene, but owing to serious illness in the parsonage there, he was transferred to Pontypool.

DISCUSSION ON MILITIA BILL.

Compensation for Injuries at Rifle Ranges.

MATTER IS TO BE CONSIDERED

The Calling Out of the Militia to Suppress Riots—Permanent Corps to Have First Call For This Work—Sir Frederick Borden Exposes the Fallacies of Arguments of Messrs. Gourley and Maclean.

Ottawa, July 13.—The House practically completed its deliberations on the militia bill yesterday, only a couple of cluses standing for further consideration. This being the 12th of July, there were a number of vacancies in the active forces on the Opposition side, and the discussion was practically confined to members having military experience or connection.

A Compensation Clause.

The clause which caused most discussion yesterday was an amendment by Mr. Bourassa, providing for compensation by the Government for accidental bullet wounds arising from practice on rifle ranges. Just what ranges this should apply to formed the stumbling-block which led to the point being left over. An important discussion took place on the calling out of the militia to suppress riots. An amendment was inserted providing that permanent troops shall have precedence in this work, and that the pay of the men on active duty of this kind shall be $1 a day.

Service Outside the Dominion.

Mr. Gourley objected to clause 77, which provides that any part of the militia may be placed "in active service anywhere in Canada and also beyond Canada for the defence thereof at any time when it appears advisable so to do by reason of emergency." He contended that there was a serious change in policy involved in the clause which differed from the old act, in which the restriction "for the defence thereof" was not found. He contended that the interests of the Empire might demand that the Canadian militia be sent to the defence of the Empire in distant parts, and demanded that the old clause be retained.

Mr. W. F. Maclean contended that we could not reasonably expect the Imperial army to come to the defence of Canada if our contribution to the defence of the Empire was to be limited to volunteers.

Fallacies of Gourley and Maclean.

Sir Frederick Borden pointed out the fallacy of the arguments of Messrs. Gourley and Maclean. The very essence of the militia system was that the men comprising it were for the defence of the country, and even in Great Britain the militia could not be compelled to serve beyond the British Isles. There had been no change in policy at all. If the former militia acts and the record of the discussion when these measures were passed were consulted it would be found that the Canadian militia was enrolled only for home service and in some of the old acts the fact that they were organized for the defence of Canada only was much more clearly laid down than in the bill before the House, and also the principle that they could not be compelled to serve beyond the confines of the Dominion.

Mr. Gourley emphasized his contention that such a clause should not be allowed in any statute of the Dominion.

Not a Precedent.

Sir Frederick Borden laid on the table of the House the papers relating to the retirement of Lieut.-Colonel Gregory of St. Catharines. In doing so he said he did not wish it to be considered as a precedent, as the list contained some papers of a confidential nature.

Grand Trunk Arbitration.

Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick introduced a bill respecting an arbitration between His Majesty and the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada. The bill, he explained, was designed to widen the powers of the arbitrators, to give them power to examine witnesses under oath and to order the production of papers in settling the dispute between the company in connection with traffic arrangements over the Intercolonial between Riviere du Loup and Point Levis.

To Settle By Arbitration.

London, July 13.—The Foreign Office announces that an agreement was signed yesterday by Foreign Minister Lansdowne and the German Ambassador providing for the settlement by arbitration of differences which may arise of a legal nature, or relating to the interpretation of existing treaties between Germany and Great Britain. The terms of the agreement are identical with those recently concluded with France, Italy and Spain.

PARALYZED BY LIGHTNING.

Young Farmer Near St. Mary's May Succumb to His Distressing Injuries—Other Accidents Elsewhere.

Stratford, July 13.—One of the worst electrical storms of the season, accompanied by very loud claps of thunder and a heavy downpour of rain, passed over the city and district shortly after four o'clock yesterday morning. Chas. Ellah, a young farmer of Downie, was struck by lightning, with the result that his lower limbs and waist are paralyzed, and have turned black. Dr. Brown of St. Mary's was summoned, and up till 11 a.m. was still working with him. He was unconscious for at least two hours after he was struck. The brick chimney on the roof was cut perpendicularly in two, one half falling to the ground, and the other remaining upright.

Drowned at Edmonton.

Galt, July 13.—In a private letter received by Robert Elliott, Oak street, comes the sad news of the drowning of James Elliott, third son of Thomas Elliott of Edmonton. Mr. Elliott lived in Galt until about 22 years ago, when he moved to the west. The boy, who was 18 years of age, was bathing in the river, and got beyond his depth.

Expected to Die.

Brockville, July 13.—A brakeman named W. E. Cunningham lies in the General Hospital here suffering from serious internal injuries sustained Monday night at Thousand Island Junction while coupling cars on the Grand Trunk Railway. He was caught between the cars and narrowly escaped being cut to pieces. His hip was broken, and the doctors think he will die.

Bad Crossing Accident.

Seaforth, July 13.—While William Wright, a farmer living near here, in Tuckersmith Township, was crossing the Grand Trunk tracks at the Main street crossing with his team yesterday afternoon his wagon was struck by a freight train which was shunting. Mr. Wright was thrown out and seriously hurt. The team and wagon were dragged some distance. One horse had its leg broken and had to be killed. The wagon was completely demolished.

Collier Run Down.

Quebec, July 13.—At an early hour yesterday morning the collier Verax, bound for Sydney, C.B., was run into by the S.S. Athenian of the Donaldson Line off St. Laurent Point, a few miles below Quebec. The Verax was run ashore and is badly damaged. The Athenian proceeded to Montreal. Three of the crew of the Verax are missing.

Kuropatkin in Bad Way.

St. Petersburg, July 13.—Colonel Notvitsky of the general staff, in an interview yesterday, said: "The result of the loss of Kaichou will probably be the evacuation of Newchwang. General Kuropatkin's position is more difficult than that which confronted Lord Roberts in South Africa. It is as if Lord Roberts received his supplies by rail via Constantinople, Cairo and Central Africa. It will be a long time before General Kuropatkin will have enough supplies and men to assume the offensive. In the meanwhile he will have to fight rear-guard actions, perhaps giving up important positions like Newchwang, which are of vastly more consequence than Kaichou."

All Used up By Headaches

Could not Eat or work—Powders and Quick Cures of no Avail—Lasting Cure Obtained From

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

This case of Mr. Barber well illustrates the way in which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures headaches.

He tried the so-called "quick cures" first, but without obtaining benefit. It is well known that such remedies when they do bring temporary relief do so with a tremendous waste of nerve force and consequent injury to the system.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures by enriching the blood, vitalising the nerves and building up the system. Headaches, as well as other systems of an exhausted system, disappear before its influence. Its cures are lasting because it removes the cause of trouble.

Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a splendid medicine. I was troubled for a long time with headaches, which would come on about once a week with such violence that I could not eat nor do my work. I tried headache powders and quick cures which did me good.

"About eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with a headache since. It has made a thorough and lasting cure."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book, are on every box. 7

Plenty of Canadian Engineers But They Were Ignored.

APPLICATIONS WERE FILED

And That Was the Last Heard of Them—Chief Engineer Stephens' Statement Contradicted—Members of the S. of E. Declare Competent Men Could Have Easily Been Secured in Canada.

Toronto, July 14.—The enquiry into the employment of aliens as engineers on the Grand Trunk Pacific surveys was continued here yesterday by Judge Winchester in his chambers in the City Hall. H. M. Mowat, K.C., appeared on behalf of the Dominion Government, and W. M. Biggar represented the company. Evidence was taken all day of experienced engineers and surveyors, who showed very clearly that it was entirely unnecessary to go outside of Canada to obtain competent men, and that Mr. Stephens, chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Pacific, was entirely mistaken when he said that he employed aliens only when unable to secure capable Canadians. There were many engineers present, and the proceedings were watched with great interest.

W. T. Jennings was the first witness called. After 35 years' experience he was decidedly of the opinion that it was entirely unnecessary to go outside of Canada for any officer of any degree required in railroad or other like work. If Mr. Stephens endeavored to obtain Canadians, he did not go about it in the usual way. He mentioned Messrs. Lumsden, McLeod, Shanly and Keating among others as qualified to act as chief engineer. He would not recommend a man who was addicted to the use of liquor.

No Scarcity of Good Men.

Mr. Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway, also felt strongly on the liquor question. On his road, he thought, there was not a single alien engineer, and he had had no difficulty in obtaining men.

Reuben W. Leonard had had a long experience, and was promised a district engineership, but had not received the appointment. He mentioned in addition to the names already given, Jno. Woodman, Winnipeg; Geo. A. Mountain, Ottawa; J. M. McCarthy, Quebec; Cecil B. Smith, Nova Scotia; A. E. Dussetts, Geo. H. Massey, Montreal, and Hiram Duncan, Sydney, as men qualified to act as chief engineer.

John M. Armstrong, chief engineer of construction on the mountain division of the C.P.R., had written for the position of chief engineer, but his last letter had remained unanswered.

E. H. Keating mentioned a number of names of men who could have filled positions acceptably. If he had been chief engineer he could have filled the junior positions without going outside of Canada.

Plenty of Young Men Available.

Prof. John Galbraith of the School of Practical Science said that there were 480 graduates of that institution, five-sixths of whom were still in Canada, and 280 of these were trained in railroad work. He had kept a record of the graduates and often supplied lists to railway companies. He had done so to the Grand Trunk Pacific Company.

Thos. E. Hillman said he had had 33 years' experience as a civil engineer in Canada. He served first as a draughtsman on the Great Western Railway in 1870, and was afterwards resident engineer on the London, Huron and Bruce Railway. He had applied in December, 1902, to Chief Engineer Hobson for a position, and went to Montreal in March, 1903, where he saw Mr. Stephens, but no offer was made him. He had no communication with the company afterwards. He did not think that Mr. Stephens had gone about the selection of engineers in a very systematic way.

He Recommended Canadians.

Joseph Hobson, chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway, said he was consulted in 1902 in reference to a suitable man to take charge of the whole survey. He had recommended Mr. Lumsden and arranged an interview for him with Mr. Hays. He had not been consulted regarding Mr. Stephen's appointment and did not know him. He had spoken only about Mr. Hillman, whom he considered stood very high as a constructing and locating engineer. Being asked as to other reliable men, he said S. H. Armstrong was a good engineer, but could not speak in regard to H. P. Bell. He had a wide knowledge of Canadians in the profession and could have recommended good and capable men for positions under Mr. Stephens.

On cross-examination by Mr. Biggar, Mr. Hobson said that Mr. Lumsden had declined the position offered him before any mention of salary was made. When advised that the salary would be $4,000 he stated that it was too low.

Mr. Biggar offered in evidence some correspondence in which Mr. Hobson recommended a number of provincial land surveyors to Mr. Stephens. Mr. Hobson explained that he had mentioned these names because they were familiar with the country in New Ontario, but the men had not been appointed.

Salary Stopped Conference.

C. B. Smith is a civil engineer and graduated from McGill University 20 years ago. He had lectured there for five years on railroad engineering and wrote an elementary work on the subject. He had also had years of experience on different railways and was now with the Niagara Power Co. He had applied for a position in November, 1902, and had met with Mr. Stephens in February, 1903. He was then getting $3,600, and when Mr. Stephens heard that he said there was no use of conferring any further. He would have accepted the position of division engineer at $4,000, but would not take it now. He considered the appointment of Mr. Stephens was a mistake, as he know nothing of Canadian engineers and could not appreciate them.

Arthur H. N. Bruce of Ottawa, had been constantly employed on railroads during the 15 years he had spent in Canada. He had applied for a position in April, 1903, but simply was advised that his letter had been filed.

Had Better Job.

A. F. McCallum had seen Mr. McGuigan in Toronto and arranged to see Mr. Stephens in Montreal. Before the interview, however, he took a position with the C.P.R. at $150 per month and was not anxious to change. He would not accept less than a position as district engineer at $250 per month, and Mr. Stephens could not engage him.

A. W. Campbell, the assistant commissioner of Public Works for Ontario, could not understand Mr. Stephens saying that he could not get good Canadians to fill positions. His chief trouble on the Temiskaming and Northern Railway was to pick out the best men from the number of applicants. He had secured as chief engineer W. B. Russell of the Algoma Central for $3,000; Mr. Perrault as his assistant at $1,800 and men in charge of sections at $1,200.

James McDougall, engineer for York County, had not applied for a position, but was sure that Mr. Stephen's opinion of Canadian engineers was incorrect. He went over a list of competent men and spoke especially of the merit of M. P. Bell.

Had to Go to the U.S.

John A. Paterson, K.C., produced correspondence had by his brother, Jas. A. Paterson, C.E., with the railway officials. Owing to his inability to secure a position his brother had been expatriated to the United States, but was anxious to return. Mr. Paterson said that Mr. Stephens must have been mistaken in writing a letter stating his brother had been offered but declined a position.

John MacConnell had had seven years' experience in harbor work and 12 on railways in Britain, South America and Canada. He would have been willing to take the position at Port Arthur, secured by Mr. Bacon from the United States, and the salary of $3,600 annually was sufficient.

Harry Crewe had 30 years' experience in railway work and agreed entirely with the previous witnesses as to the capability and plentiful supply of Canadian engineers.

John L. Boyd, Harry G. Dinsdale and A. L. McLennan also gave testimony of applications for positions which were not accepted. They were experienced men on location and construction work.

At Kingston on Saturday.

Several witnesses called were not present and Judge Winchester announced that he had a telegram from Hugh S. Lumsden from Orillia regretting his inability to be present, but stating that he would arrange to attend as soon as possible. The Judge said he would not conclude the taking of evidence without hearing Mr. Lumsden. He would sit at Kingston on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, when there would be about a dozen witnesses to examine and would take Mr. Lumsden's testimony whenever he was able to attend in Toronto.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

HER SEASON.

[illegible] the breaking of the dawn,
Gay [illegible]ful as a fawn,
Modest, yet wise,
With downcast eyes,
A blushing cheek,
Meek,
Demure,
Pure
As the winter snow,
And so
Cunning you can't resist her.
Say, mister,
Do you guess?
Yes?
Of course you do.
Who
Could mistake the June bride,
All wool and a yard wide?
All wool, of course, is figuratively speaking.
Were we seeking
The exact truth we would say
Lawn, muslin and pique,
Soft, fluffy, light as air,
The stuff that angels wear,
With suns' rine spun.
And well may she, being one,
Adopt their style of dress.
As we go to press,
We see no reason why
She should not. Money cannot buy,
We are free to aver,
Anything too good for her.
She holds the center of the stage;
Is all the rage.
And well deserves to be.
But, let's see,
What of the June bridegroom?
Is there no room
For him?
Yes; in some corner dim
He sits subdued,
In passive mood,
Knowing that he has to play
A poor second, and that he may
Be thankful, though it jars his pride,
To be the annex of the June bride.

Found the Cause.

Mabel was sad. She mused and meditated, but existance refused to scintillate in the roseate realm of iridescent rays, but remained dull, dank and desolate. Life seemed like an endless, boundless prune orchard.

She paced painfully up and down her apartment with impatient No. 6 feet, pausing a moment to look through the polished pane at the wabbly passers on the wet, weird street below.

"It is dark and dreary as my life," she said, flinging herself into a chair and giving her feelings a chance to take a few physical culture exercises. "Why am I so heart weary tonight?" she propounded to herself as civil service question No. 1. "I haven't eaten but three quarts of strawberries and a dozen doughnuts and should feel light hearted."

Involuntarily her fingers strayed to the lower edge of her chair. They touched something, and her whole face lighted up. It was her chewing gum. As a needy widow with sixteen children flies to the county poor agent it glided to her face. Her jaws grasped the treasure, and contentment was written in six inch letters from the toe of her boot to the Grecian coil of her top hair.

Ready Made.

She smiled so sweetly on the lad,
He thought she loved him and was glad.
He did not know the artful lass
Used drug store smiles as firm as glass;
That on her face, bright, young and fair,
The smile so sweet was frozen there.

Blissful Ignorance.

"Do you think a man should tell his wife everything he does?"

"Certainly not. It should be his business to make her happy."

Simple.

"What is good for a sick horse?"
"Medicine, I should think."

QUARTERLY MEETING OF PETERBORO' PRESBYTERY

Was Held in Port Hope on Tuesday July 12th.

Women's Missionary Society Presented a Report—Next Meeting in Campbellford in September.

At Port Hope and within the Walton street Hall, there, the 12th day of July, 1904, the Presbytery of Peterborough met according to adjournment, and was duly constituted by Mr. Atkinson, moderator.

There were present Messrs. Bennett, McLeod, Wm. Johnston, Reeves, Potter, McIntosh, Atkinson, Yule, Goodwill and Abraham, ministers; and Messrs. Russell and J. F. Clark, elders.

Commissions were received on behalf of Mr. Porter Preston, of Cordova, and Mr. Albert Sanderson, of Springville, as representatives of their several Kirk Sessions, and their names were added to the roll of membership.

The minutes of the last quarterly meeting being in printed form and in the hands of the members, were held as read and were sustained. The minutes of the special meeting at Baltimore and of the meeting in Toronto, by permission of Synod were also read and sustained.

A docket was read to which it was agreed to adhere as the order of business.

Mr. Atkinson was re-appointed as moderator for the next six months, and retained his seat in the chair.

Messrs. Reeves and Johnston, ministers; and Mr. Russell, elder, were appointed a Committee to strike Standing Committees for the year, and were allowed to retire for the purpose.

Mr. Potter reported regarding the present indebtedness on the Cordova church and the recent contributions which had been made towards the reduction of it. The report was received and adopted.

In the absence of Mr. McFarlane, Mr. Potter read the report of the Committee on Expenses of Delegates to Assembly. The report was received, as an interim report and the committee was continued with instructions to hold a meeting for further consideration of the matter, and to report at next meeting in September.

The following were appointed as delegates to the several mission fields within the bounds, viz.:—

Cardiff—Mr. Whitelaw.

Chandos and Burleigh—Mr. Atkinson.

Harvey—Mr. Potter.

Oak Hill—Mr. Skeene.

Cordova—Mr. McLennan.

The delegates to Augmented charges were as follows:

Pontypool, etc.—Mr. Camp.

Warsaw—Mr. Macdonald.

Havelock—Mr. Reeves.

A paper was read from Dr. Lyle, Convener of the Assembly's Augmentation Committee, on the subject of the obligation of Presbyteries to take steps to increase the contributions of congregations to the Augmentation Fund, in view of the resolution of Assembly to increase the salary of Ministers receiving less than $800 per annum.

After consideration it was agreed that a committee consisting of Messrs. Potter, McIntosh, Torrance, Yule, Johnston, (Wm.) Abraham, ministers; and Mr. J. F. Clark, elder; be appointed to take into consideration the whole matter of the increase of stipends and to draft a plan whereby the request of the Assembly's Augmentation Committee will be carried into effect, said committee to report at the Presbytery, meeting in September.

The next quarterly meeting was appointed to be held in Campbellford, on the 20th September, at ten o'clock a.m.

It was agreed that the delegates who have attended the meeting of Assembly in St. John, be paid each $15 from the Presbytery Fund, the same as last year, and that the treasurer of the fund be instructed accordingly.

Messrs. Abraham, Goodwill and Potter gave in reports regarding their diligence and faithfulness in attendance upon the several sessions of the Assembly, and the profit and pleasure derived therefrom.

Mr. Bennett read the report on Statistics. The report was received and adopted.

The report of the Committee to Strike Standing Committees, was read by Mr. Johnston.

The report was adopted, without amendments, and is as follows:—

Home Missions — Messrs. Potter, Torrance, Campbell, and the representative Elder of Lakefield.

Augmentation — R. Harrison, Elder, and Messrs. Thomson and W. R. Johnston, Ministers.

Church Life and Work — Messrs. Beattie, Abraham, Skeene, Ministers; and Mr. Russell, Elder.

Sabbath Schools — McLennan, Camp, Atkinson, Ministers, and Jas. Thompson, Elder.

Young Peoples' Societies — Reeves, MacFarland, Goodwill and the representative Elder of Campbellford.

Supervision of Students — McLeod, Macdonald and representative Elder of Brighton.

Statistics — McIntosh, Bennett, Yule and representative Elder of Springville.

Evangelization — Thomson, Oswald, Wm. Johnston, and representative Elder of the First Church, Port Hope.

Foreign Missions — McDonald, McIntosh, Duncan, and representative Elder of Keene.

Dr. Torrance reported, through the Clerk, that on inquiry he had found that the people of Omemee and associated congregations, were willing that Rev. Mr. Whitelaw should avail himself of the six months leave of absence granted him by the Presbytery.

On motion of Mr. Potter, seconded by Mr. Johnston, Mr. J. F. Clark was authorized to forward the minutes of the Assembly when they arrive to the different ministers at the expense of the respective congregations.

The Woman's Foreign Mission Presbyterial Society, were congratulated upon the marked success of their efforts during the past year to extend the Redeemer's Kingdom.

A notice was read from the Presbytery of Sydney, C.B., that Mr. John Buchanan, a minister without charge, had agreed to withdraw from the office of the ministry in the Presbyterian church.

The Presbytery adjourned to meet in Campbellford, on Tuesday, the 20th September, at ten o'clock, and the meeting was closed with prayer and the Benediction.

William Bennett,
Pres. Clerk.

STATISTICAL REPORT.

The following is the Statistical Report presented and adopted by the Presbytery:—

There are 24 ministers on the roll, 2 more than last year. The number of congregations and mission stations is the same as by last report. One manse has been built during the year. There are 17 in all. The number of sittings has increased by 495. This would seem to indicate the erection of new churches or the enlargement of old ones. Cordova, a new building with a seating capacity of 280 accounts for part of the increase. This column in our statistical table which has to do with the number of sittings in each church is of very doubtful utility. The figures are almost the same year after year. They should be always the same unless in the case of enlargement—or reduction—of sitting accommodation. As an illustration of the uselessness of the column we may note that the reports of one year do not correspond with those of another, even where there has been no change. For instance, the report from Cobourg for 1902 gives the number of sittings as 900 and 1903 as 850. Some report one year and give no report the next year. Another reason for discrepancy in the sum total, between one year and another. It might be well to overture the Assembly to instruct the Committee on Statistics to omit this column in future schedules.

By last returns the families number 2,670 as against 2,476, a gain of 94. The number of communicants on the rolls of the several congregations is 5,606, a gain of 174 upon the previous year. We have an average of over 2 communicants to each family.

347 members were added on profession of faith, a gain of 99. The increase of membership almost keeping pace with the number of families. The removals by death or otherwise than by certificate have exceeded those of the previous year by 46, the exact figures being 159, as against 93. 38 adults have been baptized—13 in one congregation and 4 in another; viz.: Campbellford and St. Andrew's, Peterborough, respectively. The other congregations reporting adult baptisms are Brighton, 1; Centrewille, 1; Keene, 2; Warsaw, 3; Havelock, 3; Springville, 3.

218 infants are reported as having been baptised, a gain of 62, as compared with the previous year. A fair comparison, however, cannot be made between the two years, inasmuch as the pastor of a congregation of 730 members reports no baptisms. It is to be supposed that there were no baptisms in that congregation for a whole year?

5 have been added to the number of those in the eldership.

In the department of finance we find that the contributions to the stipend fund have increased to the amount of $370 This increase comes through the erection of the new congregation at Cordova mines.

The schemes of the church have gained $371, as compared with last year. The contributions to the W.F.M.S. have been $548 greater than during the previous year.

In the matter of contributions for all purposes there is an increase $2,792 and in the matter of church debt there is a decrease of $8,309.

It is gratifying to notice that all the settled congregations have contributed more or less to most of the schemes of the church. Some however, have come far short of giving to the extent of the prosperity which they have enjoyed.

Wall Street, Port Hope, makes no returns in either the statistical or financial tables. This does not, however, cause and surprise to those who know of the self constituted relationship of this congregation to the Presbytery.

In some cases the communion roll has not been revised for four years. In several cases the question is not answered as to when the last revision was made. Silence in this case is not by any means golden.

Three pastors report no additions on profession of faith. In the congregation of Campbellford, 42 became communicants for the first time. The two congregations in Peterborough came next in order in point of additions to communion roll. St. Pauls adds 79 and St. Andrews 64 including those received by certificate. Mr. Campbell, of Lakefield, gives certificates to 26 members, who are removing from the bounds, and Mr. MacDonald records the removal by death or otherwise of 14 in Keene and 22 in Westwood, 36 in all.

The contributions towards the stipend fund are at the rate of $7.31 per family and towards the schemes $3.58. If we divide the several sums by 3 we will make a near approach to the amounts contributed per member as the number of families is just about half the number of communicants. This is apparently less than the average over the whole church for stipend. In the Assembly's report of last year Dr. Torrance states that the average per family for stipend was $8.91, nearly $9 and per communicant $4.77. For the schemes of the church the average per family was in 1902, $3.32. We exceed that by 26 cents.

The question arises, should Peterborough be satisfied with being merely an average Presbytery in point of contributions. The word average implies that many are ahead of us in point of amounts cast into the treasury of the Lord. Should we be satisfied with being in an equality with Presbyteries in localities destitute of the Agricultural and Commercial advantages which we possess. Let us compare ourselves with Presbyteries in like circumstances with ourselves. Take for instance, the Presbytery of Glengarry, very much on an equality with ourselves in point of numbers and in point of agricultural and commercial opportunities. We find that their contributions to the schemes of the church amounts to $4.23 per family, while ours is only $3.58, a difference of 65 cents per family 65 more from 2,670 would give us an addition of $1,670 more than we have towards the schemes of the church. We are thankful that we have so much more than we had last year, but instead of an addition of only $371 to compare favourably with some other Presbyteries, we should have had an increase of $2,541.

LATEST SPORT

LACROSSE.

The Port Hope Guide sizes up the chances of the Ontarions in the following manner:—

The Ontarios chances are as follows, should Hastings defeat Peterborough in Hastings on Monday; Port Hope trim Peterborough in Peterborough and Hastings here, Port Hope has the championship. "Looks easy."

If Peterborough defeats Hastings and Port Hope wins from Hastings and Peterborough, then Port Hope and Peterborough are tied for the district.

Or should Hastings and Port Hope win from Peterborough and Hastings trim Port Hope here then there is a three-cornered tie for the championship.

Lastly should Hastings lose to Peterborough, defeat Port Hope here, and Port Hope win in Peterborough the championship still goes to T.A.S.

* * * *

One of the best lacrosse games ever seen in Peterborough will be that to be played on Saturday between the T.A.S. and Port Hope in the Trent Valley League. This game is to play off the tie game in which these two teams figured in the early part of the season, and the local team will do their best to repeat the dose they gave the Port Hopers on Dominion Day, while the visitors will be just as determined to prevent them from doing so. The Port Hope team has been reinforced by another member of last year's senior Ontarios, and the game will be sure to be a warmly contested one, and will be full of excitement from start to finish.

BASEBALL.

To-night All Saints and St. Paul's Guild teams will play the last half of their game ordered by the executive, which will probably end up the present series. The finals will be played commencing next Monday.

To-morrow night a great game of baseball will be played between the B.A.C., and the George street Guild team. This will be the return game in the series. In the first game the Bachelors were successful after 6 innings of fast ball by the score of 3—2, and to-morrow night the Methodists will attempt to reverse the score. The B.A.C. team will line up as follows: P Jolliffe, c Hutchinson, 1b Moore, 2b W. Wood, 3b H. Grey, ss E. M. Best, outfielders W. Cochrane, P. Hetherington, and B. Boomer.

Yesterday Toronto lost again to Montreal, making seven games lost out of nine played at home in the present series.

Mr. E. M. Best authorises the Examiner to state that the game to-morrow night between the B. A. C. team, of which he is secretary, and George street, will be open to ladies, and the members of the A.F.F. Club are particularly invited.

JAPANESE NOW OCCUPY YINKOW.

300 Russians in the Town Escaped With Difficulty.

NO RESISTANCE OFFERED.

Gen. Sakharoff Tells of the Continued Japanese Advance on Tatchekiao—Gen. Kuroki's Outposts are Engaged on a General Flanking Movement on Haicheng—Black Mountains Scene of a Brilliant Battle.

Tokio, July 15.—It is reported that Yinkow has been occupied by the Japanese without any resistance upon the part of the Russian troops.

300 Russians Escaped.

London, July 15.—The Daily Chronicle's Tokio correspondent says that on July 14 the Japanese occupied Yinkow and that the 800 Russians who were in the town escaped with difficulty.

A Brilliant Battle.

Haicheng, Tuesday, July 12.—A detachment of Major-General Mistchenko's army fought a brilliant engagement to-day near the Black Mountains. Some prisoners were taken. The Japanese are entrenching themselves five miles from Tatchekiao. Terribly hot weather prevails.

Supplies Landed at Kaichou.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—A telegram from Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff, reviewing the situation Wednesday, notes the continued Japanese advance on Tatchekiao, and continuous fighting along the Siuyen roads converging on Tangchi, ten miles southeast of Tatchekiao. The Russian outposts apparently were not offering serious resistance on either of the Siuyen roads or along the line of General Oku's advance. The Japanese are utilizing Kaichou to land supplies.

Gen. Sakharoff also reports the appearance of Gen. Kuroki's outposts considerably south of Liaoyang, indicating a general flanking movement on Haicheng.

The Japanese northern outposts are falling back on Saimatza, probably due to pressure on the part of General Rennenkampff.

Loss Dwindles to 2,800.

St. Petersburg, July 15. — The people of St. Petersburg retired last night in a happy frame of mind.

Private despatches received in St. Petersburg from Russian sources in the Far East confirm the reports from Mukden and Che Foo. According to a usually reliable source the Japanese losses were 2,800 and the Russian losses 1,800.

Late last night a despatch arrived from Tatchekiao communicating an undated despatch from Port Arthur received there July 13. It did not mention the assault or the repulse, but it is quite possible that it was sent from Port Arthur earlier than July 10, so that it cannot be fairly regarded as contradictory evidence.

There is a general conviction that if Viceroy Alexieff decided to communicate the report to the general staff, it must be true.

Loss of Money.

London, July 15.—M. Routhowsky, the financial attache of the Russian Embassy here, returned to London yesterday from St. Petersburg, where he conferred with Interior Minister Plehwe and the Minister of Finance. He said:

"My Government is not in need of money. It has not touched for military purposes a single franc of the loan concluded in France some time ago."

Armorclad Soldiers.

New York, July 15.—According to The Herald's Milan correspondent, the Russian Government has ordered 100,000 breastplates from a local company engaged in the manufacture of beneditti cuirasses for use by the Russian forces in the Far East.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

Final Draft of Fishery Regulations to Be Signed By Premier Bond.

London, July 15.—The Associated Press learns that an agreement has been reached between the British and Newfoundland Governments regarding the fishery regulations under the provisions of the Anglo French Colonial Treaty. The final draft of these regulations, it is expected, will be signed to-day by Premier Bond, on behalf of Newfoundland.

The regulations constitute a compromise between the provisions enforced over the North Sea fisheries and those now imposed by the Newfoundland Government.

Announcement will be made in a day or two regarding Printers' Picnic

LIBERAL-UNIONISTS,

Mr. Chamberlain Elected President of the Newly Constructed Council—Resolution to Strengthen Balfour.

London, July 15.—Joseph Chamberlain was elected president and Lord Lansdowne and Lord Selborne vice-presidents of the newly constructed Liberal-Unionist council, at a meeting in London yesterday, which was attended by 1,700 to 1,800 delegates from all parts of the kingdom.

A resolution was passed in favor of a complete reform of the British fiscal system; approving the Premier's demand for increased power to deal with hostile tariffs and "dumping" and expressing sympathy with the proposals for preferential arrangements between the colonies and the Motherland.

The resolution was adopted with practical unanimity, and Mr. Chamberlain, who presided, pointed out that it must fairly represent the views of the Liberal-Unionists, as no fewer than 278 separate associations were represented at the meeting.

Mr. Chamberlain presided over an immense meeting in Albert Hall last night under the auspices of the Liberal-Unionist Council.

Mr. Chamberlain, who received an ovation, said that the object of the Liberal-Unionist Council was primarily the maintenance of the union between Great Britain and Ireland under the control of one supreme Parliament. There is nothing in the present circumstances to justify the relaxation of vigilance in this direction.

Mr. Chamberlain said the council was impressing upon the Government the necessity of reform in Irish electoral representation.

Mr. Chamberlain concluded by ridiculing the Opposition.

Lord Tennyson moved a vote of confidence in the Government and the approval of its fiscal policy, which was unanimously carried.

Lord Lansdowne briefly acknowledged the resolution and said it would greatly strengthen the hands of Premier Balfour. Referring to the fiscal question, he said it must be discussed freely and fully, and they might see that which at present was only an idea pass into the region of accomplishment and reality.

EXONERATES MR. FLEMING.

Judge Morgan Hands Out His Report on Toronto Assessment Frauds.

Toronto, July 15.—Judge Morgan's report on the investigation conducted by him into the Assessment Department, with respect to the falsifying of the Markham Place assessment roll, was handed to the Mayor yesterday noon. The judge finds that there is nothing in the charge that Commissioner Fleming had anything to do with the falsification in question, that the Department is carried on now in as accurate and as satisfactory a manner as is possible, that Page's memory was inaccurate and unreliable, that the names were added to the rolls at the instance of Ald. Woods by Page, and that that clerk had been remiss in his duty in not informing Mr. Forman immediately that he had a suspicion that the names presented by Woods were not accurate. Ald. Woods is censured, the Judge saying that it is hard to see how Woods could justify such an act by the excuse that such things have been done in the past by others.

Immigrants With Trachoma.

Quebec, July 15.—Four immigrants affected with trachoma were deported yesterday via C.P.R. steamer Lake Champlain, which sailed from here yesterday afternoon.

Paris, July 15.—Deputy Cesbron (Republican), has challenged M. Gorault-Richard (Socialist deputy from Gaudalupe), to fight a duel. The latter called M. Cesbron a "Jackanapes" during the turbulent session Tuesday. They have appointed seconds to arrange a duel.

Will Secure Reparation.

Gyangste, July 15.—The advance of the British mission on Lhassa, the capital of Thibet, has commenced.

Col. Younghusband has issued a lengthy proclamation that it is the intention of the British Government to secure reparation from the Thibetans for their "Overt acts of war" and that any interference with the progress of the mission "will meet with condign punishment and only result in making the terms demanded more exacting and the measures to enforce them more severe."

The way to make money is to save it. By the same token, if you want any summer clothing, hats or toggery, you can save money easily at LeBrun's July sale. Everything has been reduced in price—ordered clothing, ready-made clothing, furnishings and hats. After this month we'll begin thinking about Fall buying, that's why our summer stock must go. If you need a vacation outfit, you're in time to share in the reduced prices. We have some of Shorey's unmatchable clothing left that you can't make any mistake in buying. Just received, a new line of negligee shirts, and other summer dress needs. H. LeBrun & Co.

Miss Alice M. Smith, of Minneapolis, Minn., tells how woman's monthly suffering may be quickly and permanently relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain and could find no relief, but one day when visiting a friend I run across Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,—she had used it with the best results and advised me to try it. I found that it worked wonders with me; I now experience no pain and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change. I use it occasionally now when I am exceptionally tired or worn out."—MISS ALICE M. SMITH, 804 Third Ave., South Minneapolis, Minn., Chairman Executive Committee Minneapolis Study Club.

Beauty and strength in women vanish early in life because of monthly pain or some menstrual irregularity. Many suffer silently and see their best gifts fade away. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women preserve roundness of form and freshness of face because it makes their entire female organism healthy. It carries women safely through the various natural crises and is the safeguard of woman's health.

The truth about this great medicine is told in the letters from women published in this paper constantly.

Mrs. C. Kleinschrodt, Morrison, Ill., says:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered ever since I was thirteen years of age with my menses. They were irregular and very painful. I doctored a great deal but received no benefit.

"A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and after taking a few bottles of it, I found great relief.

"Menstruation is now regular and without pain. I am enjoying better health than I have for sometime."

How is it possible for us to make it plainer that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will positively help all sick women? All women are constituted alike, rich and poor, high and low,—all suffer from the same organic troubles. Surely, no one can wish to remain weak and sickly, discouraged with life and without hope for the future, when proof is so unmistakable that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure monthly suffering—all womb and ovarian troubles, and all the ills peculiar to women.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

THE ONTARIO FARMERS OUTLOOK.

A tour of observation just now through the western part of Ontario shows this fine country district at its best, says the Globe. The fall wheat crop is headed out and vigourous in appearance, insuring a fair rteturn if it escapes rust. Barley is unusually strong, and is, in spite of the dilatory spring, well advanced for the period. Oats and peas promise equally well at a wider interval from maturity. The grass crop is quite exceptional. The cutting of hay is in full swing, and the growth is almost unprecedentedly heavy. A few bright days would place its quality where its quantity now is, quite beyond peradventure. With a reasonable prospect for fruit, early and late, the season bids fair to be a fortunate one for the Ontario farmer.

The most striking feature of the landscape, however, is the pasturage. It is difficult on many farms to distinguish at a distance between grazing fields and hayfields; it would be impossible on some but for the presence of live stock in the former and their absence in the latter. It seems evident at a glance that farmers generally have not enough of cattle to keep the grass short, and inquiry everywhere confirms this presumption. The explanation given is always the same. Usually western Ontario is on the verge of shortage of cattle food from drouth, and those who buy animals for feeding have no difficulty in securing all they require at moderate prices. This year the moister summer has encouraged farmers to keep their cattle, and in consequence the price of beef animals has become exceptionally high for the time of year. It is quite noticeable also that their condition is exceptionally good. As feeding cattle are no scarcer than in other years, while better prices are obtainable, the only regret is that pasturage of the finest sort is going to waste, and that the farmer's returns will be less than they might have been with a larger supply of cattle in the country.

Owing to the unprecedented scarcity of farm labour a large proportion of farmers are seeding their land this year for fodder and pasturage, the reservation being a limited area for root crops next season. By adopting this policy, the farmers largely escape the toil of ploughing, sowing and harvesting. This change of method is sure to lessen the production of baron and of dairy products. Already in the west many cheese factories have been closed up. Some of these have been replaced by creameries, but the scarcity of hired help is affecting them also. As milking must be done by hand this is inevitable, for it is as hard to secure the services of women as of men.

To all appearances for some years to come a large proportion of farmers will find themselves constrained to rely chiefly on the production of young cattle for others to feed. For these there will always be a market, generally a fairly profitable one. Many of the grain-fed stockers are purchased by farmers who are in a position to secure enough of labour to grow feed; others are sent over to Great Britain off the grass to secure whatever price half fed cattle will bring for immediate slaughter; for the remainder the Ontario farmer must rely on the United States for his market. The situation would be greatly improved for him by the removal of the British embargo or by a measure of reciprocity that would take the duty off cattle going into the United States. If the utter fatuity of the British Parliament is to be deemed hopelessly incurable, then the farmers of Ontario, probably of all Canada, will lend their united influence to secure American reciprocity. If Chamberlainism is not equal to the task of lifting the embargo on feeding cattle it stands little chance of proving acceptable to this country.

The Liver to Blame.

So long as the liver is active in filtering the bile from the blood there is no biliousness and no constipation, because the bile is passed from the liver into the intestines where it acts as a cathartic in keeping the bowels active. Because of their direct action on the liver as well and the bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills thoroughly cure constipation, the real cause of nine-tenths of the common ills of life.

AN OPEN LETTER.

Crossley and Hunter Address a Letter Telling of Their Work.

Dear Mr. Editor,—Believing that we are acquainted with more people in Canada than any other two men, and that tens of thousands from Atlantic to Pacific are so intensely interested in the results of the work to which we are called, we have pleasure in addressing, through your columns, this open letter to our multitude of friends.

Twenty years ago this week we began to do the work of Evangelists, and ever since we have worked side by side, united in hearts as David and Jonathan. We have never heard of any other two evangelists working together so long. We hope to have twenty years more in this glorious work, and then celebrate our jubilee in the ministry.

The year has been one of activity. In over ten months we have only been out of a meeting ten nights, except Saturdays. Ten places have been visited during the year and union services have been held in every place except in Indianapolis.

We began the year's work at Seaforth, on Aug. 30th, where it was thought old prejudices would forbid union services; but there the two Presbyterian churches soon were induced to join heartily with the Methodist church, and all rejoiced in seeing hundreds turn to the Lord.

Midland, where we had held a previous campaign, was visited in October and there was great rejoicing at seeing about 400 start in the new life.

In Ingersoll, during November, the greatest revival of its history was witnessed and the good work there still advances in all the churches.

Merrit'on, though harder to move than other places, rejoiced in ultimate victory.

Picton was one of the most glorious meetings of the year. We had been there seventeen years before and found on our return that five of those converted in the first series of meetings were now ordained ministers in three different denominations.

Indianapolis and Chicago were the two places taken in the States this year. Often in Chicago we heard and read the saying: "No such sweeping revivals has been seen in the city since the early days of Moody and Sankey." The Evangelistic Commission of Chicago has invited us to return to their city next year for eight or ten months to hold union services in different centres throughout the city.

Sarnia, where we had held a previous campaign, was visited in April and there the Lord added hundreds of converts to the churches.

Markdale is certainly one of the brightest and best little towns in Canada. Here, during three and a half weeks, the numbers of converts were more than one-third the population of the town.

Brighton closed the year's work on Sunday, 10th inst., and most assuredly the campaign was a fitting ending of a most glorious year, for here, as elsewhere, hundreds enlisted for Christ.

The year has been one of constant victory. We thankfully record that about four thousand five hundred have publicly enlisted for Christ in the meetings during the year.

The Gospel in Song and Story has lost none of its attractiveness and power. It has been often remarked in the meetings, during the past year, that so many professional, business and labouring men, and hosts of magnificent young men and boys have publicly enlisted for Christ and His church.

Our meetings are not noisy, sensational or solemn. No clap-trap, nor fanaticism is given any countenance, objectionable tests are avoided. We believe in a sensible, practical and happy religion that commands the respect of saint and sinner and wins men, women and youth to Christ.

It seems incongruous to tell the gospel message in a solemn or gloomy way. We love humanity. We love the good. We love the bad. We have learned that "good news" is popular, and so we proclaim with gladness and confidence the gospel message, and God crowns it with his promised power.

The year has been one of abounding gratitude.

Criticism of the meetings or methods have very seldom been heard, yea the committee on criticism has usually disbanded during the services.

The newspapers have been invariably kind and helpful to us and our work, which we have appreciated and heartily reciprocated. Profanity has been almost entirely stopped in so many towns, and the bar receipts have been cut down to about one quarter what they had been.

We are grateful for the spirit of union that is manifest in all the evangelical churches, and we are constrained to believe that the many union campaigns that we have been privileged to conduct in all the provinces of our Dominion have contributed very largely to the present general spirit of union that is the admiration of earth and Heaven.

Though we have not been satisfied with the results in any place, as some still remained outside the fold, yet in every place we have been greatly gratified at the trophies won for Christ's Kingdom.

The year has been one of the most peaceful and joyous in our history.

But many ask us, "Have you not lost heavily by the failure of the Atlas Savings and Loan Company?" Oh yes, we lost the few thousand dollars we had reserved for a rainy day, and in addition to this, as the Atlas was not a limited company, we were held liable for thousands of dollars more for unpaid shares. These shares were never intended by the company to be paid, and few persons now regard the payment as a moral obligation; nevertheless Mr. Hunter will mortgage his home to pay his assessment and Mr. Crossley has borrowed money to redeem his Muskoka property and life insurance from the unreasonable demand.

But even in this financial loss we have found great occasion for gratitude and joy. We are thankful that what is gone is only skim milk, as we have given away the cream; for, saying nothing about other years, we have had the joy of distributing to religious and benevolent objects more than thirteen thousand dollars during the last seven years, or just about the amount we had laid by in thirty years.

Next to the favour of God we gratefully appreciate the abiding confidence of the people, and this we have, for they know that, though the Atlas was wrecked by the management violating the charter, not the shadow of a questionable practice has been ours from first to last, as the shares we held were not speculative or margin stock, but purely ordinary stock similar to shares in any chartered bank or industrial institution.

We are filled with joy when we contemplate that nothing but money has been lost. We are rich in the possession of perfect health, unsullied honour, abiding faith, peace, love, joy and hope, and in being appointed to a mission in life as "ambassadors for Christ." As we view these things, which abide, they rise like great mountains before our gaze, making what has been swept away to appear like pebbles or shifting sand.

As we think of the thousands of men, women and youths who have been won for Christ's Kingdom during the past year in our meetings, we joyfully feel that these results infinitely surpass in importance all the money dividends of Rockfeller, Carnegie and Vanderbilt.

While we have not thanked God for everything that has happened, knowing He did not order everything, God's loving kindness and gracious power have been so abundant toward us that we have joyously fulfilled His word. "In everything give thanks," and have, with buoyancy of spirit, marched on to victory with the inspiring consciousness "The Lord of hosts is with us, the God of Jacob is our refuge."

Life is too short and precious to waste in worry. God designs that we all should be happy. Life was not made for sorrow. Life was made for joy and song and service.

And so we go on our way rejoicing. Away with pessimism, croaking, blue goggles, and talk about the world getting worse, the days of revivals being ended and the good old times. As we consider the good new times, and the still better and brighter times dawning before us, let us thank God and take courage, and go forth, consecrated to God for salvation and service, to still greater conquests for Christ and His church.

Fraternally,
CROSSLEY & HUNTER.

WOMEN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Report Presented at the Recent Meeting of the Presbytery.

The following is the report of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, presented at the Peterborough Presbytery meeting held in Port Hope this week:—

To the Reverend The Presbytery of Peterborough:—

The Presbyterial of the W.F.M.S. beg leave to report.

In presenting the 32nd report of the Peterborough Presbyterial Society we are deeply grateful to our Heavenly Father for the way in which He has led us during another year. The work of our society from year to year is necessarily very much the same. A spirit of thankfulness for the past and hopefulness for the future characterize most of the reports.

A course of systematic study has been very generally pursued based on Via and Lux Christi, but what is more important and which we find has been given much prominence is Bible study. This should ever have the first place in our meetings. One Mission Band has been studying the "Grace of Giving" which has been an excellent topic. The members of this same band are also trying to lead in prayer. Let us remember the Presidents and Mission Band leaders often in prayer, that they may be wise in guiding and directing those under their care.

Our Auxiliaries now number 23, our Mission Bands 15, Auxiliary members 333, Mission Band members 330, members of General Society 191, making a total membership of 909. There has been an increase of 165 in membership, which is most gratifying and should be a great incentive to us in our efforts to have every woman in our different congregations a member of the W.F.M.S. The contributions amount to ($2,143.90) an increase of $163.90.

The "Foreign Mission Tidings" has a circulation of 350. This number is very fair, but we would like to have a still larger number enjoying the reading of this intensely interesting organ of our society.

Bales of clothing weighing 900 lbs. and valued at $378.42 were shipped in September to Mr. McGregor, Keewatin.

We have much to encourage us in our efforts to help win the World for Christ. Even if Christianity does not at all times seem to have the power over the hearts and lives of those who have embraced it, we must remember that Christ's plan for the world's redemption comprehended not only the making of disciples of all nations, but the slower and more arduous task of teaching them to observe all things whatsoever He commanded. Few converts even in Christian lands ever fully apprehend that for which they have been apprehended by Christ Jesus; need we wonder then that Christian perfection often fails of exemplification among Missionary converts. It is said that India will yet recognize and own Jesus Christ as her Saviour. Shall we not endeavour in the coming year to be more faithful and more frequently at the Throne of Grace, and seize every opportunity to do what we can that this end may be accomplished.

Respectfully submitted,
MARTHA DICKSON,
Cor. Secretary.

KILLED ALL OF THEM

Cheerful But Inspiring Slaughter of Mr. Maclean's Proposals.

RAILWAY ACT AMENDMENTS

Majority of Directors Must Be British Subjects—Mr. Maclean's Amendments: Control of Express Companies, Lower Passenger Rates, Telephone Damages, All Killed off—Mr. W. T. R. Preston Censured

Ottawa, July 15.—The House spent yesterday in debating proposed amendments to the railway act of last session, which were reported and stood for third reading. The measure introduced by the Minister of Justice provides that the majority of directors in all subsidized railway companies shall be British subjects, and also determines the method by which the net earnings of the G. T. Pacific shall be arrived at for purposes of the contract between the Government and the company.

Maclean's Unsuccessful Effort.

Mr. W. F. Maclean made an unsuccessful effort to engaft upon the measures a series of amendments bringing express companies under the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission, depriving the Chairman of the power to determine questions of law coming before the Railway Commision, and limiting the compensation to be paid by local telephone companies for entrance to railway stations to the actual damage caused. All these questions had been thrashed out in the Committee on Railways, where Mr. Maclean's bill was thrown out a few days ago, and his amendments met the same fate, none of them securing general support from his colleagues to the left of the Speaker.

The Committee on Agriculture.

The House opened with a warm discussion over the situation in the Agriculture Committee, Mr. Parmelee moved that the Committee have leave to sit while the House is in session in order to complete their business.

Dr. Sproule objected to the motion because the committee had made no recommendation on the matter. Mr. Parmelee and Mr. Davis pointed out that there had been no opportunity to put the motion, but that it was quite ordinary.

Mr. Clancy and Mr. Ingram objected to the motion, and Dr. Douglas supported it. Mr. Ingram suggested that if the motion were not pressed the committee could probably finish in another day. Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that motions of that kind usually came on the recommendation of the committee interested. There might be exceptions to the rule, but in view of Mr. Ingram's statement he suggested that the motion be held over for one day.

The motion was withdrawn with that understanding.

Lighthouse Service.

Hon. Mr. Prefontaine informed Mr. Taylor that fifteen lighthouses on the waters between Montreal and Kingston had been changed from oil burning to acetylene gas, and that where the changes had been made the services of the light-keepers had been dispensed with.

Hon. Mr. Paterson, replying to Mr. Clancy, said no rebate or drawback of customs duty had been paid to distillers in Canada for the fiscal year 1896 on Indian corn imported and used in the manufacture of spirits.

The House then spent forty minutes in concurrence of the reports of the Committee of Supply so far passed.

The bill to amend the railway act, introduced by Mr. Lennox and amended by agreement, was passed through committee and read a third time.

Mr. Preston Censured.

Following is a copy of a letter addressed by the Secretary of the Interior Department to W. T. R. Preston, Canadian Commissioner of Immigration in London, with regard to the letter published in The London Times of June 18, regarding the Dundonald incident:

"The attention of the Minister of the Interior, was called in the House of Commons on the 6th July by Mr. Clarke, member for West Toronto, to the fact that a letter appeared in The London Times newspaper of the 18th June over your signature, dealing at length with questions now involved in a political controversy now in progress in Canada. A careful perusal of the letter as printed in The London Times makes it clear that it is intended as a defence of the position of the Government and as an expression of opinion antagonistic to the poaltion taken by the political opponents of the Government. The Minister of the Interior stated in the House when the matter was mentioned that it would receive the consideration of the Government at an early day. The matter has since received the careful consideration of the Privy Council.

"The Minister instructs me to advise you that in the opinion of the Government your action is a serious breach of official decorum. I am further directed to advise you that in the opinion of the Government, the contribution of letters or interviews to the press by a member of the Civil Service dealing with or discussing subjects which are matters of controversy between the political parties cannot be permitted, and the violation of this rule in the future will be accepted as an equivalent of your resignation from the Civil Service. I have the honor, etc.

(Signed.) "P. G. Keyes."

Arbitration May End Strike.

Chicago, Ill., July 15 —The strike which has demoralized the packing industry throughout the country has not yet been settled, but there are indications that it will soon be ended by the adjustment of the difficulties by arbitration.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the Town Council will meet this evening.

THE BRITISH ARMY.

Peace Footing Reduced and Conscription Proposal Discarded—War Secretary Arnold-Forster Outlines His Plan.

London, July 15.—War Secretary Arnold-Forster made his long promised statement as to his proposed reform of the army when the House of Commons went into committe yesterday afternoon on the vote for the war office.

The secretary said he did not propos? to touch the militia, as public opinion was not ripe therefor, neither would the royal artillery be decreased nor the number of cavalry regiments be reduced. He proposed to reduce the regular infantry forces by fourteen battalions, leaving forty or fifty battalions for home service, after providing for India and the colonies.

The army would be divided into two parts. A certain number of battalions would be kept at home. These would be reduced to five hundred men, 400 of whom would be enlisted for two year's service, and would afterwards enter the reserve for six years. These would be in reality territorial battalions and the object of the short-service system would be to build up the reserve.

The volunteer establishment would be reduced to 180,000 men, and much larger grants would be made, so as to make the volunteers an effective force.

From 16,000 to 16,000 regular troops would be kept at Aldershot, ready to take the field as a fighting force. Provision would be made for a permanent garrison at 21,500 men in South Africa.

In view of the progress made in submarine boats, he hoped to make a considerable reduction in the expenditure on the aquatic establishment. He discarded the conscription proposal, as it would cost an additional $180,000,000 yearly for the same number of troops as now forthcoming.

THE WINNIPEG'S WIN.

London and Thames Crews Beaten in the Cup Race.

London, July 15.—(C.A.P.)—The Thames Cup race at the Metropolitan regatta brought out three competitors—the London R. C., Thames Rowing Club and the Winnipeg. The course was from Putney to Hammersmith. London took the lead at the first, but at the London boat house, Winnipegs came over to the centre of the river, after which the race became a procession.

At the end of a mile, the Canadians led by a couple of lengths, and at Harrods, the visitors were only paddling. The official verdict was "won easily," and the time was 8 minutes, 1 second.

The Sportsman says the feature of the regatta was the appearance of the Winnipegs, who once more proved the usefulness of Third Trinity at Henley. The Winnipegs are certainly fine oarsmen, and, if trained at Putney for a few months, could not show finer all-round form, although a word of advice from one of our professionals would have helped them out.

Leave Good Memories Behind.

London, July 15.—(C.A.P.)—The Telegraph, referring to Winnipeg's victory, says that London was not in the hunt without speedy Canadian visitors. They will sail hom on the 21st inst., and it is hoped they would carry back half as good memories of the old country as those they leave behind them for a better crew of oarsmen has seldom crossed the Atlantic.

Canadians Lost at Perth.

London, July 15.—(C.A.P.)—The Canadian bowlers were defeated at Perth by 17 shots. The scores were: Canadians 94, Perth 111.

HER LIFE FOR BOY'S

Miss Nano Ward Tried to Save a Drowning Boy.

CRAMPS PREVENTED SUCCESS

Miss Ward Sank and Did Not Rise Again, and Richard Powell Was Also Drowned—Both Belong to Toronto, and the Sad Accident Occurred at Judd Haven, Muskoka — Triple Drowning at Westbay, C.B.

Muskoka Wharf, July 15.—A most distressing double drowning occurred yesterday afternoon about a mile and a half from here, near Judd Haven, the unfortunate victims being

Miss Nano Ward, 15 years of age, daughter of J. D. Ward, treasurer to the department of the Provincial Secretary, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, and Ritchie Powell, 11 years of age, son of R. P. Powell, proprietor of Whirlwind Carpet Works, 662 West Bloor street, Toronto.

Powell, along with some companions, was in bathing, and getting out far beyond his depth was unable to swim back and sank. Miss Ward, who was standing by, saw the boy go down and immediately jumped in and swam out to rescue him, but before she got far from shore she also sank and did not rise again.

Miss Ward was a good swimmer, and it is supposed she was suddenly seized with cramps. Her body was recovered within twenty-five minutes after the accident, but all the old remedies, combined with medical skill were unsuccessful in restoring consciousness.

Searchers began at once to drag the lake for the boy, but at a late hour last night his body had not been recovered.

The dead girl was the eldest daughter of Mr. Ward, who for the past thirty years has been connected with the Provincial Secretary's office. About a month ago the family took a summer cottage at Muskoka Wharf.

Toronto, July 15.—Both Mr. Powell and Mr. Ward left on the midnight train, accompanied by R. V. Stone, of the W. H. Stone undertaking establishment.

A Triple Drowning.

Halifax, July 15.—A triple drowning accident occurred near West Bay, C.B., yesterday afternoon. Alex. J. McLeod started in a sail-boat for Marble Mountain. He had with him his nephew and niece, Angus and Marjorie Ross, aged respectively 12 and 14 years. When half way down the boat was seen to turn over and go down, carrying with it McLeod and the two children. They were not seen afterwards, and no doubt were drowned.

Fell Into Water, Dead.

Belleville, July 15.—Talbot Metcalfe of Port Hope, yesterday fell from the bow of the yacht Norway. Two young men who saw the accident went to his assistance, and one of them dived and brought up the body. The unfortunate man never recovered consciousness. It is believed that death was due to heart disease. He was 30 years of age.

Broke His Neck on "Cereus."

Toronto, July 15.—George Davis, 55 years of age, engaged as pantryman on the Corona, fell down the pantry steps at about 7 o'clock yesterday morning while the boat was lying at Lewiston, and dislocated his neck. He expired almost instantly. His body was removed to a local undertaking establishment, where a claimant is awaited. Deceased, who had been employed on steamers for the past seven years, had no known relatives.

Leg Shattered By Horse.

Bowmanville, July 15.—Robert A. Treleven was kicked by a horse in a runaway Wednesday, and his right leg fearfully shattered and broken in two places. The injury is very serious, and amputation may yet be necessary.

Gasoline Kills Two.

Buffalo, July 15.—By the explosion of a can of gasoline in a shed at the rear of a dwelling at No. 13 Hawley street last night Mrs. George W. Carbine was instantly killed and Mrs. Alice Buckley, who worked for Mrs. Carbine, died shortly afterwards from burns and other injuries which she received.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT TO MISS ALICE BLOIS.

A Young Lady's Misfortune While Preparing for a Picnic.

A very painful accident was that which Miss Alice Blois met with last night. She was intending to go to the Park street Baptist picnic to-day, and was making some final preparations when she had the misfortune to run a long black pin into her arm just above the elbow, where it broke off, causing a very painful wound.

Drs. Carmichael and Young were called and advised the young lady's removal to the Hospital, where she was taken this morning, and an operation was performed by the Rotegen Rays. No serious results are anticipated although it will be very painful for some time.

CHOIR ENJOYED TRIP DOWN THE RIVER.

Kindness of Mr. J. J. McBain Greatly Appreciated

The George street choir have for a number of years, through the kindness of Mr. J. J. McBain, enjoyed the pleasure of a day's outing on the lakes, and perhaps one of the most pleasant of these annual trips was that taken yesterday down the river to a number of points on Rice Lake. The steamer Water Lily, with fifty or more of the choir members and friends, left the dock about half past eight o'clock, and after a pleasant sail down the river arrived at Jubilee Point shortly after eleven, where dinner furnished by the proprietor of the Jubilee House, was soon ready and received due attention. After about an hour's rest, spent by a number in boating and gathering water lilies the boat was boarded, and a call was made at Harwood, Idyl Wild and Gore's Landing. A stay of about an hour was made at the latter place. The boat was then headed for Jubilee Point, where supper was served, and a short time spent before the return trip up the river. Prior to leaving Jubilee, a hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mr. Hill and seconded by Mr. Edgcumbe, was passed, and ordered to be conveyed to Mr. McBain for his kindness in providing what had been to all a most enjoyable day's outing. On motion of Dr. Crothers, seconded by Dr. Prust, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Mulligan to whose efforts much of the pleasure of the day was due. The appreciation of the choir for Mr. Edgcumbe, who so kindly had placed on board a couple of bunches of bananas, for the use of the party, was also expressed.

The sail up the river in the evening, enlivened by singing, a by no means unpleasant feature of the choir picnics, was all that could be desired, and the Peterborough wharf was reached about half past nine, and the George street choir picnic of 1904 was voted one of the most, if not the most enjoyable, of their annual outings.

ANNUAL EXCURSION A GREAT SUCCESS.

Charlotte Street School Picnic to Idyl Wyld and Jubilee.

Very Pleasant Outing Yesterday—Even was Largely Attended.

The annual excursion of the Charlotte street Sunday School was held yesterday to Idyl Wyld and Jubilee and was in every particular a most successful outing. The day was all that could be desired for such an event and the sail down the river and across the lake was a pleasing relief from the oppressive heat of the town. There were about 275 on board the City of Peterborough which was chartered for the occasion.

The boat left the C.P.R. wharf at 8.15 o'clock arriving at Idyl Wyld shortly before noon. A stop of about two hours was made here and the lunch baskets were easier to carry afterwards as a result. The Rainbow with a scow arrived from Hastings with a picnic from the Presbyterian Church of that town, and as a result it was found difficult to persuade certain young men to board the City and proceed to Jubilee. Explanations are, of course, unnecessary.

Jubilee Point was reached about 3 o'clock. The feature of the afternoon was a baseball match between the Charlotte street and St. Andrew's Guild League teams. The former were strengthened by the assistance of Jack Pilling, while "Ted" Pilling, of the Auburns; Walker, of St. Pauls, and Weller of the Quakers, figured on the Presbyterians' line-up. The game was an interesting one from start to finish and resulted in a win for the Methodists by a score of 12—11 with an innings to spare. The winners took an early lead and were never headed, though St. Andrew's made a strong bid in the last innings, when some loose fielding combined with timely hitting gave them five runs. Thornton of the Charlotte street team, was unfortunately injured in the sixth innings and his loss was severely felt. The teams were:—

Charlotte Street—H. Roddy, p; Thornton, c; Jolliffe, 1b; Squires, 2b; E. Roddy, 3b; J. Pilling, ss; Sanderson, lf, and c; Carr, cf; Fuller, rf; Ryan, lf

Score by innings:—
Charlotte Street ... ...323400x—12
St. Andrew's ... ...0102123—11

A few races were run off during the game for the amusement of those in the junior and intermediate classes.

A start for Peterborough was made about 6 o'clock the sail up the river being most enjoyable. The proceedings on board were enlivened to a considerable degree by several selections from the band of eight pieces under the capable leadership of Mr. W. Galbraith, President of the Young Men's Guild. A collection was taken up to purchase new instruments and a baton for the director, the response being a most liberal one.

The refreshment booth under the management of Mrs. Cunningham, and Misses Allen, Thomas and Wilson, was well patronized throughout the day, a handsome sum being realized.

The excursion was one of the most pleasant in the history of the school, and everyone heartily enjoyed the outing.

THE STREET RAILWAY NEARING COMPLETION.

Will Probably be in Operation by First of August.

It begins to look now as if the promise made some time ago by the management of the Street Railway, that the line would be in operation by August 1st, would be fulfilled. The line is being rapidly put into shape, a large gang of men being employed for this purpose, and the only thing that stands between the line's operation is the cars, which are expected to arrive in time to allow the sysetm to be in operation by the date mentioned above.

The company has asked for tenders from the clothing merchants for two suits of uniform for each employee of the company required to operate the cars, the suits to be finished by the first of August.

ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL A WORTHY INSTITUTION

The Annual Collection for its Benefit now Being Taken up—A Generous Response Should be Made.

The annual collection in aid of St. Joseph's Hospital is now being taken up at St. Peter's Cathedral, and the appeal made to the people on behalf of this work of charity is being responded to in a most generous manner. This Hospital is doing much good in this community. Patients of all denominations are received within its walls, and every year many who are too poor to defray their expenses are treated free of charge. A ward of the Hospital has been specially devoted for some time to the care of contagious diseases, and in this manner it has served the purposes of an isolation hospital, and to a great extent has released to community from the danger of contagion arising from these diseases. During the years, that this institution had been in existence, it has taken care of many hundreds of the destitute poor, who are without means of assisting themselves, and has alleviated their sufferings, and in many instances, no doubt, saved their lives.

At the time that the hospital was established a very considerable debt had to be incurred for that purpose. In addition to this the annual expenses of maintaining and managing the hospital are of a very considerable amount. The burden of discharging this debt and paying the annual expenses falls mainly, of course, upon the people of St. Peter's Cathedral. The charitable work of the hospital, however, has appealed to the generosity of many of the citizens of the town irrespective of their creed, and the benefit that it is to the municipality, in assisting in looking after the sick and poor of its citizens, is no doubt fully appreciated, as is evidenced, by the support and encouragement given to the hospital from time to time, by those who are not members of St. Peter's Cathedral.

There is no doubt that the generosity which has been displayed in the past in contributing towards the support of this institution will be fully maintained on the present occasion, and that when the collection is closed at the end of next week, a very substantial amount will have been realized. 2d1w

SUCCESSFUL OUTING TO JUBILEE POINT.

PETERBOROUGH BOY WAS APPRECIATED.

Mr. N. W. Pollard was Well Liked in Sarnia During His Residence There.

The Sarnia Daily Observer, referring to the departure from that town of Mr. N. W. Pollard, son of Mr. Joseph Pollard, of Peterborough, says:

"N. W. Pollard, who has been in the employ of F. F. Campbell, merchant tailor, as cutter for the past five years, leaves on Monday to take up his residence at Fort William, having secured a lucrative position in that place. Mr. Pollard held a position in the front rank as a cutter in the tailoring trade here, and has a host of patrons and friends who will be sorry to learn that he is about to leave Sarnia. Mr. and Mrs. Pollard are also very popular in social circles here, and their loss to Sarnia will be a decided gain for Fort William. They will carry with them the best wishes of a large circle of friends."

POLICE COURT NEWS.

Three Cases of Stealing Before the Magistrate This Morning.

At the police court this morning a young man who pleaded guilty on Monday to a charge of breaking into Alex. Elliott's storehouse and stealing liquor while in a drunken state, was allowed to go on suspended sentence. The Magistrate ordered him to be present in court on Monday morning by which time restitution must be made and the costs of the court paid.

Three young men were charged with stealing celery from a garden in the south end of the town last Monday. The accused pleaded not guilty, and swore that though they had been in the vicinity of the celery they took none. The complainant gave evidence that the celery had been taken for several nights previous to the one in question, and that she had watched for the thieves and had recognized one of the defendants as among those she saw taking the celery on Monday. However the evidence was not sufficient to warrant a conviction, and as all the defendants swore they had not taken the vegetables, the charge was dismissed.

Two young men were charged with trespassing on the property of the C.P.R. They were arrested at Tweed this morning by a railway detective, being suspected of attempting to steal a ride. The young men, however, pleaded not guilty and gave evidence to show that no attempt was being made to steal a ride, as each was provided with considerable money. The case was dismissed.

DON'T CASH MONEY ORDERS FOR STRANGERS.

Postoffice Department Sends out a Warning to Both Postmasters and Public.

The postoffice department has issued the following warning:—

"Postmasters are informed that an organized gang have been operating in Canada and the United States, raising the amount of money orders. It is requested, therefore, that strangers who apply for orders for small amounts be closely scrutinized, so that it may be possible to identify them afterwards if such action should be found necessary."

The notice is more in the nature of a caution than a warning, as no complaints of a serious nature have been received from Ontario points.

Inspector Henderson said last night that the object also was to caution people against cashing postal orders or notes for others whom they know little about.

"It is an easy matter for an unscrupulous party," he explained, "to get an order for, say $1, which he raises to $10 or even $100. Of course, no attempt is made to cash this raised note at the postoffice, for the advise note would give him away, but he takes it to a retail merchant in the town, purchases a small amount of goods and tenders the note in payment. It may be even that he cashes it at a bank."

A NEW SCHEME TO CHEAT FARMERS.

A Novel Method by Which the Unwary are Duped.

An exchange tells of a slick scheme devised to "do" the unwary:—"A well dressed chap stops at a farm house and informs the occupant that he has lost a valuable diamond pin. He and the farmer make diligent search but fail to find the article. The well dressed chap tells the farmer on going away that he will give $100 for the return of the jewel. A week or so afterwards a tramp comes in, tells the farmer that he has found a diamond pin. The farmer after some dickering gets the pin for $25. After waiting some time the pin is taken to the jeweler, when it is found that 15 cents is a big price for the "diamond."

OOM PAUL KRUGER.

Claimed By Death at Clarens, Switzerland —Victim of Pneumonia—Wanted to Be Buried in Transvaal.

Clarens, Switzerland, July 15.—Paul Kruger, former President of the Transvaal Republic, died here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning from pneumonia and supervening heart weakness. Mr. Kruger lost consciousness Monday. His daughter and son-in-law were with him at the time of his death. He had been out only once since his arrival here, at the beginning of last month.

The ex-President's body was embalmed, and will be placed in a vault pending funeral arrangements. Application will be made to the British Government for authority to transport the remains to the Transvaal. In the meantime they will be temporarily interred here.

Mr. Kruger, who was staying at the Villa Du Boichet, had been gradually failing for a long time, but he was able to attend to affairs, read the newspapers and receive visits until Saturday. A change for the worse set in on Sunday. He became unconscious Monday and remained so until his death. Besides the Etoffs, Mr. Kruger was attended by his own physician, Dr. Heymann, and by his secretary, Mr. Redel.

On several occasions Mr. Kruger has expressed a desire to be buried beside his wife, in his own country.

The post-mortem examination of the body showed that he died of senile pneumonia.

Sketch of His Career.

Stephen J. Paul Kruger was born at Colesburg, Cape Colony, on October 10, 1825. He emigrated across the Vaal in 1839, and became Commandant General of the South African Republic in 1863. In 1872 he was a member of the Executive Council and visited England in 1883 as delegate from the Transvaal, devoting the next year to traveling in Holland and Germany. His election as President of the Transvaal took place in 1882, being confirmed in 1883, and his re-election followed in 1888, 1893 and 1898. His term as President ceased in 1900 in November of which year he took refuge in Holland. His literary efforts consisted in the publication of his memoirs in 1902. He was married, several times, his third wife dying at Pretoria during the recent war.

A squad of provincial police have been despatched by the Government with orders to arrest the three leaders of the pilgrims.

All Used up By Headaches

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

This case of Mr. Barber well illustrates the way in which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures headaches.

He tried the so-called "quick cures" first, but without obtaining benefit. It is well known that such remedies when they do bring temporary relief do so with a tremendous waste of nerve force and consequent injury to the system.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures by enriching the blood, vitalizing the nerves and building up the system. Headaches, as well as other systems of an exhausted system, disappear before its influence. Its cures are lasting because it removes the cause of trouble.

Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a splendid medicine. I was troubled for a long time with headaches, which would come on about once a week with such violence that I could not eat nor do my work. I tried headache powders and quick cures which did no good. "About eight months ago I took "six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with a headache since. It has made a thorough and lasting cure."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book are on every box. 7

EXCURSIONISTS WRECKED.

Twenty Killed and Twenty-Five Killed in Railway Collision.

Chicago, July 14.—Twenty persons were killed and about twenty-five injured in a collision on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad at Glenwood, Ill., 23 miles south of Chicago.

The collision occurred between a picnic train from Chicago, which was returning from Momence, Ill., and a freight train, into the rear end of which the excursion train dashed at high speed. A misplaced switch threw the picnic train over on the southbound track, and before the engineer could apply the brakes it ran at 40 miles an hour into the rear of the freight.

Drowned in Hamilton.

Drowned at Penetang.

Penetanguishene, July 14.—Richard McNamara, aged 16, son of Dennis McNamara of this town, was drowned yesterday morning. He fell off the slabs at the Firstbrook Box Company's factory. He was alone at the time, and the men who were working a short distance off failed to reach him in time to rescue him. His body was found in about an hour.

Brakeman Killed.

Huntsville, July 14.—A brakeman on the Grand Trunk Railway from Allandale, named Thomas Beatty, was run over at South River and had one leg cut off and the other badly mangled. He was brought to the general hospital here by special train Tuesday night, but died about 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

RIFLEMEN OF BISLEY.

Names of Canadian Team Chosen to Compete For MacKinnon Cup.

Bisley Camp, July 14.—To-day the MacKinnon Challenge Cup competition for the service rifle takes place at 800, 900 and 1,000 yards, ten shots at each distance. Teams from Canada, England, Scotland, Wales, Natal and New Zealand have entered the competition.

To Represent Canada.

The following men have been chosen to represent Canada in the MacKinnon Challenge Cup competition: Capt. H. C. Blair, 78th, Truro; Capt. J. Crowe, 30th, Guelph; Staff-Sergt. C. R. Crowe, 30th, Guelph; Capt. R. Dillon, 34th, Whitby; Corp. R. McGregor, G.G.F.G., Ottawa; Major W. P. Moore, 20th, Georgetown; Sergt. G. Mortimer, 10th, Toronto; Pte. C. S. Scott, 43rd, Ottawa; Pte. Neil Smith, 21st, Stewart; Pte. H. Tyers, Toronto; Pte. T. Westman, 43rd, Ottawa; Col.-Sergt. W. H. Youhill, 90th, Winnipeg.

In the sweepstakes competition at 600 yards, the second prize of £8 was taken by Sergt. G. Mortimer of the 10th Royal Grenadiers, and the third prize of £2 by Private Neil Smith of the Essex Fusiliers.

Canadians did badly in the Keystone Burgundy match, 10 shots at 1,000 yards, and those who shot yesterday will not likely get into the prize list. The wind was tricky and marksmen had trouble in finding the target.

STRIKE OF 75,000 BUTCHERS.

$100,000,000 Tied Up in Chicago—Strike May Benefit Canada.

Chicago, July 14.—The meat cutters strike spread yesterday by the action of the teamsters who refused to handle meat touched by non-union workmen. 150 commission houses are out of buiness, and prices to the consumer promise to reach the prohibitive point. Business interests aggregating $100,000,000 are tied up here.

Meat Famine Now.

New York, July 14.—New York today faces a meat famine as serious and likely to be even more costly than the coal famine of two years ago. By midnight last night almost 75,000 meat packers throughout the country had gone out on strike. The three thousand union meat cutters connected with the union went out yesterday. Prime beef is five cents a pound higher than it was two days ago.

Expect Higher Prices.

Hamilton, July 14.—From present indications there will be a boost in packed and cured meat prices in the city in a very few days, following on the big American strike movement. Speaking of the matter yesterday morning, a Hamilton packing house official said there would be a local boost in less than a week if the strike was not ended.

Stole Sacred Images.

Hazan, Russia, July 14.—The sacred image of the Virgin, the Saviour and St. Nicholas have been stolen from the cathedral here. They were covered with priceless gems. There is no clue to the thieves.

Stansbury Goes For Trial.

Toronto, July 14.—Dr. Chas. G. Stansbury was yesterday morning committed for trial on the charge of non-support preferred by his wife. He was allowed bail on two sureties of $500.

Narrow Chests.

The old theory that consumption was inherited is utterly discredited by modern medical science. The germs of consumption must be received from without. These germs are every where. They are constantly being received and cast out by the healthy system. It is the narrow chested whose inheritance is weakness who fall a prey to consumption because they are too weak of lung to resist and throw off disease.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs, weakness, emaciation and other conditions which if neglected or unskilfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

$3,000 FORFEIT will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"In the spring of 1900 I was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs, and became very weak and short of breath, lost flesh and had no appetite," writes Mr. E. L. Robinett, of Kerrez, Texas. "I was persuaded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first few bottles seemed to do me but little good. Thought I would soon be a victim of that dreaded disease, consumption. Had almost given up in despair when my friends persuaded me to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' a fair trial. I commenced its use. I weigh 161 pounds now, and when I commenced I only weighed 140 pounds. If any one doubts this statement I will be pleased to answer any inquiry."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing is "just as good." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from impurities.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Marriage is apt to be a failure when two try to live in exactly the way that one did before marriage.

A pessimist is a man who, when he finds out that he can have a thing, finds he does not want it.

One touch of summer makes us forget all of the nice things we said about it in winter.

CANNED STRAWBERRIES.

No Water In These—Ruby Berries In Rich, Undiluted Nectar.

During the winter and spring our table was supplied with most delicious canned strawberries. Not a drop of water touched the fruit when the cans inclosed its ruby richness for our delectation. No canned fruit is more delicious than the strawberry if properly put up; none is less appetizing if unwisely handled.

As more often seen, a few faded, shrunken, forlorn berries are floating in a sea of colored water, neither attractive to the eye nor tempting to the taste. Instead, we may have the ruby berry surrounded by its own rich undiluted nectar, reminding one of the summer sunshine imprisoned in the rosy fruit.

Water has its place, but in canned strawberries should be conspicuous by its absence; every drop injures their richness and flavor. Gathered in the morning as soon as the dew is evaporated they need no washing. Should it be necessary to free them from grit or sand, place unhulled in a colander, pour cold water through them, and dry by gentle shaking.

In an agate or porcelain lined kettle place a sufficient quantity to fill a quart or two quart can at pleasure, heat very slowly until the juice starts, then increase the heat gradually until the contents reach the boiling point, simmer gently fifteen or twenty minutes, add for each quart of teacupful of granulated sugar and simmer fifteen or twenty minutes longer.

There is another good way to can them without water. Sprinkle the fruit with the same proportion of sugar, and let stand overnight, or several hours, to draw out the juice; then cook fifteen minutes.

I have little patience with the advocates of the old boiler process of canning fruit. It necessitates a hot fire, more or less steam and a large quantity of fruit. The first prepared will discolor—in case of strawberries will soften—while the remainder is being made ready.

From time to time as they ripen or as they are purchased we can sit on a cool porch or in the shade and hull berries (while over a coal oil stove others are simmering), then can without any fuss or flurry.—Country Gentleman.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

FOR CITY BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

A Series of Games Between the T. A. S. and the Peterboroughs.

The T.A.S. and Peterborough teams have arranged a series of three games for the city championship, the first of which will be played to-morrow afternoon at the T.A.S. grounds, the game to be called at 3.30 o'clock. This series of games should be very interesting. The T.A.S. team has not lost a game this season, and are playing good ball. Quinlan, the clever young twirler of the team fanned thirteen of the Oshawa players in the game on Tuesday, and is becoming a very valuable man.

The Peterborough team will have to put a new twirler in the box, and with this addition will make an attempt to win out from the T.A.S., who, on the other hand are determined to continue their winning streak if possible, and the result will be one of the best games of the season. Everyone should see this game.

LACROSSE.

At Tweed on Friday last the return game between Havelock and Tweed in the Trent Valley League, was played, and it was one of the hardest played contests ever seen in that town. The game from the Havelock standpoint was reported in the Examiner, and the Tweed News gives the Tweed version. A comment on the game by Mr. E. T. Bowlby, reeve, is as follows:—

In considering the lacrosse match on Friday last I have tried to take a dispassionate view of the occurrence and I deem it a matter of regret that the game could not have been played in a friendly and ordinary manner. When we remember that other games have been played here without any such warlike demonstrations, we begin to cast about for the causes which led up to the unfortunate result, and find that the fault is not all on the one side. (1) The impression seems to be general that our boys were accorded rather a rough time on their recent visit to Havelock. (2) Several individuals, more or less intoxicated, paraded the streets before the game and then went over to the grounds making remarks that irritated a considerable number of people. (3) While the play was too rough, and the referee was far too lax in the exercise of his duty, yet that did not justify the spectators in occupying the grounds or in any way interfering with the game. Common courtesy should prompt us to accord a certain amount of leniency to a visitor, and it is only fair to expect that those in charge of a visiting team should restrain the exercise of that liberty within due bounds, and when we see good, respectable citizens, as well as spectators from the country and villages other than Tweed, feel constrained to rush on the field to see fair play, there is but one conclusion, viz.: that the management of the game was not all it should be. I am sorry for the good name of Tweed that such an unfortunate thing should occur and I believe it to be in the interest of the management of the grounds, as well as the public who patronize them, to try to prevent its recurrence by either the proper policeing of the grounds or the rearrangement of the accommodation.

The game arranged for to-morrow between the T.A.S. and Port Hope, here, has had to be called off. The Port Hope players did not want to leave town on account of the fact that the circus will be in that town. On Monday the T.A.S. team will go to Hastings, to play off the tie game with that town. All the players are asked to be on hand for practice to-night.

Toronto didn't lose yesterday. Because they didn't play.

Last night the last half of the game between All Saints and St. Paul's was played on the latter's grounds, when the Presbyterians won, by 8—4, but with the lead of 11 runs which All Saints had on the former game they were declared the winners. Only three innings were played last night. This makes All Saints' the winners of District No. 1, and that team with Charlotte street, will start the series with home and and home games for the Examiner trophy next week. The Batteries in last night's game were: — All Saints, Pilling, Adamson and Campbell; St. Paul's, Watt and Rosenberg.

NEW ONTARIO THE GOLDEN.

With Milk and Honey Blessed—Yankees Found It for Us.

Rev. James Allan, Superintendent of Missions, spoke at the weekly luncheon of the Methodist Young Men's Association of Toronto. He said that New Ontario was practically discovered nine or ten years ago by American capitalists. They found Sault Ste. Marie a place of unrivalled possibilities. With Lake Superior as a mill-pond, and the water falling twenty feet, power was unlimited. The next thing necessary, raw material, was found in abundance. Since then the country has forged ahead. Over the height of land was 16,000,000 acres of clay loam, the equal of the best land anywhere. It was covered with forest, but the forest was no longer a discouragement to the settler. It was an attraction, for there was a good market for wood. The Hudson Bay fisheries would rival those of the Atlantic. The world's supply of nickel was in New Ontario. This great country would soon be accessible. Hudson Bay afforded a short route to the old land for a limited time, and transcontinental railroads would soon annihilate distance. This would give easy access to the markets of the world. The absence of coal was a drawback. But now electricity could be used for smelting ore of all kinds, and up there, where water power was so abundant, electric smelting would, no doubt, soon be established. We are 100 years behind the States as regards population. Our position now is where the States were at the beginning of the nineteenth century. A boy of ten years would never overtake his brother of thirty in years, but he could easily outstrip him in intellectual and physical power. While the United States' population increased 14½ times in the nineteenth century, Canada's increased 82½ times.

DEMONSTRATION TO LORD DUNDONALD.

He Answers His Critics in Address to Citizens of Toronto.

HE DEFENDS HIS ATTITUDE.

Splendid Reception to the Famous British Soldier—The Earl Declares That Government is Neglecting the Interests of the Militia—Scattered Hisses for Sir Wilfrid Met by Counter Cheers.

Toronto, July 16.—Intense enthusiasm marked the Dundonald demonstration in Massey Hall last night. When the guest of the evening, sharp at 8 o'clock, entered the hall, led by Pipe-Major Beaton and pipers of the 48th Highlanders, the vast audience rose and continued cheering for several minutes. The various speakers were enthusiastically applauded throughout, and Lord Dundonald, in coming forward to reply to the address, was given a great ovation, the bands playing "Rule Britannia." The General, who read from manuscript, spoke clearly and distinctly, confined his reply almost entirely to answering attacks, which have been made upon him since his dismissal, answering the charges of militarism, dragooning, etc., and declaring that the Government was neglecting the best interests of the militia.

A reference by Lord Dundonald to the Government was received with cries of "Give it to him," and the name of Sir Wilfrid Laurier was greeted with scattered hisses, which instantly aroused counter cheers.

In departing for the east, at Queen street men of the city regiments were waiting with long ropes, the driver jumped down and unhitched his team, and for the remainder of the trip to the station a score or more willing hands drew the vehicle along.

At the station the people crowded every inch of standing room and only when the lights of the train faded away the crowd ceased to cheer.

Major Robertson read the address to Lord Dundonald, who, standing bowed to the cheering throng.

LORD DUNDONALD'S SPEECH.

When the address had been read the band played "Rule Britannia," and then Lord Dundonald stepped forward to reply. There was a furore of applause, and it was several minutes before His Lordship could proceed. He said:

"I thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for the kindness of your welcome. Words do not come readily to me to express to you what I feel. You have mentioned, sir, "turning to Major Robertson, "that I have done well in South Africa. (Voice "You did," and cheers.) I may tell you, ladies and gentlemen, that generals get far too much credit. If it were not for the men under them—if it were not for gallant men like the Strathcona Horse—we would get monstrous little credit." (Cheers and laughter).

"I do not consider that it is necessary to trouble you with many words with regard to the particular incident which led up to my summary dismissal from the command of the militia. (Shame, shame and hisses). There is perhaps hardly anything which more intimately concerns the well-being of a nation than that its defences should be placed in as efficient a condition as possible.

Turned on Searchlight.

"I was myself convinced that matters in this connection were far from satisfactory, and I turned on the searchlights—(loud applause and cheering)—to show the people of Canada that there was an evil that was injuring their defence force. What followed? All eyes were turned towards the light. All saw the evil and realized that the light revealed what was true, but there is nothing that some people hate so much as the truth—(applause)—even though that truth may be in their own interests. Some of these have turned their anger upon me, upon the man who was letting light into dark places. The people have been told that I was trying to dragoon them, endeavoring to over-ride the civil power, acting contrary to the spirit of the constitution, when in truth it was not I but others who were trampling upon the spirit of the constitution, that great Magna Charta whose essential principle is freedom and evenhanded justice to all men regardless of political party.

All right-thinking persons realise the vital importance of non-interference with those high officials who administer justice between man and man; surely the defence of the country, the selection of the military leaders of the people are as important as the administration of civil justice, and the man who endeavors to do his duty in an impartial manner in this respect should have his hands strengthened rather than weakened.

Importance of Military Leaders.

This question of leaders may appear to be of little importance to those who do not realize what it means, but I would urge them to ask any friend who has had actual experience of war and he will tell you how often it has occurred that lives have been needlessly sacrificed and mourning and sorrow brought to many a home without any real benefit to the nation by blundering incompetence. (Applause.)

"Cause and effect follow one another with astonishing rapidity in political matters. If the people are careless and indifferent with regard to the administration of their military system, so in the end they will get a lax and worthless system, however much the true interests of the country may suffer.

"Those who administer a militia force are only human and will probably resist interference with their duties only up to a certain point. Some may have wives and families dependent upon them, some men may desire a quiet life—which I do—some men may be mere automata to carry out the behests of a particular political party, but if their duties are not carried out with a single eye to the benefit of the force, irrespective of any other considerations, but efficiency, the results must be disastrous, and in the event of war arising, dangerous, if not fatal, to the safety of the nation.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, there is a certain class of persons in the world to whom it is a matter of indifference whether they use truth or misrepresentation as a weapon of attack. Voice, ("Give it them.")

Report of 1902.

"This class of person has been busily explaining to the people of Canada for the last few weeks that in my report for the year 1902, which the minister did not publish—(laughter and cheers)—there were extravagant proposals necessitating great and undue burdens on the people of Canada.

"First of all let me say that I believe in taking the people into confidence, and in this connection I believe in allowing the people to know what their expert adviser thinks is desirable for their safety. All that he thinks desirable need not necessarily be adopted, but if there is nothing in a report that it is prudent for international reasons to keep private, why on earth should not the people be taken into confidence? It is their business; they have to find the money or they have to refuse to find the money. But if the facts are concealed from them how are they to be in a position to consider as to what is requisite for the proper defence of the country.

"And let me say here that it has been entirely optional with the minister of militia to carry out proposals published in the reports of previous general officers commanding, as a reference to published reports will conclusively show.

"The most extraordinary feature of the controversy with regard to the recommendations in my report for 1903 is the very remarkable fact that the main features and recommendations in it, so far as paper organization is concerned, have been already adopted, and are now in force in Canada.

Supply of Ammunition.

"But the publication of this report would have shown the people of Canada that in addition to the recommendations which have been carried out, other matters which urgently call for action should long ago ere this have received attention from the government. For instance, in 1902 I urged as my predecessors had previously done, that it was highly undesirable that the whole supply of ammunition and warlike material should be derived from any one place and recommended that an ammunition factory should also be established in the Provinces of Ontario, so as not to have all our eggs in one basket, as in the event of Quebec being cut off by an enemy the rest of Canada would be helpless.

"There is not a nation in the world that maintains a fighting force that does not also maintain a considerable store of ammunition ready for use in case of war. The public would have seen by my report for 1902 that I urged the provision of such a store. The amount of ammunition in Canada is as unsatisfactory now as it was in 1902.

"As regards rifles, we are just as badly off now as then. There are not enough in the country to arm even the present peace strength of the militia, while there are none for the war strength of the militia or for the second line of defence, or for the rifle clubs, and, indeed, many of the rifles we now have require replacing by new ones. I have only to mention that there is practically no engineering equipment, no ammunition carts, no pack saddles for carrying ammunition—oh, I forgot, there are eleven—no water carts, practically no machine guns, and most other essentials are equally lacking in order to show you how inadequate and unsatisfactory is the equipment of the militia.

Central Training Ground.

"As regards the training of the militia, the general public is aware that a great change has taken place in the methods of war, and that it is impossible now to train troops properly on restricted areas of land. I urged upon the minister in 1902 that even if it was impossible on account of the cost to give all the troops in the Dominion the advantages of training on a large area of land, no delay should take place in the provision of a central training ground where, at any rate, the higher leaders of the militia could learn their work. Nothing has been done in this respect, altho there are many sites which could be acquired for a comparatively trifling amount.

"The new system of examinations for promotion approved of by the cabinet lays down that the work of certain of the higher grades of officers must be carried out at the central camp. The unreasonable delay in the provision of a central camp has therefore been most detrimental. As an instance of a deplorable want of appreciation of the true interests of the militia, and of support in the new era I have hoped to usher in, if you turn to the estimates for 1904-5 you will find that the provision for schools of instruction has actually been reduced from $50,000 to $40,000 for the year ending June 30 next, and this notwithstanding the fact that a very great number of the officers of the militia are professionally unqualified, and that the new regulations for promotion are likely to attract officers and non-commissioned officers to qualify themselves in largely increased numbers; and also, in spite of the fact that the new establishments passed some months ago increase the number of officers by the large number of 150, and the non-commissioned officers by the still larger number of 2000.

Charge of Militarism.

"Now, gentlemen, with regard to the charge of militarism brought against me. The new organization of the militia adopted by the government provides for Canada its first line of defence composed of a peace strength of some 45,000 men, expanding into a war strength of 100,000 men, with a nucleus of a second line of a similar number; that is to say, it provides for an organization of a more purely civilian and non-professional type than has been adopted by any country in the world; the system was so adopted on the recommendation of my report for 1902, and yet I am accused of militarism. I am charged with desiring to impose upon Canada military burdens similar to those borne by some of the European nations.

"I was interested recently to observe that the prime minister was credited with the following remarks in a speech made by him. 'If I had my own way, said Sir Wilfrid Laurier, 'there would be a corps of volunteers in every town, in every village, in every hamlet. The boys should learn early how to shoot. The art of war is always changing, and we shall always need men who are ready and courageous to face any emergency.'

"If Sir Wilfrid contemplates the formidable force he suggests in the above speech, has he ever calculated the cost thereof? Even the bare provision of rifles or so large a body of men as he would thus call into existence would cost a large sum, irrespective of the trenches and ranges and I firmly be lieve of sufficient ammunition per man as without ammunition rifles are surely useless and ammunition cannot be improvised immediately on the outbreak of war.

"And how could such a force as it is thus suggested be utilized, without organization, without officers, without equipment, without any method of communication between different portions of it, without provision for mobilisation, without maps or military information, without artillery, without engineers?

"No, gentlemen, a little thought will convince you that it is better to adhere to the organization which has already received the sanction of the government and make efficient a well-equipped and well-trained skeleton force, which, should war be declared, would be clothed with flesh and blood by those who had previously enrolled themselves for war service, and that you should also insist that those departments which cannot be improvised on the outbreak of war shall be in effective operation in time of peace in order to be capable of expansion should war break out.

"The real facts of the matter are, gentlemen, that I am accused of militarism because I desired that the organization and arrangement for the improvement of the militia already agreed upon by the ministry should be carried to a logical conclusion, and OUR country of Canada,—(applause)—of which I am no longer the general officer commanding, but merely a free and independent elector like each of yourselves, should be placed in a position which surely every patriotic Canadian must desire.

That Rumor of Large Expenditures.

"Some of the most widely read and influential newspapers in Canada have given currency and support to a rumor that I had in the unpublished portion of my report for 1902 advised a rumored expenditure for military armaments and had recommended the erection of a series of great fortresses along the frontier.

"It is almost incredible that hallucinations of this description should be fabricated and attributed to me without the slightest shadow of justification. (Applause.) These statements are amusing in their utter absurdity, but wild as they are they have accomplished one object. They have given to a large section of the people of Canada a false impression of the work I have been endeavoring to do on their behalf, and in their interest.

"The simple truth is, gentlemen, that before I came to Canada the Canadian Government had already decided to place a few guns at two strategical points. I worked out detailed schemes for them for these places, but expressly stated in my report that the schemes were based upon the principle of the least expenditure on anything that could be considered as in the nature of permanent fortification. I stated that the first thing to be steadily borne in mind should be the organised system of defence, the guns, the ammunition and the trained men to use them.

"The only additional recommendations that have come from me in relation to permanent defences were suggestions that an important seaport on the Atlantic and another on the Pacific should receive some slight protection against raids from torpedo boats and cruisers, the cost of which would be inconsiderable.

"Now, gentlemen, turning to another portion of the attack upon me, let me ask, Have I done anything in my term of office in Canada which merits the charge of endeavoring to dragoon either the government or the people? (No, no!) Have I ever done anything which should bring down upon me the denunciation of that most influential journal in Montreal which so ardently supports the government? This organ, which stands so high in the confidence of the government, sums up the situation in an article so logical, so calm and thoughtful, that I feel impelled to present you with some extracts. Its readers are informed in only one day's flow of reason that I wished to impose militarism on Canada, that I was a veritable conspirator appointed for the purpose of imposing militarism, that I was an enemy to Canada, an imperial mobster—(laughter)—a wolf sent amongst your sheep folds who has found souls so tender as to lament over the blows which the shepherds have inflicted upon him.

"All that I desire is to be judged by my actions. (Cheers.) During my term of office I have endeavored to the best of my ability to build up an efficient force of citizen soldiery, to place the defences of Canada in a condition as effective as the resources of the country would permit. In all this I have proceeded in a constitutional manner, fully recognising the Will of the people, as expressed thru their constitutional representatives. It has been my duty to give expression to my opinions, but I have attempted to dragoon no one. I have never even written or caused to be written any demand that any officer, non-commissioned officer or man belonging to the militia should explain any writing or public utterance of his that he may have given to the world in his capacity as a citizen of a free country.

"But, gentlemen, can this regard for freedom be claimed with equal truth by those who thus accuse me of dragooning the people of Canada? Let me give you only one instance.

Farewell.

"Gentlemen, when on the 14th day of June last I received a message of dismissal, the conscious of the rectitude of my course, I little knew and little realised how the great mass of the Canadian people would sustain me in the action I took on their behalf. (Cheers.) For that support and sympathy I now thank you with all my heart.

"During my whole term of office I have endeavored to serve you faithfully, loyally and well, and to the best of my ability I discharged what I considered to be my bounden duty towards you. The people of Canada are my judge. (Cheers.) My record is before them, and the issue is clear and well defined. To the people of Canada I now submit myself with the confidence begotten of a good cause.

"Gentlemen, I thank you and thru you the loyal and true hearted people of Canada, and bid you good bye."

SYSTEMATIC INSTRUCTION IN CHEESE FACTORIES.

Good Work Being Undertaken by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The Department of Agrioulture, in conjunction with the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Associations, is this year continuing the systematic instruction which gave such satisfactory results last year.

There are 33 cheese instructors now on the road, and each instructor has assigned to him from 15 to 25 factories, which are directly under his charge, and for which he is held responsible. There are two chief instructors; one for Eastern Ontario, and the other for the Western section, who have general oversight of the work. The Department has also employed three instructors to visit the different Creameries throughout the province. Each creamery will receive at least one visit, and if the management wish further visits they may arrange for them by paying a small fee.

The cheese factories are asked to assume about half the cost of instruction, and in nearly all cases where instruction was given last year the proprietors or makers have applied for the same this season. The duties of the instructors consist in directing the makers how best to overcome and avoid defects which may appear in the cheese; to explain fully to makers the quality and texture of cheese most suited to the markets; to encourage makers and patrons to observe care and cleanliness; to induce the proprietors of factories to make the necessary repairs, in fact to see that all operations are carried on in a manner conducive to the production of the best quality of cheese.

At the beginning of the season a circular letter was sent to the factories throughout the province, asking them to make application at once if they wished assistance from the instructors during the summer. A great many applications were received, but a number of makers and proprietors did not make application. Some of these, however, have since had considerable trouble in manufacturing, and have lately made application for assistance. As most of the syndicates have been completed, it will be impossible to comply with all requests for assistance at this late date.

It is gratifying to know from the wholesale dealers in Montreal that the average quality of cheese being marketed at that point this year is above that of last year or the year before. There are, of course, a few inferior cheese being marketed, but with so many instructors on the road there is no excuse for makers continuing to have cheese of an inferior quality week after week.

G. A. Putnam, Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, and G. G. Publow, Chief Dairy Instructor for Eastern Ontario, with some seventeen instructors, visited Montreal on Tuesday, June 28th, and examined the cheese in a number of the larger wholesale [illegible]; the proprietors in each instance showing every willingness to have their cheese tested and explaining the defects found and the remedy. The cheese it was noticeable that a number of the factories which [illegible] regularly sent in poor cheese, are now furnishing a first-class article, while other factories which were looked upon as first-class, are now experiencing difficulty in keeping up the standard. What might we not be expected from the poorer makers this year if no instruction had been given, when the best makers in many sections are experiencing difficulties. One of the factories in Perth District, which had in previous years been counted as first-class, changed makers this spring, and the cheese manufactured at the beginning of the season was rejected by the buyers. Application was at once made for a visit from the instructor, and after a few hours of consultation and instruction, the maker was able to manufacture cheese which were classed as "fancy." The loss on the two shipments, (about two weeks make), was about $100, and even then the buyers did not cut them as much as they would had the factory not had a good reputation. In another small factory a cut of $10 was made in one shipment. The instructor succeeded in overcoming the difficulty at once, and the patrons are now receiving full price. In another instance a first class factory was cut half a cent per pound on one shipment, and one cent per pound on another shipment, but after only one visit from an instructor the cheese brought full price. The instructor in this case succeeded in bringing the quality of the cheese from inferior to first class.

Some of the main defects noticed in the cheese in Montreal were as follows: First, weak in body, and too much acidity; second, objectionable flavours—a weedy flavour of what is called an "off" flavour, due to carelessness on the part of some party, either the patron or maker. Third, defective finish, but much superior to the general appearance of cheese marketed in previous years. No excuse can be made for the unworkmanlike manner in which some of the cheese is put up. They are not uniform; carelessness is displayed in putting the cloths on the ends of the cheese; the boxes are not properly trimmed after the cheese are put in them; and in some cases the boxes are not high enough, allowing the weight of the top cheese to rest on the bottom cheese rather than upon the boxes. In some cases the boxes are too large in circumference, allowing the cheese to work from side to side, and wearing rough patches on the ends and sides. There is also evidence of negligence in the care of the shelves, the ends of the cheese in a few instances being quite dirty while the sides were clean. One wholesale dealer stated that out of 40 boxes received he had his man route 38 of them before they were fit for shipment on the steamer. Another shipper said that out of a lot of 150 only a few arrived at his warehouse in sound condition. A poor quality of box and carelessness on the part of makers in boxing the cheese, will, if continued, injure the trade.

It will be remembered by many dairymen that the patrons and makers in the eastern portion of the province were opposed some years ago to instructors, and to the system of inspection, with the object of giving the makers assistance in manufacturing. At this time the cheese in the western portion of the province sold from one to two cents per pound more than that received by the eastern men. What has been the result? To-day we find that in the eastern part of the province, where instruction has been carried on most vigorously, they are receiving fully as high prices for their products as is being paid for the best western make.

Organization is not yet what we hope to have it in another year, but we feel that much good has been and is being done. The instructors left Montreal on Tuesday night with definite ideas as to what the wholesale men want, and each one is prepared to put forth his very best efforts to see that his section compares favourably with any other section.

HEALTH OFFICERS IN ANNUAL SESSION.

Association of Which Local Doctor is Member, Meeting in Sarnia.

Some Interesting Papers—Factory Inspector Kelly Makes Recommendations.

A despatch from Sarnia to the Globe gives a report of the annual meeting of the Association of Executive Health Officers of Ontario, of which Dr. Boucher, of Peterborough and Dr. Shaw, of Keene, are members of the Executive Council. The dispatch says:—

The dominant note of the nineteenth annual meeting of the Association of Executive Health Officers of Ontario, which opened here yesterday and concluded its labours to-day, was struck in a paper by Dr. Hodgetts of Toronto, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, when he called attention to the possibility of better hygienic measures for the treatment of consumption and the advisibility of clothing the local health officers with power to see that these conditions were complied with. His paper on the subject evoked considerable discussion, and some remarkable instances were given of the restoration to health of tuberculosis patients by living in the open air, etc., without going into institutions. The paper called attention to the impossibility for providing sanitaria for ninety and nine cases out of every hundred, and gave the mortality figures from this case for the Province at 700 a month, or 2,500 last year, in support of the plea for activity on the part of local health officers. The report of the Phipps Institute in Philadelphia was a revelation of the benefits of pure air, regularity of life and nutrition in restoring patients to health. He urged the adoption of a system of registration of consumptives to secure complete protection of the healthy from contagion.

The Chairman of the association, Dr. Hall, of Mallorytown, was absent, and the chair was filled by Dr. Lane of Chatham. The new health regulations were explained in a paper by Dr. Charters, of Chatham, with special reference to the power of health officers to compel the erection of isolation hospitals.

POSITION OF LOCAL OFFICERS.

Factory Inspector Burke read a paper composed by his colleague, Thomas Kelly, Factory Inspector, of Brockville, calling attention to the need for some arrangement which would free local health officers from financial loss when their duty compelled them to organize large firms by a close enforcement of the health act. In his duty he had met many cases where the medical men did not enforce the act stringently through fear of loss of practice, in many cases well grounded. Recommendation was made for a system of district health officers, who would be amply paid for the work, and could act for a large territory.

In the discussion which followed cases were brought to light where local health officers desired to enforce the sanitation of barber shops, etc., but were restrained by the certainity of being visited with a serious loss of popularity through being considered too officious.

Other papers were read before the convention by Dr. Bryce, of Ottawa, Dr. Elliott, of Toronto, Geo. Nasmyth, M.A., Phe.D., of Toronto, and others.

The arrangements by the town council for the entertainment of the members of the association were most complete. This morning a train was placed at the disposal of the committee by the Grand Trunk, which took the visitors through the tunnel and past the saw milling industries. In the afternoon a steamer was chartered, and an excursion was given on the lake and river, and in the evening a complimentary banquet was given at the Belchamber Hotel.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Provincial Board of Health was held here yesterday and to-day with the following members present:—Drs. Kitchener, Oldright, Boucher, Thompson and the Secretary, Dr. Hodgetts.

A resolution was passed recommending that an order in council be passed making it obligatory upon physicians to report all cases of tuberculosis to the local health officer, in order that without resorting to placarding of the houses a general supervision could be exercised over this class of patients to reduce the danger of infection and secure better hygienic conditions for the patients themselves.

The quarterly report of the Secretary showed a gratifying decrease in the number of scarlet fever cases in Ontario, from 933 to 668, attributable largely to better isolation. With smallpox and measles there had been an increase, and a more rigid enforcement of the vaccination regulations was urged.

The expected action regarding the sewage system of Toronto was discussed in an interim report, stating that arrangements had been made for a bacteriological examination of the sewage at different points to determine the exact character. Attention was called to City Engineer Rust's statement that each day there is a waste of sixteen millions of water. The admission of this water into the sewers, it was stated, would mean a great additional expense if any dry sewage plan had to be adopted.

A delegation was received from Collingwood consisting of the Mayor, Chairman of the Board of Health and health officer, regarding the proposed sewerage plan for that town. The Board were unable to approve of the plan until fuller information could be obtained, but promised a special meeting when the full facts were laid before them.

VERY BRIEF BUT TO THE POINT

Quebec Man Briefly States that he Cured his Dyspepsia of Years Standing by Using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets

"I wish to state that I have tried Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and they have made me well. I suffered for many years of Dyspepsia."

Such is the brief statement of Alphonse Caron, editor of L'Echo, published at Montmagny, Que. But if it is brief, it tells everything that thousands of suffering Canadians need to know, viz., that there is a cure for Dyspepsia, and that cure is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Some people will go further and ask how do they cure. The answer is simple. They simply give the stomach the rest it needs by digesting the food themselves. The result is the stomach gradually returns to its normal condition and is then able to do its own work.
